Local sales tax revenues shows economic upturn

Charlea Mills

As the year draws to a close, the economy appears to be improving if local sales tax revenue is any indication. For Barry County and the City of Cassville, 2014 proved to be a good year financially with both finishing well ahead of last year's revenue from sales tax.

The City of Cassville ended 2014 with a 6.0 percent revenue increase. For the year, only three months showed a decrease in revenue, the remaining nine months were in the green with last month's revenue up 5.8 percent over last year. The taxes collected during November, which are received in early December, totalled $169,464.25, which is a $9,297.22 increase over the month in 2013.

Barry County's revenue for the month of November increased by 6.89 percent over 2013. For 2014, November sales tax yielded $176,968.90 while 2013 was $11,405.27 less.

In all, the difference for the year for Cassville was an extra $98,284.13 in revenue for the year, and that does not include the new transportation tax that voters approved in the April 2014 General Election. The transportation sales tax that was approved began collection in October.

For the first month, the city received $821.65. However, for November, the total collected on the 1/8 cent tax was $23,201.59. All of the funds collected from Cassville's transportation tax will go to repair and resurface roads throughout the city. However, projects will not be planned until 2015 when more money is received and the city has a better idea of the amount of revenue to anticipate.

For the county, the year's 10.36 percent increase in revenue resulted in an extra $182,393.19 that went to the General Revenue from the 1/2 cent county-wide sales tax. The differing factor this year was the 1/8 cent general revenue increase that the county's voters approved in the April 2013 General Election. The total revenue from the 1/8 cent increase for the year was $475,732.30.

For the sales taxes collected in January through December 2014, Barry County's 1/2 cent General Revenue sales tax brought in $1,942,535.14. Cassville's revenue for the year was $1,632,831.10 for all three of their taxes that include the general 1-cent, capital improvement 1/2-cent and 1/2 cent for parks and stormwater.

Mark Twain Forest overhaul draws controversy

Charlea Mills

A proposed project regarding the Mark Twain National Forest is creating controversy locally, and many are submitting comments and hoping to halt the plans. The Butler Hollow Project, a forest management plan affecting 18,181 acres of National Forest System proposed by the Ava/Cassville/Willow Springs Ranger District (ACWSRD), would restore much of the land in the local area forest to conditions as they were historically, which is primarily open woodland.

According to the ACWD Rangers, management is necessary to improve the forest health conditions and enhance native plant communities. A big part of the project involves cutting down trees for timber, cut and leaving timber and performing prescribed burns. This method was said to have occurred historically on a fairly regular basis but has not been done with the same regularity since.

The area of the forest that is to receive this treatment is located along the northern edge of Roaring River State Park and Highway 86. Highway 86 also forms the eastern boundary. The southern boundary is the state line with Arkansas, and the western edge of the Cassville Unit.

Many locals are speaking out against the project, claiming that it will destroy the forest already there and that it will be a burden on taxpayers to maintain it in the future. A vocal group of nay-sayers are encouraging others to research and make comments during the 30-day public comment period that will be closing on December 22.

The two proposals for the Butler Hollow Project include two choices: taking no action or going through with the project as planned. As it is proposed, vegetation management would include Saturday marked a festive day for both Cassville and Exeter as the cities each had their annual Christmas parades. While the weather was chilly, the parades drew large crowds that enjoyed the holiday cheer spread through floats and various entries.

Mindi Artherton, Director of the Cassville Area Chamber of Commerce, stated, "I was very pleased with the parade this year. We had close to 65 parade entries, including Santa, and perfect weather. Main Street was crowded with onlookers, and it seemed like everyone was enjoying the festivities."

Both Cassville and Exeter hand out various awards during their parades. For Cassville, categories included a religious division, a non-religious division, a commercial division, marching bands, a horse division and three awards for vehicles. Exeter awards in three float categories for schools, religious and non-religious. Exeter also awards for bands, both musical and non-musical, two horse awards and three vehicle awards.

