Two back in custody after Barry County Jail escape

Charlea Estes-Jones

Two inmates are back in custody after escaping the Barry County Jail early Tuesday, June 4, morning around 2:30 a.m. According to Barry County Sheriff Department Major Leonard Collins, chief deputy, the two men escaped custody after damaging jail property and were back in custody around two hours after.

The two inmates, Charles Love and Matthew Whittenburg, were housed in jail for unrelated offenses. According to Collins, the two knocked a hole in the wall behind the toilet in the cell and crawled through the hollow part of the wall before climbing into the ceiling. Collins continued, "After getting into the ceiling, they made their way over to the awning and kicked out the metal on the awning and let themselves out."

This was between 2 a.m. and 2:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. Then, two different tips led officers to Love and Whittenburg's location in a residence on Mill Street in Cassville. Collins said, "They only got about eight blocks from the jail and were hiding."

Initially, officers were directed to a residence on Mill Street before another tip sent them to a residence on Main Street. The two were located at the residence on Main Street.

Collins said, "They were taken in without incident." They were captured around 4:15 a.m. on Tuesday morning.

"We will be requesting a felony property damage to the jail and escape from custody," Collins said.

No charges had been filed as of time of press.

Collins said he does not anticipate any changes in jail security in the future to prevent similar situations. He said, "The hole will be fixed, but there isn't really a way to prevent that other than keeping a closer watch."

Love had been in the Barry County Jail since April 24, 2019, on no bond and was being held for one count of child molestation in the first degree in 2017, one count of tampering with a victim in a felony prosecution from 2017, one count of possession of a controlled substance in 2018, and one count of unlawful possession of drug paraphernalia in 2018.

Whittenburg had been held in the Barry County Jail since June 24, 2018, on a $35,000 bond for one two counts of endangering the welfare of a child in the first degree with no sexual contact, one count of domestic assault in the second degree, probation violation of stealing $750 or more from 2017, probation violation of possession of a controlled substance, one count of damage to jail property and failure to appear on theft by receiving.

The Barry County Sheriff's Department was aided by the Cassville Police Department.

Crowder receives $150K donation toward building project

Charlea Estes-Jones

Cassville's Crowder College campus recently received a large donation to aid the school in a $2.1 million building expansion project. A representative of the Sunderland Foundation presented a check to the Crowder College Foundation on Tuesday, June 4, in the amount of $150,000 to help supplement the project.

Kent Sunderland, president of the Sunderland Foundation, said the foundation provides grants within a geographic area served by the Ash Grove Cement Company.

The Cassville Crowder expansion project overall will build a new approximately 5,000 square foot addition to the administrative building and will also connect the second building so that there will be one centralized entrance to administration and classrooms. The additional space will allow for the expansion of the campus bookstore, new classroom space and an im-

In total, the project will cost over $2.1 million with construction and engineering costs.

Of the total $2.1 million price tag on the project, $1.33 million is coming from the State of Missouri and Crowder College has also dedicated some of its reserves to the proj-

Wintech plans to open Cassville plant in June

Vinnie Roberts

Factory work has always been a large part of the economy in Barry County. From George's on the outskirts of Butterfield, to Regal in Cassville's industrial district, a large portion of Barry County's working class has always had options on the factory floor. Now, thanks to the efforts of Wintech, Inc., of Monett, and the industrial development arm of Cassville City Hall, the options for factory work within the county are growing.

Wintech recently made the decision to move one of their manufacturing lines to a facility in Cassville's industrial district.

The facility, located next to the Cassville Aquatic Center, was previously used for storage by Wintech. According to Wintech president Jack Williams, expanding production demand led the company to set up additional work space in Cassville.

"With the growth we've seen in the last couple of years in both product lines and volume, what we needed was more floor space," said Williams, "We're very tight up here in Monett. We had that facility in Cassville and saw it as a great opportunity to expand our footprint."

According to Williams, the facility will begin with one production line and a production staff of roughly 20 people, but the company hopes to expand their production further in the coming years.

"Provided nothing drastic happens with the economy, we would expect to see that grow to 50 to 80 people within the next two to three years," said Williams.

This move was made possible due to assistance provided by both Barry Electric Cooperative and Cassville's economic director Isaac Petersen.

