Golden Post Office Burglarized

Charlea Mills

The U.S. Postal Inspection Service is offering up to a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person(s) responsible for the recent burglary at the Golden Post Office. The crime occurred sometime between 5:15 pm, August 1, and 7:05 am, August 2. Property damage occurred and cash were stolen, according to Sheriff Mick Epperly.

The burglar broke in through an interior lobby door, causing excessive property damage. Phone lines to the building were severed as well. The only item removed from the premises was cash from the teller's drawer. Epperly wouldn't elaborate on the amount of money stolen other than that the property damage incurred exceeds $500.

Epperly stated, "In a case like this, where it fouls up the mail service for residents of a small county, we want to see the person or persons responsible held accountable." It was a clear burglary where the suspect was searching for money inside the building. Epperly stated that there were other items of value that could have been taken but were not thereby showing the intent of the thief.

According to Richard Watkins of Corporate Communications with the US

Postal Service, since the investigation is ongoing, information available to the public is limited. Letter carriers for Golden are not from the Golden Post Office, so mail delivery service was uninterrupted. On August 2nd, the service window was closed until 2:00 pm and the post office box deliveries were slightly delayed.

When questioned if the burglary was possibly of a malicious intent to harm the mail service or the community in some way, Epperly denied that was the case. He believes the crime was driven by the poor economy.

Anyone with information may contact the Postal Inspection Service at 1-800-876-2455, Option 2 or the Barry County Sheriff's Office at 417-847-6556. Ask for Sheriff Epperly or Detective Cole. All information will be kept strictly confidential.

Roaring River Flooding Leads to Park Evacuation

Charlea Mills

Rainy conditions in the Ozarks led to intense flooding at Roaring River State Park on August 7th and 8th. Approximately six inches of rain fell at the park and the surrounding area, causing flooding and subsequent damage. Some campgrounds were evacuated due to the rising waters through the night.

As the rain poured at Roaring River, park employees were aware of the situation, alerting campers to seek higher ground earlier in the night. Gena Terlizzi, Communications Director for the Missouri Department of Natural Resources, said that by 3:30 am, 63 campsites were evacuated.

Most of the damage appears to be in and around Campgrounds 2 and 3. All campsites in Campgrounds

2 and 3 and sites 58-77 in Campground 1 are closed until August 15th. The Roaring River swimming pool is also closed until this prospective date.

At this time, the DNR is unsure of the financial burden of the damages. The Missouri State Parks' budget includes funds for clean-up of weather-related events, as well as unusual damages.

Thankfully, no injuries were reported from the situation and the evacuation. All lake and river levels in the area increased dramatically, but due to the popularity of the Roaring River Park, its importance is stressed in these weather-related events.

To follow the updates re-

Excessive flooding lead to three different campground evacuations.

garding when the pool or when certain campgrounds will be reopening and any progress with park clean-up and repairs, visit the Roaring River State Park website at <http://mostateparks.com/park/roaring-river-state-park>.

Intense rainfall results in debris build-up throughout the park.

Cassville School enrollment up from prior years

Crowder holds Graduation Ceremony

Samantha Barberio

Cassville Elementary School is experiencing a jump in the student enrollment for the 2013-2014 school year. Enrollment numbers had declined between 2008-2011, due largely to economic issues facing families in an uncertain job market.

On the first day of school on Monday, the total enrollment for Cassville's Eunice Thomas Elementary was 506 children. Enrollment numbers for the first day of the 2011-2012 year was 434.

Cassville Superintendent Richard Asbill stated, "The numbers for this year are exciting, but it is so early it's difficult to evaluate actual numbers as students move in and out routinely over the next two weeks."

School administration is keeping an eye on the first grade enrollment, which has risen to 162, compared to their kindergarten class of 148. Last year's first grade enrollment was 140 students, 22 students less than this year.

