Butterfield moves forward on city hall construction

Vinnie Roberts

During last year's midterm election, the voters of Butterfield passed legislation called Proposition 1. The proposition allowed Butterfield's city council to take an existing bond agreement, created to allow for repairs to the city's sewer system, and extend it for several years to allow for the construction of the city's first ever city hall building.

The city currently conducts all city business out of the Butterfield Community Building, a structure in the center of town next to the Butterfield park. This building was constructed with charitable donations from surrounding towns to act as Butterfield's public meeting area, as well as a space the community can use for private events. The building is owned by the Butterfield Community Building Foundation, operated by Eddy Ulmer.

Butterfield's city council, public works departments, city clerk and police department all currently operate out of the same office in the Butterfield Community Building. City court and city council are held in the public meeting area of the building, and the city pays rent to the Community Building Foundation on a yearly basis for use of the facility.

However, the city made the move to transfer to their own facility for a variety of reasons. Chief among these reasons is the state of disrepair of the community building.

"The building committee has been good to us," said Darrell Mathis, Butterfield west ward alderman. "The rent there is very fair, but the building does need a new roof. We don't own the building, so we don't need to drop $10,000 on it."

"They were generous enough to let us use it for years without any interference, but the building is in much need of repairs now," added west ward alderman Donnie Privett.

According to Butterfield officials, the extensive damage on the roof is a continuous sticking point for the council.

"There were some problems with the roof leaking," said Butterfield mayor Tony Cope. "Under the ceiling tiles, we could see the mold. We might have been able to fix it, but we couldn't see spending that much money right now."

City officials in Butterfield stated many plans for changing things at the current city hall have been discussed and debated before, but due to complications involving the Building Committee, those plans were scrapped.

"We had been talking about it for a couple of years before," said Mathis. "The main thing is the city wants its own building that it has ownership of. That way if something needs to be done to it, it can be done without having to ask and propose a bunch of things."

"We tried to put in an offer to buy the community building a few years back, but they wouldn't sell it," added mayor Cope.

Benefit concert aims to preserve Jenkins bridge

The Homestead Pickers from Silver Dollar City performed a benefit concert on Saturday, March 23, in Wheelerville for the Jenkins Bridge Preservation Foundation. Around 40 people came to Wheelerville Community Church for the show, which raised funds for the preservation and restoration of the old Jenkins bridge.

The foundation will meet again on Thursday, April 4, at 6:30 p.m. at Jenkins Fire Station #1 for anyone interested in participating in the group. Board members and other officials are in the process of forming a 501(c)3 non-profit to take over the bridge from Barry County. Because the county will not maintain the bridge and liability, the community is forming the organization to preserve the bridge and list it on the National Register of Historic Places.

Project Clean Up Our Towns aims to beautify county

Vinnie Roberts

We see it every day: the trash on the side of the road, the discarded food and cigarette containers that line the ditches. For most people, it's just an everyday annoyance, an often overlooked blemish on the otherwise clear face of everyday life. For Cassville resident Macy Olinger, this has become a burden too great to bear.

"I can't really pinpoint why exactly," said Olinger. "I see it every day when I'm driving. It wasn't something I used to notice, but now that I have, I can't not notice that every ditch is filled with trash, especially around Cassville. I go on walks every day with my son and I see it there, too."

On March 14, Olinger took to Facebook to publicly inquire about interest in joining a group devoted to cleaning up neglected areas in the county. The next day, after an outpouring of support of the idea from her friend group, Olinger officially created the Facebook group Project Clean Up Our Towns.

"I never thought that I would make a group of it, but I've always thought about going out and doing it myself," said Olinger. "Then, I thought I'd see if anyone wanted to do it with me so that we could make more of a difference."

Olinger believes that starting this organization is more than just her passion: it's her civic duty.

"I think we're all guilty of littering at least once in our life. The trash we could end up picking up could be ours. Even if we've never littered in our lives, we all live on this earth, and I think it's all of our responsibilities to take care of it make sure that it stays good for us."

The group's mission is to begin staging cleanup events, organized through Facebook, wherein the membership takes time out of their week-end to focus on a specific area to remove trash from.

For their first project, Olinger plans to clean up the ditches along Business Highway 37 in Cassville that lead into the four-way light by Wal-Mart.