Artherton went on to say, "The parade is such a fun tradition for Cassville. I just love seeing all the floats and other entries. One of my favorite things about organizing the parade is on Monday morning when I get to call the winners and let them know they have won. Our judges had a tough time deciding on award winners this year. We had some fantastic entries

City of Purdy's audit shows stable finances

Steve Chapman

The City of Purdy is in a good position, financially speaking, according to an independent audit performed by the CPA Group. Donetta Hopkins, who represented the firm at Purdy City Council's monthly meeting on December 8, explained the findings of the audit to the council.

According to Hopkins, the city has assets totaling $1,420,305.94. After subtracting liabilities in the amount of $353,952.26, Purdy's net position is $1,066,353.68. This is up over $150,000 from last year, when the city's net position was $916,385.

Hopkins attributed the change in net position to special expenses in proprietary (water and sewer) activities and government activities that Purdy incurred in 2013 and paid off that year. According to the audit she presented, the city's proprietary expenses included $55,077.76 on sampling and testing of the city's pipes to make sure they met the state's standards for an upgrade to the wastewater facility. Since that did not have to be done again this year, the city's proprietary expenses went down from $350,112.06 in 2013 to $295,034.70 in 2014.

As for government activities, Purdy made repairs to city streets, purchased playground equipment, and bought a storm siren. As these expenses were not incurred again this year, the city's government activity expenses went down from $681,188.11 in 2013 to $501,718.30 in 2014, down a total of 26-percent. Hopkins said the change was due to the maintenance and repairs the city made to its streets last year, as well as the purchase of playground equipment and a storm siren. By contrast, the city's revenue is essentially the same this year as last year's.

Hopkins summed up the audit by telling the council that Purdy is financially stable.

In other business, Dr. Steven Chancellor, superin-

Three children injured when SUV flips

Charlea Mills

Three children were injured on Saturday, December 6, in a single-vehicle flip on Highway F, two miles west of Highway 112.

The 1998 Ford Expedition, driven by Elizabeth M. Mitchell, 30, Purdy, was travelling westbound on Highway F when the vehicle stalled. Then the vehicle slid off of the right side of the roadway and overturned. Three minor children, ages 6, 7, and 11, in the car received moderate injuries and were taken to Cox South in Springfield by ambulance.

All occupants in the vehicle were wearing seatbelts.

Correction:

In last week's issue of the Advertiser, the names listed in the photo of Papa Vito's canned food drive were incorrect. The names should have read Colton Bowman and Lexie Wilson.

moved with her family from Nebraska to San Diego, Calif. She attended San Diego High School and graduated in 1948. In 1975, she and her family moved from California to Washburn to make their home. She was a member of Cassville First Christian Church. Her greatest joy in life was spending time with her family, especially her grandchildren and great grandchildren. Throughout the years, she enjoyed going to all of the school events and supporting all of her kids. She always enjoyed having the whole family around her. Holidays, like the 4th of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas, were always a major event at mom's house. The whole family would always congregate there for any major event. Her hospitality and love of family and friends will truly be missed.

Services will be held at 2:00 p.m. Thursday, December 11, 2014, in Fohn Funeral Home, Cassville. Pastor Glenn Erwin will conduct the services.

Cassville PD plans DWI campaign

From mid-December through New Year's Day, local police will be out in force as part of the annual nationwide "Holiday DWI Campaign" crackdown on substance-impaired driving. The crackdown, which will include high-visibility enforcement throughout Cassville, will run from December 12, 2014, through January 1, 2015.

The effective nationwide drunk driving crackdown will include high-visibility enforcement, high-profile events, and will be supported by national paid advertising, creating a comprehensive campaign to substance-impaired driving over the holidays.

Cassville Police Department said its officers will be aggressively looking for drunk drivers during the crackdown and will arrest anyone caught driving substance-impaired.

