Two Wheaton men arrested for Yonkerville Store robbery

Charlea Estes

Two men were arrested for the Yonkerville Store robbery and ended up with multiple charges for different crimes. Jerry Ray Hartkopp, 54, of Wheaton, and James Erick Hooper, 25, of Wheaton, are both being charged for the burglary and are being held in the Barry County Jail.

According to affidavits of probable cause, Hartkopp and Hooper broke into the Yonkerville Store located 2912 Highway 60 in Monett on March 27 around 5 a.m. To gain entry, the two caused over $1,000 worth of damage to the doors. Once inside, they stole around $175 in cash as well as collectible coins and credit cards.

According to the probable cause by Barry County Sheriff's Detective Robert Evenson, a security guard for Jack Henry saw Hooper's vehicle leaving the scene and took down the license plate number. Once questioned, Hooper admitted that he and Hartkopp committed the burglary with Hooper as the look out.

Hooper and Hartkopp were each charged with burglary in the second degree, property damage in the first degree and stealing. They were each issued $15,000 cash-only bonds for those charges.

Both men received additional charges related to drugs when Evenson and Detective Doug Henry served search warrants at their residences

Kidnapping suspect recaptured after jail escape

Charlea Estes

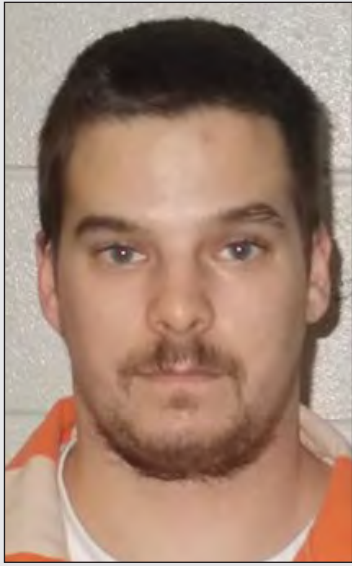

Matthew Miller, the younger brother charged in the kidnapping of a Washburn woman in January 2014, escaped from the McDonald County Jail sometime between Sunday, April 10, evening and Monday, April 11, morning with another inmate and has since been captured in Texas. Miller, 22, of Eagle Rock, escaped from the jail with the other inmate Keith Davis, 24, of Anderson, according to McDonald County Sheriff Michael Hall.

Sheriff Hall stated, "There is a shower area that does not have security surveillance, and there was a piece of metal that they were able to remove and squeeze through the cinder block wall." The space opened up into a mechanical room and they exited through there to escape.

It is suspected that the two escaped in a van from a canoe rental business. Hall said, "They found a van down in Springdale, and the canoe place didn't even know it was missing yet since it's not the right season."

The stolen van was located at a business in Springdale that Davis has ties to allegedly stealing from before, according to Hall. From there, the duo stole two motorcycles and a Toyota Land Cruiser.

Hall initially believed the two were still in the area, but Texas authorities captured the two men on Tuesday.

Hall was working in conjunction with the Springdale, Ark., Police Department, the Barry County Sheriff's Department and Highway Patrols to locate Miller and Davis before they turned up in Texas.

Both Davis and Miller were captured in Bowie County, Texas, and are awaiting extradition back to Missouri, according to Hall.

The pair were located after the stolen vehicles were found by some rail-

Fundraising campaign to benefit four local nonprofits

Charlea Estes

Four local charities will take part of the Give Ozarks Day on May 3, an initiative of grant matching through the Community Foundation of the Ozarks (CFO). Four affiliates of the Cassville Community Foundation, PACE, Crowder College, the Cassville YMCA and the Cassville Education Fund, will be participating.

The Cassville Community Foundation works under the umbrella of the CFO as a way to earn more money for the investments of their endowments. Multiple community groups work with the local community foundation to earn more to benefit the Cassville area.

The Give Ozarks Day began last year for the first time. The purpose of it is to have a one-day pledge drive to offer local charities an incentive to help raise money. Throughout the 24-hour period, grant matching and additional prizes are available. During the campaign, charities can earn additional money provided by CFO sponsors.

In 2015, 150 charities participated in the event and together they raised more than $1 million. Sponsors of the event provided $200,000 in prizes and matching incentives.

Since the event was so successful last year, the pledge drive will continue as an annual event. Not only are charities given the opportunity for matching grants, but it also gives them an additional push to get their local community involved.

Minimum donations during the pledge drive are $5. Cassville Community Foundation president Landon Fletcher said, "Ideally, we want people to donate $20 and split their donation $5 between each of them. Or if they want to donate $10 and split it between two of them, they can do that. Plus they can always give more."

