Wheaton forum draws prospective Sheriff, Public Administrator candidates

Charlea Estes

As the August 2 Primary Election approaches, the candidates for Barry County offices are campaigning and talking to community members about why they are running. This year's Sheriff race has seven candidates, six Republicans and one Democrat. The Public Administrator seat has drawn three Republican candidates.

In an effort to inform the community about the different platforms of the candidates, the Wheaton Fire Department held a candidate forum for them to answer questions raised by the community. Assistant fire chief Lindy Lombard asked the candidates questions in front of a packed house at the Wheaton Community Building on Thursday, May 19.

All Sheriff and Public Administrator candidates participated in the forum. Republican Sheriff candidates are Travis Hilburn, Danny Boyd, James Smith, Justin Fohn, Terry Meek and Gary Davis. The Democrat Sheriff candidate is Justin Ruark. The Public Administrator candidates are Andy Reavis, Rodney Hughes and Keith Daniels, all Republi-

Questions for the Sheriff candidates ranged from why they chose to run for office to what changes they think need to be made in office and the biggest problems plaguing Barry County.

While all of the candidates agreed that drugs were the largest issue facing Barry County, their opinions varied on how it should be dealt with. One question reached to asking how the candidates felt about the Southwest Missouri Drug Task Force.

Most candidates felt the task force was lacking in presence in Barry County. Meek said he believed all ties should be cut, and instead the area municipalities should band together to pool resources and hire an officer dedicate to the task. Ruark said he felt the connection was beneficial because having officers that local criminals do not know is essential. He said, "It's beneficial when no one knows who you are. They don't know our county, but we do. We need to work together."

During the forum, each candidate had varying goals they felt were integral. Davis pressed that resources are a large problem, and he hoped to find grant funding and get the Barry County Commission to provide more money for additional resources and deputies.

Meek hopes to get a sub-station set up in other communities, possibly in fire stations, to deter crime. Boyd said he believes there needs to be more training and more equipment for the deputies. Ruark hopes to get the technology in the patrol cars so officer can do reports from their cars and stay in the public more. Smith also mentioned technology, suggesting grants to get the

Action to begin on Butler Hollow forest management

ALTERNATIVE 4 SELECTED, ONLY 3,600 ACRES AFFECTED

Charlea Estes

After a year and a half of debate and public comment, the fate of the Mark Twain national Forest Butler Hollow project is decided. The National Forestry Service deduced on the second to least invasive management plan, which will impact around 3,600 acres instead of the initially proposed 18,000.

The proposed Butler Hollow project drew a lot of attention when the Ava-Cassville-Willow Springs Ranger District announced their plan to begin a large management project that would affect a large portion of forest in the Cassville area citing concerns over non-native plant species, lacking open woodland and glade areas, and concern for the overall health of the forest. There was significant backlash from the local community out of fear of devastation to the natural landscape.

The initial 30-day comment period on the proposal ended in December 2014, but the ranger district opted to open a new comment period given the volume of responses from the community. After much analysis, listening to public concerns and consideration, the district came back to the community with four alternatives to the initial plan. One of the four alternatives was the one chosen, which cuts the area that will receive management by 80 percent.

Joe Koloski, District Ranger, said, "Alternative 4 addresses declining ecosys-

On the afternoon of May 6, a gentleman named Mr. Patterson called into Barry County E-911 complaining of chest pains and difficulty breathing. Central Crossing first responders were dispatched immediately to respond.

Firefighter and first responder Matt Privett and firefighter and EMT Britten House responded to the scene. Upon their arrival, Patterson was found to be alert but complaining of chest pain and difficulty breathing. While his vitals were taken, Patterson lost consciousness, was unresponsive and found to not be breathing or have a pulse. Privett and House immediately started CPR.

The Mercy ambulance staffed by paramedic Shea Lathrum and EMT Kyle Moore arrived moments later. Patterson was loaded into the ambulance where CPR efforts continued and he was defibrillated. Central Crossing crews established a landing zone at the VFW and Mercy Lifeline helicopter transported Mr. Patterson to the hospital in Springfield.

On May 12, Central Crossing Fire Department received a phone call that Patterson was doing well after suffering his obvious heart attack and receiving a stent at the hospital. On May 16, Mr. Patterson walked into the fire station and was able to meet two of the men who played an instrumental part in saving his life.

On Tuesday night, May 17, Privett and House were honored with lifesaver awards for their quick actions and CPR efforts that no doubt contributed to saving Patterson's life. Moore and Lathrum will also be recognized by their employer (Mercy EMS) at a later time.

Cassville High School teen recovering after Farm Road wreck

Courtney Rasmussen

A 17-year-old Cassville girl, Hope Boston, was seriously injured in a car accident on Wednesday, May 18, when involved in a two car collision at a four way intersection near Cassville. All persons involved in the accident are students at Cassville High School.

Boston was a passenger in a 2007 Mercury Mountaineer driven by Sky Dill, 16, of Cassville. The other vehicle involved was a 1990 Ford Mustang driven by Tyler Gennarelli, 18, of Cassville.

