Sheila Harris

Almost 100 people were in attendance Saturday night for a “Meet the Divers” question and answer session hosted by Roaring River State Park. The purpose of the event was to give interested members of the public the opportunity to meet the KISS Rebreathers divers who have made scheduled monthly weekend dives into Roaring River Spring since May. Attendees were also privileged to a demonstration of the differences between standard SCUBA gear used by 1970s divers and the rebreathers used by the KISS (Keep It Super Simple) team.

Roaring River State Park superintendent Joel Topham said, in reference to the exploratory dives for the purpose of remapping the cave, “we’re living history right now.”

“We’ve already made history,” he added.

Indeed, they have. When asked by someone in attendance how deep the spring is, head diver Mike Young answered, “We don’t know.”

With the water flow at seven cubic feet per second over the weekend, the lowest it’s been since the team began diving in May, the divers had an easier time with both visibility and navigation. They were able to attain a depth of 344 feet on Sunday’s exploratory dive, which now makes Roaring River Spring the deepest in Missouri. It also puts it in the running for the deepest spring in the nation, believed to be 436 feet.

When asked how deep he would be able to go, he replied, “If we haven’t reached another restriction before then, I’ll probably stop at 400 feet and let more experienced cave divers take over.”

By the next day, Young had already changed his story.

“Well, you know how it is,” he said, with a laugh, “as long as there’s something more to find, I’ll keep going.”

Finding “the bottom” of Roaring River Cave is not necessarily a goal in itself, rather, it’s one among others.

Randall Purdy, from Kearney, Nebraska, acts as the team’s chief underwater photographer, and explained that a 20-story building - or perhaps larger - could easily fit into the huge cavern below the recently breached restriction at a depth of 225 feet in the cave. It’s that large cavern that Young and cartographer, Jon Lillestolen, attempted to find the limits of on their Sunday dive.

A pending shortage of commercial pilots prompted Cassville Industrial Technology teacher, Marcus Reynolds, to add a course in aviation to his classroom itinerary. It’s the first in the school’s history.

A shortage of students pursuing a degree in teacher education prompted the Cassville R-IV district to team with Crowder College and Missouri State University to offer an incentive for those going into the teaching field.

“We started this incentivized intern program in 2019, and it went so well, we wanted to continue,” said Traci Mitchell, assistant superintendent of the Cassville

School District.

The incentive program - which pays education majors $11 an hour to work part-time in the Cassville R-IV district - offers college students experience in their chosen field, while helping to alleviate understaffed classrooms.

“Last year Covid happened, so we weren’t able to offer it,” Mitchell said, “but, because of the teacher short-

Pfizer booster approved for some

Following federal guidance issued from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (DHSS) has amended the state's standing order for Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 vaccine administration for those who are eligible for a booster shot.

Missourians who received the Pfizer vaccine can receive a booster shot at least six months after their initial series based on the following CDC guidance:

- People 65 years and older and residents in long-term care settings should receive a booster;
- People aged 50–64 years with underlying medical conditions should receive a booster;
- People aged 18–49 years with underlying medical conditions may receive a booster; and
- People aged 18–64 years who are at increased risk for COVID-19 exposure and transmission because of occupational or institutional setting (e.g. frontline medical workers, teachers, and first responders) may receive a booster.

The list of medical conditions categorized as high-risk by the CDC is available at <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/need-extra-precautions/> people-with-medical-conditions.html. Missourians with an underlying medical condition are encouraged to speak with their health-care provider about whether a booster shot is right for them.

Federal health experts are still reviewing data from Moderna and Johnson & Johnson (Janssen) and will decide when recipients may be eligible for a booster shot. Missouri providers will be ready to administer Moderna and Johnson & Johnson booster shots when they are recommended.

Pfizer COVID-19 booster shots will be administered anywhere the Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine is available. Individuals do not need to get their booster shot at the same location they received their initial series. Those seeking a booster shot can visit MOSTopsCovid.com to find a nearby provider and schedule an appointment or locate a walk-in clinic.

Providers operating under the state's standing orders should follow the guidance as written for COVID-19 booster shot administration. For providers who are operating under their own order, it is recommended that CDC guidance also be followed.

