Purdy Hwy. 37 wreck leads to meth trafficking discovery

Charlea Estes-Jones

A three-vehicle wreck on Highway 37 outside of Purdy led to the discovery of a almost quarter of a pound of methamphetamine on Tuesday morning, April 23. According to a report by Purdy Police Chief Jackie Lowe, a driver from Conway caused the crash after failing to stay in the correct lane of traffic and officers later discovered the meth.

Lucas Baldwin, 24, of Conway, was driving a 2004 Chevrolet Silverado southbound on Highway 37. Purdy Police reported Baldwin crossed the centerline and struck a 2018 Freightliner, driven by Harold L. Wells, 59, of Aurora. When the Freightliner was struck, two tires were dislodged and one hit a third vehicle, a 2009 Nissan Versa, driven by Ronald Roetto, 48, of Monett, headed northbound.

No one was injured in the crash. The Silverado was totaled, and the Freightliner sustained extensive damage. Both were towed from the scene. The Versa sustained minor damage and was driven from the scene.

While investigating the crash, Lowe reported to have found 105 grams of methamphetamine in Baldwin's pickup.

Baldwin was issued a citation for failure to stay on the right half of the roadway and transported to the Barry County Jail on a 24 hour hold for possession of a controlled substance.

As of Wednesday, April 24, Baldwin was charged with class A felony trafficking drugs in the first degree and misdemeanor unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia.

According to the affidavits of probable cause by Detective Joe Houdyshell with the Ozarks Drug Enforcement Team (ODET), officers located the bag of methamphetamine under the open hood of the truck driven by Baldwin. Houdyshell then located additional empty baggies, a digital scale, two spoons and a glass pipe with methamphet-

Barry County E9-1-1 telecommunicators honored for service

The Barry County E9-1-1 Center held an open house at the center on Friday, April 19, in honor of National Telecommunicators Week.

Vinnie Roberts & Charlea Estes-Jones

In the aftermath of times of crisis, people often remember to thank the firefighters, police and emergency medical staff that helps them through. Often overlooked in these praises are the men and women who work dispatch for these services. Last week was National Telecommunicator Week. In honor, the Barry County E9-1-1 Center held an open house and tours and celebrated the voice behind the call.

In Barry County, police, fire, and emergency medical services are all handled by the staff of the E9-1-1 center located in Cassville near the Crowder College Campus.

Carrie Jabben has been working dispatch in Barry County for 13 years. She began her work long before the E9-1-1 center was built, initially doing dispatch out of the Barry County Jail.

Jabben grew up in Haysville, Kan., just a few miles south of Wichita. She says that her family has always had the highest respect for emergency services, due in part to her father being a key figure in the fire department during her childhood. This directly led to her decision to become a dispatcher.

"My dad was a captain of the fire department back home," said Jabben. "So, matters of public safety took precedence over anything in our home. It was just kind of in my blood."

Phillips named Missouri 911 Director of the Year

Charlea Estes-Jones

Local 911 director Mike Phillips is making waves in the emergency services community in Missouri. First, he was elected as president of the Missouri 911 Directors Association, and now he was selected as the Director of the Year at the spring 2019 Missouri Public Safety Communications Conference.

Phillips began his career with the Barry County E9-1-1 Center in 2007 to do mapping and addressing as well as staffing and implementing policy and procedure after working as a dispatcher and in mapping and addressing in Warsaw for Benton County. In 2009, the original 911 director announced he was leaving and Phillips put in for the director position, which he was hired for.

Phillips said becoming a director was the next step for him in a career he feels he is meant for. He said, "I truly felt when I got into 911 that I was meant to be here. Before that, I did construction and sales and other things, but I really felt like I was at home when I got into 911. The majority of my family is involved in emergency services and growing up, I didn't have much desire to do that. It never was something I thought I would do.

"But when I got into 911 and did addressing and saw the value of what that does, I realized I was really helping people out. I felt that the job and this career was extremely important and have a lot of value."

Phillips was elected president of the Missouri 911 Directors Association board after being involved with the organization for a few years. That elected position began

During the interview with Baldwin, he told officers he smoked methamphetamine about thirty minutes or an hour before in Springfield before leaving to go home in Conway. Baldwin reported to officers he remembered using a restroom in Aurora but nothing else before the crash.

Baldwin also reportedly told officers he's fallen asleep driving and had done the same thing about a week prior.

