Dog attack sparks new talks about possible Cassville leash law

A vicious dog attack in Cassville last week left a woman severely injured and others demanding changes to city ordinances to draft a leash law in the city. Cassville Elementary School counselor Kristie Predy was walking on Wednesday, August 7, when she was attacked in the early morning hours by two dogs near the intersection of 12th and Main Streets.

Predy suffered serious injuries, including two broken arms and at least 25 bite wounds. In an interview on Monday, August 14, she said she would have to have at least two surgeries on her left arm, and they will know more this week regarding the extent of the injuries on her right arm.

She explained what she remembers from the attack early Wednesday morning, "I was just walking down the street exercising in the morning, and the dogs crossed the street and attacked me."

"It was kind of blurry, so I'm not sure how long it lasted." Predy said one person posted on Facebook they saw the attack and honked to try to deter the dogs, but they were too afraid to get out of their vehicle to help. She said the attack was disorienting and details are difficult for her to remember. "I don't even remember anyone being there."

Cassville Police officer Anthony Larson took a report on the incident at 5:47 a.m. and was able to locate the dogs and get them into quarantine at a local veterinarian's office, according to Cassville Police

Nadean Davis, a Cassville resident and mother of the woman attacked by two dogs last week, spoke to Cassville City Council on Monday, August 12, pleading for action on a leash law within city limits.

Department detective Danny Boyd.

The Barry County E9-1-1 Center took two calls at 5:45 a.m. about the incident, one from a passerby and one from Predy herself.

Det. Boyd confirmed the owner of the dogs has been cooperative regarding the investigation and quarantining of the animals.

Predy, who frequently walks for exercise in the city, said while dogs are common, she didn't expect to have something like this happen. She said, "You see them every once in awhile, and sometimes they'll come up to you, but usually you can stomp your foot and they'll leave you alone. I've never had one close to attacking before this."

Predy's mother, Nadean Davis, requested to speak at the Cassville City Council meeting on Monday, August 12, to talk about what happened and ask the city to do something about the lack of a leash law inside city limits.

Predy said, "Mom has tried to get an ordinances for years. This very easily could have been her. Had it been a child or an elderly person, I'm not so sure they would have survived the attack. I don't know that they could have kept fighting for as long as I had to fight."

Davis and Predy, along with about a dozen other community members, showed up for the Cassville City Council meeting on Monday evening, August 12. Davis addressed the council with her concerns and brought up points regarding safety inside the city and residents' attitude regarding not keeping their dogs contained since the city has no leash law on the books.

This isn't the first time leash laws have been requested by city residents, but the council's vote has always been that there aren't enough funds for a dedicated animal control officer and to build a pound.

Davis has addressed council before about the dog issues before as she regularly walks the streets in town and picks

Wheaton School partners with Access for new mental health program

Vinnie Roberts

School for the Wheaton R-III School District began on Tuesday, August 13. Along with all the new faces and remodeled structures, a brand new health program will be making its debut in the school.

The program, provided by Access Family Care Medical and Dental Clinics, is a mental health program that will allow students to communicate with a licensed counselor via a live video chat system located at the school.

According to Wheaton superintendent Dr. Lance Massey, the school began talks with Access about the program previously before reaching a formal agreement in June.

"Quite a while ago, Access approached us as a school and said that they were working on a grant and would like us to pilot a program where they would provide tele-mental health therapy. So, we began that discussion, and they have since received the grant," said Massey.

Massey went on to explain that the program will be provided by Access at no cost to the school. Access acquired grant funding specifically designed to aid rural areas in receiving improved access to mental healthcare.

"The grant is to help rural communities get better access to students that have mental health needs," explained Massey. "We got everything finalized back in June with a memo of understanding about how all of this is going to work. We're going to begin those services for students here in the fall."

The program will put a licensed counselor, employed by Access, in the school occasionally to touch base with the school's counselor about

Kids can pick up free trout tags along with a goodie bag and schedule on Friday, August 16, at the hatchery office or any time during the day on Kids' Fishing Day on Saturday, August 17.

While fishing in the designated KFD space is just for those 15 and under, the whole family is welcome to attend classes and informational booths throughout the day to keep entertained. Kids are encouraged to bring their own fishing equipment, but adults will be on site to help kids fish who need some instruction on fishing Roaring River's waters. For those not as interested in the fishing side of things, there will be a petting zoo, archery practice, target shooting and classes for survival and wildlife.