Individuals can also get the flu shot at the same time they receive the COVID-19 booster shot. Flu vaccines are now becoming available through various providers throughout the state and are recommended annually for everyone six months and older.

Research shows that all COVID-19 vaccines authorized in the United States continue to be highly effective at preventing severe illness and death. Individuals should only get a booster shot when it is recommended, not earlier. Learn more about COVID-19 booster doses from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

Barry County Health Department administrator, Roger Brock, says Pfizer booster shots will be available at the health department at 65 Main Street, Cassville, on a walk-in basis, or by appointment.

"We plan to set up points of distribution (PODs), like we did with the initial vaccinations," Brock said.

A 15-minute waiting period after receiving the booster shot will also be required, Brock said.

In Barry County, Pfizer COVID-19 booster vaccination will also be available at Sater Pharmacy in Cassville, Plaza Pharmacy in Shell Knob and Walmart Pharmacy in Monett.

Filing dates change for April election

According to Barry County Clerk, Joyce Ennis, filing dates for the April 5, 2022, General Municipal Election have changed.

Candidates may begin filing on Tuesday, December 7, 2021. The last day to file will be Tuesday, December 28, 2021.

These changes, Ennis says, are due to legislation passed in August of 2021. The shorter filing time will give the Department of Revenue more time to review the "Candidate's Affidavit of Tax Payments and Bonding Requirements," and investigate any complaints prior to the election.

"In years past, candidates had 26 days in which to file; the new legislation will now only allow 16 days for filing," Ennis said.

Active COVID-19 cases decrease

Sheila Harris

For the first time in several weeks, the Barry County Health Department reported a significant decrease in the number of new COVID-19 cases. From the 77 new cases reported on September 15, the number of new cases on the September 22 report declined to 57.

The positivity rate for the same time period decreased to 7.48 percent, from the previous week's 10.28 percent.

Patients in isolation with active cases of COVID-19 decreased from 103, to 78, and the number of people in quarantine dropped from over 200, to over 100.

No new deaths due to complications of COVID-19 were reported for that week. To date, 73 Barry County residents have died as a result of COVID-19.

CHS Homecoming Parade happens Friday

The Cassville High School Student Council will host the 2021 Annual Cassville Homecoming Parade on Friday, October 1, beginning at 1 p.m. The theme for this year's parade is "Once a Wildcat, always a Wildcat."

Parade participants will line up on 6th Street, beginning at the Chamber of Commerce. Floats will turn left onto Main Street, travel north to the school campus, turn right onto 14th Street (Kit Kat Drive), then travel down in front of Eunice Thomas Elementary. It will turn left at the field house onto the paved bus lane to the high school, where it will end.

The parade will start at 1 p.m. It will end at the high school by approximately 2 p.m.

Community members and parents are invited and welcomed to view the parade on Main Street between 6th and 14th Streets. The parade route from 14th Street to the high school campus will be reserved for Cassville R-IV staff and students only, and will not be open to the general public.

We are working in collaboration with the Cassville

Police Department to ensure the safety of the students who are participating in and viewing the parade.

The afternoon parade timing will cause traffic slowdowns and the need for alternate routes for travelers who traditionally take Main Street between 1 and 2 p.m.

In the event of less than ideal weather conditions (rain, thunderstorms, snow), the parade will be canceled.

Bass promoted to VP of Clinical Services at CoxHealth

Darren Bass

Darren Bass, president of Cox Monett Hospital, has been promoted to vice president of Clinical Services at CoxHealth.

Bass has been with Cox-Health for more than 20 years and in his current role since 2015. During his tenure, the new $42 million Cox Monett Hospital opened in early 2021 and replaced the former hospital built in 1953. Bass helped the hospital achieve a five-star rating for patient satisfaction from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, worked to grow and integrate service lines in the health system, and be named to Modern Healthcare’s list of Best Places to Work in Healthcare three years in a row.

Bass began his career in health care as a physical therapist. He completed his master of science in Physical Therapy and doctor of Physical Therapy from Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis.

Genny Maroc, who served as president of Cox Monett from 2011 to 2013, plans to retire from CoxHealth on Dec. 31. She will return to Monett to serve as interim president while the search for a new leader is underway.