Baldwin claimed the meth was not his and did not remember seeing it when he changed his oil.

Baldwin is currently on probation for delivery of a controlled substance and pos-

Cassville Police Prescription Take Back Day April 27

The Cassville Police Department is participating in the D.E.A. Prescription Take Back Day again this year. This will be held April 27, 2019, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Medication can be dropped off at Cassville City Hall/Cassville Police Department located at 300 Main Street. The entrance will be in the back of the building. Use the Council Chamber door to drop off prescriptions on April 27.

The Prescription Take Back Day's purpose is to help people to properly dispose of unused medications. Proper disposal of medication helps to protect the environment and keeps the medicine from being flushed into our water systems. This also helps keep the medication out of the hands of people who do not have a prescription or need for the medication but want to use it for recreational use only.

Chief Dana Kammerlohr said, "We want to encourage people to take the time to clean out their medicine drawers/cabinets and properly dispose of their unused medicine."

The Prescription Take Back Day staff will accept over-the-counter medications. Inhalers, illegal drugs or sharp objects (i.e. syringes/needles) will not be accepted. No medications can be accepted from medical clinics, pharmacies or veterinary clinics.

Cassville Supermileage team named State champs

Vinnie Roberts

Working tirelessly over the last few months, Cassville technology teacher Marcus Reynolds and his Supermileage team were named state champions in the Biodiesel category at the 2019 Missouri State Supermileage Challenge in Warrensburg.

The competition pits high school students from across the state in a race to build the most fuel efficient automobile. Students spend several months constructing the car out of whatever materials are at their disposal. Teams select a driver to take the machine on a ten-lap course.

The 26-member team had to consider many factors in the building of their cars. These included the weight of the car, the efficiency of their engine, aerodynamics and the strength of the materials used.

“We used a different metal for the frame,” said Cassville student Sam Holman.

“For cost reasons, we had a much heavier frame last year,” said Reynolds.

This year’s car had a lighter weight than last year’s submission, according to team members. To achieve this, the team settled on the use of an aluminum frame, making the car not only achieve top speed faster, but also capable of achieving speeds without burning excessive fuel. According to Holman, this frame had a total weight of seven pounds.

“We built the car smaller this year than the one we made last year, so we had to consider how to do more with a smaller car,” said Reynolds.

Reynolds also went on to state that the team based their design for the car’s chassis on a chassis designed by the University of Southern California for a similar competition.

Another design shift made by the team for this year’s model had to do with the car’s steering.

“We added rack and pin steering instead of regular linkage steering,” said Reynolds.

According to Reynolds, in addition to this being a lighter type of steering mechanism, it also allowed for more legroom in the vehicle itself. This led to the driver having more maneuverability within the car.

According to the team, they also made the decision to switch from a standard engine to a diesel engine in order to maximize their fuel efficiency.

Members of the team also stated that this year’s version of the car is more square in the nose than last year. This was done in order to help the car push more air to the sides as it accelerated.

Robert E. Lea Turns 90 Bash!

Retired Master Chief Petty Officer, USN, Robert E. Lea, more commonly known as “Bob,” turned 90 recently and, in honor of the occasion, he was treated to a surprise birthday celebration at Shell Knob’s VFW Memorial Post 2203, the same post Bob helped to establish in 1978. Over 75 well wishers were there to help a flabbergasted Mr. Lea usher in what we all hope will be the best year of his life. Always the optimist, and in response to “SURPRISE!” from the crowd, Bob shot back, “Thank you and I sure hope you all can be around to help me celebrate my 100th!” This keen wit is just one of the reasons so many people attended in the first place. No doubt other reasons have to do with the love and admiration so many expressed while there at Bob’s party. Family, friends and well wishers, some having come from as far away as Hawaii, were there to help celebrate a long and well-lived life. Clearly, this is a man who knows how to live. Interestingly, Bob, believing the rouse of an excuse for why he first thought he was there, prepared some of his famous home-made ice cream. This of course was promptly served with his surprise birthday cake. Thank you, Bob, and here’s wishing you many more well-lived years!

During any kind of project around your home or property, remember there's more overhead than buildings, trees and sky. A ladder can easily reach high enough to cause potentially fatal contact with power lines.

Always look up before raising or moving a ladder to make sure it's at least 10 feet from any electrical lines. Keep your eye on power lines and your mind on working safely.

returning members who were driven to make improvements to last year's design.

