Aurora driver airlifted after Monett wreck

Charlea Estes-Jones

An Aurora man had to be airlifted for serious injuries in a wreck near Monett. According to the Missouri State Highway Patrol crash report, a vehicle failed to yield at a stop sign.

On November 10, Austin L. McCann, 29, of Aurora, was driving a 2001 Mitsubishi Eclipse southbound on Farm Road 1100 two miles southeast of Monett. Lukes S. Dickens, 28, of Galena, pulled out onto the road in a 2015 Chevrolet 2500 pickup pulling a trailer, failing to yield to McCann.

McCann struck the trailer, sustaining serious injuries. He was lifelifted to Cox South Hospital in Springfield.

The Mitsubishi was totaled. The truck had no damage.

Barry County jury finds Lampe man guilty of sex crimes

Charlea Estes-Jones

A Barry County jury found a Lampe man guilty of sex crimes against a child. The case, which originated in Stone County, was moved to Barry County on a change of venue. The jury found the man, Carl Anthony Selph, 44, of Lampe, guilty of three counts of statutory sodomy in the first degree and one count of child molestation in the first degree. Selph originally had nine charges against him.

The jury trial lasted three days. It began on November 7 and ended November 9. The jury spent over five hours in deliberation before returning the verdict.

According to the affidavits of probable cause, Selph committed the crimes around 2009 when the victim was under the age of 14. Acts included him forcing her touch him and also using sex acts as incentives/behavioral punishments.

Sentencing for Selph has not been established, however, the sentencing guidelines for each count of statutory sodomy in the state of Missouri is five years to life imprisonment. The molestation charge is a class A felony and carries a 10 to 30 years or life imprisonment sentence.

Selph has a sentencing hearing in front of Judge Robert George on January 29, 2018, in Barry County.

CWD checks go quickly for hunters

Charlea Estes-Jones

This weekend marked the opening of firearms season for deer hunters. However, it also marked a change for Barry County hunters. All deer taken during opening weekend were required to be checked for Chronic Wasting Disease. All in all, hunters had no problems with the mandate and were happy to comply.

Paul Parrigon, of Mt. Vernon and his brother John Parrigon, of Joplin, both shot deer in Mark Twain. They shared that their hunting each year is a family event and this wasn't the first time they'd come to Barry County to try their luck. They brought their deer to the Roaring River check station where about a dozen Missouri Department of Conservation employees were waiting.

While their deer were checked, they talked about the CWD. John said, "I'm glad they're doing this and checking. It's important."

Both men said that it was a quick process. Most hunters who checked their deer were in and out of the check station in about five minutes. John shared, "It was much faster than I expected." Paul added, "I was happy to do it. It's wasn't a big deal."

For some of the Missouri Conservation Department employees on site, they shared that a lot of the hunters enjoyed coming because it mimicked the "old days" when everyone had to physically bring their deer in to be accounted for. The check-in used to be at the old fire tower, but Missouri's TeleCheck system has done away with physical check-ins.

Across the state, hunters checked over 94,000 deer in the opening weekend. The Missouri Department of Conservation shared that preliminary data shows that deer hunters in Missouri harvested 94,977 deer during the opening weekend of the November portion of the fall firearms deer season. Of the 94,977 deer harvested, 54,027 were antlered bucks, 9,535 were button bucks, and 31,415 were does.

Barry County's totals were 959 total deer. Of those, 588 were antlered bucks, 99 were button bucks, and 272 were does. Of those, 518 were tested for CWD. The check station at the Purdy Community Center had 203 deer sampled, Roaring River State Park's station had 187, and the station at the Central Crossing Fire Department in Shell Knob had 128.

Across the state, 15,872 tissue samples were taken from harvested deer for CWD testing. Outside of opening weekend, 750 more samples have been taken for testing from road-killed deer. Of those 750 samples, no new cases have been found.

All CWD samples taken, which was the removal of lymph nodes from harvested deer, are sent to an independent lab for testing. MDC expects results in 5 to 6 weeks. Samples were sent to Colorado State University, which is set up to do sample testing on a large-volume basis.

Results of testing, when available, will be posted at mdc.mo/gov/cwd.

According to the affidavits of probable cause, the Cassville Police Department was dispatched to Jersey’s around 1:20 a.m. on Friday night. Brown-Downard had been in Jersey’s when employees asked her to leave after causing a disturbance.