PACE supports a variety of local fundraising efforts for organizations that have not yet obtained their nonprofit status. PACE owns the Cassville Cham-

Seligman park improvements to increase access

By next week, the armor on the skate park behind Seligman City Hall will be replaced, making the equipment more usable for residents.

Charlea Estes

The city of Seligman began the early stages of a variety of park improvement projects to make the facilities more usable for residents.

The skate park behind city hall is getting $2,300 worth of new armor. Brian Nichols, city clerk, said that the city has actually gotten a few years more use out of the original equipment than they expected. "We put the skate park in in 2003 and the armor had an estimated 10 year lifespan, so we did pretty good on it."

The armor used on the skate park equipment is a composite fiber resin that is weather-resistant and holds up well to heavy impact. The new armor will be installed by public works employees as soon as the special screws come in, which should be by next week. The city already received the armor replacement panels.

The city is also pouring a new concrete pad from the parking lot to the splash pad and putting in some benches to make parents more comfortable while watching their children.

Nichols said, "We already have people asking when the splash pad will be open, and I'm thinking mid-May." Nichols said that the new concrete needs to be poured and then they are replacing the gravel around the splash pad with sod, which will take two weeks to settle before they can turn on the pad.

The city council approved Cline Construction to do the concrete work for $2,000. The concrete should be poured next week and the sod will be put in shortly after.

The city also has plans to make improvements to the old city park on Highway DD. Nichols said, "The park was vandalized a few years ago, and we finally had to just lock it down."

However, now there will be a proposal for the city council to vote on regarding putting in a 1/10th mile walking track, lighting and security cameras to protect the improvements.

ESCAPE from FRONT

road workers. The plates matched the stolen vehicles from Springdale, and then authorities chased the men into a wooded area before they were captured.

Miller, his brother, Michael Miller, and his brother's girlfriend, Amanda Rhodes, allegedly kidnapped a woman from her Washburn home in McDonald County on January 3, 2014, put her in the trunk, used her debit card, tossed her down a ravine and eventually abandoned her car in the Roaring River arm of Table Rock Lake.

Davis was being held for multiple counts of receiving stolen property and tampering with motor vehicles as well as a charge for resisting arrest.

Miller is facing charges in both McDonald and Barry Counties for the kidnapping and related offenses along with his brother Michael, 28, and Rhodes, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Michael pled guilty to his charges in both Barry and McDonald Counties last month and was subsequently sentenced to 18 years in McDonald County and 14 years in Barry County.

Rhodes is charged with kidnapping, burglary in the first degree, tampering with a motor vehicle in the first degree and two counts of stealing in McDonald County.

Matthew is facing charges of felonious restraint, tampering with a motor vehicle in the first degree, assault in the third degree and fraudulent use of a credit/debit device in Barry County, but requested a change of venue to Stone County. In McDonald County, he is charged kidnapping, tampering with a motor vehicle in the first degree and burglary in the second degree. Then, while he was in the Barry County Jail, he was charged with getting a jailer to bring marijuana to him and other inmates.

Matthew had an initial arraignment in front of Judge Alan Blankenship scheduled for today, Wednesday, April 13, at 9 a.m. His charge for getting a jailer at the Barry County Jail to deliver marijuana has an arraignment hearing scheduled for Thursday, April 21, at 8:30 a.m. in front of Barry County Judge Robert Foulke.

Both Davis and Miller have both been charged with escape from a county jail in McDonald County now, as well.

Cassville man steals Jeep, robs uncle’s home

Charlea Estes

A Cassville man was arrested last week when he allegedly stole a Jeep and then burglarized a home in Cape Fair. Bryan Dwayne Davis, 28, of Cassville, is charged with burglary in the second degree, theft/stealing of any firearm, theft/stealing of $500 to $25,000, and tampering with a motor vehicle in the first degree.

On Wednesday, March 16, a black 2003 Jeep Liberty was reported stolen from an address on Schell Street in Cassville. One week later, another officer found the Jeep abandoned at the Concord Cemetery near Exeter. Davis admitted during a police interview that he had stolen the vehicle after taking a key from the previous owner of the Jeep.

The same day the Jeep was found in the cemetery, Davis also allegedly burglarized his uncle’s home on West State Highway 76 in Cape Fair. According to affidavits of probable cause, Davis stole nine firearms, food, ammunition, a crossbow, a Stihl chainsaw, turkey calls, traps and other items. Davis then secured the items at a home in Newton County.

Davis is a convicted felon and cannot legally possess any firearms. Davis also admitted to the burglary of his uncle’s house during a police interview.

Davis is being held in the Barry County Jail in lieu of a $25,000 bond.

gela Seymour described as a flipped classroom. To create the classroom atmosphere, the college will purchase round tables and computer screens to place along each of the walls.

