

Purdy Lady Eagles Take State

Lee Stubblefield & Sheila Harris

The Purdy Lady Eagles made history Sunday afternoon at Springfield's Killian Sports Complex. The Purdy girls defeated Holcomb, 4-1, winning the final of the MSHSAA Class 1 Spring Softball Championship.

Lauren Schallert dominated a powerful Holcomb lineup, allowing just one unearned run, striking out seven, and allowing no walks. All this just a day after striking out 16 in Purdy's 7-0 semifinal win over Advance.

Wheels and steals

Purdy opened the scoring in the third inning when Kinsley Mattingly walked, stole second, and then came home on a Holcomb error. With Schallert on the mound, Coach Lori Videmschek was more than willing to play small ball to give her team an early lead. But the Lady Hornets tied the score at 1-1 in the fourth frame with an unearned run.

Two out clout

That score held until the fifth inning. With two outs, Robyn Schad crushed a 1-0 pitch over the left field fence to give Purdy a 2-1 lead. That home run - Schad's ninth dinger of the year - proved to be the winning run. But the Purdy hitters added two more runs in the sixth inning. Just in case.

Jessi Hoppes reached with a lead off double, and scored on Annabelle Bowman's RBI single. Then Bowman stole second, and came home on Mattingly's RBI single.

With a 4-1 lead, Schallert turned it loose in the final two innings, setting down the Lady Hornets in order to close it out in the seventh.

30-1

Purdy finished the season at 30-1. The Lady Eagles opened the season with a 10-0 streak before suffering a train wreck loss to East Newton. But Videmschek's girls rebounded and fashioned a 20-game win streak to finish the season as state champs.

Pitching and defense

In that 30-1 season, Purdy

New Fish-Cleaning Station Installed At Roaring River

Sheila Harris

According to Roaring River Park superintendent, Joel Topham, the new fish cleaning station at the park should be functional this week, marking the completion of a project that began in July 2020, when an initial request for the cultural resource was submitted.

It's a resource that's been sorely missed since the old station was removed from the park several months ago.

Topham said about $59,000 went toward the

Henderson Appointed Agri/Commercial Lender at CS Bank

Reuben Henderson

Jason Tennant, President and Chief Lending Officer, CS Bank, is pleased to announce the hiring of Mr. Reuben Henderson as Commercial/Agricultural Lender for the local bank's Cassville office. Mr. Henderson is a native of Purdy, Missouri, where he resides on a farm with his wife and their four children.

Mr. Henderson and his wife have owned a poultry and beef cattle operation in Purdy since 2002. Previously, he worked for Georges Poultry, and now joins the CS Bank team after his most recent position with QC Supply in Cassville. Mr. Henderson is very active in the community. He is a member of the Purdy School Board, the Purdy Fire Protection Board, and is an ordained deacon at Macedonia Free Will Baptist Church.

Tennant stated, "We are thrilled to add Reuben to our great roster of professional bankers and are excited to bring someone with such a wealth of agricultural knowledge and experience to our lending team. We feel blessed to have his affiliation and trust he will be of huge benefit to our bank as we continue to grow our agricultural client base. We welcome Reuben to the CS family."

Dear Editor,

HELP! We are asking people who really want the Jenkins Bridge saved to please make a call.

Senator Mike Moon in

Mo. District 29 has worked tirelessly to push for funding from the state of Missouri for the Jenkins Bridge Restoration Project to enable the development of the existing bridge into a pedestrian walkway.

It is our understanding that the funding measure has passed through the process and is now awaiting the governor's signature. It is imperative right now to make our voices heard in support of this funding measure.

We are asking that anyone interested in preserving the Jenkins Bridge call Governor Mike Parson's office now at 573-751-3222. Prompt #2 will reach an actual person in his office who will take the call of support.