"I see that area every time I drive in to Cassville," said Olinger. "Both sides are com-

Three searches yield 115 grams of meth

Charlea Estes-Jones

Three separate Ozarks Drug Enforcement Team (ODET) investigations yielded a significant amount of methamphetamine seizure last week. The team, along with the Barry County Sheriff's Department and Cassville Police Department, served three search warrants at residences in Purdy, the Mineral Springs area and in Cassville on March 19.

According to a press release by commander Chad Allison, of ODET, the three investigations were separate and the cases were not related. In total, officers seized approximately 115 grams of methamphetamine along with marijuana and various prescription narcotics.

The search warrants were served at residences on Farm Road 1065 in Purdy, Farm Road 1170 in the Mineral Springs area, and on east 10th Street in Cassville.

Allison's release notes that one suspect was arrested during the search warrant execution for a felony parole violation warrant. His name has not been released at this time. The cases are still under current investigation and charges should be filed as the investigation wraps up.

City of Purdy contemplates selling properties, moving offices

Vinnie Roberts

At a city council meeting at Purdy City Hall on Thursday, March 14, mayor Bo Prock discussed several cost-cutting measures with the city council. Among Prock's many ideas, one unifying theme became apparent: the idea of minimizing city properties to enable the city to run more efficiently. Prock brought the idea of selling off some of the under-used properties under the city's ownership. First on his list was two lagoons that were once a part of the city's sewage system but have since become unused.

The first of these is on the west side of Business Highway 37. The lagoon was once a crucial part of the city's sewer system, but since changes made to Purdy's sewer lines last year, the lagoon was left mostly vacant.

"We used to use it for the west side of town as a holding tank that would pump into our sewer system as needed," said Prock. "With the new sewer system in place, they've closed that down and dozed it in, and now, there's just a pump station there."

Prock went on to explain that the second of these lagoons was on a plot of land within city limits that hasn't been utilized since long before he had become mayor.

"We have an in-town lagoon that we haven't used for anything for 20 years," said Prock.

Prock explained that maintenance on these properties can sometimes be a costly drain on the city, as well as the taxpayers. According to him, the time and money spent maintaining these properties has, in the past, led to the city's public works department's inability to tackle other issues in a timely fashion.

"We have a lot of property for the amount of employees we have to manage it. During the summer, it takes almost a guy and a half full time to keep up with mowing, weed-eating and spraying. I just don't feel like so much taxpayer money should be going to maintaining the city hall and our grounds.

"That's one of the reasons that, in the past, we've gotten so far behind on water leak repairs and culvert cleaning and tree trimming. We get so far behind in the summer with all the mowing and maintenance that we spend all of fall and winter catching up. We never get to the point that we can improve things. We're always just chasing the rabbit, so to speak. Instead of making improvements to the city, we're maintaining it."

One of the biggest moves presented by Prock was the prospect of moving the current city hall, police station and fire station into two larger, recently vacated buildings owned by the city. Prock previously discussed these proposed changes at other city hall meetings but expanded upon some of his earlier ideas.

"As everyone knows, the library left Purdy last month and left us with both sides of the community center not in use," said Prock. "In visiting about that with the council, I wondered if we might minimize some property and move city hall to where the library was and move our police and water department across the street in to the old fire station."

Prock explained that the move would mean making some alterations to both structures in order to make them functional for city use.

"If we do end up making a move to the old library, I'd like to revamp the outside a little bit and bring it up to date," said Prock. "We would maybe install some brick up a little ways and cleanup to do some landscaping outside. There would be some interior changes we'd have to make but not a whole lot."

"The old fire station would take a little more to get done right," said Prock. "We'd add on to it and build some taller bay doors so that we could get our equipment in and out of there and give them a more usable space to do their jobs."

At the meeting, Purdy Chief of Police Jackie Lowe addressed his concern with the move of the police station. Lowe's primary issue was the security of the evidence lock up in the new structure. Currently, evidence collected by Purdy PD is stored in a locked cabinet in Lowe's office at City Hall.

Addressing this concern, Prock proposed that as part of the interior changes to the new police station, a new, more secure, interior room with a locked cage for evidence could be built. This would be similar to how other larger police stations store their evidence.

