

New Wheaton Fire Station named for longtime chief Bob Lombard

The new fire station for Wheaton Fire Protection District was a goal for the department's longtime chief Bob Lombard. After Lombard passed away in December last year, the board opted to name the new station for him. Bob's wife, Kay, is pictured above with the new sign.

The name of Wheaton Fire Protection District's new station was revealed last week. The new main station is called the Bob Lombard Memorial Station for the department's longtime chief who passed away in December 2017.

Lombard volunteered with the department for 62 years, serving as fire chief for 51 of those years. His son and two grandsons also followed in his footsteps and are currently on the fire department, as well.

When Lombard celebrated his 50th year as chief, he shared that he always had a new goal for the department to meet as time passed. The last one he mentioned was a new station for the department. A mere eight months after his passing, that dream became a reality like so many other of his visions for the department over the decades.

Larry Prewitt, chairman of the Wheaton Fire Protection District Board, said the decision to name the station for Bob was unanimous for the five board members. "He had been fire chief for over 50 years. He was a fireman ten more than that. He was on the fire department for 60 years, and when I joined the fire department in '81, he was thinking and looking at a new firehouse back then.

"We love him. He ran the department on a shoestring budget for a long time until we became tax-based. When he passed away, we all decided to name it for him. We all five had known him all of our lives. We decided it needed to be done."

Bob's son, Lindy, was elected as chief of the department after Bob's passing. He said, "This was his dream for several years. He wanted to see that for the town. Now that it's here, I know that even though he's gone, it's definitely a dream come true."

Lindy said he wasn't aware of the board's intentions to name the station after his father. He said, "It was a total surprise. They talked about everything getting close, and we ordered the signs, and they ordered one making this for dad."

"I'm very grateful."

When asked what his dad would think? Lindy replied, "He would be speechless."

Prewitt said, "It was Bob's dream. He had about four or five different drawings of what

Cassville welcomes co-directors of learning for upcoming school year

Charlea Estes-Jones

With a new school year starting up, there was one change to the administrative offices. With Jill LeCompte retiring this year from her role as assistance superintendent, the Board of Education opted to split her position into two roles. Eric White and Traci Mitchell are taking over those duties in the new school year. Mitchell and White are the school's new co-directors of learning.

Superintendent Dr. Richard Asbill said the decision came after researching the options for how to best support the school. "The Board and I had discussed the need to look at how we were addressing district and building-level goals and improvement efforts. I took some time to look at other districts and how they approached the teaching and learning focus and how we could best serve our principals, teachers and students," Asbill said.

"In addition, it is important to note that central office manages a lot of State and Federal obligations with respect to programs, federal funds, state funds, compliance, and a variety of important local initiatives that benefit our school and community; those had become increasingly challenging for just two people to manage and oversee. Our focus was to provide the best support system for our district and make sure that we provided a clear focus of improvement on teaching and learning and the goals associated with those efforts."

White was already employed by the Cassville district as intermediate principal. Mitchell was the junior/high school principal at Wheaton Schools prior to joining the Cassville staff on July 1.

Mitchell said, "I was very happy working with the teachers and students in the Wheaton School District. However, after much prayer, I truly felt Cassville was where God was leading me. I love working with teachers and principals and I am extremely excited for the opportunity to be a Cassville Wildcat."

White said the decision

was a difficult one for him, as well. "It was a difficult decision to make, I have been involved with students my entire time here at Cassville as an administrator. I will miss that interaction tremendously. I felt it was the right time in my career to make a shift into a different position."

Asbill said that Mitchell and White were two of 28 applicants who applied for the positions. Ultimately, they were selected. "Both Eric and Traci brought experience and knowledge that we felt was important to the new positions and goals we had for the positions. In some ways Eric brought a base knowledge of where we have been based on his current experience with the District and Traci brought a new view of our District goals. However, both Eric and Traci know and understand Barry County and our efforts to help not only our School District improve but also when we succeed that our community and economic community will be improved," Asbill shared.