Denise Prisk, Jenkins

Board of Exeter Maplewood Cemetery Association

extend a sincere thanks to our past and present supporters. Your continued support is vital as savings interest rates remain at record lows. Our only sources of revenue are plot sales, interest income, and donations from you. These revenue sources are dedicated to mowing, general maintenance, and repairs. Our interest income does not begin to cover mowing expense. We continue to tap our savings accounts to cover routine maintenance and repair expenditures. The board works diligently to invest our fund prudently and to spend the income wisely. We are making this appeal knowing that you have strong feelings for the well-being and upkeep of the cemetery. Your donations are tax deductible. Donations or inquires may be mailed to us at the above noted address. Again, we thank you and appreciate any donations for the continued support of the cemetery.

Crowder Nursing Students assist vaccination efforts

Crowder College Nursing instructors and students have been participating in COVID-19 vaccination clinics this year giving hundreds of vaccinations. Crowder College has assisted at clinics in conjunction with the Newton County Health Department by preparing and administering vaccinations as well as patient education, patient monitoring and paperwork processing.

"Our students gained valuable experience in giving intramuscular injections while serving the community," stated Sandra Wilson, Director of Nursing, Crowder College.

The Crowder College Nursing program is approved by the Missouri State Board of Nursing and is accredited through the Accreditation Commission for Education in Nursing (ACEN). The nursing program is a limited admission program accepting up to 180 students each year. Crowder College Registered Nursing Programs are available at the main campus in Neosho as well as at our Cassville, McDonald County, and Nevada Centers. The Nevada Center also offers a 10-month Practical Nursing program.

Applications are being accepted for Neosho and Cassville Nursing programs. The application and information are available online: Nursing – Crowder College.

LOOK BUT DON'T TOUCH!

Your electric meter is a necessary part of the system after all, reading your meter tells you how much electricity you're using. But while looking at it is encouraged, opening or tampering with it is not.

Attempting to adjust an electric meter exposes you to two risks, the most immediate being the danger of potentially lethal electric shock. The second risk becomes clear when you realize that tampering with an electric meter is illegal. Use a hands-off approach to avoid both kinds of trouble.

Sickles' peak performance leads Southwest at state

Travis Sickles

Lee Stubblefield
#Fabulous
It is nearly impossible for an elite distance runner to peak on three consecutive weekends. But Travis Sickles of Southwest did just that, lowering his own 3200 meter school record three times at Class 2 district, sectional, and state meets.
On Friday at the Class 2

state track meet at Jefferson City, Sickles ran stride for stride with the eventual champ - Spokane's Sam Shuman - until the final 250 meters. Sickles finished second in that 3200 meter race in 9:34.61, chipping another two seconds off his previous best mark.
Who could have known back in March that the eventual 1-2 finishers at state in this event would come from the same conference?
Two hours later, Sickles was back on the track to anchor the Fab Four 4x800 meter relay.
NINTH
You never want to finish ninth at the state track meet. The top eight athletes in every event receive medals and

All State recognition. For the bottom eight, nada. There are no participation medals. Place ninth or lower and all you take home are memories. Unless you win and earn the championship medal, the other eight medals age evenly in significance. All State is All State.
The Fab Four 4x800 meter relay finished in that frustrating ninth position to complete the long and winding road of the 2021 track season. Otis Rainer trailed the field at the first handoff, but that wasn't necessarily a bad thing.
You have to run your slowest relay runner somewhere. Most coaches try to hide their slowest runner on the third leg. Steve Voyak chose to let Rainer lead off, accomplishing two big goals: 1. It allowed the other three runners to see the gap required to close to medal, and 2. It kept the Trojans out of the annual train wreck of the first relay exchange.

With sixteen teams on the track, thrills and spills are common. In the predictable chaos, teams have even finished the race with a different baton than the one they started with.
Rainer did his job, running a solid leg, then Caden Uthe caught two runners with a strong performance. Christian Long rocked past four more runners, handing off to Travis Sickles in tenth place.
But in a spread out field, Sickles could only catch one anchorman even with his 2:01 closing 800 meters. Southwest finished in 8:36.95, breaking 8:40 for the first time this season. It just wasn't enough as the Trojans trailed eighth-place Brookfield by six seconds.
Mile Madness
Sickles returned to the track in mid afternoon for his final race in a Southwest uniform - the Class 2 1600 meter run. It was a daunting task. Sickles was running his third race of the day due to MSHSAA changing to a single day meet because of Covid-19 protocol. With the two top seeds running on fresh legs, he was at a distinct disadvantage.

