

Record set, history made in Roaring River Cave

While some 50-plus-year-old men are starting to make plans for retirement, Mike Young, owner of KISS Rebreathers in Fort Smith, Arkansas, is slipping into layers of warm clothing, a dry-suit, and closed-circuit underwater rebreathing equipment and diving into places where no man nor woman has gone

He and his team of equally-intrepid, experienced divers did it again over the weekend. Reaching a depth of 239 feet below the surface water, they dove deeper into Roaring River Cave than any person has been. Their purpose, however, was not solely Purdy Festival organizer, Renae Neill, said record crowds were in attendance Saturday at the 10th annual celebration of the community festival, popular for its free kiddie rides, large car show, live music, craft and vendor show, and bathtub races. Neill believes Saturday’s moderate temperatures played a part in the large turnout.

“People stayed this year since temperatures were cooler,” she said, “instead of showing up for a while, then leaving.”

New to the festival this year was a children’s petting zoo, and monster truck rides.

Three employers cited at Bentonview Park Health & Rehab

OSHA inspectors allege that three employers at Bentonview Park Health & Rehab in Monett exposed employees and residents to asbestos during a floor renovation project at the facility which began in December 2020.

Three employers at a Missouri residential nursing facility exposed workers and residents to asbestos hazards and failed to ensure safe removal of the known carcinogen during a flooring replacement project, a federal workplace safety inspection alleges.

In January 2021, the U.S. Department of Labor’s Occupational Safety and Health Administration initiated an inspection at the Bentonview Park Health & Rehabilitation in Monett based on a referral from the Missouri Department of Natural Resources.

Cassville Police Department reports arrests, structure fire

Cassville June 29, 2021:

Officers from the Cassville Police Department executed a pair of search warrants within the city limits of Cassville. The first was served at 1004 Harold Street, where officers located several stolen items inside of the residence as well as narcotics and paraphernalia. The stolen items were identified as being from a recent burglary at a business in Cassville. One female was taken into custody for the items as well as for an outstanding warrant. The stolen property, which included two laptop computers, was returned to the owners the following day. A male and female have been charged with felony stealing and burglary in connection with the incident.

Officers and deputies from the Barry County Sheriff's Office then executed a second search warrant at 205 W. 9th Street. Inside of the residence, officers located numerous drug paraphernalia items as well as illegal narcotics. One male and one female were taken into custody and placed on investigative hold. Another female who had left the residence as officers arrived was taken into custody on an outstanding warrant. Additional narcotics and paraphernalia were located in her belongings. Charges on all subjects are pending.

Cassville, July 14, 2021:

On July 14, officers from the Cassville Police Department responded to a structure fire at 1008 Harold Street. Extensive damage was suffered to the residence, both from fire and smoke. Officers quickly determined that the fire could have been intentionally set and identified their suspect. A short time later, officers made contact with and arrested Mitchell Davidson, 36, of Cassville. He was booked into the Barry County Jail on charges of harassment and ex parte violation. The following day, Davidson was interviewed at the Cassville Police Department and admitted to starting the fire. A charge of Arson 2nd degree was added, and he remains in custody with a $75,000 bond. The incident was also investigated by the Missouri State Fire Marshal's Office.

Area accidents result in injuries

Ezra DeVore

• According to a Missouri State Highway Patrol report, on July 14 at 7:20 p. m., Donna Sugg, 53, of Prairie Grove, AR, was eastbound in a 2011 Kia Forte when she ran off of Farm Road 2250, went down an embankment, and her vehicle overturned. Sugg and her three-year-old passenger were taken to Mercy Hospital of Rogers, Arkansas, by Mercy EMS with minor injuries. Both occupants were wearing safety devices. The vehicle was totaled.