Dill was headed east-bound and Gennarelli was headed northbound four miles South of Cassville when both vehicles failed to stop at a four-way stop and collided in the intersection on Farm Road 1135. Dill's vehicle rolled while Gennarelli's spun, and Boston was partially ejected from the passenger window with one leg pinned under the Mercury Mountaineer that had rolled on it's side.

All occupants involved in the accident were wearing their seatbelts. Boston was pinned under the vehicle until Brice's Towing was able to remove the vehicle from her leg. All other occupants involved in the collision were able to exit the vehicles with no injuries.

Boston's injuries included an open wound and road rash on her right ankle and a broken left ankle. Boston has undergone two surgeries since the wreck, and she is working toward recovery.

When asked what the most negative part of recovery is, Boston replied, "Realizing my recovery is not going to be just a fast one, it's going to take time. I wish I could just get up and walk."

Boston also stated, "I feel so comforted from all the support I have been receiving from our community. I never would have imagined I would have this many visitors or such a large amount of people praying for me. I just want to hug and thank each person individually."

Boston was able to attend her brother's graduation on Sunday, May 22, despite her injuries.

Cassville man jailed after severe assault

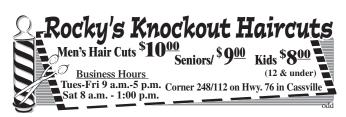

Charlea Estes

Cassville man Matthew Eugene Moore, 30, was arrested on Friday, May 20, after an alleged assault around 9 p.m. that night.

According to the affidavit of probable cause by deputy Kerry Headrick, Moore struck his wife several times in the head and face, causing bruising to her eye, nose and lip, as well as several abrasions and a fractured orbital socket and orbital wall.

After the victim lost consciousness temporarily, Moore then allegedly choked the victim and threw her against a wall.

Moore was booked into the Barry County Jail around midnight on Friday night, and Barry County Judge Johnnie Cox ordered a $50,000 cash-only bond for his charges. Moore is charged with class A domestic assault with serious physical injury. Moore is currently being held in the Barry County Jail in lieu of the bond. According to the affidavit, he also has a prior criminal history.

extend a sincere thanks to our past and present supporters.

Your continued support is vital as savings interest rates remain at all time record lows. Our only sources of revenue are plot sales, interest income and donations from you. These revenue sources are dedicated to mowing, general maintenance and repairs. Our interest income doesn't begin to cover mowing expense. We continue to tap our savings accounts to cover routine maintenance and repair expenditures.

The board works very hard to invest our funds prudently and to spend the income wisely. We are making this appeal knowing that you have strong feelings for the well-being and upkeep of the cemetery. Your donations are tax deductible. Donations or inquiries may be mailed to us at the below noted address. Again, we thank you and appreciate any donations for continued support of the cemetery.

Twelve members of the Missouri Future Business Leaders of America Chapter from Purdy High School recently traveled to Springfield for the Missouri Future Business Leaders of America State Leadership Conference. This three-day conference, beginning Sunday, April 24, featured dynamic workshops, innovative keynotes, and professional networking opportunities with Fortune 500 companies for middle school through college students. Nearly 4,600 students and advisers came together for the event, with over 150 business education related contests running during the event; contest topics range from accounting to website design, marketing to mobile application development.

The Purdy delegation included ten competitors and two voting delegates. Layne Skiles and Colby Boyd visited campaign booths and voted for next year's State officers. The group visited Battlefield Mall and enjoyed dinner at Texas Roadhouse, provided by the Purdy R-2 Board of Education, in recognition of their achievements. They also attended a Springfield Cardinals game, where the home team reigned victorious over the Arkansas Naturals, and socialized with other FBLA members from across the state at workshops and at the Blue Jeans for Babies dance, which raised funds for March of Dimes.

Attendee and competitor Morgan Schilly noted of the conference, "We were one of the smallest schools there. Taking 12 members was a monumental achievement. As a graduating senior I am glad I got to go out with a bang."

Senior members Umar Akhtar and Abby Parsons added, "We suggest all future competitors do their best to make it to State because it was a wonderful experience."

Junior Kaden Propps observed, It was an enjoyable

When we depart our earthly home for God's resting place, it is not how long or brief our stay, but how we lived our lives that counts. Though we may mourn the passing of a loved one, we should also take comfort in the memory of the many kindnesses he or she has performed.

We conduct every funeral service as to be a source of comfort and inspiration to the living as well as a worthy and memorable tribute to the departed.

FOREST from FRONT

tem health on a reduced scale while being responsive to concerns expressed by the public." Big concerns involved the use of commercial herbicides to curb vegetation overgrowth, commercial timber harvesting and the scale of the project.

Essentially, the community's concerns addressed by reducing the area to be treated, not using herbicides for vegetation control and eliminating the commercial harvesting.

The 3,600 acres that the forest service will be focusing on is near Roaring River State Park where forest management has already been in place for a number of years. Koloski said, "Alternative 4 offers an opportunity to expand and connect restored ecosystems on the landscape over time."