There will be free popcorn and snocones for all in attendance. Bluegrass music will be played live during the day. There will also be a free hot dog and chips lunch served form 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Kids who attend at least three classes during the day can enter into a drawing for prizes as the day wraps up at 5 p.m. Children must be present to win drawings. Adults can enter to win a special parent prize. Hatchery staff is still asking for volunteers and donations for the day of the event. Volunteers need not be outdoorsy or expert anglers. Staponski, 59, is charged with two counts of assault in the first degree or attempt, two counts of armed criminal action and one count of unlawful use of a weapon. issues facing students, as well. This on-site counselor will use this time to meet with new student patients and assemble a treatment plan for students who qualify for further meetings. “Access is going to provide us a person, a mental health counselor, that’s going to be on-site at various times during the school year,” said Massey. “There’s not a set schedule for how many days or hours a week they’re going to be here.”

According to Massey, the program will be a resource for students facing mental health issues outside of the scope of what can be handled by the school’s counselor. However, Wheaton School’s counselor Becky Krissman will act as a liaison between the school and Access.

“Our person from Access will ideally be on campus every week to meet new students that are new referrals that she visits with when she is on campus,” said Massey. “If the students or the counselors decide that they need to meet with that student every week, then they will take actions to schedule time to put them in the telehealth program.”

Equipment for the video component of the program has been provided to the school and, according to Massey, is currently in the installation phase.

“I would expect sometime next week we will have all of the components of the telehealth so that we can start using it immediately, if needed,” said Massey. “I don’t completely know all the products. What has been described to me is something like an oversized monitor that has got a camera that can move with the actions of the student.”

Massey also stressed that the program will require parent permission to participate in the program, explaining that the school will not place a student in the program without parental consent.

Massey went on to explain the district’s enthusiasm for the program, explaining his hope that the program will not only benefit the student body, but the Wheaton community as a whole.

“It’s a very new program. We’re extremely excited about it. We think that it’s going to benefit the students and the community of Wheaton as a whole,” Massey said.

This new program will be available to Wheaton students at the beginning of the new school year, which is currently in session. For questions about the program or any other programs within the district, contact the school at (417) 652-3914.

Correction: In a story in last week’s issue, the location reported where the incident of a woman firing a BB gun at her neighbors was incorrectly reported. The indecent occurred at the Cassville Apartments.

Exeter opened its doors on the morning of Tuesday, August 13, for its first day of classes. Pictured above: Kandace Koehler, Exeter Elementary's first grade teacher, welcomed students to their first day of class before launching right into work.

Cassville Primary curb-side drop off to change

On Monday, August 19, the curb-side morning drop off policy will change at Cassville Primary School. Drop off in the morning will change to improve student safety in the circle drive beginning at 7:40 a.m.

As with the school's afternoon pick-up routine, the school will use the four designated circle drive spots for parents to pull their cars in to when dropping students off. School personnel will be present to open the car doors, greet students and direct them into the building.

In the release, it states, "Parents are asked to be sure and give their morning hugs, kisses, and last minute directions prior to pulling into the circle drive. Parents will be remaining in their vehicles as school personnel receives the students. This will allow parents more efficient navigation through the circle drive and morning drop-off procedure."

Parents are still welcome to park in the parking lot if they wish to walk their students into the building. This will only affect those who are dropping their students off in the circle drive.

If you have any questions, contact the Primary School office at (417) 847-2445.

up trash.

She also told council that many walkers in town are now carrying pistols to protect themselves from the dogs. She said she has even talked to dog owners in town where she has had repeated issues with their pets while she walks inside the

"Please find some way to pass a dog or pet ordinance where dogs have to be on leashes and have to be behind fences, something to protect the people in this town. If this had been a small child walking Shiveley's main point was the city would need to find a funding mechanism to pay for a leash law. He said, "To establish a leash law you're going to enforce and take care of the animals you're going to pick up is just somewhere in the neighborhood of $200,000 to $250,000 to start. To qualify,

He did not specify where his figures for the initial start up came from. Shiveley did give statistics on the calls involving animals so far this year. From January 1, 2019, to July 31, 2019, the total number of calls for service for the Cassville Police Department was 4,170. Of those, the calls for service involving animals was 99. Calls for service involving vicious animals including dog bites were 14. The number of animal-related citations was eight so far.

Horner emphasized the importance of a funding mechanism for a leash law because of the requirements of caring for an animal. He said, "If you're going to take into possession someone's dog, you've taken on an awesome responsibility. You've got to feed and care for this dog."