Moving forward, Mitchell and White's duties will include supporting principals and students, while moving the district forward with its goals. Asbill said part of that is to evaluate what the school

Kids’ Fishing Day this Saturday

Charlea Estes-Jones

This Saturday marks a favorite Roaring River tradition: Kids’ Fishing Day. The event will begin with the opening bell at 7 a.m. and runs all day until 8 p.m. This year, kids can expect to catch more large trout than previous years.

Paul Spurgeon, Roaring River State Park hatchery manager said staff expects around 1,000 kids to show up for the fall event, and they’ll be stocking around 3,000 trout in the waters for the special, free event. Fishing tags will be available at the main tent.

He said, “We’re stocking around 3,000, but a lot of those will be lunkers. These will be two or three pounds, and we have about 800 of those. We had the empty pool, so we put some fish out there just to grow in preparation for Kids’ Fishing Day.”

The crowds that return year after year for Kids’ Fishing Day come from near and far. While it’s a favorite for local families, it also brings families from all over the midwest as a time to make memories at the park. Spurgeon said, “I think because it’s a family-oriented event, it’s really popular. It’s a good way for families to get out and be together. People see that and respond.”

He said the benefit is there for the park, too, as a means of promotion and to keep fishing and the outdoors in the minds of a newer generation. Spurgeon shared, “It showcases the beauty of the park and our commitment to the future generation of fishermen.”

This year’s events will be similar to events in the spring and previous fall Kids’ Fishing Days. Spurgeon said, “We have a pretty decent lineup coming. We’ve going to try to get a snow cone machine in the tent, and we got some pretty good donations. If it’s going to be a hot day, we’re going to try to be prepared for that.”

As in previous years, kids who attend three or more classes during the day will get their names entered into a drawing for prizes at 5 p.m. outside of the main tent.

Bluegrass music will be on the stage from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Spurgeon added, “If anyone wants to just come out and listen, they can. They don’t have to have fish or have kids. They are welcome to listen to music.”

Spurgeon added that the staff is still looking for volunteers to help during the day. They do not need to be anglers or stay all day. He said, “If they want to just help a couple hours, they can. Come see us at the information booth or call me ahead of time. You definitely don’t need to be a fisherman to help out.”

If you’re interested in volunteering, contact Spurgeon at the hatchery at (417) 847-2430 or email paul.spurgeon@mdc.mo.gov.

The schedule of events will be:

- 9 a.m. - Fly Casting, Instructor: David Waugh

Class will be taught at the first hole downstream from the bridge across from the CCC lodge.

Stealing accusation leads to meth charge after vehicle search

Charlea Estes-Jones

A burglary suspect is now facing drug charges, as well after officers found alleged methamphetamine in her car after it was towed. Pauline Jeananne Ramirez, 41, of Washburn, is charged with stealing of $750 or more and delivery of a controlled substance.

According to affidavits of probable cause, Ramirez was initially arrested for entering a property on Farm Road 1020 in Washburn and stealing a broken down carport, valued at $1,200 and a fireplace cover worth $100. The victim in the stealing case found a license plate on his property where the items were stolen from.

When officers ran the license plate, it belonged to a truck owned by Ramirez. Officers took her into custody on the stealing charge and Ramirez’s vehicle was towed from the scene on August 6.

Then, a second investigation began when officers located 6.38 grams of methamphetamine in the vehicle when it was inventoried. The Ozarks Drug Enforcement Team was contacted and took over the investigation.

Officers stated the amount of methamphetamine was more than for personal use. Detective Houdyshell, with ODET, interviewed Ramirez about the methamphetamine. He reported that Ramirez told him she purchased the methamphetamine from Springfield on August 6 around noon. According to her statement, she has a methamphetamine habit and uses approximately one gram a day and the rest is for sales to support her addiction.