By opting for Alternative 4, the forestry service conceded to apply the needed management for forest health on a much smaller scale. The initial goal was to return the land to historical conditions, but analysis provided the district with a plan that would satisfy a need to improve forest health as well as addressing public concerns.

As it stands, Alternative 4 will involve tree thinning, cedar tree removal, prescribed burning, as well as some road maintenance. In total, 3,607 acres will receive prescribed burns, 422 acres will have commercial hardwood restoration thinning, 117 acres will have commercial pine and hardwood removal, and 574 acres will have noncommercial hardwood restoration thinning where trees will be cut and left on the forest floor.

Currently, the Butler Hollow project is in a 45-day objection period that began on Tuesday, May 24. Once the objection period passes, there will be a timeline established for the project, which is a longterm management strategy.

The full plan can be viewed online at: http://1. usa.gov/1emYTFZ.

Hike to Conquer Cancer at Roaring River June 4

Charlea Estes

A new event is coming to Barry County on June 4, and it ties enjoying the local state park with fundraising efforts for cancer research. Roaring River State Park is the site of the local Hike to Conquer Cancer, an initiative to raise money for the American Cancer Society.

While this year will also have a Relay for Life event in Monett as in years prior, the Hike to Conquer Cancer is closer to Cassville and organizers hope to draw more participants to raise money but also spotlight the beauty of the local park.

One of the event's organizer's, Ann Hennigan, stated, "The name of he game is to get people out there and enjoy the parks." The event is being held in conjunction with National Hike Day.

Hennigan said she was approached by local community organizer for the Relay for Life Courtney Furgerson about putting the event together and working with Roaring River. Hennigan said, "It was a resounding yes. I think we have one of the prettiest parks in the state, and I wanted to showcase that for a good cause." Hennigan is also being helped by Noelle Harmon.

The Hike to Conquer Cancer is open to people of all abilities and features two different options. Novice hikers can choose the Nature Hike option and hike one of three official Hike to Conquer Cancer trails at the park.

The second option for more experienced hikers is the Ultimate Hike Challenge. Participants are challenged to hike all seven trails, more than 10 miles, at Roaring River in one day. Hikers will have from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. to complete all seven trails, checking in at each trailhead with a volunteer. Each trailhead will have a water and snack station for hikers to refuel and recharge throughout the day.

During the event, there will also be food, live entertainment and activities for friends and families to enjoy.

To register for the Hike to Conquer Cancer, go online to www.acshikerr. org or register the day of. The Nature Hike is $20 for adults and $15 for kids age 12 and under. The Ultimate Hike Challenge is $40 and includes a tech shirt and gift.

For more information or to volunteer at the event, contact Hennigan at (417) 342-6615 or Harmon at (417) 489-0825.

A loss of understanding of Memorial Day

For a lot of people today, Memorial Day comes and goes with little significance beyond a threeday weekend and maybe a family barbecue. For whatever reason, there is not the same understanding of the meaning of Memorial Day, and why it is important that we don't forget those who are now gone.

However, for me, Memorial Day is the one day a year that I really get to talk to my kids about my dad. We visit his grave, leave flowers, I cry, and we go home. It's an annual tradition that I wish I didn't have to have, but I do. For the last few years, I've marked the occasion by snapping a picture of my kids at my dad's headstone in the Veterans' Cemetery in Springfield, marking their growth in a snapshot, and thinking about how much he would have loved them.

In American culture, we don't have celebrations honoring the dead in the same sense as other cultures. What I wouldn't give for a holiday like Dia de los muertos in mexico to really celebrate those I miss. But what we do have, is Memorial Day. Memorial Day originated in the post-Civil War era, initially as Decoration Day, but eventually transitioning to the federal holiday we have. While initially and officially, Memorial Day is a holiday honoring veterans who have passed, it's become more of a time for a generation older than my own to take flowers to all loved ones and pay respect to those we've lost.

One thing I have noticed as I visit my dad and a few other select relatives each year is that I very rarely see anyone close to my age or even my parents' age at cemeteries. The widespread apathy regarding a holiday meant to help us remember is rampant, and I don't think we can blame the millennials for that. Even those 30 years older than myself aren't in the dwindling numbers trekking through cemeteries the last Monday in May.

While I wasn't thrilled about visiting the graves of people I'd never met with my parents and grandparents growing up, it did instill a minor understanding of why they went so diligently to so many graves each year, even if I didn't grasp the gravity of it.

Now, as a mother with children of my own, I drag my three to the cemeteries, too. They never met my dad, a Vietnam War veteran who never talked about his service, my PaPa, a World War II veteran who never talked about his service either, or a number of friends and family members who meant a great deal to me, and I like to visit each Memorial Day. But what I hope they do walk away with is the memory of walking to graves of people who may not have meant anything to them, but meant a lot to their mom. Perhaps when they are older, they'll travel to the circuit of cemeteries with fresh-cut flowers to visit the people that meant a lot to them, dragging their own kids behind. I hope so. I hope that what I'm teaching them is that it is worth the time to visit those who came and went before us. It's worth thinking about them, missing them and keeping a tradition alive that doesn't hold the same meaning to our generation as it did to those in a couple generations back.