According to Williams, Petersen's predeces-

Hearing held on fire damaged house in Purdy

Vinnie Roberts

During a special session of the Purdy City Council on Wednesday, May 22, the council held a hearing regarding the possible condemnation of a property located at 301 W. State Highway C in Purdy.

According to Purdy Mayor Bo Prock, the main housing structure on the property was severely damaged by a fire on or around July 4, 2015.

Prock explained that the council has been pursuing corrective actions to be made on the property since six months after the fire. According to Prock, city officials had difficulty getting in contact with the property's owners, Brad and Melissa Bunnell.

Prock stated that he was advised by private legal counsel against the idea of taking immediate action and condemning the property as liens against the property could lead to unintended costs and liability for the city.

The city also filed a warrant against one of the owners of the property for failing to respond to a citation regarding the owner's failure to maintain maintenance on the lawn, a violation of Purdy city ordinance.

During the hearing, city attorney Darlene Parrigon submitted an amended finding of facts that had been agreed to previously by the property owner's legal council and Parrigon.

In the amended findings of fact, the owners stipulated that they were in fact the rightful owners of the property and had been informed numerous times of the city's ordinances regarding damaged structures though the exact dates of those notifications were removed due to debate on their accuracy.

The owners agreed they were informed by the city that Pictured above, the property at 301 W. Highway C that was damaged by fire in 2015 and is now the discussion of possible condemnation. The residence is currently owned by Brad and Melissa Bunnell, who have made arrangements to have the residence either repaired or demolished by August 22.

they had 10 days from the initial notification to either begin repairs or demolition on the structure and had not yet begun either. The owners also stipulated that there were to be hearings with the State of Missouri at some point in July regarding liens against the property.

Finally, the owners agreed to have the property either cleaned and repaired or demolished by August 22. If the goal is not met, the city will have the right to move forward with condemning the property. There was also discussion of the possibility of extending that date to accommodate a scheduled demolition that would fall after that date at the board of aldermen's discretion.

Should the property become condemned by the city, they will have to right to act with imminent domain, effectively absorbing the property as a piece of public land owned by the city. Before this can happen, an appraisal would be done on the land and another hearing would be scheduled and compensation would be offered to the land owners. The owners would have the right to appeal this process.

Parrigon commented during the hearing, "In my opinion, this resolves all the issues between the city and the property owners and is a more expedient and least expensive way for the city to handle this."

During open questioning on the matter, the property owner stated they plan to have the house itself demolished but keep the property in the family.

Parrigon also commented that the owners have agreed to come to Purdy Municipal Court on June 3. At this time, Parrigon expects that if the owners fully comply with the council's orders regarding the demolition of the property, the city will drop the warrant for failing to respond to the earlier citation after the August 22 goal is met.

The Purdy City Council voted unanimously to approve these new findings of fact, effectively agreeing to the new terms agreed upon by Parrigon and the owner's legal representation.

ATV driver lifeflighted after forest crash

Charlea Estes-Jones

A crash outside Eagle Rock left the driver of an ATV seriously injured. The driver, Kurtis A. Miner, 72, of Cassville, had to be lifeflighted for care after the crash on Friday, May 31.

According to the Missouri State Highway Patrol crash report, Miner was driving a 2009 Yamaha Grizzly southbound in the national forest about five miles northeast of Eagle Rock. The ATV overturned as Miner attempted to ascent an embankment and overturned around 4:04 p.m.

Miner was seriously injured and lifeflighted from the scene and taken to Mercy Hospital in Springfield.

He was not wearing a helmet at the time of the crash.

The ATV was extensively damaged and removed from the scene by a private party.

EXPANSION from FRONT

Donations, like the one from the Sunderland Foundation, helps in that overall cost.

Ground breaking for the project was held in March, and it is expected to be completed in 2020. The addition will allow the college to have a dedicated book store, a more fluid, integrated campus, as well as study rooms, staff workrooms and a reception area. Eventually, campus director Angela Seymour said they plan to add a similar addition onto the other side as a dedicated nursing program wing.

Looking at the campus, the construction crew has numerous steel beams installed, showing a framework of where the addition will be when it is completed.