Ramirez told officers she buys approximately 1/4 ounce of methamphetamine every time she goes to Springfield and has made a few trips.

Ramirez is currently being held in the Barry County Jail. She was issued a $15,000 cash, 10 percent or corp. surety bond on August 7 for the stealing charge and an additional $40,000 cash-only bond for the delivery charge on August 8.

Correction:
In last week's article regarding the hearing about the possible removal of the Exeter Police Chief, the article incorrectly listed the city clerk as filing for an ex parte; it was the court clerk who filed for an ex parte.

A vibrant collection of school supplies is arranged on a teal background. In the foreground, there are several open folders in shades of yellow, green, and orange. A pair of black-handled scissors is partially visible. A variety of crayons and markers in colors like yellow, blue, pink, and purple are scattered around. A yellow pushpin and a silver paper clip are also present. In the bottom left corner, there are three small jars of paint in red, pink, and yellow.

Fairytale Kindgom gives kids royal treatment on their special day

Charlea Estes-Jones

Would you want to sip tea with Snow White? Or read a book with Belle? Maybe have your nails painted with Tiana? A new business in Monett lets kids meet their favorite princess for the experience of a lifetime.

Fairytale Kingdom, LLC, opened in Monett in June, and since then, kids all over the area have gotten to meet their favorite princesses for an experience that is impossible to forget.

Amanda Christman opened Fairytale Kingdom in Monett as a way to explore her passions, while also being a dedicated mom. She said, "My son will be starting preschool next year, and I was at that crossroads in life: what am I going to do? I've been a stay at home. I'd heard about a similar company but they are in a totally different area, so I thought I'd try it here."

So far, Fairytale Kingdom has drawn a lot of positive support. Christman brings her princesses for private birthday parties, but she also started hosting special events that parents can buy individuals tickets for their kids to be able to attend.

Christman said, "I have a daughter who is all about princesses and loves all the girly stuff. My son is getting older and I started to think of something I could do once both children are in school.

"I have always had a passion for event planning and crafting. I began to think about how much fun this type of business would be. I also was excited about the location because there is nothing like this around here, so I am thrilled to bring something new to the area. I know my daughter has always been star-struck when I have taken her to different princess events, so I am excited to be able to see that joy and happiness on other children's faces."

Fairytale Kingdom offers nine different Disney princesses to bring the parties to life: Rapunzel, Cinderella, Elsa, Anna, Ariel, Belle, Snow White, Tiana and Moana. Different princesses host the private events with different stories, activities and themes.

Christman said, "There is nothing like what we offer around here. This is an opportunity to let every little girl's dream come true. They can have a birthday party with the princess they love. We also host special events every month that they could come enjoy with their princess, as well."

Each party and event offers a different, exciting experience of any child who would love to meet their favorite Disney princess.

Kids of all ages can meet princesses, like Snow White, for a birthday party or special event at Fairytale Kingdom.

Birthday party packages come in three different tiers: Tea Party, The Royal Treatment and The Palace. The special events where parents can purchase individual tickets, instead of buying a whole party package, have different themes.

Christman said, "We are doing different special events. We are hosting one to two special events each month, and there is an event site parents can go online and purchase tickets so they don't even have to call.

"It'll be different princesses at the different events. Our first event was a unicorn theme with everything unicorn: rainbow punch and a backdrop with unicorn props. Each kid got a unicorn horn and got to play unicorn games and hear a unicorn story."

Christman said she plans to change the events regularly to keep them interesting. While some of the more popular events will be repeated, she wants them to be unique overall.

She continued, "We have one planned for September at a painting place in Anderson. It's for a mommy and me session where they will do two paintings. Kids and their moms will come in, and Rapunzel will be there hosting.

"There will also be pajama parties and more. I'm going to try to change them up a lot and not do the same ones over and over."