• According to a Missouri State Highway Patrol report, on July 15 at 11:10 a.m., a juvenile, 14, of Ward, Colorado, was driving an eastbound 2006 John Deer Gator with three occupants: two juveniles, and Madison Blake, 26, of Pompana, FL. The juvenile lost control of the vehicle, swerved left, and overturned on Bridgeview Drive, one half-mile from Shell Knob. All occupants were ejected; none were wearing safety devices. They were later transported to Mercy Hospital in Springfield with minor or moderate injuries

• According to a Missouri State Highway Patrol report, Sunday evening, July 18, at 6:15 p.m., a juvenile female, 11, of Derby, Kansas, was driving a Polaris Ranger Side by Side with passenger Joy Confer, 57, also of Derby, Kansas. While westbound on Centerwood Lane in Shell Knob, the juvenile lost control of the vehicle, causing it to travel across the roadway and overturn. Neither driver nor occupant were wearing safety devices. Confer was transported to Cox South Hospital in Springfield with serious injuries. The Highway Patrol report doesn't mention the injuries of the juvenile. The vehicle suffered minor damage and was driven from the scene.

Pharmacy hours to expand at Cox Monett

Beginning July 19, the Pharmacy at Cox Monett expanded its hours of service.

The new hours are Monday through Friday, 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

"The expansion will help us meet the needs of our nursing team and our patients," said Louis Kynard, system director of pharmacy services at CoxHealth. "Since the opening of the new hospital, we are seeing patients with higher degrees of acuity. This has required more intense drug regimens, and treatment protocols are more complex."

Expanding services will also allow Cox Monett to provide chemotherapy and other infusions for patients.

"The new hospital allows us more options for patients to receive care and services close to home," he added.

6Ato break a record.

With the permission of state park officials, the dive team from KISS Rebreathers has plans to create a video for use in the park's nature center and to map previously uncharted territory below the spring's surface.

Making history, Mike

Young, while wearing his "skinny diving gear" was able to successfully penetrate the narrow stricture at a depth of 224 feet in Roaring River Spring Saturday morning. The stricture had been discovered by previous divers in 1979 and in 1991. However, due to their traditional bulky SCUBA equipment, they had been unable to pass through the narrow opening.

With the new technology offered by Young's compact Sidewinder Rebreather with sidemounted air tanks which fit snugly below his arms, he was able to slip through the fissure which before had been considered impenetrable.

"There's a navigable tunnel on the other side that runs laterally," Young reported, after he resurfaced. "Due to time and air limitations, I couldn't explore any further on this dive, but I hope to later."

Young said he had been closely monitoring the water flow at Roaring River prior to the team making its third scheduled trip to the park on Friday.

"The first part of the week, the cubic-feet-per-second (CFS) water flow was in the mid-30s, about the lowest it's been all summer," he said. "After rainfall Thursday night, it was up to the 50 CFS mark before our first dive Friday."

(The water flow can be easily determined by checking the United States Geological Survey (USGS) site at <https://waterdata.usgs.gov/> nwis/uv?07050152.)

The KISS team made an initial dive into the spring Friday afternoon to check out subsurface water conditions and put safety lines and air tanks in place. Tim Bass, a videographer with NWA Adventure Dive, was also on hand to begin filming the KISS team's explorations.

"The water was the clearest we've ever seen it Friday," Mike Young said, as he geared up for what he hoped would be his record-breaking dive Saturday morning.

With the water-flow down and the visibility good, Young's confidence that he could make it through the stricture was well-founded.

Some two hours later, Young, along with teammate, Joe Heinrichs, returned to the surface of the spring and reported "mission accomplished."

Satisfied with the day's 239-foot dive and the breaching of a stricture once thought to be impenetrable, the KISS team was content to wait until the following day to begin mapping efforts of the newfound underwater area.

According to diver Greg Ables, the mapping dive planned for Sunday would be a bit riskier since it would call for time-consuming underwater technical work by cartographer Jon Lillestolen.

As it turned out, Sunday's mapping plans were put on hiatus after heavy rains Saturday night took the water flow up to over 120 on Sunday morning.