"We made it to fourth in state last year," said Reynolds. "Some of these guys were on the original team, so they were there when we did our planning last year. They came in and picked up where they left off last year."

Reynolds went on to explain that these returning members, along with several members of the team being related to members of last year's team, were able to continue their own work, aided by the knowledge of the things that kept their last model from being as efficient as it could be.

Reynolds and his students claim that the competition has helped them indulge their passions for industrial arts in a classroom setting.

"I liked the opportunity to work on cars, motors, and welding at school," said team member Lannin Pryor.

"It definitely gave me more hands-on, real world experience," said team member Michael Russell.

Reynolds went on to state that part of why he enjoyed the competition was the opportunity to demonstrate how aspects of other school subjects, such as geometry and physics, can be applied to practical arts.

"The extension of other classes into a practical application is where I see the most benefit to my students," stated Reynolds.

Overall, the Cassville team were named State Champions in the biodiesel category of the competition, with their vehicle having an average fuel efficiency of 188.75 miles per gallon.

Cassville High School Industrial Arts students traveled to Warrensburg this week to compete in the Missouri State Supermileage Challenge held on campus at the University of Central Missouri. CHS students were named State Champions in the Bio Diesel category with their vehicle having an average of 188.75 MPG. Marcus Reynolds is the team's adviser.

Happi Camper gets you ready for the outdoors

Vinnie Roberts

Every year, people from all over the country flock to Barry County to enjoy a number of local parks and summer recreations the area has to offer. Sensing a need for a shop that sold a comprehensive selection of fishing, camping and lake gear, husband and wife team, Terrie and Kathy Zornes, have opened Happi Camper Outdoors.

The space was built out of a shop building on the Zornes' property. The building is divided in two with the front of it acting as a shop for general camping and outdoor goods. In the shop, they offer boats for rent as well as camping equipment and fishing gear. Happi Camper Outdoors sources some of their fishing equipment from local suppliers such as Nu-Tech baits, based in Cassville, and Head Case baits, of Seligman.

The second half of the shop is devoted to the business' specialty, building affordable, lightweight, luxury camper trailers. These campers are built in-house by Terrie Zornes, who has an extensive background in construction.

Their trailers' frames are first built by a manufacturer in Omaha, Okla., before being sent to Zornes who then handles the wiring and interior construction.

According to Kathy Zornes, her husband has worked in construction all his life and through his retirement, he keeps his passion alive by constructing unique campers.

"He can build anything," said Kathy Zornes.

"I do this for the satisfaction of a finished project,"

Kathy and Terrie Zornes, above, opened Happi Campers to help people get into the outdoors, offering equipment for fishing and even gear and lightweight trailers for camping.

said Terrie Zornes.

Zornes' trailers measure five by eight, and interiors feature space for a queen-size camping mattress and a small television. The back of the trailers feature a small kitchen area with shelving for storage and outlets to power cooking equipment. The top of the trailers feature a pop-out awning for the kitchen area and a sitting space in front of the trailer's door. The roof also features hook-ups for a television antenna. Located in a box mounted to the front of these trailers is a 110-volt battery that powers the electronics.

Happi Camper Outdoors offers several trailers for a rental fee of $50 a night and also offers custom built trailers that can be purchased outright upon request. Prices for these trailers vary based on materials and extra features. According to Zornes, these trailers can usually be completed within the span of a few weeks once the materials are ordered.

Happi Camper Outdoors is located just east of Cassville, at 14824 Farm Road 2200, which is just past the junction of Highways 76 and 86 at Bates Corner. After turning on to 86, Farm Road 2200 is located just before the road begins to curve.

Happi Camper Outdoors is open Wednesday through Sunday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. unless Monday falls on a holiday, in which case the shop is open. For more information, contact Happi Campers at (417) 489-9592. They can also be reached online at www.happicamperoutdoors.com and via email at happicamperoutdoors@gmail.com.

Happi Campers makes custom lightweight camping trailers that feature a sleeping area, storage and more in a tiny package. Trailers can be rented by the day or purchased outright and customized to the owners' needs.

Barry County courts incarcerate 9 for felonies in February 2019

• Eric Eugene Akins, of Monett, pled guilty to possession of a controlled substance in December 2017. Akins' probation has since been revoked, and he received a suspended execution of a seven year incarceration sentence with the Department of Corrections and five years supervised probation.