Seymour said, “The old way of doing things is you would have a teacher lecture and then the students would do their homework. Now, it’s the opposite where the students do their book work and studying on their own and then come together to do various scenarios and learn collaboratively.”

Seymour said that it is used primarily in the nursing program, but that it can be used in other learning experiences as well. She said, “It flips the way the education is handled and allows the students to do the research on their won and then have discussions and problem solve together.

“I’ve wanted to do this project for four or five years, so I’m really excited.”

Teachers use the screens to put up PowerPoints or talking points and then the students work together to solve the problems or discuss the scenarios together.

With whatever additional funds they have, the college will buy additional equipment for the science department. Seymour said, “A lot of the equipment we have is pretty old, so we’ll do upgrades and repair some of the old stuff. We’ve added a lot of science classes since we began, so we need to do that to keep up.” Equipment will include a microscope camera and new digital scales.

In addition to Give Ozarks Day, the Cassville Education Fund was also selected to be one of the 20 organizations that were offered up to a $5,000 grand fund match. Of the 60 organizations that applied to be a part of the program, the Education Fund was one of them. Currently, they have raised $4,500 of their $5,000 goal. The first event that aided their goal as Trivia Night, which raised $1,200 plus an additional $900 in donations. Other organizations like the Cassville Community Teachers Association and Security bank have also donated to help them reach their goal to get an additional $5,000 from CFO.

Fletcher said, “The community response has been fantastic.”

Give Ozarks Day will seek donations through a crowdfunding site called causemomentum.org on Tuesday, May 3, from midnight to midnight. If you want to give but do not want to do so online, you can drop off the donations at the Cassville Area Chamber of Commerce. Additional prizes for the groups will be based on online donations. More information will be available closer to the event.

The Cassville Community Foundation Board is Fletcher, Brittany Farris, Mary Cupps, Angela Seymour, Dan Angel, Dennis Baker, Gary Fields, Jerry Marple, Mike McCracken and Susie Jacobs.

For more information, contact any of the board members or call Fletcher at (417) 847-6623.

Daily Buzz reaches seniors

The Central Crossing Senior Center has entered its second month of their The Daily Buzz service and already there are already over 50 individuals taking advantage of the program.

The service is a quick call to a home bound senior typically living all alone, just to make sure they’re doing okay. If not or if no one answers, the callers will try to call a back-up number or individual, someone who could physically check on the senior if need be.

It’s been said that no one cares how much you know until they know how much you care.

If you’d like to be a part of the service, call the Central Crossing Senior Center at (417) 858-6952 and ask for Sara Patterson, administrator, or Sue Mead, the Daily Buzz coordinator.

MILL STREET CHURCH of CHRIST

1104 Mill Street • Cassville, MO 65625
417-847-2374

I was just thinking the other day about how Christian morals are under attack, which means that Christians are under attack. Our laws protect immorality on TV, and in the other media outlets , as freedom of expression while banning prayer in our schools,and religious symbols such as the 10 commandments from public display because of “separation of church and state.”

I for one, think the “state” needs all the “church” it can get.

How did we get into this mess? Christians did not stand up for biblical morals. Why? Perhaps Paul was warning us in Romans 1:16; “I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth; to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.”

God’s will cannot prevail in our families, our congregations, and our state or at the national level, if we are shamed into silence and inactivity.

As Christians, let’s stand up for God’s word as presented by Jesus Christ and the inspired writers. Stand up in our homes by teaching and living godly lives for our children to follow. Stand up in our communities by refusing to compromise our lives for the sake of being politically correct. Stand up at the ballot box by voting for the candidate that most closely reflects God’s will.

Will it matter? Yes, because it is the right thing to do in God’s sight. Let’s resolve to never be ashamed, to live righteously before our fellow man and our Lord.

The family at The Mill Street Church of Christ invites you to join us as we strive to be good citizens in God’s kingdom.

Wildcat kids get a lesson in show choir with end of season performance

Charlea Estes

As part of their last local performance for the year, the Cassville show choirs got the elementary, intermediate and middle school students involved.

Over the past week, the Show Choir members held an after-school camp for three days where they taught kindergarten through eighth graders moves and tunes to different songs for each age group. Students let their hard work shine in a performance on Monday night, April 11, at the FEMA building on campus which included not only the younger students' pieces, but solos, Show Choir competition pieces, and ensembles from different choir members.

The choirs at Cassville are directed by Mrs. Mary Richmiller and Mrs. Leslie McCullough.

Kindergartners and first graders performed a special song called "Just For Fun," second and third graders sang "Born to Make Music", fourth and fifth graders sang "Get Up, Get Up, Get Up!" and sixth through eighth graders performed "All Jazzed Up."

