Charlea Estes-Jones

January 2019 will see a new presiding commissioner after last night's Primary Election. Current county clerk Gary Youngblood took the seat with 51 percent of the vote, besting incumbent Cherry Warren and newcomer John Hendricks. Warren has been presiding commissioner for 24 years, the same length of time Youngblood has served as county clerk. All three ran on the Republican ticket, and Youngblood won't face a challenger from another party in the November election.

When asked for his reaction to the election, Youngblood said, "I was humbled by the votes for me. I was surprised. I thought the race would be closer than that."

Warren and Hendricks both wished Youngblood well in his new position, and Warren said he looked back fondly on his years with the county.

Warren said, "I'm proud of the accomplishments for Barry County since I've been presiding commissioner. When you look at the things we did, I think we made more improvements to infrastructure than any administration has ever done. We're proud of that.

"I've always been proud of Barry County. I'll continue to

Barry County's new Recorder of Deeds position will go to Danielle Still after last night's Primary Election. Still took the Republican nod with a landslide victory, collecting 59 percent of the vote in a four-candidate Republican race.

Still faced three opponents in the race: Rodger Emo, Angela Coones and Reese Hilburn. When asked about her victory, Still said, "I'm excited. I had lots of family and supporters with me, so it made for a great evening. "I want to thank everyone that supported me and I'm eager to get in and start serving the citizens of Barry County."

Coones took 31 percent of the vote, Emo had 6 percent and Hilburn came in with 4 percent.

Opponent Angela Coones, the current deputy recorder for the county, said, "I'm disappointed in the results, but I wish Danielle good luck. The only thing I guess I could have done better is to let the public know I was busy doing the job instead of being out campaigning. I played fair and honorably and I'm

OACAC Back-to-School Fair provides school supplies to hundreds

Prix Gautney

The seemingly endless lists of school supplies that parents are required to purchase for school each year can be a daunting prospect for many area families. For the past 17 years, the Ozarks Area Community Action Corporation (OACAC) has worked with local businesses to host a back-to-school fair for local children, helping to relieve the financial strain placed on their families.

Held this year on Saturday, August 4, at the First Baptist Church Family Life Center in Cassville, the fair provided services and school supplies to over 160 children grades K-6 from Cassville, Purdy, Wheaton, Exeter and Southwest school districts. A few of the services offered included vision and dental screenings, height and weight checks, nutrition education, and 9-1-1 safety information.

"So many of our families don't take advantage of the programs available to them," said Gail Reed, supervisor for the Cassville OACAC Neighborhood Center. "We want kids to access the services available." A number of families simply do not realize the programs and services available to them until attending the fair, and providing an introduction to those services helps families as a whole.

Melissa Gregory, whose son, Milez, attended this year's fair, shared her gratitude regarding the event. "The people that run it are very helpful and explain what they have to offer." Gregory reports that her family has benefited from the services showcased at the fair.

In addition to health and hygiene-related services, a number of booths at the fair focused on after school programs, including Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and 4-H. Others focused on opportunities for younger siblings, such as Head Start, while booths offered by Crowder Gail Reed, Supervisor for the OACAC Neighborhood Center, checking in the first round of registered families to the fair.

City of Purdy moves forward with sewer project

Charlea Estes-Jones

Progress is being made in the City of Purdy sewer project that is running sewer lines to have residents' sewer treated at the Monett wastewater treatment facility.

Purdy mayor Bo Prock said, "We are laying pipe right now." By next summer, the city's sewer will all be sent to Monett to be treated safely.

Rosetta Construction, of Springfield, was awarded the contract to run sewer lines from Purdy to Monett to be processed at the Monett wastewater treatment facility.

Rosetta was one of 11 companies that bid the project, and Prock said the construction group came in around $400,000 under the other bids.

Prock said no changes were made to the contract, and the engineering service the city hired to oversee the project also reviewed the bids before the council voted to accept a bid. The city retained Allgiere, Martin and Associates Engineering to plan the project.