Skiles signs with Missouri Southern

Purdy High School basketball player Layne Skiles signed a letter of intent to play basketball for the Missouri Southern State University Lions on Wednesday, November 8. In his introductory remarks Purdy girls basketball coach Jason Webb reviewed a long list of Skiles's accomplishments, including multiple All-Conference, All-District and All-State honors and the 2016-2017 Four-States Basketball Coaches Association Player of the Year, but he concluded on a personal note.

"I haven't had the chance to coach Layne for very long, but I look forward to the experience. I have, however, gotten to know her as a person. Layne is an outstanding human being.

"Her integrity, faith, values, commitment and work ethic outshine even her phenomenal accomplishments on the basketball court. Missouri Southern State University is getting a fantastic basketball player, and they're getting an even better person."

SOUTHWEST MS VOLLEYBALL MEETING

An organizational meeting for volleyball players will be held at Southwest Middle School at 11:30 a.m. on Thursday, Nov. 16. The team is open to 7 and 8 grade girls. Practice begins Tuesday, Dec. 5.

For more information, contact Coach Voyak at svoyak@swr5.net or 479.422.5395.

According to her personal calculations, Layne Skiles has been playing basketball for the past eight years, "to prepare to play college basketball. I can't imagine my life without a basketball in my hands."

Now that her ultimate goal is within reach, Skiles finds herself both reflective and excited for the future.

"I am thankful for the past four years as a Purdy Lady Eagle. I have learned so much from the experience that will carry me successfully through the next level.

"I am super excited to play for the Lions and contribute my skills and drive to the team's success. I think I'm a good fit for them."

Skiles has tallied 1,248

points, 617 rebounds, 296 assists, 215 steals and 89 blocks in her high school career thus far. She is ranked first in Class 2 and ninth in all classes in free throws, with an 80 percent average at the line. She averaged 17.8 points and 8.6 rebounds in the 2016-2017 season.

Barry County considered agri-ready

Barry County, a leader in livestock production and processing in southwest Missouri, has applied for and been granted Agri-Ready County Designation by Missouri Farmers Care (MFC), a coalition of 45 leading Missouri agricultural groups. This designation identifies counties which create an environment conducive to agricultural opportunity and growth which are willing to actively support Missouri's largest industry.

"Agriculture is the biggest contributor to the economy," Barry County

Presiding Commissioner Cherry Warren said, "and anything we can do to encourage agriculture or people involved in agriculture, we want to encourage that."

Agriculture is already a force in the Barry County economy. In 2016, the county's 1,427 farm and ranch families sold over $1.4 billion in agricultural products. Agriculture, forestry and other related industries provided 5,261 local jobs, according to the Missouri Department of Agriculture (MDA) Economic Contributions of Agriculture and Forestry Study. The county's agricultural strength is anchored in the value of poultry processing, raising broilers and turkeys and beef cattle farming and ranching.

"Agriculture is one of the largest contributors to the Barry County economy," Barry County Farm Bureau President Duane Kaiser, who attended the Agri-Ready presentation to the county commission, said. "Farmers are excellent stewards of the land and make a healthy and usable product while still making a profit. I would like to extend a thank you to the commission from the Barry County Farm Bureau for pursuing this designation."

Through the Agri-Ready program, MFC will partner with county leaders to advance local agricultural enterprise, promote the county as a conducive location for business expansion and enhance workforce readiness for agricultural careers. MFC will recruit local 4-H and FFA leaders to implement Agriculture Education on the Move™ in third-grade classrooms. These student leaders will present agricultural careers, crops and livestock production through engaging, hands-on activities and lessons while developing their speaking and leadership skills.

In addition, the collaboration encourages participation in the Missouri Department of Agriculture's voluntary Agricultural Stewardship Assurance Program, recognizing stewardship at the farm level.

"Barry County is an agricultural powerhouse: with strong, engaged local leadership, over 5,000 agricultural jobs and an impressive $1.4 billion in ag sales. We appreciate the leadership of Barry County, knowing the decision making close to home is in the best interest of Barry County citizens, farmers, and ranchers," said Ashley McCarty, executive director of MFC. "We are excited about the start of this partnership and look forward to helping support opportunities for Barry County farmers, business, and local students."

MFC's Agri-Ready County designation launched in December 2015 as a voluntary connection between Missouri counties and MFC. According to the MDA, Missouri agriculture provides 378,232 jobs and added $88.4 billion in net value to the state's economy in 2016, making agriculture the largest sector of the economy. The Agri-Ready County designation recognizes and builds on the impact of family farmers and agri-businesses as key contributors to our economy and the quality of life in our communities.