Christman has a passion for the business she is running. As a mom, she said she finds a lot of joy in hosting parties and making magic happen. She said, "The most rewarding part of this business is seeing the children's faces light up as they see the princess they have watched actually interact with them. It's so precious because some are so star struck by them but you can tell they are just gleaming with joy. It is so sweet. All of my princesses are so good with the kids, and I am very thankful for each of them."

She continued, "I have always been a girl who loves everything pink and glitter. Then, God gave me a daughter, Taylin, whom I have cherished so deeply. She is so much like me, including loving pink and glitter. When we have went to different princess events, her face lighting up is so magical and precious. I thought, I would love to do this for others. My daughter has absolutely been my inspiration and will continue to be my inspiration. I am really excited to see what happens with this business."

Fairytale Kingdom will also be doing special events at the Dickerson Park Zoo beginning soon.

Fairytale Kingdom is located at 222 East Broadway in Monett. To reach them, contact them on their Facebook group or at (417) 592-2001. Announcements and special events are posted in the Fairytale Kingdom Facebook group regularly.

YOUA MOUA

Youa Moua was born on February 8, 1912, in Nan Fa, Xieng Khuang, Laos, to father, Chong Leng Moua and mother, Xia Xiong. She was the second older daughter of five daughters and two sons: Mai, Youa, Chia, Tia, Nhia Bee, Chong, and Mai Houa. Chong Leng passed away when his younger daughter Mai Houa was pregnant. Chong passed away at a young age in Laos. Her mother passed away in Thailand of 1990. Nhia Bee passed away in Green Bay, Wisconsin, in 2015. Survivors of the family are: Mai, Chia, Tia, and Mai Houa. All of her sisters are now residing in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

In 1930, Youa was united in marriage to Chongma Xiong in Ban Xon, Xieng Khuang, Laos. They have been married for over 50 years and had a total of eight children, Chongpao, Blong, Shor, Ying, Houa, Koua, Khou, and Xue. Both children, Blong and Houa, passed away at a young age in Laos. Chongma passed away in Thailand in the year of 1980. Her youngest son, Xue, passed away in Eau Claire, Wisconsin, in 2013. The surviving children are: Chongpao, Shor, Ying, Koua, and Khou.

Altogether, they have four married sons and one married daughter with 22 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

dren. Recently, son-in-law, Tou Pao Vang, passed away in Sheboygan, Wisconsin, in April of 2018.

Despite being uneducated and illiterate, one of her passions included making yeast and distilling of alcohol she created from the yeast. She also had the ability to extract salt from liquid solutions. She was then able to recrystallize the salt particles so that it could be used later. Her deepest regret was being unable to attain a formal education due to a lack of schools while she was growing up. As her youngest son, I believe that if she was able to attain an education, she would have made an excellent chemist.

Although she had a difficult life as a single parent, she accomplished her goals of supporting her family and being able to watch her children and grandchildren grow up. On her deathbed, she left a few words for her youngest son before passing away. We will remember her legacy and the love she had for her family. We will cherish the memories we shared together as a family. She will never be forgotten and remain in our hearts forever.

Security Bank celebrates thirty years of local ownership

Security Bank of Southwest Missouri in Cassville is celebrating its 30th year as a locally owned business. The bank was founded in 1985 and purchased by local businessmen and their families from a gentleman in Stone County who owned it at the time, becoming officially locally owned in June, 1988.

With locations in Cassville, Exeter and Wheaton, Security Bank is a full-service community bank that focuses on providing financial services for families, individuals, businesses, farmers, community organizations and public entities. “We don’t believe in credit scoring. Our loan decision-making model is totally different than the corporate and megabanks,” said bank president Jon Horner. “We focus on decisions being made promptly by our loan officers who live in the communities we are so privileged to serve.”

Security Bank prides itself on great service, prompt local decisions and commitment to Barry County as a whole. “Being locally owned allows us to be proactive to meet the needs of the families, farmers and businesses that we interact with on a daily basis,” said Horner. “We know our customers and our communities.”