Prock also explained that he had been working closely with a local building expert on what other changes could or would be needed to the old fire building in order to make it more functional as a police and public works building.

Prock also explained that he has been keeping the council informed of his findings.

"I've been talking about it amongst the council in broad strokes and big ideas until we can figure out what we can get done with it," said Prock.

Doing this would only cost the city the fees for the building upgrades as the city currently owns all of the structures involved. As the planning for this move is still in the hypothetical phase of its development, no figures yet exist for the cost of these upgrades.

Prock explained that in order to make this plan a reality, it would take very little effort once the budget was known and the funds were allocated.

"There would have to be a council vote that we would have to take, but other than that, no further action should be needed for building improvements," said Prock.

Though the council has yet to come to formulate a plan for moving forward on the issue, the mayor and the council are expected to discuss the matter further at the next Purdy City Council meeting on Monday, April 8, at 4:30 p.m.

March
 Everyone has heard the old saying about March: “In like a lion, out like a lamb.” The current month has certainly fulfilled the “in like a lion” segment of the saying. Howling winds, an early month snow storm, mid month tornadoes, along with roller coaster temperatures made March 2019 worthy of the proverb. Proverbs are an interesting way to express ideas or facts. Defined as “a short saying in general use, stating a general truth or piece of advice.” March fits the bill. It enters as the end of winter and exits as the beginning of spring. We put up our coats and chain saws and get out our lawn mowers and weed eaters. March is both depressing and refreshing. An end and a beginning, death to life. March would be a good expression of: “Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead. And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened together with him, having forgiven you all trespasses.” Colossians 2:12-13. Spiritually, we are dead. God through Jesus Christ took the spiritual turmoil out of our lives. As Christians, through the Death, Burial and Resurrection of Jesus Christ, we go from the depression of sin to the spiritual refreshing of forgiveness and salvation. Obedience to the Plan of Salvation takes us from Death to Life. Let's be sure to “daily” thank God for Jesus Christ's sincere sacrifice. “Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord.” Acts 3:19.

Shelter Insurance Foundation and local agent sponsor scholarship

This spring, the Shelter Insurance Foundation will award a $2,000 scholarship to a graduate of Cassville and Wheaton High Schools. Shelter Agent Terri DeGraffenreid Brattin sponsors and partially funds this scholarship.

A committee of local high school officials and community leaders will select the local recipient. The committee will consider each applicant's scholastic achievements, educational goals, citizenship character and participation and leadership in school and community activities. The scholarship is given without regard to race, disability, religion, national origin or gender of applicants. The name of the recipient will be announced at the close of the school year.

The student may apply the scholarship funds toward tuition, fees, or campus housing for any course of study beginning the fall after the recipient's high school graduation and leading to an academic degree at any accredited college or university. The foundation makes payment directly to the school the recipient selects.

Applications and additional information about the Shelter Foundation Scholarship will be available in January and should be completed and returned to the selection committee by March 31. For more information, interested seniors should contact their high school counselor or principal or Shelter Insurance Agent Terri DeGraffenreid Brattin.

The Shelter Insurance Foundation is a not-for-profit corporation for charitable and educational purposes. It is sponsored by the Shelter Insurance Companies – offering auto, home, life, farm and business insurance services to customers in 20 states via a network of local insurance agents and headquartered in Columbia.

MDC and CFM thanks deer hunters, meat processors for help in Share the Harvest

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) and the Conservation Federation of Missouri (CFM) thank the thousands of Missouri deer hunters who donated 259,414 pounds of venison to the state's Share the Harvest program this past deer season, including 4,855 whole deer. Thank you also to the more than 100 participating meat processors throughout the state who grind the donated deer meat into ready-to-use packages.

The donated deer meat goes to local food banks and food pantries to help feed hungry Missourians all around the state. To get Share the Harvest venison, contact local food banks or food pantries.

Since the program was started in 1992, Share the Harvest has provided more than 4 million pounds of lean, healthy venison to help feed hungry Missourians, including this past season's donations and 289,292 pounds of venison donated the year before.

The National Institutes of Health state that children need protein in their diets for proper growth and development, and adults need it to maintain good health. Yet many Missourians can't afford or can't get to good sources of protein. Through Share the Harvest, Missouri hunters can help provide those in need with high-quality protein in the form of naturally lean, locally harvested deer meat.