"The water flow was just too high to get any more work done this trip," Young said, "so we brought all of our air tanks and safety lines back up, and we'll try again in August."

In a light moment for onlookers, a two-year-old child was startled to the point of screams when the first of five divers resurfaced beside her feet as she stood with her parents at the guard rail of the spring.

Before doffing their diving gear, Jon Lillestolen and Mike Young surprised hatchery visitors by slipping into the spring-fed pond for a leisurely swim in search of the remains of the old undershot mill wheel reputed to lie below the surface.

Last weekend's dive was participated in by Mike Young, Joe Heinrichs, Jon Lillestolen, Greg Ables, Neal Brownlow, Charles Walker and the sole female diver, Gayle Orner.

Orner was pleased that the record-setting dive was accomplished on July 17, a date recognized as "Women's Dive Day" by the Professional Association of Diving Instructors (PADI).

Mike Young, however, was a little disappointed that mapping efforts had to be postponed.

"In the caving world," he said, "broken records and new discoveries aren't real until divers can bring back survey data."

"We'll get it next time, though," he added.

The KISS divers have a fourth trip to Roaring River State Park planned August 27 - 30.

In the meantime, Young has three other diving expeditions planned: one to an area 40 miles off the coast of North Carolina, another to a cave system in the Bahamas, and a third to explore shipwrecks in the Great Lakes, where, he said, the cold water has reputedly preserved the lumber on a ship that sank in 1850.

Balance needed for student COVID-19 precautions

Ezra DeVore

As Barry County schools wade cautiously to normalcy, a great amount of additional strain continues to be placed on their faculties to balance what implemented protocol earns their vital state funding, and what follows the true return to normalcy that many parents, students, and staff crave. Although guidelines are relaxing, school staff are now required to maintain a heightened vigilance in regards to safety and health. Masks and vaccines are strongly recommended by the CDC, though not a required condition for school attendance, due to the CDC considering it a decision properly made by individual states, counties, and schools.

Currently, no direction is given by the CDC on how to differentiate vaccinated and unvaccinated students and staff. So, in Cassville, for instance, the Board of Education has elected to invite students to undergo the separate guidelines for unvaccinated and vaccinated individuals based on an honor system of alerting staff to the status of their vaccination.

March saw the reduction of CDC-recommended desk-distancing in schools; from 6 feet apart to 3, as well as dismissing a recommendation for the use of plastic shields between desks. The CDC maintained, however, that distancing of this kind among vaccinated students or staff is not required. The CDC states that ventilation and hand-sanitization remain crucial to minimizing exposure, and to always stay home when feeling symptomatic or unwell. Frequent COVID-19 tests for unvaccinated individuals are recommended as well.

Each school in Barry County has different, and evolving, pandemic responses. School staff are working tirelessly to provide up-to-date mitigation strategies to maximize health, comfort, and safety. To stay aware of your district's specific protocol, your district's school's official website will list their mandates, options for safety, and specified conditions to your district and area.

Thoughts from The Editor

Sheila Harris

In newspapers published one hundred years ago, or maybe even as recently as 50 years ago, families listed the cause of death of their loved ones in obituaries. Some of them were a bit graphic, mind you, with perhaps more details included than were absolutely necessary. However, in some cases, perhaps the details served as a warning to others: to be careful when felling trees and crossing flooded rivers, for example.

Nowadays, causes of death are, for the most part, left unmentioned. Unless one knew the person and his or her family personally, it's unlikely we'll ever know how they died. Most of the time, just to know that a person has passed from this life is enough information.

But these times are exceptional. And with the exception, comes the need for more information. It's important for the local community to know when a loved one dies from the complications of COVID-19. Not to arouse undue fear, but to serve as an alert that our community has a real problem with the virus, and that, as a community, we need to be taking simple measures to prevent other families from experiencing the losses that have taken our loved ones.