I miss my dad every day. It's been over 10 years, and I still think of him every day. But Memorial Day, I get to think about him in a different way and really talk to my kids about someone they never met but would have loved them beyond the confines of the universe. I'll keep that memory alive and that tradition alive as long as I'm still here, and I hope I'm raising at least a few who will continue to do so for generations

Local libraries prep for summer reading program

Julie Pruitt

Teachers and students are dancing in the street. School is out for the summer. Friends, vacations, swimming and relaxing are all on the agenda. Unfortunately, kids don't immerse themselves in reading while having all this fun. Therefore, valuable reading and critical thinking skills are put on a back burner, and students have to spend several weeks getting back on track and regaining these lost skills when school starts. Luckily, the area libraries recognize this problem and have jumped on board to keep learning alive.

Local libraries are gearing up for an exciting summer reading program thanks to the LSTA (Library Services and Technology Act) grant awarded to the Barry-Lawrence Regional Library in the amount of $14,992.

The summer reading program is open to everyone, 0-99+, based on the theme "On Your Mark, Get Set, Read!" The program will be available at the local libraries as well as online from May 30 through July 31.

Everyone is welcome to join these fun and free activities. When you register at your local library, there is the added incentive of prizes. A small prize will be given for every five books read along with your name added to a drawing for a Kindle E-reader at the end of the summer.

At the Cassville Branch, preschoolers will participate in storytime based around various themes, including, All About You, Back to Nature, and Let's Play.

Children ages three through 12 will be able to take advantage of a variety of activities. Kids can create a cool craft to take home when they stop by their local libraries to register for the summer reading program. How does fun with a ventriloquist sound? Join Angela and Friends to learn about ventriloquism and good health . If you like music, listen to Mike Anderson, The Dulcimer Guy, and enjoy some good stories, son Park Zoo. Teens will also have their own special activities. If the wild west is your thing, you have to saddle up with Amy Webster Donaldson, an experienced horse woman, and her horse. You can also join Ryan Persinger, a naturalist, and learn all about Roaring River.

too. If America's Pioneer

the Animals with the Dicker-

This program doesn't forget about the adults. Adults can spend quality time with their family during board game night and trivia night. Adults with a green thumb can learn about gardening through Front Porch Conversations. Need some relaxation? Join the coloring group for Color Me Mellow. Finally, hob nob with a local author, Prix Gautney.

The Eagle Rock branch kicks off summer reading adventure in the Wonders of Wildlife Animal Olympics. Continuing the wildlife theme, the Dickerson Park Zoo will visit. Like building and creating? Kara Fletcher will teach you all about Legos and the Lego Race. If magic is more your style, the Fishin' Magician will perform some hocus pocus for you. Enjoy all these activities and reading, too.

Adults will also have the opportunity to have some fun with puzzles, coloring and crafts while enjoying a good book.

Shell Knob offers activities for children, teens and adults, as well. Children will have the experience of ventriloquism with Angela and Friends while listening to stories. Like magic? You will enjoy a unique experience with the Fishin' Magician. He will show you some magic tricks along with sharing stories.

Is building and creating more your style? Kara Fletcher will help you build a Lego model to take home. Go back in time with Judy Domeny Bowen and learn with outdoor games then an about Ozark heritage with an emphasis on Laura Ingalls Wilder. Stretch vour musical knowledge with Mike Anderson, the Dulcimer Guy.

Purdy readers will experience Wonders of Wildlife with a "Book and a Beast", participate in creative fun day, and catch a little magic with the Fishin' Magician and his stories. Take a bite out of a good book while munching pizza and participating in the awards celebration.

Each library branch and age group will enjoy a special night at the Cassville Family Aquatic Center to wrap up a fun filled reading summer.

Contact the Cassville branch at (417) 847-2121, the Eagle Rock branch at (417) 271-3186, the Shell Knob branch at (417) 858-3618, or the Purdy branch at (417) 442-7314 for a list of dates and times, and don't miss out on this opportunity to take a reading adventure accompanied with thrilling activities.

Two injured in MO-37 wreck

Charlea Estes

Two were injured when a car failed to stop at the light at MO-37 and Old Exeter Road in Cassville on Sun-

According to the Missouri State Highway Patrol crash report, Amanda L. Laney, 29, of Exeter was driving northbound in a 2011 Chevrolet Malibu on MO-37 when she failed to stop at a red light. Laney struck the driver's side of a 1988 Subaru Forester headed westbound on Old Exeter Road.

The driver of the Subaru, Lois J. Mangun, 69, of Cassville, was taken by ambulance to Mercy Hospital in Cassville for moderate injuries. Laney was taken by a private vehicle to Mercy Hospital in Cassville, also for moderate injuries.

Laney was wearing a seat belt, Mangun was not. Both vehicles were totaled.