"Hunters started Share the Harvest because they saw a need in their communities and hunters remain the driving force behind this popular program that helps feed our fellow Missourians who are in need," said MDC Director Sara Parker Pauley. "We sincerely thank the thousands of deer hunters who support Share the Harvest, along with the many participating meat processors and sponsors who help make it possible."

Processing fees are covered entirely or in part by numerous local sponsors, along with statewide sponsors that include: MDC, CFM, Shelter Insurance, Bass Pro Shops, Missouri Chapter Whitetails Unlimited, Missouri Chapter Safari Club International, Missouri Chapter National Wild Turkey Federation, Drury Hotels, Midway USA Inc., Missouri Deer Hunters Association, and Missouri Food Banks Association.

Share the Harvest is coordinated by MDC and CFM. For more information on Share the Harvest, visit <https://short.mdc.mo.gov/Zoz>.

These health fairs will be held at two different locations on two different days. The first will be on April 11 at Mercy Hospital in Cassville in the Jack Byrd Wellness Center. The second will be at Mercy Hospital Aurora in the Carol Morris Conference Room on April 17. At both locations, the fair will be open from 6 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Services provided at both locations will be the same with one minor deviation. Mercy will be offering the a comprehensive health panel for a reduced price of $15. Other reduced services that will be offered are: prostate cancer screenings, $10; Hgb A1c or average blood glucose test, $5; heart screening (EKG), $15; Lung screening (PFT), $15; and thyroid test (TSH), $5.

Mercy will be offering the following services for free at both locations: balance screening; blood pressure, pulse ox test; body mass index (BMI) tests; pre-diabetes risk assessments; and cardiac pulmonary rehab screenings. Additionally, depression screenings will be offered exclusively at the Cassville fair, provided by Senior Solutions.

Life Line is a membership program that ensures patients will be covered for the cost of air medical transport in the event of an emergency, regardless of their insurance status. Three year memberships to the program are also available for $160.

Mercy has asked that patients remember to fast for 12 hours prior to having any blood drawn. For more information on the Mercy Health Fair call (417) 847-6000 for the Mercy Cassville facility or (417) 678-7800 for the Mercy Aurora facility.

Master Gardeners’ Workshop hosted Mar. 9 Southwest names March Students of the Month

Nearly 60 area gardeners attended the spring gardening workshop hosted by Barry County Master Gardeners on March 9 at Crowder College in Cassville. Patrick Byers, regional horticulturist with University of Missouri Extension, shared information on growing many different kinds of berries in the Ozarks. He also presented a program on specialty bulbs that add interest to gardens and containers. Shon Bishop, a small farms specialist with Lincoln University, presented many tips for success in the vegetable garden including varieties that did best in local University testing. Sherrel Carlson, a fifth generation herbalist, described medicinal and food uses for some of our area’s mushrooms and herbs. Workshop participants also enjoyed lots of door prizes and tasty treats along with all of the useful information.

This was the third annual spring gardening workshop that the Barry County Master Gardeners have hosted. The group organized in 2015. Members have attained Master Gardener status by completing instructional requirements through the University of Missouri-Extension. They maintain plantings at the Cassville Library and work with Roaring River State Park’s naturalists to maintain the park’s native plant gardens. Our next event will be a plant sale on May 5. Look for them near the northeast corner of the Courthouse Square.

The mission of the Missouri Master Gardener program is “to train volunteers to educate others about safe, effective and sustainable garden practices that build healthy gardens, landscapes and communities.” The Master Gardener program exists in all 50 states and was established as part of the University of Missouri Extension in 1983. Tens of thousands of volunteer hours are recorded each year across the state as they work toward fulfilling the mission. To learn more about Master Gardeners, stop by the University of Missouri Extension of Barry Co. office located in the Court House or call for information at (417) 847-3161. You can also find the Barry County Master Gardeners on Facebook.

During the month of March, Southwest Elementary students were chosen to be Students of the Month. These students exhibited the character trait of leadership.