The leadership change is effective Jan. 1.

DIVERS from FRONT

a handheld sonar device, designed to signal when an obstacle is within 100 feet of it, reads “out-of-range” in the lowest cavern, indicating that walls and ceiling and a floor were somewhere beyond the point where they tested.

According to Lillestolen, a lateral swim below the restriction yielded the discovery of a canyon which, after about 100 feet of line - in addition to the 200 feet already laid - became too complicated to navigate.

“There may or may not be a passage (in that canyon),” he said, “but with that much water, there’s a large passage somewhere.”

Lillestolen then descended to a depth (below the surface) of 300 feet, before running out of time for further exploration.

Lillestolen and the other divers tasked with cartography use basic compasses and safety lines knotted at 10-foot intervals to establish directions and measurements. These “stick map” measurements, as they call them, are then recorded in small waterproof notebooks, from which details can later be entered into a computer.

“The goal,” Lillestolen said, “is to end up with a 3-D representation of the cave, as well as a publishable map for the park’s use. Maybe, too, a new visual surface map for visitors to the spring.”

Under the direction of Tim Bass, of NWA Adventure Dive, a video for use in the park’s nature center, as well as a feature-length documentary, are being created.

Aside from the divers’ cave explorations, Bass has plans to include plenty of local history and culture in the documentary, to add to its appeal for the non-divers among us.

In response to a question from the audience, diver Randall Purdy explained that the diving and film-making project is self-funded.

“We’re a no-shoestring, no-shoe operation,” he quipped. “Food donations are always welcome, especially homemade brownies.”

Hunger is, in fact, a priority issue to be addressed after the divers resurface.

The KISS Rebreathers are scheduled for another Roaring River diving expedition the weekend of October 22 - 24.

With renewed permits from the DNR at the end of the year, the team hopes to continue monthly explorations indefinitely.

“There are many of us on the edge of our seats waiting to see what they will discover next,” Joel Topham said.

Ground-breaking planned for new BL Development Center

The Barry-Lawrence County Development Center board of directors is excited to announce the groundbreaking of its new facility in Monett, which will be located at the corner of Chapell Drive and Park Street.

A ground-breaking ceremony will take place Monday, October 4, at 10 a.m.

"We are excited to be moving towards a larger and more up-to-date facility to continue providing another 40-plus years of early intervention services to children with disabilities," said Lynda Painter, director of the program for the past 31 years.

The Barry-Lawrence

County Development Center purchased the home where they are currently located in 1981.

"With the addition of more services, staff and children, a larger building was needed," Painter said.

The new building will have 6,000 square feet and will include an event center to be used as an indoor playground and a room for fundraisers and other events.

"Each therapy," said Painter, "will have its own room, an inside storm shelter, and will also be used as a sensory room for children with sensory difficulties."

"We have raised over half the needed money for the new facility with the support of numerous donors including Jack & Margaret Prim, Barry & Lawrence Tax Boards for the Developmentally Disabled, and many individuals and businesses who helped with fundraisers," Painter explained.

Fundraising efforts continue, according to Painter. A large benefit auction is scheduled for Friday, November 5, at 6 p.m., at New Site Baptist Church located west of Monett.

AVIATION from FRONT

him from becoming a pilot, with his father's encouragement, he pursued a degree in Aviation Technology followed by a full-time career as an Airframe & Powerplant (A&P) certified airplane mechanic.

For Reynolds, though, an interest in teaching usurped his full-time maintenance position, and he went back to school for first Art, then Industrial Technology Education degrees. This school year marks his seventh as a teacher with the Cassville district.

"I presented the idea for an aviation class to administration about three years ago," he said, "but it didn't float. This year, it did."

Of the 14 students currently enrolled in the class, only three have ever flown in an airplane. Those three express interest in a future career as a pilot.

According to Reynolds, attaining a pilot certificate costs quite a bit of money, typically around $12,000, he says, by the time the cost of flight instruction, plane rental and fuel needed for the required number of flight hours is calculated.

"My hope with this aviation class is to cut that price tag in half for prospective aviators," he said.

The class uses a curriculum developed by Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association (AOPA), and Cassville, according to Reynolds, is only one of four schools in Missouri taking advantage of it.