Barry County joins Atchison, Audrain, Benton, Bollinger, Butler, Carroll, Chariton, Cole, Cooper, Crawford, Dallas, Dent, Gasconade, Laclede, Lawrence, Lincoln, Marion, McDonald, Moniteau, Montgomery, New Madrid, Newton, Oregon, Osage, Pike, Polk, Saline, Scott, St. Clair, Stoddard, Sullivan, Washington, Wayne, Webster and Wright counties in achieving Agri-Ready Designation.

Counties wishing to apply for Agri-Ready designation must meet program requirements, including no ordinances regulating agriculture more stringent than state law and support of agricultural stewardship, growth, and opportunities. After the application is received from the county commission, the MFC Agri-Ready Review Committee examines any local ordinances, regulations, and statements of support prior to awarding designation.

For more information, view the 2016 Economic Contributions of Agriculture and Forestry in Barry County presented by the Missouri Department of Agriculture, Missouri Farm Bureau and Missouri Agricultural and Small Business Development Authority.

Purdy honors Character Education winners

Purdy Elementary Principal Julie Dalton and Purdy Elementary Counselor Gary Jurgensen announced the Character Education Medalists for October. Each month, students in kindergarten through sixth grade are introduced to a different character trait. At the end of the month, each classroom teacher nominates one student who best represents the trait to receive a Character Education Medal. In October, students focused on honesty. Medalists were treated to a trip to the Coffee Cafe where they enjoyed lunch with Mrs. Dalton and Mr. Jurgensen. Honesty medalists include kindergartners Emma Becker, Grant Cairus and Landri Meadows; first graders Xander Dodson, Silas Walker and Waylon Rattles; second graders Conner Holloway and Kenzi Postlewait; third graders Emily Maddocks, Mailen Rodriguez and Kierstn Postlewait; fourth graders Hannah Rickman, Gabriel Tate and Kate Ozbun; fifth graders Randall Kessinger, Ruby Salas and Karma Kessinger; and sixth graders Deisy Gonzalez and Selina Mendez.

November is National Hospice Month

The Compassus program serving Monett and the surrounding areas recognizes National Hospice and Palliative Care Month this November. This month brings attention to the importance of providing the highest quality care for all people coping with serious or life-limiting illness.

Hospice and palliative care both combine quality medical care with the emotional support patients and families need when facing serious or life-limiting illness. While hospice provides an additional layer of support to meet physical, emotional and spiritual needs at the end of life, palliative care focuses on providing relief from the symptoms and stress of a serious illness and can be offered alongside curative treatments.

“Every person deserves the opportunity to experience the highest possible quality of life, even in times of serious or life-limiting illness,” said Janet Gard, executive director for Compassus – Monett. “This year’s theme, ‘It’s About How You Live,’ focuses on the importance of living life to the fullest when time is limited. It’s about receiving comforting care and surrounding yourself and loved ones with heartfelt compassion and support. At Compassus, that’s exactly what we aim to provide our patients and families.”

Hospice is covered by Medicare, Medicaid and most private insurance companies. Palliative care may be provided in addition to home health services, and consultative palliative care is covered by Medicare and most private insurance companies.

Shell Knob Senior Center Hosts Health Fair

Regina McIlrath

Shell Knob Senior Center hosted a Health Fair on October 17 offering a wide variety of tests and information for the community.

Technicians from Mercy were on hand to provide lab tests, blood pressure checks, BMI, EKG, PFT, and pulmonary tests. The Plaza Pharmacy was again on hand to administer flu shots. Hearing Wellness Solutions provided hearing tests.

Other entities offered information on their services. Represented were Cox Health Clinic, Shell Knob, Cox Hospital, Oxford Home Health, Wedgewood Gardens, Oak Point Senior Living, Cassville Health Rehab, Peachtree Senior Living and OACAC.

The doors opened at 7 a.m. and the crowd was steady until the 10 am conclusion. We thank all the participants and providers for taking time from their busy schedules to be with us for this successful event.

Let’s Keep November

It appears that I have a faulty calendar in my office. There is a page called November. However, according to the commercials we went from Halloween to Christmas. We need November. What would our hunting enthusiasts do without deer season? What would our athletic sportsmen do without football, basketball and ice hockey? What would people do without leisurely drives to admire the fall foliage? Without November we can’t elect our president or members of Congress (this may be the only plus of the conversation.) We would miss Thanksgiving, a time to count and be grateful for our blessings. Let’s be sure to keep November in our lives. Let’s be sure we thank God for our many many blessings.

“Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God “Philippians 4:6.