Lee Stubblefield

Compared to past years, the Mustang Relays on Thursday, March 21, at Anderson had a balmy, beachfront feel to it. Although powerhouse Carthage ran away with the meet, Barry County teams from Cassville, Southwest, and Wheaton figured prominently in the medals and scoring.

Jordyn Stafford won both the 1600 and 3200 meter races, and teammate Kyren Postlewait posted a second-team national elite level mark with her silver medal throw in the shot competition.

Purdy Lady Eagles claim diamond win at Wheaton

Lee Stubblefield

Two old Barry County rivals met on the softball field at Wheaton on Monday night. The Purdy Lady Eagles jumped to a 9-0 lead, then held off a late Wheaton rally to claim a 9-5 victory.

Conditions were not favorable. A cold north wind and a drizzly, overcast sky led to fans bundling in coats, in tents, under awnings and even with family pets to try to stay warm.

Wheaton's Hallie Mitchell was a true warrior. Although all the other players and coaches from the two squads were layered with extra leggings and long sleeves, coats, and gloves, Mitchell pitched the entire game bare armed under her short sleeved jersey.

But in the early going, Purdy's offense was hot. Makenna Orwig laced a one-out single to right field, and then Kylie Wood drew a two-out walk. Bayleigh Robbins also walked, and Orwig scored on an errant throw in the infield. Kinsley Mattingly brought Wood and Robbins home with a 2RBI single to center as the Lady Eagles jumped to a 3-0 lead.

Lauren Schallert had a dominating first inning on the mound for Purdy. The right hander needed only nine pitches to retire the side.

The entire Purdy lineup batted in the top of the second, and the lead swelled to 8-0. Mitchell surrendered four hits and a pair of walks in a tough inning for the Lady Bulldogs. Orwig connected again, lacing a 3-2 pitch for a 2RBI single. Robbins delivered also, crushing an RBI triple to the center field fence.

Mitchell led off the bottom of the second with an infield hit but was stranded at second base as Wheaton failed to score.

An uneventful third inning saw the score remain 8-0. Purdy added a run in the fourth when Mattingly stung a two-out RBI single to left field with runners at the corners. Wood scored, but Robbins was out at third base on the play to end the inning. Her potential run would have set up a run-rule opportunity and a chance for all concerned parties to find a fireplace.

But Wheaton wasn't through.

The Lady Bulldogs scratched out a run in the bottom of the fourth. Kaylee Hutsell led off with a single, and Hannah Lombard hit a rocket into left field for an RBI double to trim the lead to 9-1.

The Purdy offense, so strong to start the game, struggled at the finish. The Lady Eagles would only have two baserunners in the final three innings.

Wheaton scored again in the fifth. Speedster Rachel Lacey reached on a one-out single, stole second and scored on Tori Goostree's dink infield single.

Facing the heart of the Wheaton lineup, Schallert came up with a big 3-2 pitch to fan Hutsell then coaxed a first-pitch ground out from Mitchell to get out of the inning.

In the sixth inning, the Lady Bulldogs tacked on three runs on three hits and an error to pull within 9-5. Back-to-back singles by Madison Pierpont and Lombard brought home a run. Alyia Prewitt RBI double scored another. Then Lacey's pop fly was bobbled in left field allowing a third run to score, cutting Purdy's lead to just four runs.

Excitement grew when Wheaton put two runners on base in the bottom of the seventh and final inning. Mitchell beat out an infield hit. Lombard reached on a two-out error. But Wheaton's hopes died when Sarah Burton popped out in the infield for the third out.

Purdy improved to 6-2 with the win, while Wheaton slipped to 5-2.

Cassville soccer scores first home win in OT showdown

Vinnie Roberts

Friday night, March 22, marked Cassville's girls varsity soccer team's first ever home game, and with it, the team's first home win. That night, Cassville played Marshfield after being bested by the same at the Fair Grove Shootout on March 15.

After last week's loss, girls' varsity coach Jake Forste expressed his opinion that if his team was up to full strength with access to their full starting line, then the game would have gone the other way. At full strength, Forste's team did not disappoint.

"It was one of the most exciting games I've been a part of in quite some time," said Forste.

Right out of the gate, two minutes in to play, Cassville's Olivia Holman took control of the ball and scored. This would set the tone for the rest of the game, lighting a fire underneath the rest of the team.