The charge in that case was for a vicious animal. The judge in that case and the upcoming case is Cassville City Judge Randee Stemmons.

Preddy said she is focusing on her recovery and has tried to remove herself from the negativity of the situation. She said, "Part of the reason why this has been so difficult is I'm an animal lover. We have our own pets and our own animals. That makes it so much more difficult. I can't even imagine anyone owning a dog that they would allow to hurt someone."

Preddy added that she wanted to dispel rumors online that the dogs were mixed breed dogs and not pit bulls as people have claimed on social media.

Cassville WGA to host invitational tournament

Cassville boys soccer to return to the field

On Tuesday, July 25, the Cassville Women's Golf Association met once again at the Cassville Golf Club for their weekly game.

That week's game was a solo mystery game where scores for one hole on either the front or back nine were dropped during the adding of the scores. First place on this day went to Debbie Yarnall and second went to Kerry Lewis. Closest shots to the pin during this game went to Barb Vesley on hole six and Janie Watson on hole 11.

On Wednesday, August 7, the WGA met to review and finalize plans for their annual invitational to be held on Thursday, August 15. The invitational is currently at capacity and has a lengthy waiting list of people hoping to get in.

Tee time for the game has been set for 8:30 a.m. on August 15. Lunch will be served for free after play, provided by BBQ Station, of Cassville.

After the details of the invitational were set, the WGA played a scramble game against one another on the green. First place in this game went to the team of Lynn Blanke, Kay Hauptert and Ann Loeppke. Two teams tied for second place during this game. Team A consisted of Susie Jacobs, Debbie Yarnall and Doris Conner. Team B consisted of Connie Figgins, Sue King and Janie Watson.

The 2019 Cassville Golf Invitational will be hosted at the Cassville Golf Club, located at 20276 State Highway 112 in Cassville. The tournament tees off at 8:30 a.m. on Thursday, August 15. For any questions about the invitational tournament, contact Kerry Lewis at (417) 818-1309.

On Monday, August 12, the Cassville High School boys soccer varsity and junior varsity teams headed back to the field two days before classes started to prepare for another high-impact season. Cassville's first games this season will be the Cassville Soccer Classic, a tournament that will run from Tuesday, September 3, through Saturday, September 7. After that, the team will play two additional home games, one against Laquey High School on Monday, September 9, and another against Thomas Jefferson Independent Day School, of Joplin, on Tuesday, September 10.

DON'T GO RETRO.

An old-school fusebox might still function adequately, but it lacks the safety features that are built into modern circuit breakers. If your home or other building still has one of these antique devices, it's time for an update.

Consult a qualified electrician for a complete review of your electrical wires and fixtures, and replace any outdated equipment that no longer meets safety specifications. Your electric cooperative can also provide guidance and assistance.

Barry County Health Department releases July Food Service Report

The Barry County Health Department divides food service code violations into two categories: priority and core items.

Priority items are more likely than other violations to contribute to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

Core items, although important to the overall hygiene of the establishment, do not necessarily present an immediate threat to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

A report for each establishment that is inspected shows the number of priority items along with a short statement as to the nature of the violations. The report also shows the number of core items but doesn't list the nature of those violations.

MDC announces plan for Missouri elk hunting

LIMITED SEASON FOR MISSOURI RESIDENTS COULD START AS SOON AS 2020

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) shared its initial plan for a limited elk-hunting season with the Missouri Conservation Commission at the Commission’s public meeting June 28 at MDC headquarters in Jefferson City. The Commission gave its initial approval of the proposed plan, and MDC is asking for public comments.

According to MDC Elk and Deer Biologist Aaron Hildreth, who presented the elk-hunting plan at the meeting, MDC will begin offering a limited season for hunting elk once the herd of about 175 animals reaches a minimum of 200 with an annual herd growth rate of at least 10 percent and a herd ratio of at least four cow elk for every bull elk.

According to MDC research, the herd will likely reach 200 animals by 2020. With that in mind, MDC has designated a nine-day archery season for elk running Oct. 17-25, 2020, and a nine-day firearms season for elk running Dec. 12-20, 2020.

Hildreth noted that the number of permits for a possible 2020 hunt has yet to be determined.

“If the elk population is below desired numbers in early 2020, the Conservation Commission may choose to not open the on-line application process or issue any permits for a fall 2020 hunt,” he explained. “We will then focus on 2021.”

MDC hopes to eventually reach a target population of 500 animals and will use hunting to manage herd size and location.