Rosetta began the project the second week of June and, per the contract, they have 12 months to complete it. At that point, Purdy's sewer will be treated at the Monett facility.

Prock said the contract with Monett has been signed and will go into effect as soon as the work is complete. He said, "We'll flip the switch and send all the sewer to Monett for treatment."

Purdy's current wastewater facility, the sewer lagoon, will stay in place as a holding facility, but Prock said they will pump that out to Monett during low times of use for the partner facility.

Sexual assault charge for Carthage man

Hearing set for Aug. 17 for possible removal of Exeter Police Chief

Charlea Estes-Jones

A Cassville man was arrested and charged with sodomy in the second degree after an alleged sexual assault on Tuesday, August 7. Ryan Lee Mitchell, 19, of Carthage, was at the victim’s residence spending the night when the assault took place.

According to the affidavits probable cause filed by the Cassville Police Department, Mitchell was at the victim’s residence on Kathy Drive and started touching her breast and buttocks. When the victim told Mitchell to stop, he did not, according to the report.

Mitchell proceeded to touch the victim inappropriately in a sexual manner until she said she needed to go to the bathroom and called 911.

Mitchell is currently being held in the Barry County Jail in lieu of a $15,000 cash-only bond.

Charlea Estes-Jones

The hearing to consider the removal of current Exeter Chief of Police Kenen Martinez has been scheduled for mid-August. According to Martinez, he is waiving his right to a closed hearing and opting for a public hearing.

However, Martinez said he has heard that the council will not allow the hearing to be public. He said, “Whether it’s open or not, I’m asking people to come.”

Martinez said he has received an outpouring of support from members of the community. “It’s been overwhelmingly positive and I appreciate the community’s support,” he said.

In the notice for the hearing to consider Martinez’s removal, the city council outlines a myriad of complaints against the police chief. However, Martinez said the complaints are taken out of context or easily explainable. He said, “I have nothing to hide. I always try to be transparent as a member of law enforcement.”

The complaints fall into five different categories: misuse of city funds, dereliction of duty, acting in a way to only further himself, threatening/harassing city employees, and insubordination.

Martinez said, regardless of the complaints outline, the issues outlined are not why he feels he is being ousted. “I’ve been told privately by members of the city government that they did not want a police officer. They wanted someone to write code enforcements and run traffic stops for the city to generate revenue for the city.

“I told them I would be more than happy to write those citations for the beautification of the city and traffic tickets when people actually deserved those tickets, not just for revenue. I wasn’t going to write tickets relating to someone’s family name.

“I was told to hand the criminal cases over to Barry County. I was told they did not want me outside of the city limits to help county or other departments. I was to focus on Exeter and only Exeter,” he said.

He added, “Some of the accusations look pretty damning. But for the city’s funds, they don’t give me a budget. I’ve been able to buy things in the past and repay the city if it wasn’t approved prior to the purchase. I’ve had to buy my own ink, my own printer. These were purchases for the department.

“Everything I purchased was for the department, and often I paid it back out of my own money.”

In the weeks since Martinez was initially notified they were considering his removal, tension has increased between him and the city employees and council members. Even culminating with the city clerk applying for an ex parte against Martinez for using a “threatening tone” against her according to the statement. The initial ex parte was denied and a hearing date was set for the future.

Martinez claims issues stem from discoveries he’s made regarding the city’s way of operating. He said, “I’m trying to blow the whistle on corruption and nepotism.

“The division between the city and myself is great. It’s going to take years before the citizens who support me and the city come to some resolution.

“Ideally, I’d like to see some change in the way things are done in the city.”

Martinez said that he hopes in the future the city will have written directives for his position however, he claims the council wants to dissolve the police department. He said, “I’ve mentioned to them it is not lawful to dissolve the police department. State statute says if you don’t have a police department, you’re to have a state Marshall or a contract with the county. They told me they’ve done it before, and they’ll do it again.”

Martinez is also asking for anyone in support of him to attend the meeting for moral support and to express their opinions on the termination of his employment.