Cassville's State ensembles sang their pieces, while the two Show Choirs, NBA (No Boys Allowed) and Centerstage performed their competition pieces to the wide eyes of the younger kids who dedicated the last few days to the camp.

Toward the end of the night, the graduating seniors presented Mrs. Richmiller with a parting gift. First, senior Drake Thomas asked the crowd to stand up if Mrs. Richmiller made a difference in their life or someone they knew. Almost the entire crowd was on their feet.

Thomas then shared a story of Mrs. Richmiller telling them she wanted a blanket with all of their faces on it, so the seniors made it happen. She was presented with the quilt at the show while seniors shared their memories with teary eyes about the impact she has had in their lives.

Centerstage, the co-ed Show Choir, performed their competition piece Monday night, as well. Their piece "Forever Young" included Paul Simon's "Baby Driver" and "Cats in the Cradle."

to send her daughter to college, so they called me. A lot of people call me."

Oftentimes a prized collection enters the doors because the owner passed away and asked to have it displayed for others to enjoy. Some collections are for things long since forgotten, like over 1,300 intricate butter dishes or crystal vases for flowers in cars, the original air freshener.

Winfred remembers where most of the things in the museum came from, with a handful of them bearing tags to indicate where they came from. Some tags show where grandkids have given Winfred pieces for the collection. You'll also see some local history in a space dedicated to Cassville High School's football State Championship wins in 2008 and 2009, a team their grandson played for.

Some pieces are world-record holders. Others are just impressive in their own right. Winfred and Lee Ona's collection rivals many others. He said, "I saw a guy who said he had the largest desert rose in the world. So we stopped by and saw it." Winfred chuckled, "I didn't tell him I had one twice as big at the museum."

The sheer massive size of some of the minerals, like the desert rose, which is actually selenite, a rock that looks like rose due to sand erosion in deserts. Other jaw-dropping samples include crystals, amethysts and more. Many had to have special platforms built to hold their weight. Winfred said, "At first, I didn't want 'em. Why would you want just a bunch of rocks. But after looking at them, I'm just amazed."

Winfred doesn't pretend to know the history of everything in the museum or the origins of how his extensive mineral collection formed, but he does have a deep appreciation for all of them. And, if I'm honest, I'm sure he has forgotten more history than I ever knew to begin with.

So take an afternoon or a day, make the drive to the curve where Highways 86 and J meet and enter the most interesting museum I've stepped foot in.

The Golden Museum opened for the season yesterday, Tuesday, April 12, and will stay open through the summer until October 31. The hours are Tuesday through Saturday, 10:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., with special tours available after hours by reservation. Admission to the museum is free, but guests are welcome to make donations.

Their website is www.goldenpioneeremuseum.org/ and they are on Facebook under Golden Pioneer Museum.

Museum owner Winfred Prier stands by some of the new acquisitions to the museum. On the right is a preserved dinosaur egg nest with 29 eggs in it. It is one of four known nests in the world with over 20 eggs.

The ancient pottery on display at the museum is in beautiful condition, showing little wear despite its age. Pottery lines the upper shelving in different wings of the museum.

drive, but plan to spend most of your day there.

It's rare that a museum has "something for everyone" despite most advertising as such. In the case of the Barry County treasure in Golden, it's true. Spanning the walls and shelves of the museum are everything from vintage lunch boxes to massive crystals and minerals to items confiscated from the county's own jail to war memorabilia to glassware that glows under blacklights to Native American artifacts to...the list seems to never end.

I've been to the museum a few times over the years, each time led through room after room by owner Winfred Pri-er. Winfred was a collector and told me that he finally decided to build it when he ran out of attic room.

For me, Winfred's stories of how he got the various collections are as interesting as the artifacts themselves. Some are fairly straight forward: someone called, the Priers bought the collection, and it was added to the museum. But some of the stories are more interesting than that.

Winfred added a nest of preserved dinosaur eggs to the museum this year, one of only four known nests in the world that contains more than 20 eggs. This one has 29. "The woman wanted to sell it

Cassville business students compete in Crowder contest

PARKS from 3A

Cassville High Business and FBLA students traveled to Crowder College on Wednesday, March 30, for the Annual Crowder Business Contest. This year was one of the largest turnouts at the contest with over 30 schools and 600 students from all over southwest Missouri. Cassville students took home several individual awards as well as two Championship Trophies in the categories of General Business and Advanced Keyboarding. In addition, Cassville also won the award for most students competing in Division III (large schools).

The overall cost of the project will be $4,600, which will be paid out of the parks budget, if approved. The annual parks budget in the city is $21,100 for 2016. The skate park armor is also being paid for out of the parks budget, but the concrete pad is a capital improvements project.