Although it is illegal in all 50 States, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico to drive drunk (having a blood alcohol concentration of .08 or higher), far too many people across the nation still get behind the wheel after consuming too much alcohol. The latest statistics from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration underscore the serious nature of the nation's continuing substance-impaired driving epidemic.

"Every year, about one third of all motor vehicle traffic deaths involve one or more impaired drivers or motorcycle operators," said Dana Kammerlohr, Cassville Chief of Police. "In 2014, 223 people died in Missouri crashes involving impaired drivers. That works out to approximately one impaired driving fatality every one and half days."

Chief Kammerlohr added that holidays such as the Christmas and New Year's Eve holiday are particularly dangerous.

There were 41 people killed and 242 seriously injured in Missouri traffic crashes between December 13, 2013, and January 1, 2014. Four of the fatalities and 32 of the serious injuries involved a substance-impaired driver.

Research has shown that high visibility enforcement like the "Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over" campaign reduces substance-impaired driving fatalities by as much as 20 percent. By joining this nationwide effort, we will make Cassville's roadways safer for everyone throughout the Christmas and New Year's Holiday," said Chief Kammerlohr

"We want to remind everyone that getting behind the wheel under the influence of alcohol or drugs is a terrible idea. Unfortunately, not only does drinking impair your ability to operate a vehicle safely, it also impairs your judgment and good sense about whether you can, or should, drive. If you have any doubt about your sobriety, do not get behind the wheel. If you do chose to drive impaired, you will be arrested. No warnings. No excuses," Chief Kammerlohr said.

Chief Kammerlohr noted that being arrested for substance-impaired driving brings a wide range of negative consequences into one's life. Drunk drivers face jail time, loss of their driver licenses, and steep financial consequences, such as higher insurance rates, attorney fees, court costs, lost time at work and the potential loss of job. When family, friends and co-workers find out, violators also often face tremendous personal embarrassment.

"Substance-impaired driving is simply not worth the risk. So don't take the chance. Remember, we will be out in force, and we will be watching, so 'Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over,'" said Chief Kammerlohr.

For more information, visit the "Drive Sober or Get Pulled Over" Campaign Headquarters at www.TrafficSafetyMarketing.gov or www.saveMOlives.com.

Two arrested on drug charges

Charlea Mills

Two women were arrested on Monday, December 8, on drug charges near Pierce City. Officers were investigating a claim that there were narcotics at a residence on Farm Road 1020 outside of Pierce City in Barry County. The search warrant was obtained following a traffic stop made by the Missouri State Highway Patrol near Mt. Vernon, according to statements of probable cause.

Officers searched the residence where Daphne C. Doty and Sarah S. Moudy were staying. In the bedroom they were in, they found three ounces of methamphetamine, digital scales, drug paraphernalia and around 1/4 pound of marijuana. Officers also found one ounce of hashish and another 1/4 pound of marijuana in the freezer of the home.

Doty and Moudy were each released on $20,000 bonds on Tuesday, December 9.

"Christmas To Me"

Christmas to me is being together.

No matter how far, no matter what weather.

It's being together, with the one's that we love.

Sharing our blessings, with the "Lord" above.

It's being able to hold our tongue,

And judge others with our eyes.

Be quick and loving to commend.

And slow to criticize.

It's being able to smile and grin,

Regardless of the turmoil, this world is in.

It's being able to speak out.

Without speaking out to loud.

And being yourself while all alone,

Or in a great big crowd.

It's being able to worship, cherish and love,

It's being able to accept our fellow man.

Understanding his wants, understanding his plan.

So instead of presents, let's give love and good deeds.

These are the things, our world really needs.

Mercy donates to Breast Cancer Foundation

Pictured above, Mercy Chaplain Tom Gripka (left), presented Jason Gomez, Assistant Executive Director of the Breast Cancer Foundation of the Ozarks, with a check for $616 on Wednesday, December 3. Also present were Wanda Long (second from right), financial counselor, and Stephanie Clymer, supply chain technician. The money was raised by Mercy through the sale of pink breast cancer awareness ribbons. The funds will be used by the Breast Cancer Foundation of the Ozarks to provide financial assistance to eligible families with a member suffering from breast cancer.