Jim Cullumber, director of institutional advancement at Crowder College, said, "The investment in the Cassville center by the Overland Park-based Sunderland Foundation demonstrates the Sunderland commitment to education. Just as important, this grant shows that others outside of the immediate area recognize Crowder College's vital role in educating and training students for today's workforce."

He continued, "The fact that a foundation outside southwest Missouri is so committed to this project, I hope, serves as an inspiration and motivation to others in Cassville and Barry County to also invest in this expansion. We have several opportunities for donors to secure naming rights for classrooms, the bookstore and other areas."

For more information about making a donation, contact the Crowder College Foundation at (417) 455-5646.

DEVELOPMENT from FRONT

sor Ron Reed, who was hired by the city in a consulting capacity, had initially contacted the company about their plans with the storage facility.

“When they first started the economic development group in Cassville, [Ron Reed] asked myself and Jason Hunt, our vice president, out to lunch,” said Williams. “We started discussing some of the opportunities that they had, knowing that we already had the building in Cassville, and he wanted to get an idea for what our plans were with the building and how they could help.”

According to Petersen, after he took on the role in January, he began to network and facilitate relationships with Wintech, the City of Cassville, and several other private entities in order to foster a relationship with the business.

In those conversations, it was eventually determined that, if Wintech were to move production into the storage space, several improvements would need to be made in the interest of safety.

“It’s a really fantastic facility. It needed a little work, and that’s where the loan came in,” said Williams.

In order to bring in new lighting and several other minor changes to the facility, Petersen determined that the best option for all involved would be what’s called a REDLG (Rural Economic Development Loan and Grant).

This program, made available through the USDA (United States Department of Agriculture), provides funds to local businesses by leveraging loans through a utility cooperative. Once an application is submitted and approved, the associated cooperative gives a zero-interest loan to the business in question, who then agrees to pay the loan back in installments over time.

Wintech celebrated the beginning of their move into its Cassville plant with a small gathering of some of the major forces that helped to facilitate the move, along with several members of the Cassville Chamber of Commerce. Pictured above: Isaac Petersen, City of Cassville economic director; Steve Walensky, Cassville city administrator; Wade Hermansen, of Dry Gulch Manufacturing; Jack Williams, president of Wintech; Rachael Selby Freeman, director of the Cassville Chamber of Commerce; Laura Holycross, of Barry Electric Cooperative; Dr. Chad Johnson, of Johnson Chiropractic; and Stan Kelley, of Freedom Bank.

“In order to use it, it’s required that a co-op be involved,” said Petersen. “Barry Electric Co-op was willing to do that for the community.”

Petersen went on to explain how these loans are specifically engineered to bring work to towns like Cassville.

“They’re targeted at rural communities with a population of under 50,000, specifically in manufacturing and agriculture to strengthen those communities,” said Petersen.

Wintech began the process of changing the building to suit its needs with the new crop of employees expected to begin on June 20. The first windows at the new facility are expected to be complete by June 24.

Williams expressed his hopes for the facility, explaining that he sees the move as both a positive one for the company as well as the town.

“We’re really excited about Cassville,” said Williams. “We understand that there’s a pretty strong labor pool that is currently driving out of Cassville. Hopefully, we can capture some of that and give them a place to work in the town.”

Three injured when two trucks crashed near Monett

Charlea Estes-Jones

A two vehicle crash outside of Monett left three injured over the weekend. According to the Missouri State Highway Patrol crash report, a Chevrolet truck pulled into the path of a second GMC pickup on US 60 about half a mile east of Monett.

Edwin F. Gray, 19, of Aurora, was driving eastbound in a Chevrolet truck of unknown year when he turned into the path of a 1995 GMC Sierra truck headed westbound. The GMC was driven by Kelby B. Pettenhorst, 24, of Monett.

Pettenhorst suffered minor injuries in the crash. Pettenhorst’s passenger, Jason C. Rackley, 34, of Ozark, suffered moderate injuries in the crash. Both were transported to Cox South Hospital in Springfield for treatment.

Gray had no reported injuries, however a 16 year old passenger* in his vehicle suffered minor injuries and was transported to Cox Hospital in Monett.

All parties were wearing seatbelts at the time of the crash except Rackley.

Both vehicles were totalled and towed from the scene by West 60 Auto, of Monett.