On May 26, 2017, Akins was implicated in a call placed to the Monett Police Department regarding him selling drugs to someone on a bicycle. When officers made contact with Akins, he denied selling drugs, but they saw a text message referencing a drug sale on Akins' cell phone, and there was a tin with methamphetamine residue inside his vehicle.

Akins is to serve probation until February 29, 2024.

• Gary Edward Allen, Jr., of Gravette, Ark., pled guilty to possession of a controlled substance and unlawful use of a weapon - possession of a firearm and a felony controlled substance.

On November 1, 2018, Allen was stopped by Barry County Sheriff's Department officers for a traffic incident. When officers made contact, they located a sunglasses case inside a backpack in his vehicle with two baggies with crystal residue and five syringes and a spoon with crystal-like residue on it. The residue field-tested positive for methamphetamine. He also had a .22 caliber gun in the vehicle under the seat.

Allen received a suspended imposition of sentencing and five years supervised probation.

• Crystal Ann Admonson, of Eureka Springs, Ark., pled guilty to four counts of forgery and one count of stealing $750 or more. Admonson received a suspended execution of a four year incarceration sentence with the Department

On January 25, 2018, the Barry County Sheriff's Department received a report that personal checks were stolen out of a mailbox and over $2,000 was missing from the checking account. When officers looked at the security footage from Freedom Bank in Golden and Shell Knob, they identified Amondson and her boyfriend cashing the checks. tions.

Between November 5 and 6, 2018, Birchfield borrowed a vehicle from the victim. The victim's checkbook was in the car and Birchfield took two checks, writing them out to another person and cashed them for $550 at Arvest Bank in Cassville.

On October 20, 2018, Birchfield got a victim's social security number and got a credit card in the victim's name. She bought $245.01 worth of merchandise on the card.

• Archie Eugene Boyer, of Branson, pled guilty to leaving the scene of an accident with physical injury. Boyer received a suspended execution of a four year incarceration sentence with the Department of Corrections and five years supervised probation.

On October 24, 2018, the Monett Police Department tried to speak to Butler when he was standing outside at 2:08 a.m. When officers made contact, Butler fled. When detained, officers found 6.5 grams of methamphetamine, baggies, a scale, Sudafed-like medication, empty syringes and cut straws.

Butler is to serve probation until February 20, 2024.

last year and is a two-year term.

He said, "As president of the board, the primary object is dissemination of information to our members. I work on legislative efforts: anything that affects 911 and the state of Missouri this organization has an active role in.

"I might do testimony of support, meet with congress and so forth and explain our position and why there is a value to this bill being passed."

Phillips was asked to run for the position when the former president of the board stepped down after several years of service. He was unopposed as president for that board.

He said, "I thought I could bring some value to the organization and at least accept the nomination."

Other aspects of that role include giving support to directors across the state in their 911 capacities. He said, "The other big component of the directors is we provide a lot of support for administrators and directors for 911.

"We provide a lot of support where we can network, share resources, different policies and procedures and what we're working in that area.

"It's a lot of collaboration and sharing of ideas."

Recognition like serving on the directors' board a just shows Phillips' dedication to the community and the importance of 911.

He said, "I've never met people in this industry that don't have a desire to help people. I try to make the place better and help people out. That's when I realized where I'm meant to be at and what I'm supposed to do with my life and my career. And it's worked out for me.

"Things change a lot ad there is a lot of stress in this industry. There's always new staff members and products that are coming out what we need to update. In this industry, things change quite a bit and that keeps it refreshing. There's always new things to learn and there's always new technology coming out."

After Jabben grew up and started a family of her own, she saw dispatch as a way to honor her father.

"I was a stay-at-home mom for awhile," said Jabben. "When [my family] moved here to Missouri, I decided that this would be a good way for me to follow in my father's footsteps."

Jabben stated that part of her infatuation with the job is the excitement of never knowing what her day will be like.

"You never know what you're going to get when that phone rings," said Jabben. "You have to be prepared for whatever comes over that phone."

Stacy Lake, another dispatcher for the E911 center, also spoke on her work. Lake has been a dispatcher for over a year and a half, with July marking her second anniversary with the center.

Lake moved to the area from California and decided that, after she had come to the area, she wanted to work in a position where she could help people.

"I moved here from California," said Lake. "I have a background in the medical field. I still wanted to help people and be close to my kids' school. I saw that there was an opportunity here and immediately applied. I figured I'd still be helping people and my community."