However, being locally owned is not without its challenges. Though the smaller banks did not cause the financial crisis of 2008, the increased regulatory guidelines and the associated costs have had a large impact on locally owned banks. On the plus side, having local control provides stability by bringing the common sense decision-making that was lacking with the megabanks, which ultimately led to the crisis.

In addition to providing a stable institution to meet the financial needs of the community, Security Bank employees and investors feel privileged to support local programs. Security Bank is often listed as a sponsor on Wildcat t-shirts, paper programs at sporting events and other youth activities in Cassville as well as surrounding areas. “We love to sponsor events and activities throughout the communities we serve,” said Horner. “For example, we provide scholarships each year to graduating seniors from Cassville, Exeter, Southwest, Wheaton and Purdy.”

To celebrate three decades of being locally owned and an active supporter of community events, Security Bank is giving away $5,000 to their customers over the next six months through monthly drawings for $250, with a grand prize of $1,000 in December. Security Bank customers are automatically entered into the drawing and do not have to do anything to enter.

Above all, Security Bank is proud to serve and support the communities of Barry County. “We love being a community bank in Barry County and serving our wonderful customers and communities,” said Horner. “That continues to be our mission going forward.”

STATION from FRONT

he would like to see [in the new station]. We knew we needed a new chapter in this fire department. He was the one who came up with this.

“We all wanted it to be his building.”

Prior to the new building’s construction, the fire department operated out of a building owned by the city about a block away. Now, Lindy cites space and usability as the primary benefits. The new station includes a community room and offices.

He said, “First and foremost is we have more space. I look at it from a perspective is that it’s an asset for the community. It’s a nice building that everyone should be proud of. It’s good access to the highway and very visible.”

He said the community has been integral in their support of the new station. He shared, “Our community has been behind us 100 percent. I think they are as proud as our volunteers at the station. We have a nice building, offices and room to work on things. There will be a nice community room that is available if anyone wants to use it.”

The Wheaton Fire Protection District will open the newest station for the public to tour at their annual BBQ later this month. The Wheaton BBQ will be held on Saturday, August 25, in the city park.

The 60th annual BBQ will have live music at 11 a.m. with food service beginning at 11:30 a.m. Free carnival rides for kids will start at 1 p.m. with the event concluding with the duck race at 8 p.m.

There will also be the second annual Stop, Drop and Run 5K at 7:30 a.m.

Full details and updates will be published on their Facebook page. There will also be an open house at the new station on October 6.

Southwest to open season at Verona Tournament

Southwest High School will open volleyball season Saturday in the Verona Tournament. The Lady Trojans play in the pool at Purdy High School and face Miller, Marionville, the host Eagles and Everton.

Coach Steve Voyak said its a year of change and transition with the school moving from the Ozark 7 Conference to the Southwest Central League.

"It's going to be challenging and exciting at the same time," said Voyak, who is in his 16th year in Washburn."

Purdy and Southwest replace Forsyth and Clever in the SWCL with the latter two leaving to start football programs.

The Lady Trojans feature five seniors - Jacey Ball, Mariah Munday, Lacey Reeves, Maggie Robbins and Heather Windes. All are returning letter-winners, and Munday, Robbins and Windes have all earned multiple varsity letters.

"We are asking a lot of our seniors, like any team," said Voyak. "We need them to lead. They really took ownership of that role over the summer."

Windes, a setter, led the team in assists, digs, serve reception and serve percentage, while Robbins was tops in service aces last season. Despite missing 10 games to injury, Munday was still second in digs and serve reception a year ago.

Other returning letter-winners are Bonnie Robbins and Khloe Holder. Voyak said the sophomores will need to be consistent hitters for the Lady Trojans to generate offense. The top newcomers to the varsity are Freshman Olivia Ayer and Sophomores Karma Romine and Brylee Wilson.