Nichols said that they hope next year will bring even more improvements to the old city park. He said, "We'd like to install around 10 exercise stations for fitness equipment. That'll be next year probably." Equipment would include things like a balance beam, an outdoor elliptical, weight machines, pull up bar and others.

Nichols added that they are also considering installing playground equipment at the old park to keep children occupied while their parents use the equipment.

Improvements to the Seligman parks are drawing additional patrons to use the facilities with the addition of the splash pad last year. Nichols said the goal is to make the old park available for people as well as being safe from vandalism.

Southwest claims second at tourney

The Southwest 7th-grade volleyball team finished second at the Purdy Tournament Saturday. Members included: Bailie Saunders, Danielle Reed, Bonnie Robbins, Alexis Isbell, Harleigh Jester, Makinlee Kellogg, Khloe Holder and Ashlynn Corter. The Lady Trojans defeated Wheaton and Purdy, but lost to champ Verona. The team is coached by Steve Voyak.

Cassville powers past Purdy

Lee Stubblefield
The Cassville Wildcats took advantage of eleven Eagle errors to claim a 15-4 victory at Purdy on Thursday. Noah Hadlow was sharp, going the distance for Cassville on the hill. Hadlow and the stellar Wildcat defense allowed only one run in the last five innings, as Cassville turned an early 4-3 lead into the blowout victory. For Cassville, it was payback for an earlier 11-10 loss to Purdy back on March 21. Alex Dyer had a monster night at the plate for the Cats, going 5 for 5 with 6 RBI. Half the Cassville lineup collected two or more hits each, with Leigh Cox, Zane Everett, Gilbert Medina, and Gavin White joining Dyer on Cassville's impressive stat sheet. While offense paved the way for the Wildcats, defense proved to be Purdy's demise. The Eagles young infield struggled to make plays in the gusty wind, and gave the visitors too many extra chances. Purdy slipped to 7-4 with the loss. Cassville claimed a 5-3 win over Reeds Spring on Friday to improve to 7-3 while extending the current win streak to four games.

Letter to the Editor

Here we go again.

We need some help. Actually, it's the dogs who need your help. Two dogs now roam the upper hillside of Wildwood, heartbreakingly abandoned. One is a buff-colored, medium size shorthair that we think can be reunited with her family. The other, a grey, spotted female, wandered up the hill from the park.

After it became obvious to us and our neighbors that these animals were neglected, we became the soft-touch handouts that the dogs need to survive. They love tablescraps and I make sure they get some real dog food during the day. At least they are getting fed enough that they stopped dumpster diving in the blue trash containers.

We tried the obvious solution and called the Haven of the Ozarks, hoping for a temporary shelter. The nice gentleman there informed us that they had no room at this time and the dogs would have to be placed on a waiting list. A waiting list! Unfortunately, this is not an unusual situation in Cassville and surrounding areas.

We call the spotted gray Lady Bird. She has those trusting eyes and is the first one to come for food. This one loves to be touched, rubbed, and scratched. She would be a great kid's dog.

Lilly, the larger buff dog, is suspicious of strangers. It took some patience to get close to this one, but hunger finally did the trick. Now she comes and eats, accepting food directly from my hand. She is the only one with a collar, and she has a tag showing she has been previously chipped and adopted through the All 4 Paws shelter in Pawley's Island, South Carolina. Brittany at All 4 Paws answered my email immediately when I was seeking information.

Napoleon, the little hunting dog in the picture, is our neighbor's dog and is no fool. He tags along with the others, knowing he is going to score a handout or two just from association.

So here we are. If either of these dogs is your pet, shame on you. This is yet another opportunity to remind everyone that being a pet owner is a big responsibility. Man up and do what's best for your animals. Spay, neuter, provide, rehome if necessary. NEVER dump or abandon.

But, if you have a home, a heart, and a dog-friendly yard, contact me through the Barry County Advertiser. Lady Bird would love to be your loyal companion. Lilly may need a permanent home as well.

The best dogs are free.

ROBBERY from FRONT

in Wheaton on March 31. Hooper's apartment on North Kelly had multiple drug-related items in the kitchen. The detectives found drug paraphernalia, loaded syringes, scales, Sudafed and methamphetamine held in Ice Breakers mint containers for distribution. Hooper's residence was located within 2,000 feet of government funded housing.

Hooper was charged with manufacturing a controlled substance and attempted distribution of a controlled substance. A $40,000 cash-only bond was issued for those charges.

When the detectives search Hartkopp's residence on Hurlburt Street in Wheaton, Hartkopp's girlfriend, Marsha Branham, slammed and locked the door to keep officers out, according to Det. Evenson.

Hartkopp was working at George's at the time the search warrant was served. Branham was allegedly in the process of trying to hide or destroy drug evidence when they gained entry into the house.