"We came out on fire, feeling good and dominated the first 15 minutes of play," said Forste.

Cassville's defense proved formidable at Fair Grove last week, with the team's two losses both being suffered in the final minutes of play. The same would ring true this week, with Cassville keeping the Marshfield team down for most of the first half of the game.

It wouldn't be until near the end of the first half that Marshfield would begin to mount an attack against Cassville.

The Marshfield team began to take corner kicks at the Cassville goal until finally, with six minutes left in the half, they scored their first goal of the night, tying the game up to 1-1.

Not feeling shaken, Forste rallied his team at the half. Without missing a beat, Forste switched in a few fresh faces for the second half.

During the second half, Cassville's defense once again proved formidable, but so did Marshfield's.

"We made a few adjustments at the half and came out and continued to dominate but didn't get goal to show for it," said Forste.

With no goals in the second half and the score tied at 1-1, the game entered its first overtime period. The period wouldn't last long as, three minutes in, Cassville player Madi Bowyer captured the ball and sliced through Marshfield's defense, taking the ball from one goal to the other to score and win the game for Cassville.

According to Forste, he and the team are more than pleased with the results and aim to continue working to better themselves for the next game.

"We set the bar pretty high. It's hard to script it better than that," said Forste. "We're really happy with where we're at, and we're getting better every day."

Forste explained that while he is more than pleased with his team's abilities, he knows that they still have a well of untapped skill.

"Everyone's really playing well, but some of them haven't even gotten close to hitting their full potential," said Forste.

Cassville's girls' soccer team will have yet another rematch with Marshfield on Thursday, March 28, at Marshfield. The team will follow up with a second game this week on Friday, March 29, at home against Webb City.

Cassville player nominated to 4SBCA All-Area team

Cassville junior Madry McCrackin was nominated by the 4-States Basketball Coaches Association (4SBCA) to be a part of their 2018-2019 All-Area 2nd team. As part of her season, McCrackin has a season average of 14 points per game.

Crowder book drive benefits AEL families

Vinnie Roberts

Crowder College's Adult Education and Literacy recently wrapped up their "Love of Literacy" book drive, an event in which members of the community were invited to donate books at Crowder locations all over the state.

The Adult Education and Literacy Program (AEL) is a program that strives to help educate adults in the community, degree seeking or otherwise, in the art of reading and writing. The AEL program offers assistance with high school equivalency test preparations, basic skill review and college and career transition assistance for testing systems like Compass, NCRC-Workkeys and the ASVAB.

The AEL program also offer English as a Second Language (ESL) services for non-native English speakers to either learn or perfect their English.

Crowder offers the AEL program at the following locations: Aurora, Cassville, Crowder McDonald County Campus (Jane), Monett, Mount Vernon, Neosho, Noel, and Seligman. Crowder offers the ESL program at Monett Job Center and the Monett Tyson facility, as well as on the Neosho and Noel campuses.

“Back in November, we were thinking of some ideas of how to engage the community with the program and how the program could be a blessing to the students,” said Daniel Bayes, AEL/ESL instructor for Crowder.

Bayes and the rest of the AEL department at Crowder came up with the idea to do a book drive. When February was chosen to host the drive, “Love of Literacy” was chosen as the theme.

Participating Crowder facilities from all over the surrounding area accepted books for the drive across the month of February. Bayes and the rest of the AEL department at Crowder were able to obtain 434 books. The initial goal of the drive was to acquire books for at least ten percent of their student body in the AEL department, which would have been roughly 50 books.

“We’ve got about 500 to 600 students enrolled in our classes every year,” said Bayes. “We thought if we could get two books for about ten percent of our students that would be a good goal but, the community went above and beyond.”

In addition to books from the community, the book drive also received several donations from private businesses looking to aid the AEL program. These included: Scholastic, Federal One Credit Union of Neosho, Always Buying Books of Joplin and many more.

For the distribution component of the book drive, Crowder has elected to forgo traditional means and instead make an event of it.

"We're looking at doing some family nights at some of our sites," said Bayes. "We've got several locations across Neosho, Jane, Seligman, Monett, Noel and Aurora that we could do it."

According to Bayes, these family night events involve Crowder AEL students coming to Crowder with their children to listen as an orator reads them passages from one of the donated books.