Sickles ran with the leaders until the final lap, finally surrendering ground against the withering final kicks of New Covenant's Tanner Talley and Bishop Dubourg's George Blanco. Talley blazed a sub 60 final lap to win in 4:20.56, with Blanco checking in at 4:23.52.
Travis Sickles took third in 4:27.88, bettering his personal best by almost a full three seconds while besting Shuman again at the 1600 meter distance. He missed Cody Sapp's 4:26.8 school record by a second, while running the fastest state meet time for any Southwest runner. He is only the second Southwest boy to earn two medals at the state meet, and the only Southwest boy to finish higher than third at state in any event. It was a great ending to a great high school career. Sickles will move on to compete at Truman State University in the fall.

"It's fun to watch a young person set goals, work hard, and then accomplish them. We teach that as coaches and educators, but not everybody gets it," said Southwest's Steve Voyak. "Travis certainly understood the journey would be hard, but worth it in the end."

400 meter eye opener
Caden Uthe finished 15th in the 400 meter dash. The Southwest junior finished far off his season's best time set at sectionals, struggling against the best sprinters in the state after spending so much energy in the long relay event. Uthe was already looking ahead to 2022 after getting his eyes opened. There is no substitute for experience at the state meet.

Wheaton's Meyer spears medal

Lee Stubblefield
Because only the top eight finishers receive medals and All-State recognition at the state meet, Wheaton's Chad Meyer found himself on the outside looking in twice in the medal chase after finishing ninth in both the 100 and 200 meter sprints at the Class 1 state track meet at Jefferson City on Saturday.
But Meyer hit his stride in the javelin competition, throwing 44.13 meters to claim sixth place.
On the girls side, Monica Hinojosa finished 15th in the shot for the Lady Bulldogs, throwing 9.34 meters.

held opponents scoreless 19 times, and allowed one run in seven other outings. Only twice all season did the Lady Eagles allow more than two runs.

Schallert, college bound to Cameron University in Law-ton, Oklahoma, after win-ning a championship, won 26 of her 27 starts on the season.

Purdy Eagles Coach Lori Videmschek says this year's state title is especially sweet for the team's six seniors.

"Last year, due to COVID, we didn't get to play at all," Videmschek said. "When they told us we were going on wellness-break, at first we thought maybe that meant a two-week hiatus, but then we ended up being put out of play for the season.

"My seniors came into this season looking at it as their last chance to play together as a team and take a state title," Videmschek continued. "They played hard and made it happen."

Videmschek said softball teams she has coached have been close to a state title three different times, most recently in 2017 when they took second place after los-ing to Strafford.

While this state champi-onship is a first for the Purdy softball team, the Lady

Eagles' basketball team took first in state in both 1981 and 2011, Videmschek said.

know where I'd be."

Now the father of an almost-two-year-old son with whom he has a close relationship, Chasteen received an internship with Les Jacobs Ford, in Cassville, through Scott Regional Tehchnology Center, where he has participated in their Automotive Technology program for the past few years.

"Darren Jacobs (at Les Jacobs) let me work for him around my school schedule," Chasteen said, "so I was able to earn money and go to school at the same time. It hasn't been easy, but I did graduate from high school."

Chasteen was also a recipient of the annual Les Mason Scholarship, presented at the Scott Tech awards ceremony by Mason's granddaughter, Ann Spangler. Les Mason owned a Ford dealership in Monett for many years.

According to Chasteen, Ford Motor Company offers educational opportunities for people who would like to continue with a career in Ford automotive service. It's an opportunity Chasteen hopes to take advantage of.

Landrie Thomas, of Cassville, is also thankful to have reached graduation.

"I hated school when I was younger," she said, "but my great-grandmother, Shirley Bowling, just kept encouraging me by reminding me of the importance of education. She loved all of her grandkids and really wanted to see us succeed. She was my greatest supporter."

In honor of her great-grandmother, who died in 2020, Thomas decorated her mortarboard with the simple memorium, "I know she's proud."