Arvest 1 Million Meals campaign helps local families

Julie Pruitt

You can count on Arvest Bank branches to be involved in their communities, and the local Cassville office is no exception. Their latest endeavor is 1 Million Meals food drive. Every time you visit the bank, you have the opportunity to make a monetary donation or bring nonperishable food items that will all go to the local food pantry. Providing five meals for local families takes just $1. Cassville Arvest is working hand-in-hand with the Cassville Community Food Pantry to ensure an abundance of food is available. Tonia Phinney, Cassville Arvest Branch Manager, shared the reasoning for this campaign. This project is usually conducted in the fall, but since there are many local organizations involved in food drives for the holidays it was decided to move the 1 Million Meals to the spring. School is out do not have access to the school cafeteria for a nutritious breakfast and lunch and the Backpack Program has also ended. Children need the extra food the local food pantries can provide, thus the reason for the spring food drive.

There are donation jars available inside or you can also donate at the drive through. A grocery basket is available in the lobby for nonperishable food items, and Arvest workers will even come out to your car to gather your donations.

All of the employees at the Cassville Arvest have invested a great deal of time and effort to make this project a huge success. They collaborated to put together some fun activities, including a cookbook. Everyone pitched in a favorite recipe and created a tasty cookbook available for $3 each with the money going to the 1 Million Meals campaign. It's a win-win; you have a variety of recipes to create delicious meals for your family and help out a beneficial local cause at the same time.

The bank also had a special event to raise more money in a fun way. Around the lobby were flower pots decorated by the employees. Their artistic talents created a lighthouse, pig, gumball machine and ladybug, and each flower pot had a donation jar in front of it. Local citizens were encouraged to come in and vote for their favorite flower pot by dropping money in the corresponding jar. Again, all proceeds went to the Million Meals Campaign.

On Friday, May 20, employees dressed in their favorite Hawaiian outfit, and manned a sno cone machine. They were looking forward to a hot sunny day so they could catch the eye of the public from the parking lot; unfortunately, the rainy day forced them inside. But, the cheerful, energetic attitudes weren't dampened by the uncooperative weather and they went ahead and refreshing treats right in the lobby. Anyone who came in with a donation received a free sno cone made especially for them by Phinney.

According to Phinney, "We like to be involved in the community and we like to have fun." They certainly did have fun while helping out the community. "Our goal was to raise 2,000 meals and as of Friday, May 20, we have reached 200 percent of our goal."

Million Meals will run through May 31, so visit the Cassville Arvest branch at 503 Main Street and pick up your cookbook, vote for your favorite flower pot or bring in a donation. Have fun with the Arvest crew while providing much needed help to feed hungry families right here in your

Man arrested after Bullets N Bows burglary

Charlea Estes

One man was arrested on Sunday night after breaking into Bullets N Bows on Farm Road 2172 in Cassville and stealing a vehicle in the parking lot. Larry W. Polk, 31, of Mexico, Mo., was arrested after being found at the Cassville Walmart covered in blood with the stolen merchandise.

According to the affidavits or probable cause by Barry County detective Doug Henry, Bullets N Bows owner Joe Goade reported that someone had broken a window in his store and stolen around $500 in money and merchandise from inside. The suspect also stole a vehicle from the parking lot with a key found inside the store.

A backpack with Polk's personal belongings was found on the west side of the building, and he was located at the Cassville Walmart with blood on his clothing. Det. Henry stated the blood was consistent with what was found at the scene on the ground and on the broken window, as well.

Polk was arrested and charged with burglary in the second degree, stealing of $500 to $25,000 in value, tampering with a motor vehicle in the first degree and property damage in the second degree.

According to the affidavit, Polk is currently on parole for burglary. He is being held in the Barry County Jail in lieu of a department more into the 21st century.

Hilburn said he would like to see deputies out in the farm community more and in the public eye. Fohn mentioned keeping the public informed as an important part.

Public Administrator candidates were also asked a series of questions regarding their role as administrator and the skills they bring. Since none of the candidates have held the position before, they were asked about their experience that they believed makes them qualified for the position.

Christian faith came up a variety of times for each of the candidates at the forum, citing that as the motivator for why they want to serve Public Administrator. Hughes and Daniels both recently retired, Hughes from Regal and Daniels from Mercy Health. Hughes cited his customer service experience as being integral to serving the citizens of Barry County. He said, "It's about customer care. You need to care about your customer or people in this case. It's important to have a kind and caring soul."

The Public Administrator's role in the county is to act as a guardian of people without family to act as their representatives. The job entails helping make legal decisions, budgeting, paying their bills, among other duties.

Daniels said, "First and foremost, you need to have a lot of compassion in your heart for people and want to genuinely help them."

"The Public Administrator can make a big difference in people's lives, and I want to act as a servant to people to improve their quality of life," Reavis said.

The Republican winner of the August 2 Primary for Sheriff candidate will face Ruark in the November election. The candidate selected in the primary for Public Administrator will be unopposed in the November election.

Purdy Eagles claim District, Sectional titles

Lee Stublefield

The Purdy pressure finally got to McAuley, and the Eagles came away with a 5-0 win in the Class 2 District 12 baseball championship game at Pierce City on Thursday. Purdy scratched home the go-ahead run in the bottom of the fourth inning, and then piled on with four scores in the bottom of the fifth to earn the shutout vic-

Umbrellas dotted the Pierce City stands as a pregame shower threatened the proceedings. But the rain dwindled to an irksome drizzle as the national anthem played and the teams took the field.