There's nothing shameful about the virus, other than the political maneuvering that has made its prevention tactics anathema. Our martyrdom is often misplaced, I've found.

COVID-19 has taken many of the best of us, even right here in Barry County. According to health officials in southwest Missouri, those numbers are likely to keep growing.

Yes, death is inevitable, but it doesn't necessarily have to come via a preventable virus. Our silence in the face of its spread doesn't make it go away. In fact, the opposite is highly likely.

On Jan. 22, the state agency evacuated the facility's residents – 31 days after flooring work began on Dec. 21, 2020.

OSHA alleges Eastern Coast Management Inc., SRZ Mgmt Holdings LLC and SRZ OP Bentonview LLC failed to test for the presence of asbestos, did not erect protective barriers to contain residue and failed to use respiratory and personal protective equipment to prevent exposure. Bulk samples of tile backing and mastic collected at three locations in the facility indicated that between 45 percent and 51 percent of the samples contained chrysotile asbestos.

OSHA inspectors allege that workers for the three employers removed about 10,000 square feet of floor tiles containing asbestos, and that none of the employers completed an asbestos assessment to determine its presence.

"Asbestos is a known human carcinogen released into the air when asbestos-containing materials are removed. Exposure to its fibers can cause irreversible lung damage, which is often undetected for years," said OSHA Area Director Karena Lorek in Kansas City, Missouri. "Employers must test building materials before removal and ensure all measures are taken to prevent exposure."

"On multi-employer projects such as this, each employer must ensure workers are safe from potential hazards. When they fail to do so, the U.S. Department of Labor will hold them accountable under the law," Lorek added.

After its inspection, OSHA cited the three companies for not implementing a respiratory protection program, exposing workers to asbestos hazards and failing to inform employees of the potential presence of asbestos. Additional violations and penalties proposed against each company include:

Eastern Coast Management Inc., the project's lead contractor, faces proposed penalties of $105,127 for 11 serious violations. SRZ Op Holdings LLC, the facility's owner, hired the Woodmere, New York, company to remove and replace the flooring.

SRZ Mgmt Holdings LLC of Jefferson City faces proposed penalties of $95,570 for 10 serious violations. Investigators determined the company's regional director of operations removed flooring and used removal equipment and scrapers to keep the project moving in the lead contractor's absence. The company assigns managers to the Bentonville facility.

SRZ OP Bentonview LLC, which operates as Bentonview Park Health and Rehabilitation, faces $38,228 in proposed penalties for four serious violations. As the facility's manager, the company had responsibility for protecting its employees and other workers in the rehabilitation facility from potential respiratory hazards.

Bentonview Park Health and Rehabilitation provides both short-term rehabilitation and long-term care.

All three companies have 15 business days from receipt of its citations and penalties to comply, request an informal conference with OSHA's area director, or contest the findings before the independent Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission.

PURDY from FRONT

Neill said. “The monster truck rides were $10 each, but parents willingly paid the price so their kids could enjoy the experience.”