After the passing out of diplomas and the following recession, almost as impressive as a 21-gun salute was the fireworks display that celebrated the graduates' achievement. Orchestrated and performed by Casey Reid of Display Pyrotechnics, valley-ringing fireworks lit up the daytime sky to the delighted surprise of both attendees and graduates.

Afterward, graduates dispersed, heading for diverse future lives, disappearing like the remnants of smoke on the breeze.

ROARING RIVER from FRONT

purchase of the Barracuda III Model 60115 Fish Cleaning Station, which has state-of-the-art grinding capabilities and a drainage system which will divert offal into the park's sewage lagoon. Part of the funds for the purchase of the new equipment were the result of a $25,000 grant received from the Cassville Community Foundation.

The costly (and heavy) Barracuda was removed from a trailer and transferred to its new home at the east end of Campground 3 early Sunday morning.

Volunteers from the Union Sportsmen's Alliance began construction of a shelter for the Barracuda on Saturday.

According to Sportsmen's Alliance Conservation Projects Manager, Sam Phipps, of Troy, the non-profit organization is comprised of some 300,000 union members, nationwide, who do volunteer service for conservation projects across the country.

"Some of our more popular activities," Phipps said, "are the organization of kids' fishing events around the country. We have a large one coming up in Kansas City, and later one in Des Moines, Iowa."

Above, the new Barracuda fish-cleaning station is put into place at the east end of Campground 3 in Roaring River State Park.

"We heard about the Roaring River construction project through Jennifer Warren, with the Missouri Department of Conservation," Phipps said. "A team of seven volunteers met up here Saturday to build the wood shelter and the brick wall behind it."

According to Phipps, volunteers included members of Insulators, Local One; SMART, Local 36; UA Plumbers & Pipefitters, Local 562; and BAC, Local 15.

Finishing touches were added to the shelter on Sunday.

Roaring River Park Superintendent, Joel Topham, hoped to have the wiring and drainage system to the cleaning station completed the same day, in order for Barry Electric to supply the power to it on Monday.

A grand opening for the station is scheduled for Friday, June 4, at 11 a.m.

On your mark, get set, race your worms

The worm race is on.

Ezra Devore

As a finale to their Nature Week, a worm race was conducted by some of the grades K - 2 Cassville school children. Through the week leading up to the big race, the children enjoyed a fair amount of worm-related content: namely, the book "Diary of a Worm," a tale depicting the fictional life of a worm alongside his best friend Spider, and videos documenting the real-world behavior of worms. The children interacted scientifically and with nightcrawlers; conducting experiments to discover if they prefer light or dark environments, and forming hypotheses accordingly, and, then, the race... was on.

Friday afternoon, each of the children selected specific worms to be theirs in the race, and decorated banners for their chosen racer. Within a hand-drawn chalk circle, the racers set off, sparked by cacophonous cheering.

The race was threefold, with a trinity of worm groups participating respectively.

The winners of each group were Mr. Wormy, the champion of Charles Epperly; Joe Dirt, the champion of Bill Davis; and Luke Jr., champion of Luke Darbro.

Upon the final victor's triumph, the worms were then given freedom - discharged from athletic duty to once more roam the earth.

"It's the most fun they've had and the most engaged they've been all year," boasted Drake Thomas, an instructor at the event.

Geri Wilson, another instructor, added that "It was exciting to see kids who don't normally like to write get really excited to write about their worms."

Furthermore, according to Drake and Geri, upon the nightcrawlers' liberation, the children were still so enthralled with their experience that they ran a race of their own, however, with a twist inspired by the day's former excitement; they behaved as worms the entire time. With stomachs to soil, they scrambled through the grass, and with laughter's brush, painted the afternoon as a joyous one.

Above, Second Grader Logan Vance meets the worm he will study and eventually race.

THE FAMILY OF GARY PHILLIPS

would like to thank all of our family and friends for food, flowers, memorial contributions, hugs, and warm thoughts. He was the best and will be missed.

Mary Phillips

I want to thank my family and friends who attended my surprise 90th birthday celebration.

A special thank you to Evelyn, my daughter, who over months created the beautiful decorations, planned the meal, and invited everyone.