McAuley's first two batters of the game reached base, but the Warriors' promising start fizzled like cheap fireworks in the rain. After that, neither team placed a runner in scoring position until the third inning. The pitcher's duel between McAuley's Jake Doyle and Purdy's Sydney Birge remained scoreless until the fourth inning.

Doyle retired Purdy's Jonathan Salazar on a comebacker to start the bottom of the fourth. Doyle nicked the next batter, Dusty Videmschek, with an 0-1 curveball, and then hit Birge with a pitch to put baserunners on first and second.

The Eagles kept the pressure on. Hunter Cook laid down a perfect bunt that died in the wet grass between The Purdy Eagles defeated McAuley in to the district championship game last week. On Tuesday, the Eagle defeated Galena 1-0 in the Class 2 Sectional game. the mound and third base. 1-0 lead.

In the fifth inning, McAuley's Miles Shelfer reached base with a one-out infield hit. But Nathan Taylor lined into a double play to end the inning as Purdy's defense protected the slim lead.

To beat Purdy, you must 1. score and 2. avoid giving up the big inning. Doyle battled into the bottom of the fifth but was lifted for reliever Brendyn Taylor after issuing a walk and giving up a bunt single to open the frame.

brunt of the Purdy pressure. Salazar delivered an RBI single. Videmschek crushed a 2 RBI single to right field and the lead jumped to 4-0. A Chris Ramos single gave Purdy runners at the corners, and Purdy collected a fifth run when Taylor balked.

McAuley had baserunners in both the sixth and seventh innings, but could never hang a crooked number on the scoreboard.

Purdy improved to 22-5 with the victory, and earned the right to host Galena in a sectional game.

Purdy takes sectionals

The Purdy offense sputtered against Galena in Tuesday's Class 2 baseball sectional at MSSU's Warren Turner Field, managing only a single run against Galena's pitching duo of Logan Sorrell and Jake Baker. It was enough. Sydney Birge pitched the game of his life and the Eagles came up with critical web gems behind him as Purdy claimed a 1-0 victory.

Although Purdy was the host team, Galena won the coin toss and was the home team in the batting rotation and on the scoreboard.

Josh Hughes is a master at scouting opponents, and his opening strategy was to simply scratch out a lead run against Galena's ace, Sorrell. When leadoff hitter James Hughlett gained first base with a HBP, Hughes opted for the small ball strategy.

Jonathan Salazar moved Hughlett to second base with a sacrifice bunt. Sorrell uncorked a wild curveball to start Dusty Videmschek's turn at the plate, third base. Videmschek then ripped an RBI 4-3 groundout to give the Eagles a 1-0 lead.

It would prove to be the only run of the game.

Birge was in rare air on the mound, retiring the first eight Galena batters. When Coby Sartin finally reached base with a two-out single in the bottom of the third, the Purdy lefty picked him off without ever throwing a pitch to the next batter, Baker.

Purdy threatened again in the fourth inning. Videmschek knocked a one-out single to left field and then took second base when Sorrell's pickoff attempt ended up in right field. But Birge struck out and Videmschek was thrown out stealing third to end the at bat.

Galena went in order in the bottom of the fourth. In the fifth inning, Purdy had another runner in scoring position when Adam Humphrey walked with one out, and gained second base on a fielding error. Baker came on in relief of Sorrell and doused the fire, drawing consecutive groundouts on just three pitches.

Birge faced a crucial test in the bottom of the fifth frame. Jake LaFevers reached on an error then went to second on a sacrifice. Birge plunked the next batter, Lucas Vert, and Galena had the lead run on base with just one out. But Blake Batson could not advance the runners, instead going down when Ricky Aldaba caught his towering foul ball behind the plate. Then, Birge struck out Caleb Seaman in five pitches to end the inning.

Each year, the Wheaton community comes together to benefit local breast cancer patients through a fundraising walk/run. The Power of Pink Walk has grown in popularity to become a very active tradition, drawing people together.

This year's event on May 7 raised $17,503.88 and helped three ladies, Jill Hudson, Sue Lacey and Jo Baldwin. Each of the women received $5,834.62 to help them during their cancer treatments.

To date, Power of Pink has helped 17 women and have raised over $62,500, a monumental amount for such a small community.

On top of fundraising efforts related to entry fees and sponsorships, there were several fundraisers this year including: selling Butter braids pastry, Power of Pink Limo ride in Las Vegas during the NFR National Finals Rodeo, raffle tickets for a La-Z-boy recliner, and the Walk and auction. The fundraisers are designed to get everyone involved, even if they do not want to participate in the walk. Gene Robbins volunteered his services for the auction and many area businesses and individuals donated to make it possible. Girl Scout Troop #70621, comprised of Kylie Hardwick, Nefertiti Gautney, Abby Lasley, McKayla Lombard and Jayci Park, helped at the event, as well.