The hardest part of the job for Jabben is hanging up the phone. According to her, hearing people in crisis but never getting to know how the story ends takes an emotional toll.

“We typically never find out the outcome of calls,” said Jabben, “Sometimes, we call and see if we can get an update, but we usually can’t.”

According to Jabben, one call in particular sticks in her mind as a career highlight.

"I got to hear a baby being delivered," said Jabben. "It was very cool to hear a life come into this world."

Lake explained that she also finds the exciting nature of the job to be part of what she looks forward to everyday.

"We can go from having a day where everything is peaceful and calm to all of our lines ringing and everyone having multiple calls on multiple lines. There's never a 'same' type of day. It's always different."

Lake stated that, while her job is strenuous, she finds joy in being able to help people through their worst moments. “We’ve had CPR in progress with an infant, when you hear that infant finally take a breath and start crying, that’s something to be happy about,” said Lake. “Calls like that really show us why we do what we do. We help people in their darkest moments.”

Through all of the emotional toll of the job, Lake remains optimistic about her role in the community being a positive one, stating that she believes that her work is necessary for those in need, regardless of the urgency of their issue.

“We need to have that opportunity to reach out when we’re in need,” said Lake. “People need to have that 24/7. We’re the link to help when people need it.”

While the job takes its emotional strain, Jabben stated that it also brings her great joy.

"The most important thing is that my family is very proud, which makes me proud," said Jabben. "I can't imagine doing anything else."

Jabben stated that her work at the E911 center is crucial to the community. She went on to explain that the dispatch staff is well-trained for their positions.

"The standard of care that we give is, to me, impeccable," said Jabben. "We are professional. We know how to do our jobs. We're there to help as soon as we can."

Barry County E9-1-1 director Mike Phillips said the importance of National Telecommunicator Week is to draw attention to the importance of the field and thank the employees at the center. He said, "I am truly proud of the work my staff does every day and am glad that this week during National Telecommunicator Week, we take some time to reflect on the great work they do and the high level of service they provide to our community."

During a special awards ceremony, local telecommunicators were given awards.

Cassville Track and Field Invitational: Evaluating and comparing results

Lee Stubblefield

One of the great things about track and field is that there are no gray areas. Results are glaringly printed in black and white. Times, heights and distances. The watch and the tape don't lie. That allows for absolute comparisons of performances, even at different venues, something that can't be said for most other sports.

That is especially important as athletes head toward their district, sectional and state meets. Medals and accolades earned at invitationals may lose their luster when compared to other performances. That fourth place finish at one meet may well be a cut above the gold medal finish at another.

Coaches and athletes should spend a lot of time studying meet results, especially previous state meet results. While the exceptional few enter the record books with sensational performances, state results vary little from year to year. The names change but the results are remarkably similar. Even results from the cinder track days compare favorably with marks achieved on high tech surfaces with the best shoes, equipment and apparel available.

Success at any level should be applauded and recognized but with a realistic understanding of where that success fits in the big picture. While just getting to state is a great accomplishment, finishing in the top eight and earning a medal in the various events is always the goal.

Cassville Invitational

Both the Cassville boys and girls claimed second place team finishes at the annual Cassville Invitational on Tuesday, April 16, fighting the cold, the wind and good competition throughout the meet.

Cassville's Jericho Ferris claimed third place in the boys

100 meter dash with an 11.80. Compare that to previous Class 3 results where medalists typically have to run 11.5 or better,

In the 200, Southwest's Trevor Sneed took third in 24.30. The Trojans compete in Class 2 and eighth place at C2 state last year was 23.36. Sneed also placed third in the 400 at Cassville with a 53.90 run. That time would be on the edge of a state medal in Class 2.

None of the boys 800, 1600 or 3200 meter runners posted state quality times. The boys 3200 gold medalist David Lazalde, of McDonald County, ran exactly a minute slower than the Cassville meet record.

In the high hurdles, Cassville's Drake Reese held off Southwest's John Scannell, 16.53 to 16.69. But because of the difference in class, Scannell is closer to state medal contention.

None of the boys' relay teams were close to state medal marks, although Southwest's 4x800 meter quartet ran a season's best 8:54.90 in placing second behind McDonald County. The Trojans have a shot at qualifying for state in that relay.

The best boys field event performance of the night came in the pole vault where Zach Woods of McDonald County cleared 13-6. That's a height that will medal at the Class 4 state meet.