Officers found drugs and drug paraphernalia in a search of the bedroom that Hartkopp and Branham shared. According to Evenson, Branham also stated that she and Hartkopp had used methamphetamine earlier in the day.

Hartkopp and Branham were each charged with possession of a controlled substance and issued $15,000 bonds.

Branham was released on the bond on April 2. Hartkopp is currently being held in the Barry County Jail on a $30,000 bond, and Hooper is being held on a $95,000 bond.

Springfield Cardinals host Purdy students Southwest Academic Team places 2nd

The Eagles visit the Cardinals' Nest. Purdy students enjoy touring the Springfield Cardinals locker rooms and facilities. From left: Rion Boyd, Kyler Propps, Morgan Schilly and Layne Skiles.

Faith Lorhan, Manager of Fan Interaction with the Springfield Cardinals, recently led a tour of their facilities for a group of Purdy High School business students interested in pursuing careers in sports and entertainment marketing. Students Morgan Schilly, Layne Skiles, Rion Boyd and Kyler Propps and Adviser Kay Wright visited all areas of the Cardinals stadium, from the announcers' booth and the video production room to the suites, indoor training facility, clubhouse and offices. Audio/video personnel for the Cardinals demonstrated the new HD video display board in the outfield to give the group a glimpse of the crisp, vivid quality of the screen.

The group also enjoyed an intimate conversation with Lorhan, who spoke about the duties she performs as Fan Interaction Manager. She educated the students on intern and career opportunities with the Springfield Cardinals organization and how to pursue them.

Attendee Morgan Schilly observed of the experience, "The weather was perfect, our tour guide was even better, and the new big screen TV was the icing on the cake! Our trip to the Springfield Cardinals is one that I will keep in mind throughout college. The internships and part-time job opportunities intrigued me. I will attend Drury University in the fall, and it neighbors the Cardinals stadium and offices. I am now interested in securing a part-time job with the organization."

Kyler Propps added, "I learned a lot about what goes on within the front office of the Springfield Cardinals. The trip also gave me an idea of what I would like to do in the future."

The Southwest academic team finished second in the recent Ozark 7 Conference Tournament. The Trojans defeated Purdy, twice, Exeter and McAuley and lost twice to eventual champ Thomas Jefferson. Members of the team include: Hayden Fox, Lane Cargile, Lacey Reeves, Alex Jimenez, Haven Brown, Ellie Brown and Elizabeth Wolfe. Not pictured is Khalib Jordan. The team is coached by Steve Voyak.

Ozark Festival Orchestra finishes season

The Ozark Festival Orchestra will conclude its 36th season with its annual Young Artists concert at 3 p.m. on Sunday, April 24, at the Monett High School Performing Arts Center. Three Young Artists will join the orchestra in concerto movements and vocal selections. The concert is underwritten by the Barry-Lawrence Area United Fund, expanding opportunities for young people in the bi-county area.

Soloists will include Adam Barker, a violinist from Spokane, performing the first movement of the Violin Concerto No. 1 by Max Bruch, one of the most popular works for violin and orchestra. Flutist Jessica Baird from Willard is the junior division winner, performing the opening movement of Frenchman Jules Mouquet's "La Flute de Pan."

Baritone Shayne Piles of Republic will sing an English melody arranged by Ralph Vaughan Williams, and an aria from an Italian opera by

Be Wise To Guy Wires.

Smart use of farm machinery means watching out for electric lines to avoid potentially lethal contact. But did you know that the guy wires on power poles provide grounding as well as support? Damaging a guy wire can cause an electric current disruption, creating a dangerous situation.

Observe the 10-foot rule to stay clear of guy wires as well as overhead power lines when you work with or move equipment. And be sure to contact your electric cooperative should you have a problem with either type of wire.

Barry County youth bag 22 turkeys in spring season

According to preliminary data from the Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC), young turkey hunters harvested 4,145 birds during the 2016 spring youth season, April 9 and 10. Top harvest counties were Callaway and Franklin with 105 birds harvested in each, and Greene with 88 birds harvested. Gasconade, Osage, and Saint Clair each came in next with 84 birds harvested. Barry County hunters harvested 14 adult gobblers and eight juvenile gobblers for a total of 22 in those two days. Young hunters checked 4,441 turkeys during last year's youth weekend. For more information by county on the turkey harvest for spring youth season, visit MDC online at extra.mdc.mo.gov/widgets/harvest_table/.

Conservation makes Missouri a great place to turkey hunt. For more information on the upcoming regular spring turkey hunting season, April 18 – May 8, get a copy of the Department's 2016 Spring Turkey Hunting Regulations and Information booklet available where permits are sold or go online to the MDC Hunting section at huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/hunting-trapping/species/turkey.