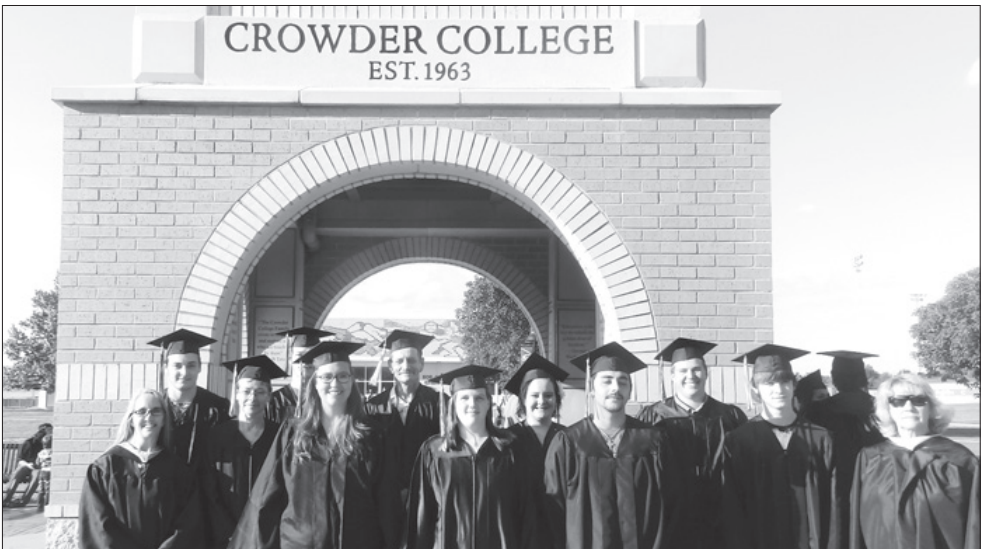

"We are evaluating those numbers to determine our best action plan for student and parent needs."

Final enrollment figures will be released after Labor

Day once everything can be verified.

The AEL Instructors are Janet Ballard, Liz Hendrix and Anne Collier. The Cassville and Seligman class sites are two of 12 Adult Education and Literacy class sites in the Crowder College AEL Program.

In line with the Missouri Department of Elementary and Secondary Education, all programs across the state, including Crowder College Adult Education and Literacy, will soon be moving away from the 2002 paper/pencil GED®/High School Equivalency test. Crowder AEL will begin helping people prepare to take a new computer-based test in 2014.

For those who wish to take the current version of the test before January, GED applications are due to DESE no later than September 1, 2013. The test takers who attempted the test, but did not successfully complete it, the application is due to DESE by November 4, 2013. Applications currently require a $20 payment. The application form and instructions may be downloaded and printed at www.hse.mo.gov. An additional fee of $20 must be paid to the testing center when registering for the test.

For information about Cassville AEL enrollment dates, contact the class site at 847-1706. For information about Seligman AEL enrollment dates, contact the class site at 826-5982.

For more information about the new high school equivalency test, please contact Crowder College AEL Director, Juli DeNisco at 417-455-5521 or julidenisco@crowder.edu.

The Missouri Department of Conservation and The Department of Natural Resources will host Kids Fishing Day, August 17, at Roaring River State Park. At this event, young anglers will have opportunities to catch fish and learn about fishing at Roaring River State Park.

At Kids' Fishing Day, children age 15 and under will be able to pick up free trout tags at the hatchery office any time the day before the event (Friday, August 16) or all day on the day of the event. A portion of the park's fishing area will be reserved for youths age 15 and under. Volunteers will be on hand to help out. Children are encouraged to bring their own fishing equipment. Parents are welcome to assist kids, but only one pole may be used between helper and child. Adults are not allowed to fish by themselves. Free hotdogs, chips, and soda will be available 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

OACAC Hosts School Readiness Fair

OACAC held their annual School Readiness Fair on August 8th from 12:00 p.m. until 3:00 p.m.

The event was held in the Crowder community building, and the students received school supplies and backpacks. Many booths were set up during the School Readiness Fair, helping kids and their families get ready for the upcoming school year.

A total of 151 kids Pre-K through 12th grade participated, 82 of those kids are from the Cassville area. The events theme was "Adventures in Learning" and participants received a treasure map to be stamped at each booth, receiving a prize once all the booths were attended.