In the girls, division, the Arnold sisters from Blue Eye flexed their Class 1 distance muscles in a state meet preview. Cassville's Jordyn Stafford won a close battle with Riley Arnold in the 1600: 5:33.70 to 5:34.10. The two swapped positions in the 3200 though with Arnold winning in 12:04.50 to Stafford's PR 12:13.90.

Avery Arnold won the 800 in 2:34.40 with Southwest's Brylee Wilson third in 2:37.60.

Both Arnold sisters should reach state, and Riley will be one of the favorites in the C1 girls 3200.

Stafford, who placed 14th in the C4 1600 at state last year, should qualify in both distance events and be in medal contention in the 3200.

Wilson has a shot at a C3 state qualifying berth in the 800.

Cassville's talented girls sprint corps has a tough road to the finals at state. The last C3 state medals in the girls 100, 200 and 400 last year saw times of 12.8, 26.2 and 1:01.7.

On Tuesday night, Kyren Postlewait ran a strong 12.6 into the wind for first place. Parker Marple won both the 200 and 400 meter events, running 27.7 and 1:04.40. Kennedy Parnell destroyed the field in the 300 meter hurdles with her 50.90 but will have to run under 50 seconds to claim a state medal.

Postlewait also has state hopes in the field events. She earned an all-state medal in the shot last year, taking fifth.. She won that event Tuesday with a heave of 40-0 and finished second in the long jump with a leap of 16-8.

Riley Morris won the discus Tuesday throwing 94-10 but has work to do if she is going to go to state.

The Lady Wildcats have a shot at going to state in the 4x100 meter relay, and a one second improvement could land them on the podium. One second. That's like two great handoffs difference.

Cassville's thinclads will compete at the Big 8 Conference Meet at Mt. Vernon on May 2 then head to the Class 3 District 6 meet at Hollister on May 11.

Southwest will participate in the SWCL Conference Meet for the first time on May 1 at Spokane then jump into Class 2 District 5 action at Sarcocoxie on May 4.

Barry County deputies organize charity baseball tournament

Vinnie Roberts

On Saturday, April 27, local law enforcement, fire department and emergency medical employees will host their third annual double elimination baseball tournament.

Three teams, one representing each type of emergency service, will play each other in a round robin-style tournament. Winners of one game will immediately play the next team until a team reaches two losses, at which point they will be eliminated. The winner of the tournament will be the team that manages one or fewer losses.

While winners of the tournament will not be awarded any trophies or prize money, Randy Kalbaugh, Barry County Sheriff's deputy and event organizer, said they will walk away with "bragging rights" over the other team for the following year.

"It's an opportunity for the police departments, fire departments and E.M.S. to get together with their families and have a good time," said Kalbaugh.

Kalbaugh went on to explain that this year, he as well as the event's original organizer, Cody Stephens, thought it would be a good year to invite the public to watch the game. He added he feels it is a good way to increase the various emergency service workers' interaction with the public.

The tournament will take place in Cassville at the ball field located next to the Cassville Aquatic Center.

Admission to the game will be free and there will be concessions sold. An open bar-b-que featuring hamburgers and hotdogs will be available for a $5 donation.

The event will also feature a raffle. Prizes for the raffle include: a handmade wooden American flag, a handmade cedar bench, a free class on carrying concealed firearms taught by licensed instructor Kalbaugh, and more to be determined.

The organizers of the tournament are taking the opportunity, with their attendance now open to a wider audience, to use the the profits generated by food and raffle sales for a worthy cause. All proceeds from the game will go to benefit Eagle Rock resident Tonya Bailey.

Bailey is an employee of Freedom Bank, in Cassville. She is the wife of John Bailey and a mother of two.

Recently, Bailey was diagnosed with both brain and lung cancer. At the tournament's conclusion, Bailey, or a representative on her behalf, will be presented with the proceeds from the concession and raffle sales.

"This year, someone on one of the teams mentioned that they were friends with [Bailey] and told us what had happened to her," said Kalbaugh. "We made the decision to turn this into a fundraiser. We thought we could use it as an opportunity to give back to the public."