Youth and adult hunters who harvest their first turkeys can have the accomplishment recognized through a special certificate from MDC, complete with photo. Learn more at huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/hunting-trapping/trophies-certificates/certificates.

Hunters can brag a bit about their harvests by posting pics on the MDC Bragging Board at huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/hunting-trapping/trophies-certificates/hunting-bragging-board.

Celebrate school libraries April 10-16

This week, the Missouri Association of School Librarians (MASL) joins libraries in schools, on campuses and in communities nationwide in celebrating National Library Week, a time to highlight the value of libraries, librarians and library workers.

Libraries today are more than repositories for books and other resources. Often the heart of their communities, campuses or schools, libraries are deeply committed to the places where their patrons live, work and study. Libraries are trusted places where everyone in the community can gather to reconnect and reengage with each other, to enrich and shape the community and to address local issues.

MASL is celebrating National Library Week by advocating for Missouri school children. Because school libraries transform lives every day, every student deserves access to a quality school library program and a certified school librarian. Twenty-five separate state studies, including a 2003 study conducted in Missouri, show that quality school library programs run by certified school librarians increase student achievement. The impact of school librarians and library programs is one of the best-kept secrets in education, and the MASL wants to change that.

The 2016 edition of School Libraries Work! A Compendium of Research Supporting the Effectiveness of School Libraries (<http://goo.gl/Jr62qG>) presents findings from various state studies, highlighting statistics that show students in schools with a full-time, certified school librarian have higher scores on reading and English Language Arts tests than do students in schools without a full-time, certified school librarian. Moreover, one study found that “[r]egardless of whether there were fewer classroom teachers schoolwide, students in states that lost librarians tended to have lower reading scores—or had a slower rise on standardized tests—than those in states that gained librarians” (Lance). Because these studies controlled for other variables, differences in these test scores cannot be explained by factors such as school funding or students’ socioeconomic status.

A school librarian’s influence goes beyond reading. Certified school librarians collaborate with teachers to provide instructional resources and activities; empower students by teaching information literacy skills, digital citizenship and research skills; foster an appreciation of reading and love of literature in students; and support the entire school community by providing valuable professional development. Investing in certified school librarians and quality school library programs is a smart choice for Missouri schools and for Missouri students.

Unfortunately, many Missouri school districts have been eliminating librarian positions and cutting library budgets in recent years. While school district officials often have to make difficult choices due to budget constraints, every Missouri student deserves to have a certified school librarian and a quality school library program. When making difficult financial decisions, it is prudent to support proven programming, and studies have proven that access to certified school librarians positively impacts student achievement.

The Missouri Association of School Librarians encourages Missourians to read School Libraries Work, to share its findings with stakeholders in their educational communities and to advocate for strong school library programs in both their local schools and across Missouri.

Missouri school libraries transform because students need access to books, technology and so much more

Arvest collecting for 1 Million Meals campaign

Arvest Bank's 1 Million Meals initiative challenges bank associates, customers and community members to participate in fundraising efforts and nonperishable food drives to fight hunger in the more than 120 communities the bank serves. The initiative is needed, as the Food Research & Action Center (FRAC) reports 17 percent of American households surveyed in 2014 reported food hardship, or not having adequate funds to provide enough food for their family.

Arvest is conducting its annual initiative in the spring this year rather than its traditional fall time-frame due largely to the fact food banks report an increased need for food items in the summer, when many children do not have the benefit of eating meals at the schools they attend. In 2013, for example, the number of Missouri free and reduced-price students who participated in the National School Lunch Program was less than 3 percent of the number who participated in the program during the 2013-2014 school year, according to the FRAC. Donations to food banks also tend to be lower in the spring and summer than at other times of the year.

Arvest Bank kicked off the two-month, bank-wide effort to provide at least one million meals to local, hungry families today, and it will continue through May 28. The initiative will conclude during the first two full weeks of June, when donations are presented to 69 local organizations who feed the hungry in their communities.

Arvest Bank has partnered with the Cassville Community Food Pantry in Cassville and The Alliance of Churches Food Pantry in Shell Knob for the duration of the initiative. All donations received will go to these two organizations to provide meals to local, hungry families. Cassville and Shell Knob residents can participate in 1 Million Meals by dropping off nonperishable food items or making monetary donations at the Arvest branches in Cassville and Shell Knob or calling (866) 952-9523. Every dollar raised through 1 Million Meals provides the equivalent of five meals for those in need.

"Our associates are excited to kick off our sixth annual 1 Million Meals campaign," said Mark Davis, Arvest Community Bank president in Cassville and Shell Knob. "We are looking forward to joining with our customers and the community in an effort to fight hunger at a local level."