Elk are a native species in Missouri but were hunted to extinction in the state through unregulated market hunting during the late 1800s. MDC worked with the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources to reintroduce the native species by capturing and transporting wild elk from Kentucky to a remote area of the Missouri Ozarks. The reintroduction effort took place in 2011, 2012, and 2013 with most of the 108 relocated animals being cow elk with some calves and immature bulls. Their numbers have grown, and their range has expanded in recent years to cover portions of Carter, Reynolds, and Shannon counties. The area consists of nearly 80 percent public land interspersed with tracts of private property.

Hunting Framework

Under MDC’s framework, elk hunting would be limited to Missouri residents at least 11 years of age who have their hunter-education certification or are exempt from hunter education by age (born before Jan. 1, 1967). Hunting permits would be assigned through a random lottery of all applicants. MDC will require a $10 application fee to be eligible for the limited hunt with a $50 permit fee for those selected through the lottery. MDC will limit the random lottery to one application per-person, per-year with a 10-year “sit-out” period for those drawn for a permit before they may apply again.

The hunting zone will be limited to Carter, Reynolds, and Shannon counties, but will exclude the special refuge portion of Peck Ranch Conservation Area where elk were initially reintroduced.

“Permits issued each year will be valid for a nine-day archery season beginning the third Saturday in October and a nine-day firearms season beginning the second Saturday in December,” Hildreth explained.

He added that the timing of the seasons was designed to avoid the peak of elk breeding during late September and early October and to avoid the elk season coinciding with portions of the firearms deer season.

“The allowed hunting methods for each season will be the same as for deer hunting,” Hildreth said. “The permits will allow for the harvest of one bull elk with at least one antler being greater than six inches in length. Successful hunters must Telecheck their harvested elk, like for deer.”

Local Landowners Included

According to MDC, local landowners have been supportive of the reintroduction.

Local firefighters to participate in memorial stair climb

Vinnie Roberts

On Saturday, September 7, firefighters from five states are convening at Missouri State University (MSU) to participate in a special memorial event to honor the heroes lost in the terrorist attack on September 11, 2001.

In memory of the firefighters and rescue workers who lost their lives trapped inside the collapsing buildings, the attendees of the memorial will climb the stairs at Plaster Stadium at MSU repeatedly until they have equalled the 110 stories climbed by the rescuers on the day of the tragedy. Firefighters climb while wearing full rescue gear.

According to an official press release from the Springfield Area Memorial Stair Climb organizers, over 300 participants, 200 of which are firefighters, are expected to turn out for the event this year.

Travis Littler, a firefighter and paramedic who has been with Cass-ville Fire for eight years, is hard at work setting up a team to undertake the climb.

“We set up a team for Cassville Fire,” said Littler. “Anybody who wants to participate from the fire department or their families can sign up.”

Before the event, firefighters are asked to raise funds for the National Fallen Firefighters Fund. In the past, the event raised over $40,000 to benefit the NFFF.

“All that money goes to the National Fallen Firefighter Foundation, and they use all that money for medical expenses, funeral costs and all that stuff for line-of-duty deaths all across the country,” explained Littler.

According to Littler, two other Cassville firefighters signed up to take the climb this year with more expected to commit before the event.

Littler is a longtime supporter and participant in the event. He explained that while it has its utility as a publicity event, its true purpose is to honor and remember the sacrifices made by fire and rescue workers on the day of one of America’s greatest tragedies.

“I think it’s my fifth year doing this,” said Littler. “I saw them putting on the event in Springfield and, not only is it good P.R., but it’s a good event to help people remember 9/11 and what it was about.”

The long-time firefighter explained that the experience is something special to see firsthand.

“It’s a humbling experience at the climb. Everyone is so heartfelt. It’s a really heartwarming experience all around,” Littler said.

The Springfield Memorial Stair Climb will be held at 8 a.m. on the morning of September 7 at Plaster Stadium on the Missouri State University campus. For more information, contact Nixa Fire’s Whitney Weaver at (417) 339-9469 or visit the website at www.springfieldmemorial-stairclimb.org.

Cassville firefighter Travis Littler bound flights of stairs at least year’s event in memory of the firefighters and rescue workers who lost their lives on 9/11.