"The course," Reynolds said, "is designed to be a four-year program for high school students, beginning with a student's freshman year and continuing through his or her senior year.”

Because this is the first year the class is being taught at Cassville, all 14 students (sophomores, juniors and seniors) are beginning with the sophomore curriculum.

“Fundamentally,” Reynolds tells his 5th-hour students, “you need to be able to learn aviation lingo, which includes the different types of aircraft and their parts. If someone over the radio is directing you to follow or stay away from a certain type of aircraft - a tail-dragger, for example - you’d better know what he's talking about."

In addition to “ground instruction,” the aviation class makes use of a 3-D printer to design model airplanes.

The classroom also houses two flight simulators: one, an elaborate three-screen computer with an aircraft control-panel for practicing take-offs, landings and flight in between. The second simulator is a child-sized replica of an airplane, which Reynolds uses to teach students the different parts and their functions.

As for actual flight itself, Reynolds is working on some ideas for exposing students to real airplanes and perhaps even after-school flight, with parental permission.

Meet Puddy Tat, the Haven of the Ozarks Pet of the Week! Puddy is a handsome four-month-old boy who was rescued from a cat colony of around 40 felines in a nearby town. Because he started his life outside, he would make a good mouser. However, we would love to find a home where he can have inside privileges and maybe also safely enjoy the great outdoors at times. Puddy is a curious boy who gets along well with other cats and is litter-box trained. He had a rough start to life but is looking forward to better things from here on out! Lamar tops Cassville, 35 - 3

Lee Stubblefield

Peter Littlefield kicked a 21-yard field goal in the final minute, but those were Cassville's only points in a 35-3 loss to the Big 8 West-leading Lamar Tigers on Friday night. The undefeated Tigers ran their record to 5-0 in front of the home crowd at Thomas O'Sullivan Stadium. The Wildcats slipped to 1-4.

This game belonged to Lamar from start to finish. The Tigers scored on every first half possession, taking a 28-0 lead into halftime.

Joel Beshore tossed a screen to Mason Gastel for a 35-yard touchdown.

Matthew Nance plowed for a 4-yard touchdown run.

Austin Wilkerson broke clear on an inside reverse for a 30-yard touchdown run.

Beshore scored on an 8-yard run with 1:19 left in the half.

Jose Juarez, the biggest kicker in the conference at 275, converted on all four of his PAT attempts for the Tigers.

Lamar's dominating defense held Cassville to just four first downs in the first half.

Ethan Fuchs popped through the line for a 47-yard run down to the Lamar 29-yard line late in the first quarter. But that drive stalled and the 'Cats turned the ball over on downs. That one run by Fuchs represented nearly half of Cassville's first-half yardage total of 101.

The Wildcats tried an onside kick to open the third quarter. Lamar covered the attempt but fumbled later in the drive. The teams traded punts, and then the Tigers drove 64 yards in 12 plays. On fourth down at the Cassville 39-yard line, Mason Gastel hauled in a long pass to the one-yard line. Lamar scored on the next play to open a 35-0 lead.

Cassville drove into the red zone late in the game, setting up Littlefield's kick to spoil Lamar's shutout bid.

Still, Lamar's suffocating defense has only allowed 45 points in five games. The Tigers, winners of eight Class 2 state titles in the last ten years, are rolling again.

Cassville, after losing four consecutive games, returns home to play the 1-4 Monett Cubs on Friday night in the Barry County Brawl. Kickoff is set for 7 PM.

Big 8 scores:

- Lamar, 35; Cassville, 3
- Nevada, 54; Monett, 4
- McDonald County, 35; Seneca, 7
- Hollister, 26; Reeds Spring, 20
- Aurora, 58; Springfield Catholic, 6
- Rogersville, 42; Mt. Vernon, 15
- Marshfield, 28; East Newton, 14

Pink Week comes to Southwest

Steve Voyak

The Southwest School District is sponsoring Pink Week Oct. 4-7 to promote breast cancer awareness, according to Coach Steve Voyak

The middle school boys and girls basketball teams and the high school volleyball teams are organizing the event.