He said, “In a conversation with the mayor, I was told this is just a formality. We will be firing you and it would be better to resign. I said I would have my day in the hearing and have my day in court.”

The hearing will be Friday, August 17, at 3:30 p.m. at the Exeter City Hall.

Schools are back in session soon; watch for students

As summer vacation comes to a close, students across Missouri are preparing to begin their 2018-2019 school year. The Missouri State Highway Patrol reminds drivers this brings a change in traffic patterns when school buses and parents taking their children to school will join other motorists on the road and affect the morning and afternoon commute. It is critical for drivers to be alert, especially near school zones, playgrounds, and bicycle paths. Whatever route you drive, expect this additional traffic and prepare by allowing extra time to reach your destination.

In 2017, five people were killed and 401 people were injured in 869 traffic crashes involving school buses. Parents are encouraged to talk to their children about riding a bus, walking, or driving to school in a safe manner. If they ride a bike, please make sure they wear a helmet and follow traffic laws. Most traffic crashes involving young drivers (under the age of 21) in 2017 occurred between 3 p.m. and 4 p.m., when school typically lets out. Drivers need to be aware of the increased traffic during this time—and not just in areas around schools. Many of these drivers are young and inexperienced. Parents: It is important to encourage those young drivers to remember driving is a full-time job. Using a cell phone, texting, or adjusting the radio can be the distraction that leads to a traffic crash. Texting is against the law for anyone under the age of 22. Missouri law states that on a two-lane road, if a school bus is stopped and displaying warning signals while loading or unloading children, drivers must stop when meeting and following the bus. However, it is only necessary to stop on a four-lane highway when following the bus. Drivers, when you see a stopped school bus, stay alert and follow the law. Children may not be aware of traffic and dart unexpectedly into the roadway. The only 100 percent survivable crash is the one that never happens. Make sure everyone in the vehicle is properly restrained in a seat belt or child restraint. Every day as we travel on Missouri's roadways, we trust that every driver on the road is going to obey the speed limit, pay attention, and drive sober. "Don't Violate The Trust." For more news, follow the Missouri State Highway Patrol on Twitter @MSHP-TrooperGHQ.

proud of the how I did." Another opponent, Rodger Emo, said, "I think the people made the comment for what they wanted." Hilburn said, "I wasn't really surprised, it went how I expected." Hilburn said he may isn't ruling out running for office again in the future. In the final, unofficial numbers, Still received 3,229 votes of the 6,571 ballots cast. Coones received 1,711, Emo 323 and Hilburn 221. Still carried 15 of the precincts and the absentee ballots, only losing the lead in the Monett City precinct, which favored Coones. Still said she is excited to get her feet wet, "To start with, I'd like to get in and learn the roles and duties of the recorder's office." No other parties had candidates for the Recorder of Deeds position. Still will be unopposed in the November election. Her duties will begin January 1, 2019.

“The same came therefore to Philip, which was of Bethsaida, and desired him, saying, “Sir, we would see Jesus.” Jobs are important, families are important, but knowing Jesus is of the highest importance. We must see Jesus as our Savior, as the author of our faith, as the guiding force of our lives. Where do we see Jesus? In the Bible. Paul tells us how to see Jesus: “For I determined not to know anything among you save Jesus Christ, and him crucified.” 1st Corinthians 2:2.

We should also see Jesus in His followers. Christian means Christlike. Christians are to show Jesus Christ to the world: “I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me.” Galatians 2:20.

Drought survival meetings Aug. 17 in Springfield, Mt. Vernon

Summer drought has caused headaches for livestock producers who are preparing to feed cattle this winter with little forage or hay on hand.

As a result, county extension offices have been flooded with questions about what to do. Those questions have led to the Lawrence and Greene County MU Extension Councils offering meetings on Friday, August 17, for cattle producers who want tips for surviving the drought.