"We spend a couple of hours reading the donated books with the students and their kids," said Bayes. "When the students and their kids get ready to leave, the kids get to pick out a book and take it home to be

The first of these family nights was on Wednesday, March 6. While attendance to the event wasn't up to the expectations of the AEL program's leaders, Bayes remains optimistic about the future of the program.

"We've got a lot on our hands now, but we're looking forward to getting these books in to the hands of the students."

Bayes explained that there isn't currently a timeline in place for future book-drive related events, but that AEL department does have some idea of what the future of this new program will look like.

"We're talking about doing this book drive once a year, and we're talking about doing the family nights three or four times a year at each location. Hopefully, it will be something that continues."

For more information on the Love of Literacy Book Drive, AEL Family Nights, to get involved with either the AEL or ESL programs, or any future Crowder events, contact Crowder College at (417) 451-3223.

MDC forecasts challenging spring turkey season

Missouri turkey hunters can expect a challenging spring season according to the Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC). The spring turkey hunting season starts with a youth-only weekend April 6-7. The regular spring season runs April 15 through May 5.

Although the good hatches of 2011, 2012, and 2014 helped bolster turkey numbers in much of Missouri from a low point during the late 2000s, poor production in recent years will have an adverse effect on the 2019 spring turkey season.

“A great deal of what makes for a good spring turkey season depends on the hatch two years prior because it affects the number of two-year-old gobblers on the landscape,” MDC Turkey Biologist Jason Isabelle said. “These young gobblers are not associated with hens as often as older, dominate birds and are more likely to respond to hunters’ calls.”

Unfortunately, poor production throughout the state during 2017 will result in fewer two-year-old gobblers during this year’s spring hunting season. Isabelle added that poor production in 2016 and last year will also contribute to this year’s challenging conditions.

“We’ve had three years of very poor production,” said Isabelle. “When that happens, you’re going to see the effects on turkey harvest for several years until production and turkey numbers rebound.”

Considering the prospects for the 2019 spring season, hunters should be prepared to put in a bit more effort to be successful this year.

“When turkey numbers are down, it becomes even more important to do your homework,” said Isabelle. “Hunters should get out to their hunting areas as much as possible before the season to listen for birds gobbling at daybreak.”

Isabelle noted that it gives hunters an advantage to know where turkeys are spending most of their time after they fly down.

“Using binoculars to spot turkeys feeding in open areas or looking for signs of where turkeys have been feeding in the timber can help hunters be in the right area when the hunting season gets here,” he said.

Although the prospects for this year’s spring season aren’t encouraging, this isn’t the first time poor turkey production has reduced turkey numbers in Missouri. After reaching a population peak in the early-to-mid 2000s, Missouri’s turkey population experienced four years of poor production from 2007–2010, causing the population to decline.

However, Isabelle noted that turkey numbers rebounded following several years of improved production.

“In much of the state, production rebounded in 2011, 2012, and 2014,” said Isabelle. “As a result, turkey numbers increased, and hunters generally had better hunting seasons in the years that followed. The variability of turkey production can result in wide fluctuations in turkey numbers.”

Get More Information

Get detailed information on spring turkey hunting from MDC’s 2019 Spring Turkey Hunting Regulations and Information booklet, available from MDC offices and nature centers, other places where permits are sold, and online at huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/spring-turkey-hunting-regulations-and-information.

Hunter Safety

Isabelle stressed that hunters can easily avoid the main cause of turkey-hunting incidents —mistaking or being mistaken by another hunter for wild game.

“Each year, most turkey hunting incidents typically involve hunters who fail to positively identify their targets,” said Isabelle. “Unless you are absolutely certain that what you’re looking at is a wild turkey, remember that any movement you see or any sounds you hear while you’re hunting could be another hunter.”

He also advised hunters to wear some hunter-orange clothing when moving through the woods or fields, particularly when hunting public land.

“Bringing along an orange hat is an easy way to stay safe”, said Isabelle. “Wear it when you’re moving and switch it for your camouflaged hat when you sit down to work a bird.”

Isabelle also noted that many turkey hunting incidents involve members of the same hunting party.

“If you’re hunting with someone else and you split up, be certain you know where your hunting partner will be at all times,” he advised.