Gail Reed, Supervisor stated, "It's fun to watch the community during this event. There are lots of booths and we try to do a theme to make it fun while families get their information." Haircuts for students were provided by Kristyn Finocchiaro and Cristy Delossantos from Electric Beach. A pair of shoes were given to each participant also, provided by the Methodist Church. Vision tests and screenings were given, and Access Family Care provided dental checks and fluoride varnish.

Jacque Howell and Tonya Wogoman from University Missouri Extensions handed out pencil bags with a few supplies inside, nutrition information and even recipes. Angela Cole from the Barry County Sheriff's office was at the event providing information on D.A.R.E. (Drug Abuse Resistance Education). MPACT was also in attendance presenting information about Missouri Parents Act, which assists children and families in the special needs program.

The local Cassville YMCA handed out information about their programs and activities to parents. Many after school activities were presented to the students such as a Barry-Lawrence Library booth, Girl Scouts, Boy scouts, and 4H. Crowder College also had a booth at the event to introduce after high school opportunities.

Sales tax revenue sees slight increase

Rachael Freeman

Cassville's sale tax revenue totals for the end of July were up 5.6 percent compared this time last year. For the month of July, Cassville's sale tax generated $56,009.15. For the same month in 2012, the tax brought in $53,041.57. Year-to-date, Cassville's revenues are down 1.4 percent from the City's projected budget.

The County's revenue has also increased for the month of July. For July, Barry County's sales tax revenue was up 1.2 percent from June's figures. July generated $115,522.39, and increase of $1,277.69.

For the year, Barry County's revenue is down 3.18 percent.

SWEPCO Controversy concerns BC residents

Samantha Barberio

A new concern is facing Northwest Arkansas and is now slowly making its way to Barry County. Southwestern Electric Power Company (SWEPCO) is introducing a power line project that could encroach on the natural beauty of the area.

The proposed project would push through a 150-foot-wide cleared right-of-way studded with 150-foot-tall electrical transmission towers. The plan is for the power lines to go directly through the southern part of Missouri. This could cause devaluation of land and even cause people directly under the power lines to move.

More about this potentially devastating decision for Barry County and its residents will appear in next week's edition.

Purdy High School recognized with third place at FBLA national conference

Both Taylor Reynolds (left) and Brittany Schultz (right) will attend Ozarks Technical Community College in Springfield this fall.

Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA), the largest and oldest student business organization, held their National Leadership Conference (NLC) in Anaheim, California, at the Hilton Anaheim, June 27- 30. Taylor Reynolds and Brittany Schultz from Purdy High School received national recognition at the FBLA Awards of Excellence on June 30.

Reynolds and Schultz competed in Business Financial Plan and brought home a third place award. The award was part of a comprehensive competitive events program sponsored by FBLA. Individuals, state teams and local chapters were encouraged to compete in any of the over 50 different events representing a wide range of activities and the business and leadership development focus of FBLA. The Financial Business Plan event is comprised of two parts, written and performance. Reynolds and Schultz had to write a report detailing the financial plan for a business and then give a presentation to judges and answer questions about their plan. In addition to their third place Award of Excellence, the team received a $400 cash award from H & R Block.

"Taylor and Brittany had decided early in the year they wanted to do well at state and advance to nationals. They worked very hard and put in quite a bit of time to accomplish their goal. It was very exciting to see them on the stage at the awards program and then get third place in the nation. I am very proud of them and hope other students realize it is a realistic goal to compete at nationals regardless of the size of their school," said Kay Wright, Purdy FBLA adviser, who accompanied Reynolds and Schultz to Anaheim.

While in Anaheim, Wright, Reynolds and Schultz visited the DASH store on Melrose Avenue, Beverly Hills, Santa Monica Beach, and California Adventure Park. The group also took a whale watching tour and experienced Disneyland with their personal guide, Hannah Sperandio, a Purdy graduate and Disneyland intern.

Beeson Legacy lives on Volunteers help rebuild Beeson bluebird boxes

By Heidi Lowe

When I woke up to rain Saturday morning, it crossed my mind that maybe what this community really needed to build was an ark. As the rain stopped and the sun broke through the heavy clouds, it was hard not to smile and think about Laurance Beeson; to imagine him looking down on all the great people who were gathering at LeCompte's Building Supply to help rebuild his legacy.