Voyak said the Southwest strengths are experience and serving accuracy, while the challenges are height, passing and serve reception consistency, and the ability to kill the volleyball.

"The girls are working hard on the little things, like footwork, and technique, and it's paying off, but they will need to get even better for it to translate to wins on the court," said Voyak.

Southwest Trap team wins nationals

Notice of Public Hearing

A hearing will be held at 6:30 P.M., August 16, 2018, at the Southwest R-V High School Library. At this time, citizens may be heard on the property tax rates proposed to be set by Southwest R-V, a school district located in Barry and McDonald counties. The tax rates are set to produce the revenues, which the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2018 shows to be required from the property tax. Each tax rate is determined by dividing the amount of revenue needed by the current assessed valuation. The result is multiplied by 100 so the tax rate will be expressed in cents per $100 valuation.

Assessed Valuation (by categories)	Year 2018-2019	Year 2017-2018
Real Estate	$30,304,563	$28,997,809
Personal Property	$10,622,382	$10,259,035
Total	$40,926,945	$39,256,844

The following tax rates are proposed:
Assessed Valuation: $40,926,945

Fund	Amount of Property Tax Revenue Budgeted	Proposed Tax Rate Per $100
Incidental	$1,125,490	$2.75
Teachers	$0	$0.00
Debt Service	$347,879	$0.85
Total	$1,473,369	$3.60

New Construction (Total) $785,463
New Revenue from New Construction and Improvements: $28,276

Red Cross blood shortage continues as thousands answer the call to give

EMERGENCY NEED REMAINS; CRITICAL CALL FOR TYPE O BLOOD DONORS TO DONATE NOW

Thousands of people have responded to the emergency call for blood and platelet donations issued by the American Red Cross in early July. Still, there continues to be an emergency need for donors of all blood types, especially type O, to give now to address a severe blood shortage.

Red Cross blood donations are being distributed to hospitals faster than they are coming in, and right now there is less than a five-day blood supply on hand. The Red Cross strives to keep a five-day supply of blood to meet the needs of patients and to be prepared for emergencies that require significant volumes of donated blood products. “Patients don’t get a summer break from the need for lifesaving treatments, so it is critical that hospitals have access to blood products each and every day,” said of the Blood Services Region OR Nick Gehrig, communications executive, Red Cross Blood Services. “We sincerely appreciate those who have responded to the call to help save lives, but the emergency need remains. Those who haven’t rolled up a sleeve to give are urged to do so today.”

There is a particular need for type O blood, which plays an important role in ongoing patient care and emergencies. Type O positive is the most transfused blood type and can be given to patients with any Rh-positive blood type. Type O negative is the universal blood type and can be given to any patient. It’s what emergency room personnel reach for when there is no time to determine the blood type of patients in the most serious situations.

In thanks, all those who donate blood will receive a St. Louis Cardinals t-shirt and $5 Amazon.com gift card via email. (Restrictions apply; see amazon.com/gc-legal. More information and details are available at RedCrossBlood.org/Together.)

Upcoming blood drive opportunity:

- Monday, August 20, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. at First Freewill Baptist Church in the Fellowship Hall at 107 West Sycamore in Monett

Sponsor Code: MONETT

How to donate blood

Individuals who are 17 years of age in most states (16 with parental consent where allowed by state law), weigh at least 110 pounds and are in generally good health may be eligible to donate blood. High school students and other donors 18 years of age and younger also have to meet certain height and weight requirements. Blood and platelet donors can save time at their next donation by using RapidPass® to complete their pre-donation reading and health history questionnaire online, on the day of their donation, before arriving at the blood drive. To get started, follow the instructions at RedCrossBlood.org/RapidPass or use the Blood Donor App.