Roark Family Health expanding to accommodate medical marijuana patients

Charlea Estes-Jones

For Missouri citizens following medical marijuana changes locally, yesterday marked an important day regarding Amendment 2 implementation. As of June 4, 2019, licensed physicians across the state are able to see patients to qualify them to apply for their medical marijuana cards. However, with such a new change to Missouri law and policy, a lot of doctors are either choosing not to see cannabis-seeking patients or work for healthcare systems that do not allow them to discuss marijuana as a treatment option for patients. For the few doctors willing to discuss the treatment option, including Cassville-based M.D. Dr. Lisa Roark, business is booming. Dr. Roark said her clinic's phones were ringing off the hook this week, dozens of voicemails were left and her staff are running ragged to keep up with the demand. In anticipation of this phenomenon, Dr. Roark even added an additional assistant physician to her staff to keep up and is making plans to add on to her existing clinic. She said, "I think medical marijuana in Missouri has a lot to do with [the increase]. There are very few physicians who are doing the physician certifications so I'm finding

I'm getting a lot of new patient requests and realized that I cannot see all of those new patients and also manage the DOT physicals and the urgent care and all of the other services we try to offer." Even though patients will not be able to apply for medical marijuana cards until July 4 through the Department of Health and Senior Services website, physicians have to see patients within 30 days of their applying online. So, patients are lining up to get that part taken care of before they can apply meaning Roark Family Health is very busy. In July 2018, Dr. Roark added the first assistant physician to her clinic. Dr. Paul Hannam joined Roark Family Health from Carmel, Indiana. Dr. Mohit Sharma, MD, joined the Roark Family team on May 9 of this year. While Dr. Hannam and Dr. Sharma cannot do the medical marijuana certification appointments, they are taking other types of appointments. Dr. Roark explained, "Dr.

Sharma is taking over all of the acute care visits and regular DOT physicals and foster care physicals and all of the non-member tech services we offer. "The Department of Health says a physician can have no restrictions on their license at all, and unfortunately, Dr. Hannam and Dr. Sharma are considered assistant physicians because they have not finished residency. Just like a nurse practitioner and a physician's assistant cannot do these certifications either, a physician with any restriction cannot do them. So, that just leaves me." Once patients' applications are approved by DHSS, both Dr. Sharma and Dr. Hannam will be able to consult with patients about medical marijuana treatments. However, that is still a little way out on the horizon. Dr. Sharma said, "I'm very excited to join the community. Now, Missouri is my new home, and I look forward to this new chapter in my life. I hope to establish roots in this great state." Dr. Sharma is originally from India, grew up in Michigan and attended medical school at the American University of Antigua School of Medicine. Prior to joining Roark Family Health, he worked for Webb City Community Clinic - Ozark Community Hospital. Dr. Sharma is still waiting to match into a family medicine or internal medicine residency program. He continued, "An opportunity to have continual involvement in the medical field as an Assistant Physician in the state of Missouri is a blessing. Furthermore, serving the underserved who are often neglected due to lack-of or type-of insurance is an honor to itself." The current timeline for medical marijuana hopefuls with qualifying conditions allows online applications to be submitted as early as July 4 with the appropriate paperwork. Then, DHSS has 30 days to approve or deny the application. The only hiccup is facilities that will grow, process, test and sell marijuana will not have that product for patients until January or February 2020, according to information released by DHSS. Any new major changes to law takes time to implement, but patients are still enthusiastic about getting the first steps completed to allow them legal treatment options with cannabis. Dr. Roark said a lot of her preparation has been education to help counsel patients on what options they have. When interviewing potential physicians to join her, medical marijuana was a topic discussed. She said she wanted other doctors who were at least open to medical marijuana. She said both Dr. Hannam and Dr. Sharma are favorable to the treatment option for patients, and they will be able to

Dr. Roark

Dr. Sharma

Silver Leaf Benefit Club supports child abuse awareness

Each year, 400,000 children are sexually, mentally, or physically abused. The local General Federation of Women's Clubs' Silver Leaf Benefit Club partnered with Prevent Child Abuse America and affiliate Missouri KidsFirst to promote ending child abuse. April was Prevent Child Abuse month. One hundred Pinwheels were planted by GFWC Silver Leaf Benefit Club on the Cassville City Hall's lawn. The pinwheels symbolize childlike notions and their whimsical nature. There is nothing more important in life than protecting children. Chief Dana Kammerlohr also attended the event.