Dozens of family members and volunteers of all ages rallied to restore more than fifty bluebird boxes that were destroyed along the Beeson Family Blue Bird Trail on July 19-20.

Working in assembly line fashion, volunteers took about four hours to cut, pre-drill, assemble, and paint 83 new homes for our resident bluebirds. An additional five boxes were donated, making a total of 88 boxes that will be hung in the following months.

LeCompte's Building Supply, TH Rogers, Home Depot, Sater Pharmacy and Stumpff Auction all made generous donations to the project, as did many private individuals. One woman even dropped off some lovely bluebird-blue cupcakes.

"We are just amazed," Lloyd Beeson said on Saturday. "We lose some boxes every year and we just quietly put them back up. When we lost so many we just never imagined in our wildest dreams that something like this would happen. That the community would come together like this to help us out is just amazing."

The family wants to show their appreciation to the community by extending their trail and hanging the boxes that were built on Saturday along the Greenway Trail in Cassville.

"People were just so generous," Lloyd said. "We got enough wood to rebuild the others. But the community came together to get these built, and I want the community to be able to enjoy them."

Building bluebird boxes is just a fact of life for the Beesons, something that has bonded generation to generation for over forty years. I saw a tiny Beeson at the elbow of an older kid who looked like he was still getting the hang of his power drill. Lloyd looked on, giving direction and some good natured teasing.

At the painting table teenagers happily painted alongside great aunts and parents and siblings, heckling each other and getting into the occasional paint fight.

Kids were cheered on as they worked diligently painting boxes, tables, and themselves in wide sloppy strokes, or learned how to use a hammer with the help of an uncle.

It's easy to see that Laurance Beeson's legacy will live on through the strength of this family and the hearts of the community. It's my hope that these cheery blue boxes will inspire other families to start projects of their own. As Margaret Mead once said: "Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed people can change the world. Indeed, it is the only thing that ever has."

See more pictures from Saturday's event at www.4bcaonline.com. Starting your own family project? We would love to hear about it. Email us at editor@4bca.com.

Bluebird Box Vandalism is a serious crime

Missouri Bluebirds are protected by the Missouri Department of Conservation, as well as under the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of 1918.

This means that it is a federal crime to destroy nests or to disturb nesting birds. Punishments for violations can vary based on the severity of the offense, the birds affected and the record of the individual charged.

Misdemeanor violations can lead to fines up to $1,500 and up to six months in jail, while felony violations (typically crimes connected with an intent to sell, trade or barter birds) can have fines up to $2,000 and up to two years in jail.

If multiple birds are affected, sentences can be stacked, leading to far more substantial fines and lengthy jail sentences.

Bluebirds are also protected in Missouri under Operation Game Thief. Information leading to arrest is eligible for a reward up to $1000.

If you witness a wildlife violation, report it to your local conservation agent, or call the toll free number at 1-800-392-1111. You may remain anonymous

CHS boasts elevated grad rates

The Missouri State Department of Elementary and Secondary Education has posted on its website comparative rates for the years 2011, 2012 and 2013, taking into account the number of students entering high school as freshmen and the number of the same students that successfully graduate four years later.

Districts in Missouri started reporting a second graduation in 2011 based on students beginning as freshmen. The rate for graduation is calculated based on how many students graduate in four years, making adjustments for transfer students.

Education leaders have said the four year rate, which is required by the U.S. Department of education to allow rates to be compared across the county, can help school districts understand the student populations that don't earn regular diplomas or who take longer than four years to finish high school.

"We recognize that not all students will graduate from high school in four years, but by using data effectively, we can identify the characteristics of students who may be at risk or may take longer to succeed," Chris Nicastro, Missouri's commissioner of education, said when the new rate was introduced

In the state of Missouri, 87.64 percent of students graduate within four years according to the most recent numbers, improvement from 2011 when the rate was 81.42 percent. Cassville's current graduation rate is above the state average and most schools in the area at 93.15 percent in 2013, up from 90.24 percent in 2011.