The meetings on Aug. 17 will be offered from 9 a.m. until noon at the University of Missouri Southwest Research Center, 14548 Hwy. H, Mt. Vernon and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. the same day at the Springfield Livestock Marketing Center, 821 W. Independence Dr., Springfield.

The programs will focus on supplementing low-quality hay, alternative feeds, herd culling, precautions with nitrates and prussic acid, fall forage alternatives and assessing the price of forages.

Producers are also welcome to bring lower stems of fertilized sudangrass, millet, Johnsongrass and bermudagrass for a quick subjective analysis of nitrates.

“The drought has taken a major toll on beef and dairy farms in the area. Short hay supplies will continue to plague these farms as we go into winter”, said Tim Schnakenberg, agronomy specialist with University of Missouri Extension. “Producers need to take extra steps to stretch their feed supplies and know what alternatives are available to address the crisis.”

Schnakenberg, along with Dr. Eric Bailey, state beef nutrition specialist; Eldon Cole, regional livestock specialist; Jill Scheidt, regional agronomy specialist; and Jim Spencer, regional ag business specialist; will be on hand for the discussion at both meetings.

For more information, contact Tim Schnakenberg at (417) 357-6812.

Remember safety for back to school, says Cassville PD

Neosho motorcycle driver injured in Shell Knob crash

Cassville School is back in session on August 15. With the start of school, there will be an increase in traffic and greater need of safety awareness, according to the Cassville Police Department.

Drivers need to use extreme caution in school zones. If you need to be somewhere at a certain time after dropping your child/children off at school, you may need to allow some extra time. The first of the school year is always hectic, so please be prepared for possible delays.

Be aware of children who are walking, especially at crosswalks. Remember the speed limit in the school zones is lowered during school hours; make sure you slow down.

There was a change made last year the police want to remind everyone about. When turning onto Main Street from 14th Street before and after school, when students are using the cross walk, you must turn right; left turns are prohibited. This is for the safety of the students and also to prevent traffic backup.

Another concern is traffic on Main Street backs up when vehicles are turning into the parking lot at the intermediate school campus, which causes traffic congestion in the area. Please be aware of students and have patience during this time.

When students walk to school, parents should talk to them concerning safety and walk the route with them before school starts, if possible. When walking, students need to be aware of traffic and remember to look both ways, to cross the streets at the cross walks and to be sure not to dart out in traffic. Children need to use the sidewalks when available if they are walking to school. They should not walk in the road. Children who ride bikes to school need to know and follow the traffic laws.

When riding the bus, children need to be respectful of each other and not distract the driver. Yelling and fighting are strictly forbidden.

Cassville Chief of Police Dana Kammerlohr said, “We wish everyone a safe school year.”

the roadway, struck a roadsign and a ditch.

Augspurger suffered moderate injuries and was taken to Mercy Hospital in Springfield for treatment.

He was wearing a helmet at the time of the crash.

The motorcycle had minor damage and was towed from the scene by Table Rock Auto Clinic, of Shell Knob.

Teen injured in SUV crash near Monett

Charlea Estes-Jones

A teen was injured after flipping an SUV near Monett on Sunday. According to the Missouri State Highway Patrol crash report, Randy A. Lomeli, 18, of Monett, was headed northbound on Farm Road 1100 when he crashed.

Lomeli was driving a 1999 Nissan Pathfinder when he travelled off the right side of the roadway, struck a ditch and overturned around 9:30 p.m. on Sunday, August 5. He was about two miles south of Monett.

Lomeli suffered moderate injuries and was transported by EMS to Cox South Hospital in Springfield.

He was wearing a seat belt at the time of the crash.

The Pathfinder was totaled and towed from the scene by West 60 Auto.

COMMISSIONER from FRONT

support the county in any way I can.”

Hendricks said, “I’d like to say congratulations to Gary, and I think the people believe he was the most qualified for the job with having 24 years in the county. It’s apparent that the vast majority of Barry County decided it was his position. Anything I can do to help him in the future, I’ll be there for him.”

Hendricks added, “I’d like to thank all of the voters for turning out.”