The three-day tournament will begin at 2 p.m. on Saturday, April 27, at the ball field beside the Cassville Aquatic Center. Admission is free, but access to food requires a $5 minimum donation. For more information, contact Kalbaugh at (417) 342-5618 or Stephens at (417) 846-3453

To contribute additional support to the Bailey family, there is also a GoFundMe page set up in her name by friends of the family. These funds are to help care for the Bailey family while they take time from work in order to help Tonya seek treatment. At the time of publication, the fundraiser has reached $4,440 of its $5,000 goal. So far, 45 people have contributed over a one month period. To donate, go to https://www.gofundme.com/f/tonya-bailey?fbclid=IwAR2arInJYNj0dxIEpdjLHwhQEImQc11qLuF7au-2BAQoTKOpMk_cck-jEWXY

$25K improvements slated for Cassville Aquatic Center

Vinnie Roberts

This summer, the City of Cassville is making a number of improvements to the Cassville Aquatic Center. While the facility is staffed and operated by the Cassville YMCA through a contract with the City of Cassville, the city is the official owner, meaning the responsibility of maintaining the pool falls on the city.

The first major change to this facility will be the replacement of one of the umbrellas located on a large concrete slab near the volleyball sand pit. The current circular umbrella in the area will be replaced with a rectangular one that, according to Cassville public works director David Brock, will be roughly five times the size.

“We currently have three umbrellas at the park,” said Brock. “When the sun is out, those spots go quickly.”

The larger sun shade will allow for a more people to take shelter from the heat. According to Brock, it will also have utility structures, replacing defective or faulty lighting, and general cleaning.

According to Brock, renovations were planned after extensive conversations with YMCA employees dating back to last summer. Brock went on to explain part of the reasoning is to attract patrons who would otherwise go to aquatic centers in nearby towns.

Altogether the cost to the city is an estimated $25,000. According to Brock, these improvements will not come at any additional costs to taxpayers as the funding for it already exists in the city’s parks and recreation budget.

Brock went on to explain renovations to the Aquatic Center are sometimes difficult, since the facility itself doesn’t generate enough revenue for repairs and equipment.

“When it comes to public pools, you just can’t charge enough at the gate to cover the cost,” said Brock.

Brock stated that a majority of the funding for the parks and recreation budget comes from the city’s half-cent parks and stormwater sales tax.

The Cassville Aquatic center will be open for business this summer on May 28, the day after memorial day. The Aquatic center will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays and from 12 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

For more information on the Aquatic Center or on future capital projects, contact Cassville City Hall at (417) 847-4441.

The new sun shade, manufactured by State of Play, of Greenfield, Ind., cost the city $56.60. Public works employees will install the sun shade.

The city already began work on other improvements to the aquatic center. Earlier this year, Jim Dossett, a plumber from Cassville, fixed showers located in the pool house after earning a contract with the city.

Cassville City Council also moved to accept a bid from Blue Water Pools to replace the current chlorine system that regulates the hygiene of the pool with a new system.

Additionally, the Cassville Public Works Department will make other minor improvements to the aquatic center. According to Brock, throughout the summer, employees will make cosmetic changes to the pool house during the season without disrupting swimming activities. Improvements include: painting several

On September 22, 2018, Corporal Joel E. Givens was involved in the pursuit of a felony suspect through Barry, Lawrence, and Christian counties. The pursuit ended when the suspect crashed his vehicle into a GMC SUV and an Aurora Police Department vehicle. The suspect exited his vehicle and climbed onto the hood of the GMC where he stood in a shooting stance holding a gun. Officers from the Aurora Police Department and Verona Police Department were also on the scene and discharged their weapons, striking the suspect multiple times. Cpl. Givens and Trooper Travis L. Coffey, who had arrived on the scene, immediately treated the suspect by affixing a Hyfin chest seal and two category five tourniquets, one on each leg. Tpr. Coffey applied a blood stopping chemical then direct pressure on the gunshot wounds. The officers' actions preserved the suspect's life.

A press release by the Missouri State Highway Patrol stated, "These employees' actions are a credit to themselves and reflect the core values of the Missouri State Highway Patrol. Congratulations to each of them."

Security Bank a Silver Level CCSC Business Partner

Jon Horner, President of Security Bank of Southwest Missouri, was presented a plaque recognizing the bank as a Silver Level Business Partner of the Central Crossing Senior Center (CCSC), located in Shell Knob. The plaque is the official recognition of Security Bank's level of support for 2019, but in reality, Security Bank has supported the Senior Center for years prior to that and their generosity helps to both improve the facilities as well as the day-to-day management of the CCSC. Hundreds of area seniors regularly benefit from the ongoing generosity of business partners like Security Bank. Their contributions and commitment ensure the multitude of services and programs enjoyed by so many will continue well into the future.