Holiday lighting being judged this week

The Cassville Area Chamber of Commerce's holiday lighting contest is being judged this week by secret judges. Those wanting to participate should decorate their business or residence for Christmas. Secret judges will be on the look-out for top-notch holiday décor and lights the week of December 6 through 13. If you would like to participate in the Holiday Lighting Contest, please have your lights on from dusk until 10:00 p.m.

All winners will receive a sign to display in their yard. First place winner in the commercial division will receive a traveling trophy they will keep for one year with their name on it. First place in the residential division will be awarded two certificates for pizza from Pizza Hut and two certificates for a value meal at Sonic, second place will receive a market basket from Forever Yours Embroidery, third place will be awarded a $25.00 gift certificate to the BBQ Station, and honorable mention will receive certicates from Taco Bell.

If you would like more information about the contest, please call the chamber office at (417) 847-2814.

UMC holds 12th annual Tinsel Tea

The ladies of the United Methodist Church in Cassville held their 12th annual Tinsel Tea on Saturday, December 6, at the church. They raised $2,823 after expenses which they donated to the Cassville Food Pantry. The 33 hostesses had 21 tables with 182 people in attendance. Organizer Stacy Runnels stated, "It was the most profitable Tinsel Tea ever."

The primary reasoning behind the project is the complaint that, as it stands, the forest is not maintaining itself, and most of the present trees are mature timber, making them prone to disease and damage. Around 86 percent of the timber stands are mature and susceptible to those problems.

Primary objectives listed in the comment package include:

- Control a minimum of 2,000 acres of noxious or non-noxious species
- Restore or enhance 125 acres of bottomland hardwood forest
- Improve open woodland to at least 10,500 acres for habitat for the summer tanager, northern bobwhite, Bachman's sparrow, and eastern red bat

- Increase managed native grasslands to that of exotic cool season grasses from 46 percent native to 55 percent native grass to provide habitat for northern bobwhite

- Maintain forest, closed woodland or open woodland cover for over 85 percent or more for the habitat of the worm-eating warbler

- Treat 4,000 acres of glads or reduce woody vegetation for the Bachman's sparrow

- Prescribe burn 40 percent of the projected burn acres in September through December instead of just the late-winter through early-spring burns.

Many in the community have reached out to local legislators to help preserve the forest as it is now. When asked for a comment on the project, State Representative Scott Fitzpatrick stated, "I've only recently become aware of the federal government's plans for Butler Hollow. If this plan is carried out, it will have a decades-long impact on the beauty of the forest. I will be in touch with our federal legislators requesting their assistance in ensuring that an adequate review period is observed, and that the input received from Barry County residents, especially those with adjacent land, is a key component in the decision making process. Given that the National Forest is not under the jurisdiction of the state, mine and Senator Sater's ability to influence the outcome of the decision will be very limited, which is why it is extremely important that our federal delegation receive input from as many citizens as possible."

For more information on the Butler Hollow Project or to make a public comment, go to <http://www.fs.usda.gov/goto/mtnf/projects> or call Allen Weathersbee at the Mark Twain National Forest, Ava/Cassville/Willow Springs District Office, at (417) 683-4428 ext. 131.

Unique Cross Grains Furniture and Decor offers creative decor locally

Steve Chapman

A new Cassville business, Unique Cross Grains Furniture and Decor, had its grand opening on Friday, November 28. During the store's grand opening, visitors were treated to hot chocolate, cookies, hot cider, and the first 20 people to make a purchase also received a free cutting board. Some 30 people attended the event and purchased about 40 items.