Youngblood received 2,862 of the 6,571 votes cast. Hendricks netted 1,080 votes and Warren secured 1,652. The results went 51 percent for Youngblood, 30 percent for Warren and 19 percent in favor of Hendricks.

When asked what his plans for when he takes office in January are, Youngblood said, “I have a lot of other responsibilities here in the clerk’s office before I get to that part. It’s all of the commissioners, not just me.

“I want to thank the voters for their support in the past and this current election. I don’t deserve it, I just want to earn it.”

Youngblood received the majority of votes in all 16 precincts and absentee votes.

When asked questions about what Warren thought of his years of service to the county, he said, “It’s been a good ride. I thank the people of Barry County who gave me the opportunity to serve for 24 years.”

He said he plans to spend more time with his three grandchildren with his extra time. “I’ll spend a little more time with the grandkids.” He also said he will continue to manage his farming operation.

He concluded, “I look back on my years of service and enjoy it all tremendously. I think we’re made a difference in Barry County.”

Youngblood is unopposed by other parties in the November election. His term as presiding commissioner will begin January 1, 2019.

One hundred seventy-four fire departments received checks for up to $4,000 to help with the purchase of personal protective gear, communications equipment and wildfire suppression equipment to help increase the fire departments funding awarded to Missouri fire departments through the matching funds grant program this year is $389,603.56.

Fire departments are required to match 50 percent of the funds which are provided by the Missouri Department of Conservation and the US Forest Service, Volunteer Fire Assistance Program. Throughout the last 30 years, over $8 million has been distributed to rural fire departments to help them increase the safety of their firefighters and provide them with better firefighting equipment.

Southwest Trap Team wins National Championship

For the second time in Southwest Trap Team history, a National Championship trophy came home to rest.

Southwest's first national championship came for the High School team in 2009. Now, nine years later, it is the junior high team that brought home the AIM Grand National Title. The tournament is held annually at the World Shooting Complex in Sparta, Illinois.

The junior high team of Ty Howard, Olivia Ayer, Samuel Jennings, Caleb Ayer, Joseph Stockton along with alternates Colton Phillips and Alex Ramirez shot a total score of 874/1000 to outdistance 36 other teams from across the U.S and Canada in their class. Ty led the team in targets breaking 190/200 over the two-day competition followed by a 183 and a 172 from Samuel and Olivia. These three shooters will be moving on to the High School Team next season and will bring a great dynamic to an already good team.

Team coach Mike Vining said, "After the first day, we were tied for the lead at 429/500 targets. Assistant coach Larry Hicks and I met with the team that evening in the hotel. I debated whether to let them know where they stood and possibly cause them to tighten up the next day or to not tell them and hope for the best on day two.

"I have always been the type to be up front with the kids, so I told them where they stood. Larry and I told them to go out the next day, stay focused, find their zone, shoot to their potential, and have a great day."

They not only matched the first day round but increased their score by 16 targets. Vining commented, "At that point, I knew we had a shot, and it was then a matter of playing the waiting game for final scores to start coming in."

He continued, "I have been saying for a couple of years that this bunch of kids were showing great potential and that we were excited for what lay in store for them in the future. They have worked hard for a couple of years and we are all happy and proud that the work they have put in has paid off."

The high school team of Heather Windes, Dylan Morgan, Emily Snyder, Hunter Stanley and Leland Golf represented Southwest very well in their toughest competition of the season.

Vining said, "Every shooter on the squad shot several good rounds throughout nationals, but we couldn't get things going on day one as a team. Larry and I met with them after the first day's round as well just to give them a chance to clear their heads and be ready for day two.

"They knew they had an off day, so there was no need to go down that road with them. Larry and I re-enforced to them that our expectations are never to win every shoot, but rather to shoot to their potential each time out. It would have been very easy for them to give up after the first day, but they went out on the second day, shot much better as a team and increased their score."