About the American Red Cross

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies about 40 percent of the nation’s blood; teaches skills that save lives; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families. The Red Cross is a not-for-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission. Security Bank's Thankful Thursday fundraiser benefits kids' camp

Each month, our employees can wear jeans on Thursdays for a $5 donation. The bank calls it Thankful Thursday, a day of giving back. At the end of each month, the bank selects an organization as the recipient of the Thankful Thursday money. Since origination in May 2017, Security Bank employees have raised and donated over $3,500 in Thankful Thursday money for local organizations.

Annual Land Tax Sale to be held Aug. 27

Janice Varner, Barry County Collector, will hold the Annual Barry County Land Tax Sale on Monday, August 27, 2018, at 10 a.m. at the courthouse in Cassville.

Anyone interested in purchasing delinquent properties at the land sale needs to go into the collector's office prior to 10 a.m. on the day of the sale to sign in and obtain a number. Any out-of-state resident who wants to buy land at the sale will need to appoint a Missouri resident as their agent. The agent forms needed for this appointment are available in the collector's office.

Bidding will begin with the taxes and cost against the property as advertised and will be sold to the highest bidder.

Copies of the parcels that will be auctioned are available on-line at barrycountycollector.com or in the collector's office. Barry County Assessor Sherry Smith has compiled books with the parcels for sale, and these books can be purchased at either the collector's or assessor's offices.

Chopped corn silage offers better control for beef producers

Farmers are looking to drought-stressed corn for silage and balage to stretch limited hay supplies.

Chopped corn silage offers beef producers better options than balage, says University of Missouri Extension livestock specialist Gene Schmitz.

Silage allows better control of the amount of high-energy feed for wintering cattle, Schmitz says. Balage offers less flexibility and control of portion size.

"From a diet perspective, we generally limit corn silage for beef cows to somewhere between 20 to 60 percent of diet dry matter, depending upon the stage of production, body condition and energy content of the silage," he said.

This prevents cattle from getting too fat and avoids unnecessary feeding costs.

"It's almost impossible to limit-feed a bale of corn silage unless it is tub-ground and mixed with grass hay and/or other feed ingredients," Schmitz said. "I think it is important to understand this limitation, especially if the silage is carrying some nitrate with it."

Schmitz says the best silage is finely chopped and tightly packed to get rid of excess oxygen. Cover immediately to protect against the elements, which cause spoilage and nutrient loss. Chop corn when it is still green. Moisture levels must be high enough, generally 60 to 70 percent, for corn to ferment properly. But it should not be too high or it will become prone to seepage and bacteria.

Pile silage on the ground and pack from all sides to feed, Schmitz says. Avoid putting silage in a hay "bunker" made out of round bales. It is difficult to rid the silage of oxygen in uncovered bunkers made of bales. Using bale bunkers leads to inadequate packing, shifting of bales during packing and possible tractor roll-overs, he said.

Schmitz recommends that farmers who want to chop or bale corn should have the corn tested for nitrates at their county MU Extension center. High nitrate content leads to nitrate poisoning in ruminants. He also recommends testing silage for nutrient content and nitrates before feeding.

For more information, the MU Extension publication "Corn Silage" is available at extension.missouri.edu/g4590. A publication on drought-related issues in forage, silage and balage is available at extension.missouri.edu/agw1017.

Central Crossing Fire receives $3,761 in MDC grant

During July and August, matching funds grant checks for rural fire departments are being distributed by the Missouri Department of Conservation, Forestry Division staff. The Central Crossing Fire Department received a check for $3,761.81.

One hundred seventy-four fire departments received checks for up to $4,000 each to help with the purchase of personal protective gear, communications equipment and wildfire suppression equipment to help increase the fire departments funding awarded to Missouri fire departments through the matching funds grant program this year is $389,603.56.

Fire departments are required to match 50 percent of the funds which are provided by the Missouri Department of Conservation and the US Forest Service, Volunteer Fire Assistance Program. Throughout the last 30 years, over $8 million has been distributed to rural fire departments to help them increase the safety of their firefighters and provide them with better firefighting equipment.