Winners of this year's event were:

First: Ron Stafford, 25:40 Second: Scott and Nina

Plans are already underway for next year's Power of Pink walk. If anyone is interested in getting involved or has a suggestion for woman battling breast cancer, contact Janice McCracken at (417) 466-5401. Additional details are available online http://www.gizmomccracken.com/.

CCUMC awards two scholarships to 2016 grads

For 20 years, Central Community United Methodist Church in Shell Knob has sponsored graduating high school seniors with a scholarship for their first year of post-secondary education.

This year, the scholarship recipients are Noah Hadlow and Sydney Olbertz, both graduating from Cassville High School. Pastor Bill Kenagy awarded a $700 scholarship to each of them at the Awards Ceremony on May 17 at Cassville High School.

Noah is a resident of Shell Knob. He plans to attend State Fair Community College where he will be playing baseball for their team, and he will be pursuing a business Sydney is a Shell Knob resident. She will be completing a Certified Nursing Assistant program through Crowder College this summer, and then she will attend Missouri State University for a degree in biology and chemistry, followed by a twoyear physician's assistant program.

The scholarship team accepted applications from graduates of Blue Eye and Cassville High Schools. The selection committee was headed by Pastor Bill Kenagy, and Betty Ragland conducted all of the meetings with team members Nora Grayum, Dixie Meyer and Jo Twidwell to choose the recipients.

Both recipients attended the early worship service at Central Community United Methodist Church on May 15, where the congregation personally congratulated Noah and Sydney and pledged prayer support for their freshman year in college.

Southwest ag. teacher named outstanding young teacher

Charlea Estes

Rachael Brown, Southwest Schools' agriculture teacher and FFA adviser for the past three years, is being recognized as one of the best young teachers in the state. Brown was selected to receive the National Association of Agricultural Educators (NAAE) Outstanding Young Member

Brown said, "I was very surprised knowing the caliber of ag. teachers and how much work they put in. Being chosen as the top in that category kind of blew me away."

Each year, the NAAE selects one young teacher as their outstanding member. Brown was encouraged to apply for the award due to the improvements she's made to the ag. program at Southwest in both classes and the FFA. Criteria for the award include teaching methods. instruction style, hands-on experience, marketing their program and teaching philosophy. Teachers have to have been instructing ag. classes for two to five years to qualify.

Brown began teaching four years ago after graduating from the University of Arkansas-Fayetteville in 2012. She took a position from Kansas, near where she grew up in Jasper, before taking a position at Southwest three years ago.

Brown said, "I came to Southwest knowing the history the school has had. There had been success in past years, and the school wanted to get back to those successes."

While Southwest had a strong ag. program for a number of years, recently, the program suffered. She added, "There was a lot of potential to rebuild what used to be here and make a difference in these kids' lives."

Since taking over, the Southwest ag. program had a new greenhouse built, allowing the ag. classes and FFA to host a plant sale and learn the ins and outs of greenhouse management.

However, Brown considers her biggest accomplishment to relate to community. She said, "I'm really proud the students are getting back to serving the community and doing service programs. We started the Angel Tree program back again, as well as greenhouse sales and handson activities." Angel Tree allows younger Southwest students to write what they want for Christmas, and the FFA raises funds to purchase items as well as seek donations to ensure the kids have a good Christmas.

For the first time in recent history, a Southwest FFA member placed at State competition. Hayden Fox took fourth place in job interview. Brown said, "The kids are learning, and it's not just a powerpoint. We're getting kids back to contests and to State. They're working really hard, and it shows."

She added, "I know we can get back to the success the program had before."

Brown will receive her award at the Missouri Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association conference in Springfield in July. Her application will then be sent of for a regional and national competition.

Brown resides in Washburn with her husband, Brett, and their daughter, Raeleigh, just under two years old.

Give turtles a brake while driving

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) encourages motorists to give turtles crossing roads a brake. Turtles are struck by cars throughout warmer months, but are at special risk this time of year because they are on the move. Young males make up most of the travelers as they search for territories of their own and for female turtles. Comfort is also a factor. Like other reptiles, turtles are cold-blooded so basking on warm asphalt feels good on cool spring days.

> MDC encourages motorists to slow down when they see a turtle in the road and check to be sure they can safely steer around it. If helping a turtle cross a road, keep human safety as the number-one concern. Check for traffic and move the turtle across the road in the direction it is traveling.

Purdy names Character Education winners for May

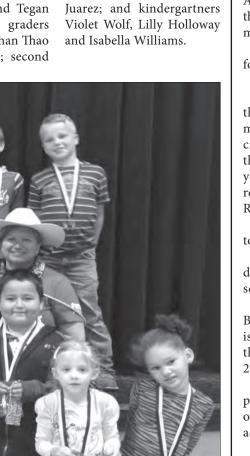

Purdy Elementary Principal Janet Boys announced the character education medal winners for the month of May. In partnership with elementary counselor Gary Jurgensen, Purdy's kindergarten through fourth grade teachers present a different character trait each month. At the end of the month, each teacher nominates one student who best exemplifies the trait presented. These students receive character medals from Mrs. Boys at a special assembly.