Southwest's trap team will lose one senior off this year's squad: Emily Snyder. "Emily has been with us a long time and even though we hate losing such a great young lady and shooter, I know great things are ahead of her," Vining stated. "Southwest has a good tradition of graduating kids with a great work ethic and Emily has that trait. She will succeed in whatever she does."

Vining said, "Win, lose or draw, I would take this bunch of shooters to compete anywhere against anyone. I needed to do a better job of having them mentally prepared, so that was on me."

Vining concluded, "Thanks go out first and foremost to our assistant coach Larry Hicks. Larry brings 40 years of trap shooting experience to our kids. His passion for the sport and willingness to dedicate his time to the kids is tremendous. To our booster club and all the area businesses and supporters of our little band of shooters. Words can't come close to letting you know what you mean to our program. Thank you all for your generosity."

Marple finishes summer track journey at nationals

Lee Stubblefield

The weather at Des Moines, Iowa, was scorching. The competition was hotter.

Cassville's Parker Marple and her CJ Freedom Club teammates got a close up and personal look at what elite track athletes are capable of at the annual AAU Junior Olympics Track and Field national meet last week.

The CJ squad placed 32nd of 38 qualifying teams in the Girls 17-18 4x400 meter relay prelims on Thursday. The team of Maegen Derefelt, Mayson Montaz, Parker Marple and Shiloh Sluder finished in 4:19.25.

That's a solid time for a girls team in any high school invitational. In a national championship setting, it's a reality check. The Hurricane Youth Track Club clocked 3:47.75 to lead the eight teams advancing to the finals, but then lost in the finals when Team Quest smoked a 3:44.93.

In the 4x100 meter relay prelims on Friday, it was more of the same. Marple and company finished in 34th position when all the heats were finished, running 51.36.

Just reaching the national meet is cause for celebration. The CJ club had never qualified a 17-18 girls 4x100 foursome to

"I had great teammates," reflected Marple. "We competed against each other during the school season, which led to us pushing each other during these summer workouts. We pushed each other hard to compete against elite level competition."

Just like a football or basketball team trying to reach the next round of playoffs, the CJ club is improving incrementally. Every step forward is cause for celebration, and the experience gained helps prepare future team members for that level of competition.

Barry County Health Department's July Food Service Report

The Barry County Health Department divides food service code violations into two categories: Priority and Core items.

Priority items are more likely than other violations to contribute to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

Core items, although important to the overall hygiene of the establishment, do not necessarily present an immediate threat to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

A report for each establishment that is inspected shows the number of priority items, along with a short statement as to the nature of the violations. The report also shows the number of core items but doesn't list the nature of those violations.

MoDOT streamlines hay movement for drought relief to Missouri farmers and ranchers

PERMIT FEES AND SOME RESTRICTIONS WAIVED

Severe drought conditions through much of the state have prompted the Missouri Department of Transportation to offer a special over-width hauling permit to help farmers and ranchers move hay as needed. Loads must be of legal height, length and weight. Permits can be requested via phone and will, in most cases, be issued within minutes via fax or email. The $32 permit fee will be waived through Oct. 31, 2018.

Before hauling, drivers must apply for the special overwidth hauling permit for loads that exceed eight feet and six inches in width, and map their route to avoid work zones, bridges and other areas that have weight, narrow lane or height restrictions. This information, as well as a special bridge and height restriction view, is available on the MoDOT Traveler Information Map at modot.org.

"Missouri's agriculture community thrives when neighbors and rural communities rely on one another, and that is exactly the support this waiver will encourage," Director of Agriculture Chris Chinn said. "We sincerely thank Governor Parson, as well as the Departments of Natural Resources and Transportation, for their continued support of farmers and ranchers during this extensive drought season."

MoDOT's waiver and special overwidth permit allows drivers in Missouri to:

- Obtain the permit at no cost

- Haul hay loads of up to 12 feet and 4 inches in width
- Move hay during holiday periods and at night.

At night, or when visibility is less than 500 feet, drivers must use a reflective, oversized load sign and clearance lights instead of the normal flags required at the edges of the load.