"We have been doing Pink Out for 12 years in volleyball," said Coach Voyak. "Then last year Coach Jalbert and the middle school basketball teams did an event so I just thought we should put all of them together and involve all grades, even elementary."

Monday is Pink Ribbon Day so the players will be passing out ribbons for students and staff to wear. Tuesday and Wednesday will be spirit days with cowboy and superhero themes. And then Thursday is Pink Day with T-shirts for sale and the ballgames in the evening. Both gyms will feature pink decorations.

The basketball teams play Kirbyville in The Pit in the middle school, while the volleyball team hosts Purdy at the high school. Start time for both games is 5 p.m. A group of 14 middle school and elementary tumblers, under the direction of Montana Hackett, will perform between the high school games. Additionally, there will be a bake sale, an education area with pamphlets, and a slide show.

"We aren't just teaching our kids reading, writing, and arithmetic," said Coach Voyak. "We want them to have a well-rounded education so we see some real-life lessons being learned here."

Coach Voyak said he also plans to have a health care professional come in and talk to the girls about breast care and early detection. "This issue took on a new meaning for me when my wife Jean was diagnosed last year," he said. "She is cancer-free after chemotherapy and surgery but we need to find a cure for this because too many people die every year from this disease."

There are no words that could express our gratitude. We have been overwhelmed with love and support during this difficult time. There is now way we could ever thank each of you enough. The many prayers, cards, messages, visits, and unbelievable generosity given personally and through the gofundme page will never be forgotten. A special thank you to White's Funeral Home for all that they did to celebrate Taner while making it as easy as possible for us. The detail and care given by Mary Burchfield was professionalism at the highest level. The support from Home City Ice Inc., Taner's employer, touched us in a way that can not be explained with words. We will forever be grateful and proud Taner was part of a company with such high standards and integrity. We would also like to thank Donnie Spears and Corinth Baptist Church for their sincere love and compassion. The time and effort put in preparing such a beautiful lunch for our family is greatly appreciated. Thank you to our friends and family that have stepped up to do whatever necessary to help. Taner loved his family and friends with his whole heart. He was goal driven, determined, and had a passion for life that encouraged others. His smile and laughter reflected a genuine picture of the man he was. Most importantly, he loved God and believed in God's promises. Taner will forever be alive in our hearts until we join him for eternity.
With sincere love and gratitude,

Senior Life Solutions, Mercy team for balloon release

In an event orchestrated by staff from Senior Life Solutions, an organization which works for the mental health of senior citizens, employees of Senior Life, Mercy and members of the public gathered for a balloon release on September 16 to remember those who lost their lives to suicide. According to 2019 statistics from the CDC, suicide was the ninth leading cause of death in Missouri that year. "COVID has really impacted suicide rates and led to a lot of depression among the elderly, Senior Life Solutions R.N. Karen George, said. George said her organization strives to make people aware of the mental health issues that senior residents face.

TEACHERS from FRONT

age, we opened it up again this year.

"We want to make sure students get lots of opportunities in the classroom for small-group, one-on-one instruction," she continued.

The interns, college students from Crowder College and Missouri State, will work with special education students in grades K - 5.

"They need to know how to adjust lessons and differentiate between different learning styles," Mitchell said, "so working with Special Education gives them knowledge about how to adjust lessons to better meet students' needs. We've even had some students change from a different content area to Special Education."

According to Mitchell, the Cassville district has experienced a gain of 35 new special education students this school year.

"Our Cassville students love having the extra help, attention, and support," Mitchell said. "Sitting one-on-one or in a small group, the interns and the students will go over whatever that group or child is struggling with. A lot of times, it's reading or math, or a core area they need one-on-one help with."

The Educational Internship Program is so successful that the Cassville district has hired some of the interns as full-time teachers.

According to Mitchell, the main focus of the incentive program is to promote education as a career choice.

"Sometimes it's hard for college kids to find jobs that work around their classes," she said. "We want to encourage them and support them, so we're trying to get them hooked early."

Interns are allowed to work up to 15 hours a week for $11 per hour. They must maintain status as a full-time student at a participating college or university and will work under the direction of a certified teacher at Cassville R-IV.

For more information, or to submit a resume, contact the Cassville R-IV central office at 417-847-2221.