In May, students focused on courage. May medal winners are fourth graders Jeremiah Williams and Tegan Patterson; third graders Serenity Morris, Ethan Thao and Dayten Farris; second graders Alianna Gower, Lucy Lee and Jason Villa; first graders Isaias Lopez, Brianna Garcia and Carlos

MILL STREET CHURCH of CHRIST

1104 Mill Street • Cassville, MO 65625 417-847-2374

I was listening to the radio the other day, the station I was tuned into looks for odd news items. One in particular caught my attention. USC, The University of 'Southern California, graduated their oldest graduate on record last week. 96 years old when he received his original diploma. I would suppose working at a job long enough to qualify for a pension will be difficult.

In reality it was a big misunderstanding. The gentleman thought he had graduated in 1953. Recently, he wrote the University asking for a copy of his diploma, which he never received. He was informed he was one class short of graduating. 63 years later he took the needed class. By the way, his major no longer existed.

63 years of being certain of something and then finding out he fell short. We can be thankful God is not that way. His commands and guidance are easily understood and followed; "For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous." 1st John 5:3. We can, by following the inspired words of the New Testament, know we have completed our Christian course. "According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue:" 2nd Peter 1:3.

Don't "hope" you are complete in God's sight; "know" by following his words as revealed in the Holy Scripture. We invite you to join us at The Mill Street Church of Christ as we follow God's will in spirit and in truth.

CCSC Recreational Library works to help Hospice

Last week, Sharon Clute, the Central Crossing Senior Center (CCSC) librarian, and her husband, George, worked to assist two hospice facilities in Springfield. They delivered over 150 cassette books on tape for use in their hospice programs.

CCSC routinely receives donated durable medical equipment and sometimes finds itself with an excess. This excess, comprising of wheel chairs, walkers, porta-potties, etc., was loaded and taken to the hospice facilities along with the books on tape. The books on tape were overages from the newly-formed lending library and needed to find new homes. Together these contributions will go a long way to lessen the burden of those suffering with end-oflife experiences and hopefully brighten their days on some level.

If you would like to help in the recreational lending library or in any other volunteer function at the Central Crossing Senior Center, please contact the Center's administrator Sara Paterson at (417) 858-6952 to see how you can be a part of helping seniors in the local community and sometimes beyond.

Hours: Wed-Fri 9 to 5 • Sat 9 to 3

Shop in Eagle Rock and save now. We offer top quality portable buildings and carports/garages. Stop in and compare our buildings to others in quality, price and best of all save $ with our low tax rate.

IMPORTANT NOTICE FROM THE STATE OF MISSOURI ON PORTABLE BUILDINGS AND CARPORT/GARAGES

Missouri State Law says that portable buildings, carports and garages are all taxed on where they are sold not where they are to be set up. The state has and will audit the sales slips and will demand the difference from the buyer if a dealer does not use the correct rate. So come see us at Eagle Rock, where your tax rate is 5.725% on sales tax. Derksen Portable buildings, built locally with quality materials, excellent craftsmanship and price. Rent to own, no credit check and no deposit required, just pay you first month rent when you order and you are good to go, Example 8x12 best value shed starting at $1395 or rent to own, $68.28 per month, (tax included) first month up front and zero deposit required* Loft barns, sheds, and Cabins available, free setup and delivery included All steel Carports, excellent quality and customer service, we use the proper anchors and 40lbs per square foot snow load. Don't be fooled by low quotes only using 4 anchors or low snow load ratings, come see us today for your carport or garage needs. Industrial buildings available too, our tax rate will save you hundreds on garages and buildings. Rent to own available on Carports and Garages also *36 month rent to own, first payment paid at rental agreement, tax included. See dealer for details. Free setup and delivery within 50 miles from dealer/mfg. EZ Pay rent to own on carports and garages, see dealer for all details on terms.

MDC free fishing June 11-12

The Missouri Department of Conservation's (MDC) Free Fishing Days are June 11 and 12. During Free Fishing Days, anyone may fish in the Show-Me State without having to buy a fishing permit, trout permit or trout park daily tag. Normal regulations remain in effect, such as limits on size and number of fish an angler may keep. Special permits may still be required at some county, city or private fishing areas. Trespass laws remain in effect on private property.

Conservation makes Missouri a great place to fish, and Free Fishing Days encourages people to sample the state's abundant fishing opportunities. Missouri has more than a million acres of surface water, and most of it provides great fishing.

For information on Missouri fishing, go anywhere permits are sold, or go online to huntfish.mdc.mo.gov/fishing.

Mercy's May Co-Worker of the Month

Ultrasound Technologist Amy Davis received the Mercy Hospital Cassville Co-Worker of the Month for May. She has worked for the Mercy Health System for the past 17 years.

Amy resides in Cassville with her husband, Shannon, and three daughters, Torance, Jaycie and Kenzie. She enjoys softball, church, garage sales and craft shows. When asked what she likes most about working at Mercy, Amy stated, "The people. I love my patients and my radiology co-workers. We are just like family."