Haven of the Ozarks' Pet of the Week: Valerie

Haven of the Ozarks Animal Sanctuary's animal of the week is Valerie. She is a shepherd and husky mix, approximately three years old.

Valerie spent some time with Haven's trainer Tristan who said, "Valerie is a very good house dog. She is good with other dogs, kids and is potty trained. She learned boundaries very quickly, staying out of the kitchen and dining area when asked. She was comfortable with the other dogs around her during feedings. When she first arrived, I kept her on leash attached to me because of her energy, and I didn't know her potty habits. She calmed down very quickly and began to do what the rest of the pack does. Her energy was not an issue at all. She was walking on leash very nicely for us, including having Rebecca (13 years old) walk her as well. It will be important for any future home to establish boundaries with Valerie, but that is true for any dog. Valerie would make an excellent companion for most anybody.

She was actually probably too good; all three kids thought we should be giving her a forever home. I told them I consider six dogs a firm ceiling. Otherwise, I might have considered it."

Valerie's adoption fee is $90. She is microchipped, spayed and up to date on vaccinations. Call the Haven (417) 835-3647 or visit her any day of the week from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 9617 FR 2190, Washburn. For more information, visit: <http://www.havenoftheoarks.org/>.

Drought making hay prices skyrocket across Missouri

Eric Bohl, Missouri Farm Bureau

The drought of 2018 is unfortunately only getting worse across Missouri, and the effects are starting to hit livestock producers hard. The July 12 weekly drought report by the United States Drought Monitor showed over two-thirds of Missouri in some level of drought condition. Unfortunately, with the extreme temperatures and high evaporation, ground is drying out much more quickly than some recent spurts of rain can replenish it.

The most severely-impacted areas continue to be north central and northwest Missouri, where part or all of 17 counties were classified as experiencing D3 "Extreme Drought" conditions. This is the second-highest classification on the drought intensity scale and represents the first time this summer any part of Missouri has hit this level. The southwestern corner of the state also has crept up into a higher classification, now experiencing D2 "Severe Drought" conditions, which also covers most of Missouri north of the river that is not in D3 condition.

The Missouri Farm Bureau conducted a survey of livestock producers across the state, receiving responses from all corners of Missouri. MOFB Director of Marketing and Commodities Kelly Smith conducted the survey during the first and second weeks of July. Some of the results were truly stunning.

In total, 98 percent of respondents said their first cutting of hay had reduced quality or quantity from normal, averaging 43 percent below normal production. In northwest Missouri, over 86 percent said they anticipate they will have to purchase hay to carry them through spring, but only 13 percent say hay will be available to purchase in their local area. On average, producers expect they will have to venture at least 110 miles to find suitable hay to meet their needs. What's more, statewide the cost of hay has increased about 106 percent from normal levels, rising as high as 130 percent in northwest Missouri.

Perhaps the saddest news from the survey is that 72 percent of respondents anticipate having to reduce their cattle herd numbers due to the drought. Of those who said they will likely have to reduce their herds, over 60 percent said they would need to reduce their herd by at least 20 percent. This can set farmers back years as they try to rebuild in subsequent seasons. Many Missourians had just begun to recover from the effects of the 2012 drought, only to run into this summer's dry wall.

Without a turnaround in rain patterns soon, many farmers will be forced to make very difficult choices in the coming weeks. Even before hay shortages become critical, many farmers could run out of water. If livestock do not have access to water on a daily basis, their health will be quickly endangered. Farmers are already reporting that ponds and wells are drying up. This can lead to cattle getting stuck in mud as they attempt to reach shrinking ponds, not to mention the health issues at risk.

The weather outlook is bleak for both livestock and crop farmers this summer. Missouri Farm Bureau will continue to stay in touch with all types of farmers as the situation progresses, and hopefully we will see a break in the heat and drought before much longer.