To Gary, my son, and his wife, Karen, for getting me away for a few days so preparations could be done in secret.

I love you both.

A heartfelt thank you to my daughter-in-law, Debbie, Pastor Tony Ball, and Ridgley Baptist Church family for helping with food preparation and decorating.

A loving thank you to Bro. Charles Graham, my adopted son.

Your gifts, cards, and phone calls touched my heart. It will be a day I always lovingly remember. God bless you all.

Love from me to all of you,

Thank you for your past and present support of the cemetery association.

We want to thank everyone for the calls, cards, visits, and flowers during this difficult time. To Ken West for the wonderful service, and also Matt Kelley, to the ladies at Mill Street for the meal, to Hospice Compassus, Debbie West, all the ones who came to help with Mom, it was so much appreciated. Thank you to Fohn Funeral Homes for everything you did for us.

Thank you again, The Coones Family

Classic boats come to Table Rock Lake

More antique and classic boats will cruise more miles in a single event during the 2021 Classics Cruisin' Table Rock Lake event June 2 - 6, than anywhere else in America, says event co-chair Don Parker of Kimberling City.

This year's event kicks-off with a two-day cruise for early arrivers on Bull Shoals Lake.

The public will have an opportunity to see the expected 27 to 30 classic boats on display at Rock Lane Marina during a free mini-show on the Saturday afternoon of the event.

Don Parker, who co-chairs the event with his wife Kathy, noted, "What distinguishes this event is that our antique and classic boats will cruise right by our neighbors and guests, up and down three arms of Table Rock Lake. Additionally, this year, we will also cruise on Bull Shoals."

Home port for the event will be Rock Lane Marina at Rock Lane Resort on Indian Point Road (just south of Silver Dollar City).

"The "mini-show" is free to the public from 1 - 4 p.m. on Saturday, June 5.

The Bull Shoals run will depart from Sugarloaf Harbor Marina on Bull Shoals at 1 p.m. on June 2, with the boats over-nighting at Lakeview Cove Marina at Bull Shoals Dam and returning the next afternoon, June 3.

The vintage boats plying Table Rock Lakes waters and at the show will come from seven states and will represent the most iconic names in antique and classic boating. Floating works of art and utility in wood and fiberglass by Riva, Century, Chetek, Chris-Craft, Owens, Trojan, Cobalt, Lyman, Glastron, Bryant, Larson, Borum, and Skiff Craft are already registered to attend this year's event.

Don Parker added, "Table Rock's clear water and picturesque Ozarks scenery is a huge draw, but every year we hear from those attending this event that they also appreciate the famous Ozarks hospitality extended to them by so many of our local residents."

Kathy Parker said more details on this year's event are available at HeartlandClassics.Org and on the Heartland Classics Chapter of ACBS Facebook page. Heartland Classics Chapter sponsors the event and is a part of the international Antique & Classic Boat Society (ACBS.org).

As of May 21st, the S&P 500 has been down since setting a new all-time high on May 7th of this year. The current volatility signals investors are concerned about the weaker-than-expected April employment report and the inflation fears.

Though the equity markets are high in regards to their earnings, we don't see the latest sell-off as the beginning of a major decline. We also don't see investors deploying the "sell in May and go away" strategy where investors sell their equity holdings in late Spring and invest again in the Fall because there isn't a high percentage of companies trading below their 50-day or 200-day moving averages. Equity declines are being led by small-caps, growth, consumer discretionary, and technology sectors. Though technology, a leading sector out of a recession, is generally weak during times of inflation.

Strong earnings reports from the major retail companies show the U.S. consumer remains healthy and has the cash to spend. The increasingly tight housing market is causing some analysts to grow concerned this could negatively affect the markets if it continues very long. One positive note is that investors reacted favorably on May 13 when the CDC ruled that vaccinated people could stop wearing masks in most places signaling there may be more gas in the tank for the market to benefit from pandemic-related businesses reopening.

Overall, the markets seem to be wrestling with the enthusiasm of global economic recoveries as vaccines continue to roll out and increasing inflation fears. A major question yet to be answered is if the equities benefit from the recovery has already been priced into the markets. Have a blessed week!