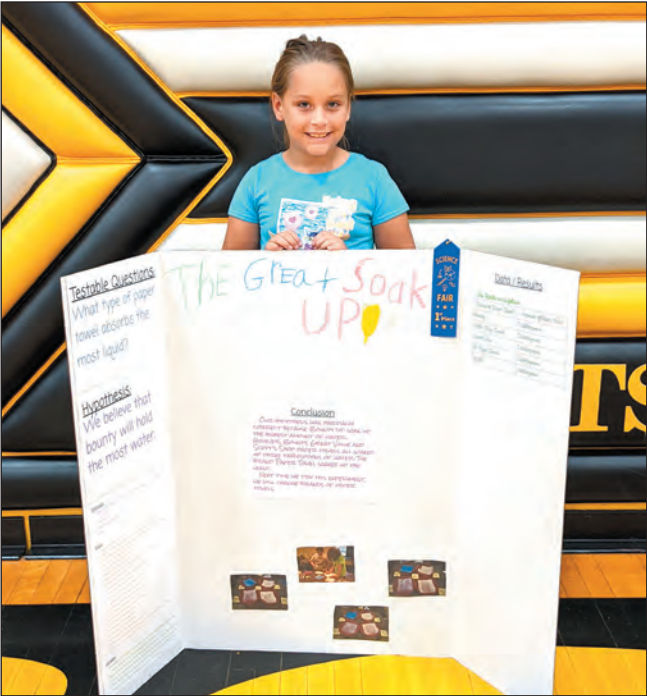

Water was a popular feature at the festival, too, with a deluge from the heavens competing with manufactured rain from Purdy’s fire engine to delight kids of many ages.

Below, free kids’ rides were a main attraction at the Purdy Festival Saturday. Above, the ever-popular bathtub races offered one more opportunity for Purdy festival-goers to get wet. Photos by Renae Neill.

Haven of The Ozarks:
Pet of The Week

Meet Lovely Lucy, the Haven of the Ozarks Pet of the Week! Lovely Lucy, who is very aptly named, came to the Haven from the Monett Pound. She is about two years old and is a nice medium size at 46 pounds. Lucy is very friendly with people, loves going for walks, and isn’t a fence jumper. She has done very well with other dogs here at the Haven, but a meet-and-greet with potential canine siblings is always a good idea. She does seem like she would prefer to be the alpha of her pack, which is fine with her current pen-mate. Lucy is house-trained and will make a nice family dog.

HANDLE WITH CARE

Some jobs require a long-handled tool to reach the work effectively. But remember a long handle also requires that you work cautiously to avoid contact with power lines. When using any tools or machinery with a long reach, be sure to pay attention to both ends so you don't expose yourself or others to the risk of electric shock.

ROY B. SHAVER

Roy Baker Shaver, former school administrator in Barry County, passed away July 14, 2021.

Shaver enjoyed a forty-year career in education, retiring as superintendent of schools in Neosho in 1996. In 1956, he began his career in Washburn with the Southwest School District, serving one year as a social studies teacher and four years as high school principal. While there he also served as a scoutmaster.

From 1961-1966, Shaver was with the Cassville School District, serving two years as high school principal and three years as superintendent. While he was superintendent, the school district achieved a AAA classification which, at the time, was the highest rating given by the State Department of Education. His tenure in Cassville was a particularly eventful time in education, both locally and nationally. A number of new programs and services were instituted in Cassville that benefited all ages, including: public kindergarten, the area's first Head Start program, high school counseling, school nursing, speech therapy, the Cooperative Education Program (COE), and a basic reading program for adults. Additionally, the current elementary school and cafeteria were added and expanded. The school district reorganized for the first and second time with several rural school districts joining the R-4 system.

While living in Cassville, Shaver was active in the Lion's Club and the Methodist Church. He served as chairperson for the South Barry County Red Cross.

Shaver was born on July 30, 1932, and grew up in Evening Shade, Arkansas. He earned his Bachelors, Masters and doctorate degrees from the University of Arkansas. Before beginning his career in education, Shaver served in the U.S. Army and was a Distinguished Graduate of the Army Ranger School. His tour of duty was in Germany as a rifle platoon leader.

Shaver's late wife, Marjorie “Ann” Short Shaver, taught English at Cassville High School in the early 1960s. All four of the couple's children were born while they were living in Cassville. Shaver is survived by his children: Mike Shaver, of Astoria Queens, New York, Beth Shaver, of Nashville, Tennessee, Susan Shaver (Scott Wiederholt), of Atlanta, Georgia, and Lisa Shaver, of Waco, Texas, as well as two grandchildren, Lydia Wiederholt and Eli Wiederholt, also of Atlanta.