The store features unique furniture that is hand-made by store owner, Matt Hudgins. Heather Hudgins, Matt's wife of nine years and co-owner of the store, said the idea for opening Unique Cross Grains Furniture and Decor came out of the couple's other business, MH Woodworks, a custom cabinet shop located in Seligman that they opened in 2006. Some of their customers, noting Matt's highly detailed skill in carpentry, asked him to create some custom furniture pieces for their homes. He built the items they asked for and continued to create other pieces.

"He kept building and coming up with different designs," Heather said. "We then realized we needed somewhere to sell all this, so we decided to open the store."

In addition to the fact that Matt designs and builds all of the woodwork in the store, the furniture items have a couple of other unique features. One is that the wood used to make the furniture comes from Matt and Heather's reclaimed barnwood program. They tear down old barns in Barry

County, and then Matt uses the wood from the barns to build his furniture. Each piece of furniture built with this wood comes with a card that has a picture of the barn the wood was reclaimed from and its history in Barry County.

Another interesting fact about the furniture is that Matt builds some of the items with secret compartments. "Some of the furniture has concealment features, so you can hide personal valuables in it," Heather said.

The store is not just limited to furniture, though. A number of home decor and gift items are also available for sale, including a line of candles from Bradford Candle Company, a new business out of Seligman. Currently, Unique Cross Grains Furniture and Decor is the only place where these candles can be purchased.

Though the store is currently a local business, the Hudgins plan to take it online. According to Heather, a store website is in the works, and when it is completed, they will be able to sell furniture nationwide. Moreover, not only will the Hudgins sell the furniture on-line, they will also deliver it anywhere in the United States. "We want to keep it personal," Heather said.

Unique Cross Grains Furniture and Decor is located at 395 Sale Barn Road, next to Gerald's in Cassville, about one mile west of Highway 112 and a half-mile east of Highway 37. The store is open Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and prices range from $2.95 for smaller decor items to $6,000 for larger pieces of furniture. For more information, call (417) 662-3329.

Kerry Rose, of Cassville, shops at Unique Cross Grains Furniture and Decor during their grand opening on Friday, November 28.

Don't raise the risk.

During any kind of project around your home or property, remember there's more overhead than buildings, trees, and sky. A ladder can easily reach high enough to cause potentially fatal contact with power lines.

Always look up before raising or moving a ladder, to make sure it's at least 10 feet from any electrical lines. Keep your eye on power lines and your mind on working safely.

2014 Lady Cats Hoops Club team

Members of the 2014 Cassville Lady Cats Hoops Club team are pictured above. These ladies participated in fundamental basketball training and games put on by the high school and middle school coaches and high school players. Parent volunteers also donated their time to help with the program.

Each year, these young players enjoy working with high school players who become role models for the girls to look up to in basketball. They work hard on their skills and then get to play games coached by the older girls.

Lee Stubblefield

The Pierce City Lady Eagles spoiled Cassville's home opener, claiming a 48-26 victory behind the play of senior Bailee Howard. Howard scored a game high 12 points, and frustrated the Lady Wildcats with steals and an overall court presence. Hallie Long led Cassville with 6 points.

Howard's two steals and accompanying layups were bookends for a Christine Stellwagen trey to open the game as Pierce City opened with a 7-0 lead. Long answered for Cassville and then a Madi Stokes block set up a Raeghan Blisard drive that bought a pair of free throws. But Pierce City's trapping defense held Cassville in check, and the Lady Eagles owned a 15-6 lead at the first break.

The Lady Eagles opened the second quarter with an 8-2 run on the strength of long shots from Emilee Sooter and Howard. Makenzy Durossette scored twice in the paint for Cassville, but Pierce City opened a 15-point lead in the final minute and held a 27-14 advantage at halftime.

With Pierce City dominating at both ends, this game looked like it was over. But the Lady Wildcats stormed out of the locker room and shocked Pierce City with an 8-0 run that was the whole third quarter. Four different Lady Wildcats scored in the frame, while Pierce City suffered from turnovers and poor shot selection. Macey Parsons buried a turnaround jumper with 2:18 on the clock to pull Cassville within 5, and Pierce City's lead was whittled to 27-22 at the final break.