Children from families whose current income is at or below those shown are eligible for free or reduced price meals. Applications are available at the school office. To apply, fill out a Free and Reduced Price School Meals Family Application and return it to the school. The information provided on the application is confidential and will be used only for the purpose of determining eligibility. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. A complete application is required as a condition of eligibility. A complete application includes: (1) household income from all sources or Food Stamp/TANF case number, (2) names of all household members, and (3) the signature and last four digits of social security number or indication of no social security number of adult household member signing the application. School officials may verify current income at any time during the school year. Foster children may be eligible regardless of the income of the household with whom they reside. If a family member becomes unemployed or if family size changes, the family should contact the school to file a new application. Such changes may make the children of the family eligible for these benefits. Households will be notified of their children's eligibility status for free or reduced price meals. If any children were not listed on the eligibility notice for families receiving SNAP, TANF or FDPIR, the household should contact the school to have free meal benefits extended to those children. If any child(ren) was not listed on the eligibility notice, the household should contact the LEA or school to have free meal benefits extended to that child(ren). Under the provisions of the policy, the administration and designated food service official will review the applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the determining official, they may wish to discuss the decision with the hearing official on an informal basis or he/she may make a request either orally or in writing to the Superintendent. Hearing procedures are outlined in the policy. A complete copy of the policy is on file in each school and in the central office where any interested party may review it.

ELK from 2B

duction of elk to the area and local communities have benefited from an increase in tourism related to elk.

MDC will reserve at least one permit from the annual random lottery for resident landowners with at least 20 acres within a specified boundary within Carter, Reynolds, and Shannon counties. The special landowner permits will be nontransferable and may only be filled on the landowner's property.

“Qualifying landowners will not be required to pay the $10 application fee but will still pay a $50 permit fee if selected,” Hildreth said. “If selected, they will not be required to wait 10 years before again applying for the landowner permit. Qualifying landowners may apply once each year for a regular hunting permit and for a special landowner permit but may receive only one permit annually.”

Public Comments and Next Steps

MDC held several public meetings in communities around the elk restoration zone last December where staff discussed possible elk-hunting details. MDC also offered a statewide online comment period.

As part of the rulemaking process, MDC is now again asking for public comment on the proposed elk-hunting framework through Aug. 31 at short.mdc.mo.gov/Z49. Refer to the following specific rules open for comment.

PERMITS:

3 CSR 10-5.700 Resident Antlered Elk Hunting Permit. This rule establishes a permit for residents to take an antlered elk in open counties during the elk hunting season.

3 CSR 10-5.705 Resident Landowner Antlered Elk Hunting Permit. This rule establishes a permit for resident landowners to take an antlered elk on their property within the resident landowner permit zone during the elk hunting season.

SEASON SPECIFICS:

3 CSR 10-7.700 Elk Hunting Seasons: General Provisions. This rule establishes general provisions for hunting elk.

3 CSR 10-7.705 Elk: Hunting Season. This rule establishes seasons, limits, and provisions for hunting elk.

3 CSR 10-7.710 Elk: Landowner Privileges. This rule establishes provisions for resident landowners to hunt elk on their property within the resident landowner permit zone during the elk hunting season.

HUNTING ON PUBLIC LAND:

3 CSR 10-7.715 Elk: Regulations for Department Areas. This rule incorporates elk hunting on department areas in Chapter 7.

3 CSR 10-11.190 Elk Hunting. This rule establishes provisions for elk hunting on department areas.

The Commission will consider input received during this public comment period and make a final decision to move forward, modify, or withdraw the proposed framework during its Oct. 11 meeting.

If the framework is approved, MDC staff will then compile and review biological data on herd size, growth, and structure to determine if the inaugural hunt will occur in 2020. If the data supports a hunt for 2020, MDC staff will then present their recommendations on permit numbers to MDC's Regulations Committee and Conservation Commission early next year.

MDC staff will continue to use biological data on herd size, growth, and structure in future years to determine the number of permits issued for each season.

Haven of the Ozarks' Pet of the Week: Janet

Meet Ron, the Haven of the Ozarks Pet of the Week. Ron is a beautiful and friendly hound mix who staff believe is about two years old. He is timid at first but quickly comes around with the help of treats. While waiting to get into the Haven, Ron's finder learned some things about this sweet boy. He stays in a fenced in yard, is calm around other dogs and is the submissive one of the pack, does not dig in the yard, and loved hanging out on the porch. He is such a good dog that his finder wanted to keep him but felt like a fourth pup would be too much for them. They brought him to the Haven in hopes that he could find his forever family with us. Could he be your new best friend?

Haven of the Ozarks is open 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each day of the week or call (417) 835-3647 for more information. Haven of the Ozarks Animal Sanctuary is located at 9617 Farm Road 2190 in Washburn. Visit them online at www.havenoftheoarks.org.