Southwest Trap Team Competed at AIM State

The Southwest Trap Team traveled once again to Linn Creek, on June 26, this time for the Missouri AIM State Shoot.

Parents sat under umbrellas while the participants got soaked as they stood on the shooting line. The overcast sky and rain made shooting targets more difficult, but that did not slow down these top notch shooters.

Case Jennings shot his first 25 straight and will have the traditional shooting of his hat at the next practice.

His older brother, Samuel Jennings, shot his first 75 and 100 straight. This earns Sam two new patches.

Caleb Ayer shot his way to be the AIM Sub-Jr. Champion in a field of 107 shooters.

The Sub-Jr. squad of Colten Phillips, Bailey Stephens, Alex Ramirez, Case Jennings, and Devin Hall placed 5th in the Sub-Jr. Division.

The Junior squad of Ty Howard, Olivia Ayer, Samuel Jennings, Caleb Ayer and Lilly Wolf were just shy of the medals, taking 4th in the Junior Division.

Coach Staci Day stated, “We’re looking forward to the Nationals in Sparta, Illinois. These kids have so much talent, I’m confident they will do well this year.”

Caleb Ayer, above, took AIM Sub-Jr. Championship at State.

Sunshine Request response time less than a day, says Fitzpatrick

Missouri State Treasurer Scott Fitzpatrick announced that for the second year in a row, the Treasurer’s Office average initial response time for Sunshine Requests was less a day. During the fiscal year that ended June 30, the Treasurer’s Office received 123 Sunshine requests. The average initial response time was 0.76 business days, a decrease from the previous year.

During FY2020, the Treasurer’s Office received 119 Sunshine Requests. The average initial response time was 0.94 business days, a rate of less than one day. During FY19, the Office received 99 Sunshine Requests and had an initial response time of 1.6 business days.

“Despite remote working and the ongoing challenges presented by the pandemic, my Office reduced our already low response time. We are now responding to Sunshine Requests, on average, within hours of receiving them,” Treasurer Fitzpatrick said. “This timely response should let Missourians know how much my staff and I understand and value the Sunshine laws in our state and that we take our responsibility under those laws very seriously. This is what I want from government—transparency and quick response—and I am proud to meet these expectations.”

Treasurer Fitzpatrick is working to increase transparency across state and local governments, as well. In 2020, Treasurer Fitzpatrick announced the expansion of the Show-Me Checkbook to include local governments. There are currently 13 participating counties, with more in progress. He also facilitated aggregating state expenditures related to federal stimulus funding in one portal on the Treasurer’s Office website for Missourians to search. He recently expanded the portal to include information related to the American Rescue Plan.

Are you looking for a job with excellent benefits where you can make a difference in the lives of your fellow Missourians? The Missouri Department of Transportation is looking for you.

Right now, there are full-time maintenance positions open across the state. Salaries start at $14.75 an hour, depending on level of experience and area of operation.

“Missouri travelers depend on us throughout the year to maintain our highway system and especially once the snow starts to fall,” said MoDOT’s Maintenance Director Natalie Roark. “We’re currently looking for individuals who are interested in a career to keep Missouri moving during the winter season and beyond.”

Full-time maintenance employees receive training and a long list of benefits including paid leave, medical, vision and dental insurance and a retirement plan; and a culturally diverse workplace that is dedicated to safety and personal development. Applicants need to be at least 18 years old and successfully complete a criminal background check (a misdemeanor or felony conviction is not an automatic restriction to employment). If you don’t already have a commercial driver’s license (CDL), MoDOT will provide training to help you obtain one.

Maintenance employment with MoDOT continues into the spring as the season turns to mowing. There are opportunities for advancement and a long-term career. Opportunities for year-round employment include mowing, striping and other maintenance functions.

said. To learn more about this opportunity and to apply online for positions across the state, go to www.modot.org/opportunities-maintenance.

For more information, call MoDOT at 888-ASK-MODOT (275-6636) or visit www.modot.org.