But the Lady Eagles responded with a 21-point fourth quarter while holding Cassville to just a bucket and a pair of free throws. Howard and teammates forced two critical five-second calls on inbounds plays as Pierce City ramped up the defensive pressure. The Lady Wildcats could not answer late, and Pierce City took the win, 48-26.

Cassville scorers: Hallie Long, 6; Raeghan Blisard, 5; Devyn Callahan, 5; Makenzy Durossette, 4; Kandace Wallace, 2; Kaileigh Gorski, 2; and Macey Parsons, 2.

Pierce City scorers: Bailee Howard, 12; Belle Golubski, 10; Kayla Portillo, 8; Emilee Sooter, 8; Christine Stellwagen, 5; Ragan Blinzler, 4; and Shania Hogan, 1.

SW Ag students offer angel tree program

Southwest students pose with the Ag Department's angel tree by the high school office.

The Southwest Agriculture Leadership class is creating an angel tree to help students within the school district have a better Christmas. Students chose to do this the project in memory of senior FFA member Jessica Morgan.

The angel tree growing project plans to help 35 or more students in the community. Community members can stop by the Southwest High School office to choose an angel to shop for.

Presents need to be brought to the Agriculture Department by December 15, and families will be able to pick up their gifts on December 19.

Missouri-grown Christmas trees on the decline

Santa may have fewer Missouri-grown trees to stow his presents under this year, with the latest Census of Agriculture showing the number of Christmas tree farms in Missouri declining from 196 in 2002 to 131 in 2007 and then 105 in 2012.

According to the National Christmas Tree Association, those 105 Missouri Christmas tree farms in 2012 had sales of $1,146,000 for 32,810 trees which ranks Missouri 16th in the nation for total sales.

However, the United States Census of Agriculture shows the number of acres devoted to growing Christmas trees in Missouri has also been in decline: 3,775 acres in 2002, to 1,596 acres in 2007 and then 1,324 acres in 2012.

Oregon is the top Christmas tree state, according to the 2012 Census of Agriculture, with 1,517 farms on 53,605 acres. North Carolina was second with 1,370 farms on 40,352 acres and Pennsylvania third with 1,360 farms on 31,577 acres.

Ozarks Farms

The Missouri Christmas Tree Association lists two member farms in southwest Missouri: Charity Keith who owns Ozark Valley Christmas Tree Farm in Southwest City and Gary Maggard, owner of Maggard Tree Farm in Cabool.

Demand for trees has sagged in recent years. Meanwhile, prices for farm grown trees have not gone up but the cost of growing them has which means it is harder to make money. As a result, many growers have turned their tree farms into agritourism opportunities that include holiday photo ops, hot chocolate, petting zoos and other family friendly activities.

"We are a small choose and cut farm and we have seen a slow decline in demand since about 2006. This year has, however, started off well. Costs have risen and we haven't increased prices for a few years. However, we recently made the decision to keep planting for the future thanks to our loyal customers," said Maggard.

According to a National Christmas Tree Association poll, consumers bought more than 33.02 million real trees in 2013, up from 24.5 million in 2012. The purchase of artificial trees also rose between 2012 and 2013 from 10.9 million to 14.7 million.

Of the real trees purchased, NCTA said 85 percent were pre-cut and 14 percent came from cut-your-own farms. The remaining 1 percent didn't offer an answer in the poll.

Keep the Tree Fresh

To keep a real Christmas tree fresh as long as possible, it's important to buy the freshest one available. As soon as you get the tree home, cut a half-inch to an inch from its base, and put it immediately in a bucket of fresh water.

Other tips on keeping your live Christmas tree:

- To keep it fresh in your home, don't place it near heat sources, and make sure to keep the stand full of water.

- Use only the lights designated for indoor use on your tree, and turn the lights off when you can't keep an eye on them.

- Once you have taken all the necessary precautions, sit back and bask in the glow of your Christmas tree.