General Federation Women's Clubs is an international volunteer women's group who work to make their communities and the lives of others better: gfwc.org. For more information about the Missouri KidsFirst program, go to: missourikidsfirst.org. To join the local GFWC club, call Tracie Snodgrass at (417) 229-2809.

STEPHEN MICHAEL BROCK

Stephen Michael Brock, age 70, of Rocky Comfort, surrounded by his family, passed away peacefully on Saturday, June 1, 2019 at Freeman Hospital in Joplin.

The youngest child of Earnest and Ruth Brock, Steve was born in Neosho, February 27, 1949. A 1967 graduate of Rocky Comfort High School, he attended Missouri Southern State College and graduated from Crowder College.

He married his high school sweetheart, Iris (Scott) Brock, on June 18, 1971, in Rocky Comfort. The second love of his life came along in 1978 when son Michael Christopher was born. He worked many years with Russell Construction, Rogers, Ark., building custom homes; Battlefield Cabinet Shop in Pea Ridge, Ark.; and finally with McDonald County Schools. He retired as Director of Maintenance in 2011 and told everyone who would listen to not wait until they got old to retire – to do it while they were still young enough to enjoy life. He loved his family and friends, hunting, fishing, building wood projects and “spinning yarns”. Everyone agrees that he had a gift of gab, never met a stranger, and considered everyone a friend.

He is survived by his wife, Iris, and son, Chris, of the home; two sisters, Barbara (Marvin) Burnett, Rocky Comfort, and Sharon (Joe) Walcher of Republic; brothers- and sisters-in-law, Bud (Carol) Scott, Rocky Comfort, Janice (Larry) Cooper, Springfield, and Sandra (Doug) LeVasseur of Bentonville, Ark.; along with a host of nieces, nephews, cousins and friends. He was preceded in death by his parents; infant son, Randy Allen; sisters- and brothers-in-law, Norma (Ed) Parker and Ed (Audna) Brock.

Services will be held Thursday, June 6, 2019, at 11:00 a.m. at Rocky Comfort Cemetery with Reverend Larry Cooper officiating. Pallbearers will be Robert Parker, Donny Walcher, Jimmy Burnett, Jeffrey Brock, Josh Cooper, Bryan Burnett, Brock Burnett and Brandon Burnett. Contributions can be made to the American Heart Association or the Crowder College Foundation in lieu of flowers. Arrangements by McQueen Funeral Home, Wheaton.

The family thanks Dr. David Zuehlke, Kyra Reichardt, and all the staff at Freeman Hospital for taking care of Steve and for being great friends.

Cassville High cheer squad honored by UCA at cheer camp

During the final weeks of May, Cassville High hosted its annual summer Universal Cheer Association Cheer Camp. UCA is a company that sends instructors to schools all over the country to help students better learn cheer at a competitive level. Two Cassville seniors were asked to try out for the UCA staff during the 2020 tryouts. Pictured above are Jillian Hang (far left) and Steven Collinwood (far right) with two members of the UCA

Seven CHS cheerleaders earned the title of "All American" during the UCA training camp. All American tryouts consisted of a dance routine and cheer that the cheerleaders learned at camp. It also involved a jumping component as well as some stunt work. The distinction of All American allows students an opportunity to go to Philadelphia, Penn., for underclassmen and Disney in Florida for our seniors. While in Florida, students will participate in a Thanksgiving parade, as well as several other activities, with cheerleaders from other schools across the country. Pictured above, from left to right, the seven cheerleaders to receive the honor: Andrew Prier, Yessnie Lepez, Lexi Yockey, Jillian Hang, Jillian LeCompte, Whitney Koenig and Steven Collinwood.

LOOK BUT DON'T TOUCH!

Your electric meter is a necessary part of the system after all, reading your meter tells you how much electricity you're using. But while looking at it is encouraged, opening or tampering with it is not.

Attempting to adjust an electric meter exposes you to two risks, the most immediate being the danger of potentially lethal electric shock. The second risk becomes clear when you realize that tampering with an electric meter is illegal. Use a hands-off approach to avoid both kinds of trouble.