Brag a Bit

MDC hunting certificates are great ways to memorialize a hunter’s first turkey harvest. To create free MDC commemorative certificates, go online to huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/hunting-trapping/trophies-certificates/certificates.

Hunters can share photos of their harvests through MDC’s Hunting Bragging Board by using #mdcbrag-board when posting pictures to their social media accounts. Learn more at mdc.mo.gov/huntingbragboard.

During mud season, talk about Soil Health

Right now, more than ever, mud is on your mind. It's on your boots and your clothes. Mud, also known as soil, and how to best manage it is the highlight of our spring Women in Dairy meetings on April 10.

Soil health is important to sustain plants and animals. By imagining soil as living, it helps understand its complexity. Management practices can change the soil and improve:

- Forage quantity
- Forage quality
- Resilience to drought

Emerging research has looked at the impact of the soil microbiome on the productivity of our soils. Drexel Atkisson, USDA-NRCS Soil Health Specialist, knows all about your mud. "Your management can change the building blocks of your soil," says Atkisson.

"I know seeing how rainfall travels through different soil types will change how you view your mud," says Reagan Bluel, MU Extension dairy specialist. "The hands-on wet lab performed by Atkisson will show it all."

Ways to best manage your soil's life will be discussed on April 10th in Conway. Lunch is included at no fee, thanks to our sponsors. Call the University of Missouri Extension of Barry Co to RSVP at (417) 847-3161.

Women in Dairy began in 2016 and meets on the second Wednesday of the month to learn and fellowship.

To learn more about the group, visit our Facebook page: @MOWomenInDairy or website: <http://extension.missouri.edu/barry/women-in-dairy.aspx>.

Local 4-H provides leadership opportunities

Barry County 4-H enrollment is on the rise. The University of Missouri-Extension 4-H program offers a variety of regional, state and national events to Barry County youth to enhance local programming, including summer camps, leadership conferences and competitions.

The Clovers of Success Scholarship Benefit Banquet helps raise funds to share the cost of these extra learning opportunities. This year's banquet, "A Night in Paris," is scheduled for Saturday March 30, at The Gathering Place in Purdy beginning at 5 p.m. The Gathering place is on the corner of Business 37 and Hwy C in Purdy.

The evening features a donation-based spaghetti dinner accompanied by a silent auction and a live auction to follow.

"The 4-H members have been working hard to gather donations for the auctions," according to Brittni Ritchie, Barry County 4-H youth program associate. "The scholarship banquet provides an excellent opportunity for the community to come show support for your youth."

Proceeds from the Scholarship Banquet will help all youth in the county across all three active clubs located in: Exeter, Cassville and Monett. 4-H is open to all youth ages five through 18. For more information about 4-H in Barry County, call your University of Missouri Extension office of Barry Co. at (417) 847-3161 or email: Barryco@missouri.edu.

CBCO is the sole local provider of blood for patients at more than 40 area hospitals in southwest Missouri, northwest Arkansas and southeast Kansas. Sick and injured hospital patients depend on CBCO donors to provide the lifesaving blood they need.

You can help by giving blood at this upcoming blood drive:

Exeter on Monday, April

DON'T RAISE THE RISK

During any kind of project around your home or property, remember there's more overhead than buildings, trees and sky. A ladder can easily reach high enough to cause potentially fatal contact with power lines.

Always look up before raising or moving a ladder to make sure it's at least 10 feet from any electrical lines. Keep your eye on power lines and your mind on working safely.

Cassville Primary awards Best Attendance

Cassville Schools rewards kids for attending school as they believe it is one of the most important things students can do to help achieve academic success. At Eunice Thomas Elementary, every month one class per grade level is presented with the “Best Attendance” trophy and “Most Improved Attendance” trophy.

The December winning classes for Best Attendance were Ms. LeCompte’s kindergarten class, Mrs. Allder’s first grade class and Ms. Krallman’s second grade class.

Samuel Hunter named Exeter Student of the Month

People’s Community Bank chose Samuel Hunter to be the Exeter Student of the month for February. Samuel is a sophomore. In addition to the certificate, Samuel will receive a $50 Graduate Certificate of Deposit. Samuel is being recognized for having good character and citizenship.