Southwest honors November's Champs

During the month of November, Southwest Middle School students were chosen to be "Champs." These students exhibited the character trait of citizenship. November's citizenship Champs were: fifth graders Cloe Brattin, Amy Reeves, Samuel Jennings; sixth graders Sarah Hedden, Jenna Teague, Audrey Burt; seventh graders Denali McGarrah, Lucas Cron, Shelby Blevins; and eighth graders Michael Foster, Trevor Sneed, Joe Nelson.

Each month, a champ is chosen from each Teacher Advisory (TA). Being champ is viewed as a privilege and an honor for that student. The champs were honored at an assembly and given a special pizza luncheon.

Barry County Health Department November Food Service Report

The Health Department divides food service code violations into two categories: Priority and Core items.

Priority items are more likely than other violations to contribute to food contamination, or illness and/or injury.

Core items, although important to the overall hygiene of the establishment, do not necessarily present an immediate threat to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

A report for each establishment that is inspected shows the number of priority items, along with a short statement as to the nature of the violations. The report also shows the number of core items, but doesn't list the nature of those violations.

Purdy Elementary Principal Janet Boys announced the character education medal winners for the month of November. In partnership with elementary counselor Gary Jurgensen, Purdy's kindergarten through fourth grade teachers present a different character trait each month. At the end of the month each teacher nominates one student who best exemplifies the trait presented. These students receive character medals from Mrs. Boys at a special assembly.

In November students focused on responsibility. November medal winners are fourth graders Monserat Alvarez, Alexis Aldaba and Lauren Roller; third graders Deisy Gonzalez and Lily Anfinson; second graders Will Henderson, Mylee Stumph and Marlene Villa; first graders Lucy Lee, Starr Welch and Chance Parsons; and kindergartners Becca Dunlap, Kylee Arivett and Lizett Aldava.

SSS Student Spotlight: Shelbi Shipman

Shelbi Shipman started receiving college credit during high school but became a full-time student at Crowder College in Cassville in January 2011. She is clearly proud to be graduating in December 2014 with an Associate of Science Degree in Nursing, as she said, "It rocks."

She encourages new students to get out of their comfort zone, speak up, and make new friends. She said, "Let your voice be heard. I can guarantee that somebody enjoys those quirky jokes or intellectual insights that you have hiding inside."

Giving this advice, people may be surprised to know that Shipman was once a very shy person. "I used to be so intimidated to say what was on my mind. However, now I probably speak too much of what's on my mind," she stated.

Shipman has been with SSS since the very beginning, when the new program first started accepting students in the spring of 2011. She credits SSS and her advisor, Jerri Hudson, to helping give her a positive college experience. She said, "Jerri has been there with a great big smile ever since I have met her. It's special to know that somebody knows your name and cares about your success as much as Jerri does."

She wanted to take this Spotlight opportunity to thank everyone she has encountered at Crowder. "Everybody has been helpful and encouraging in their own little way." She gives a shout out to several other staff as well, such as Kim, who she says always makes sure the nursing students are taken care of, Teri George who is a good listener, and Karin Baughman, for being "the most therapeutic communicator I can imagine." Mr. Jamieson made the list as well because she said, "[He] knows how to have fun," while he teaches anatomy and physiology.

Her SSS Advisor, Jerri Hudson, stated, "Any time I see Shelbi I cannot help but feel happy. She has the most beautiful face with a special smile. It has been a lot of fun getting to know her in our meetings each semester. I know she will be an amazing nurse, wherever God takes her in the world. She has a huge, wonderful and kind heart."

After graduation, she plans to work at Mercy Hospital in Springfield. From there, she hopes to begin her career as a traveling nurse. Shipman said, "I want to travel around the continent caring for people wherever God leads me. I am so excited to see what life has in store."