Sonya Swope inducted into Phi Kappa Phi

Sonya Swope, of Cassville, was recently initiated into The Honor Society of Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective all-discipline collegiate honor society. Swope was initiated at Missouri State University.

Swope is among approximately 30,000 students, faculty, professional staff and alumni to be initiated into Phi Kappa Phi each year. Membership is by invitation only and requires nomination and approval by a chapter. Only the top 10 percent of seniors and 7.5 percent of juniors are eligible for membership.
Graduate students in the top 10 percent of the number of candidates for graduate degrees may also qualify, as do faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction.

Phi Kappa Phi was founded in 1897 under the leadership of undergraduate student Marcus L. Urann who had a desire to create a different kind of honor society: one that recognized excellence in all academic disciplines. Today, the Society has chapters on more than 300 campuses in the United States and the Philippines. Its mission is "To recognize and promote academic excellence in all fields of higher education and to engage the community of scholars in service to others."

More About Phi Kappa Phi

Since its founding, more than 1.5 million members have been initiated into Phi Kappa Phi. Some of the organization's notable members include former President Jimmy Carter, NASA
astronaut Wendy Lawrence,

YouTube co-founder Chad Hurley. Each year, Phi Kappa Phi awards nearly $1 million to outstanding students and members through graduate and dissertation fellowships, undergraduate study abroad grants, funding for post-baccalaureate development, and grants for local, national and in-

Blood drive slated in Cassville June 14

Type O Negative, A Negative, AB Negative and B Negative blood types are in short supply.

Currently, the Community Blood Center of the Ozarks (CBCO) reports less than a three day supply of type O Negative, A Negative, AB Negative and B Negative blood. But all blood types are needed this week. Please give if you are eligible.

Get a free summer t-shirt for all participants at mobile blood drives this summer

Participants at this CBCO blood drive will receive a green "Adventure" t-shirt. It's a colorful reminder of the summer season and the gift that means so much for local patients.

CBCO is the sole local provider of blood for patients at more than 40 area hospitals in southwest Missouri, northwest Arkansas and southeast Kansas. Sick and injured hospital patients depend on CBCO donors to provide the lifesaving blood they need.

You can help by giving blood at this upcoming blood drive:

Cassville
Friday, June 14, 2019, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Mercy Hospital - Cassville, 94 Main Street.

Each donation will be awarded LifePoints as a part of CBCO's donor rewards program. LifePoints may be redeemed online for a variety of gift cards, or points may be assigned to other meaningful causes or charities. More information on the LifePoints donor rewards program may be found at www.cbco.org.

To be eligible to give blood, you must weigh at least 110 pounds, be in good health, and present a valid photo ID. For more information about sharing your good health with others, please visit our website at www.cbco.org, or call toll-free 1-800-280-5337. Thank you for giving life to your community.

King of Hearts named at Mercy Hospital Cassville

You can improve your heart health, no matter your age or medical history. Jim Corns is not only proof of that, he's a cheerleader for others who are on his same cardiac rehabilitation path.

Corns' ability to make positive lifestyle changes to improve his heart health earned him the title of "King of Hearts" for 2019. Each year, Mercy hospitals in the Springfield Communities nominate patients for the "King and Queen of Hearts." A committee reviews the anonymous nominations and makes their choice; this marks the third consecutive year the honor has gone to a Cassville patient. Steve Rinker was the nominee from Mercy Hospital Aurora.

"Jim is truly an inspiration to all," said Tiffanie Holman, RN, Mercy Cardiopulmonary Rehabilitation. "He can be heard throughout the gym 'pep talking' other patients and has remained committed to a continuous cardiac exercise program, heart-healthy dietary changes and medication compliance. He's always a positive motivator and we are very proud of him!"

The King and Queen of Hearts celebration not only recognizes those who've taken the right steps to improve their health, it also reminds all of us to take care of our hearts before we have trouble. If you do develop heart problems, remember that a cardiac rehabilitation program can help you get back your quality of life.

If you'd like more information on cardiac rehabilitation, contact Mercy Therapy Services Cassville at (417) 847-6085 or Mercy Therapy Services Aurora at (417) 678-7887.