"The donations we raise in Cassville will benefit the Cassville Community Food Pantry and in Shell Knob will benefit The Alliance of Churches Food Pantry. The donations will provide help in the summer, a time when many children go without meals they might normally receive at school. It's a privilege for Arvest Bank to help these two fine organizations during a time of year that has been a challenge for fundraising and providing meals to families in need."

Each of Arvest Bank's 69 recipient organizations was selected on a local basis.

Hummingbird migration begins

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) encourages people to discover nature this spring by learning about the ruby-throated hummingbird. Missourians will be seeing this delightful bird this time of year a lot more now due to migration. In an average year, ruby-throated hummingbirds arrive in Missouri around early to mid-April.

“Hummingbird migration all depends on the weather,” MDC Wildlife Ecologist Brad Jacobs said. “This year’s migration should be about average for hummingbirds and they should be increasing in numbers over the month of April.”

Jacobs noted a great website map from hummingbirds.net to visit to see when and where hummingbirds are migrating: <http://bit.ly/1cCTWae>. The hummingbird migration map shows locations of where ruby-throated hummingbirds have been spotted already this year in North America.

The website allows visitors to help out with this by entering the dates and exact locations where people have spotted hummingbirds.

Just like most birds, hummingbirds typically migrate south in early fall and migrate back north in the spring.

“Our hummingbirds begin their southward migration in mid-August and most are gone by early October,” Jacobs said. “A few overwinter in extreme southern coastal states, with most wintering from southern Mexico to Costa Rica. Migration means some of them fly nonstop for 600 miles from the Gulf coast of the U.S. to the Yucatan Peninsula over the Gulf of Mexico. The often lose half their body weight during this trans-Gulf, 24-hour flight.”

Early spring migrant hummingbirds in Missouri rely on sap oozing from sapsucker-drilled holes and insects for food. With warmer weather they soon will switch to eating nectar from many different kinds of flowers later in spring, which gives them energy needed to catch insects all day long to feed their young.

Hummingbirds are more than just a delight to watch flying around, they also play a very important part in our ecosystem.

“Hummingbirds are important pollinators for many species of plants that require just such a long-billed pollinator,” Jacobs said. “Because of their small size, hummingbirds also risk ending up as food for many predators such as large insects, spiders, birds and frogs.”

Hummingbirds are summer residents throughout the state either around nectar feeders outside homes and in parks and gardens. Hummingbirds nest in wooded areas, and are frequently observed near forests, and streams. Learn more about the ruby-throated hummingbird from MDC’s Field Guide at <http://on.mo.gov/1q0h7To>.

Scott Tech students get hands-on experience

Cadets involved in the Junior Achievement program at Scott Technology spent the day listening to inspiring speakers, seeing first hand new technology, robotics, touring the call center, learning Code and experiencing virtual texting and driving challenges.

Frank Jillian from Kyocera also shared new technology and give aways.

Jomo Castro, regional manager of external affairs for AT&T, who is serving as 2016 National High Tech Day director, stated, “Our theme this year is ‘Transforming Your Future.’”

It was a day of hands on learning and thinking for the cadets. Sometimes it only takes one person, thing or event to spark the interest of a young mind.

Office on Aging transitions to SeniorAge

For years, Southwest Missouri Office on Aging has been working on a fresh rebranding of a new name and new image - so people can more easily understand who we are and who we serve - not just in print, but in name. SWMOA will forever hold a place in our history books, but from here forward we are the new SeniorAge Area On Aging.

Although our name has officially changed, our scope of service remains the same. We continue to play a key role in planning, developing, coordinating, and delivering a wide range of service and support that enables seniors to remain independent and at home for as long as they feasibly can and wish to do so. We do this through five core services including supportive services, caregiver encouragement, nutrition, health and wellness programs, and advocacy. SeniorAge also offers a wide range of other benefits to include care coordination, Medicare education and enrollment, tax assistance, respite, transportation, and navigator assistance just to name a few.

After much thought, we found that SeniorAge is easy to say, easy to explain, easy to remember, and looks vastly more friendly. And, it doesn’t have a lot of “fussy” in it that might quickly become outdated. Our logo casts a shade of diversity (leaves) in the folks we serve, mixed with our forward motion in services to seniors (path). It’s as exciting as fireworks filling the sky, yet represents the changing stages in life just as leaves change with each season.

Join us in celebrating the new SeniorAge at one of our 36 Senior Centers located in 17 counties throughout southwest Missouri. You’ll always be greeted by friendly staff; receive a warm, nutritious meal; and engage in an abundance of activity to round out your day. For more information, contact SeniorAge at 417-862-0762, visit our website at www.swmoa.com or contact the local Senior Center nearest you.

The Cassville Senior Center is located at 1111 Fair Street. You can contact them at (417) 847-4510.