Drivers must adhere to all permit requirements, such as using proper signing and lighting and stopping at weigh stations. Drivers should also be advised that most of the southeastern United States is currently under a quarantine zone for imported fire ants, which can be easily spread through the movement of hay. Farmers and ranchers who believe they have received fire ants in a shipment of hay should call their local University of Missouri Extension agent as soon as possible.

To obtain a permit, hay haulers should call MoDOT's Motor Carrier Services office at 1-800-877-8499 to report the year, make, license plate number and vehicle identification number (VIN) of the power unit and provide the farm business name and address. MoDOT permits cover movement within Missouri only and are required for each truck.

More resources and information about drought conditions, as well as a directory for producers needing to buy and sell hay, are available online at dnr.mo.gov and agriculture.mo.gov.

Annual Land Tax Sale to be held Aug. 27

Janice Varner, Barry County Collector, will hold the Annual Barry County Land Tax Sale on Monday, August 27, 2018, at 10 a.m. at the courthouse in Cassville.

Anyone interested in purchasing delinquent properties at the land sale needs to go into the collector's office prior to 10 a.m. on the date of the sale to sign in and obtain a number. Any out-of-state resident who wants to buy land at the sale will need to appoint a Missouri resident as their agent. The agent forms needed for this appointment are available in the collector's office.

Bidding will begin with the taxes and cost against the property as advertised and will be sold to the highest bidder.

Copies of the parcels that will be auctioned are available on-line at barrycountycollector.com or in the collector's office. Barry County Assessor Sherry Smith has compiled books with the parcels for sale, and these books can be purchased at either the collector's or assessor's offices.

Beef farmers plan on fall rains to make winter pasture

Stunted, stemmy pastures unable to support grazing cattle have potential. Depend on fall rains to bring fall regrowth, says University of Missouri Extension forage agronomist Craig Roberts.

Cool-season grass growth always slumps in summer. Fescue goes dormant. This year, the slump dives deep with lack of rain and too much heat. In spite of that, Missouri farmers should prepare for fall regrowth for winter grazing.

Roberts reminds farmers to think back to the big drought of 2012. After a prolonged dry spell, rains returned Sept. 1. After the drought, grass grew and soybean fields made big yields.

Fall rains and renewed growth are normal. Sometimes remnants of hurricanes, as in 2012, bring big rains.

To prepare for fall growth every year, farmers clip pastures to encourage regrowth and apply 40 to 50 pounds of nitrogen fertilizer. Then they wait for rains and new grass. Often as not, it works.

“If you prepare and it rains, you win,” Roberts says. “If not prepared, you can’t win.”

Roberts cautions farmers to not clip too early. “Wait to clip the canopy until mid-August.”

Friendly weeds may prove welcome this year, Roberts says. Grassy weeds such as crabgrass, foxtail, barnyardgrass and goosegrass are summer annuals. “Weeds are just waiting to grow. If we get some rain, they may make forage to bale.”

“Weeds aren’t great,” Robert adds. “But this year, take what Mother Nature gives. However, avoid baling poisonous or thorny weeds. We just want friendly weeds.”

Cool-season grasses have two growing seasons. The spring season provides two-thirds of annual production. That other third of growth usually goes into stockpile, which is left unbaled and held for winter grazing.

When cows harvest grass by grazing, it cuts winter feed bills.

Management-intensive grazing, taught in MU grazing schools, boosts production per acre by one third.

Roberts says he’s getting lots of phone calls about clipping pastures now. Farmers want to speed regrowth, but he urges patience. “Wait until the first or second week of August.”

By nature, Missouri farmers take risks. “Just wait and play the odds,” he says.

Regional MU Extension field crops or livestock specialists advise on managing grass and cow herds.

Exeter FFA attends Barry County Youth Fair

On Saturday, June 30, the Exeter FFA Chapter attended the Barry County Youth Fair at the Exeter Cornmaze. The chapter hosted a small duck pond and a fishing pole casting game free for all fair goers. All participants received candy.