Crowder student hopes to travel abroad

Steve Chapman

Abbi Marcano, a student majoring in accounting on the Crowder College-Cassville campus, has the opportunity to go to China for two weeks in the spring of 2016 through the International Scholar Laureate Program. If she goes, she will have the opportunity to speak with diplomats, view a briefing from China's Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Chinese government's official press room, participate in a wide variety of activities and workshops, and visit many of the sites China is known for, including the Great Wall, the Forbidden City, and the Tomb of the Terra-Cotta Soldiers. Only one thing stands between Marcano and going to China: the cost.

Marcano's invitation to go on the trip included a $200 scholarship, but between airfare and the program's tuition, the total cost comes to about $6,500. Marcano was originally invited to take the trip in 2015, but because she couldn't raise the necessary funds in time, she decided to push going back a year.

Marcano, 19, is trying various ways to raise the money she needs. She has managed to save up about $700 of her own money, and has also set up a Go Fund Me account, which has so far raised $100. After Christmas, she is going to hold different fundraisers and also plans to ask local businesses for help, as well.

The trip is important to Marcano as she believes it will help her in her future goals. She has a strong interest in politics where she hopes to make a career. "My long term goal is to become a political scientist and connect back with the community, to make a difference and keep the world from spiraling downward like it is," she said. "I feel that visiting China would be a great first step to start that process." Currently, Marcano is learning Mandarin Chinese through Rosetta Stone to prepare for the trip.

This won't be the first trip Marcano has taken

Abbi Marcano, a freshman accounting major at Crowder College, hopes to be able to raise the funds necessary for her to take part in a two-week trip to China in 2016, where she will learn about international relations and eastern/western communication styles.

through the program. Originally of Cato, N.Y., Marcano and her family moved to Cassville in 2010 when her father was offered a job in Rogers, Ark. While still attending school in Cato, she was invited to take part in the National Young Leaders State Conference in Albany. She was also chosen to go to the 2012 Presidential Inauguration where, in addition to seeing President Obama take the oath of office, she participated in numerous leadership activities and heard former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice speak.

Marcano is also pursuing her interest in politics at Crowder. Next spring, she will be the school's student ambassador. In that role, she will recruit new students, help with special events and work at the school's front desk.

Highway Patrol urges safe holiday travel

Many Missourians will be making special plans for the Christmas holidays. Is safe, crash free travel part of your plans? If not, it should be. Check your vehicle before you travel to ensure that it is in good working condition. Make sure you are well rested before driving to your destination, no matter how short the distance. And, please, please obey all traffic laws and be a courteous driver. The Missouri State Highway Patrol wishes everyone a merry and safe Christmas. One way for it to be merry is for everyone to arrive at their destination safely.

Last year over the Christmas holiday, there were 207 traffic crashes during the 30-hour counting period. In those crashes, one person was killed and another 79 were injured. This year's traffic crash counting period is 102 hours in length and begins at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, December 24, and ends at 11:59 p.m. Sunday, December 28, 2014.

Remember: Holiday drivers will affect traffic patterns. If you're planning a trip during the holiday, please keep this in mind. Check the weather forecast and plan accordingly. The Road Condition Report number is 1-888-275-6636. Allow extra time to reach your destination, and obey all traffic laws.

If faced with a traffic emergency, motorists can contact the Missouri State Highway Patrol at 1-800-525-5555 or *55 on a cellular phone. This emergency number will ring into the nearest Highway Patrol headquarters. Motorists should use this number if they are in a traffic crash, witness a crash or crime, or observe a stranded motorist in need of assistance, or other traffic emergencies.

"Last year, a traffic crash occurred every 8.7 minutes over the Christmas holiday," said Colonel Ron Replogle. "Please wear your seat belt, obey Missouri's traffic laws, and if you include alcohol in your celebrations, please don't drive." A sober chauffeur or other alternative transportation modes are always the best option.

The Patrol encourages motorists to protect themselves from all types of hazardous drivers by making sure everyone in the vehicle is properly restrained in a seat belt or child restraint. Click It 4 Life.