Comparatively, McDonald County's 2013 rate was only 89.50 percent and Monett's was 92.59 percent. Cassville's rates prove its superiority in aiding students achieve their high school diploma in four years, holding one of the higher rates of the schools in the state of Missouri.

Missouri Department of Insurance Reaches Million Dollar Settlement

The Missouri Department of Insurance announced today a settlement with Time Insurance Co., Union Security Insurance Co. and John Alden Life Insurance Co. related to their coverage of health benefits required by state law. State insurance regulators allege that the three health insurance companies that issue policies for Assurant Health violated Missouri law in how claims were being handled.

A market conduct examination into the three companies found several instances where the companies denied claims for childhood immunizations, colon cancer screenings, mammograms, Pap smears and prostate screenings. In some cases, claim payments were denied or reduced because the companies imposed waiting periods, copayments or deductibles for these preventive care procedures.

"Consumers pay their premiums and expect their health insurance companies to give them access to preventive care checkups, screenings and tests," said John M. Huff, director of the Department of Insurance. "When health insurance companies fail to provide these basic benefits required by Missouri law, the health of Missouri citizens suffers as a result."

Under the settlement agreement, the three companies will:

- Agree to provide childhood immunizations to Missouri residents without copayments, coinsurance, deductibles or waiting periods.
- Review all denied claims for childhood immunizations, colon cancer screenings, mammograms, Pap smears, prostate screenings and paid claims for short-term major medical submitted to each company since Jan. 1, 2004.
- Pay those claims that should have been paid along with interest at a rate prescribed by law.
- Modify their processes to comply with state law in the future.
- Pay a $500,000 fine to the Missouri State School Fund.
- Donate $500,000 to a Missouri charitable or non-profit organization or organizations selected by the companies and approved by the department.

In market conduct exams and investigations, the department reviews insurance companies' practices regarding the treatment of policyholders for compliance with Missouri law. This includes the way premium rates are charged, the way insurers handle claims and other responsibilities under state law. These reviews can result in refunds for consumers, fines and corrections in business practices, as well as other remedies.

Since the beginning of 2009, the Market Conduct Section has recovered more than $16.3 million in recoveries for consumers or for the public and in fines, which by law go to the Missouri State School Fund.

Consumers with complaints or questions about their insurance can call the department's Insurance Consumer Hotline at 800-726-7390 or file a complaint at insurance.mo.gov.

Ready, Set, Back to School

Samantha Barberio

Get ready. School bells are ringing and so are early morning alarm clocks. Most people are getting back in the swing of school this week, with homework and after school activities. With all this going on, sometimes you need ideas to lighten the load.

Many issues can be easily resolved with organization. Before you drown yourself in a sea of schedules and school functions, designate a calendar for family time management. In this case, a large paper calendar or dry erase board works best for plenty of room to write in activities. Using a different colored pen for each family member will allow you to easily see who is doing what at any given time.

Another important aspect is the morning school schedule. Each evening, think ahead to see how you can combat morning madness. A great tip is to make a "landing pad" for everyone to keep their next day out-the-door items. A bookcase works great for this concept, leaving a specific shelf for everyone to store their items.

When school starts back up, it can be surprisingly difficult to sit down and enjoy a meal together as a family. What helps most is planning your meals ahead of time. Planning them on the fly can make family members fend for themselves, encouraging everyone to skip nutrition and family time. Also, take advantage of making cold meals, turn breakfast into dinner and lean on seafood more often. Another great idea is, on the weekend, while cooking a meal, make more than you need then save the leftovers for a hectic week night. Not only do family meals provide healthier eating, it also helps families stay engaged in each other's lives.

Remember these tips for a healthy, happy and productive school year!

Two new positions at Purdy Schools

Purdy R-2 Schools Superintendent Dr. Steven Chancellor announced the creation of two new positions within the district. Mindi Gates will serve as K-12 Instructional Coach and Professional Development/Curriculum Coordinator. Her duties will include creating a system of curriculum, assessment, and instruction that will ensure success for all students and supporting teachers through mentoring and quality professional development.

Donna Terry, a 14-year Purdy Schools employee, will serve as the new K-8 Literacy

American Legion Post 118 Makes History

On August 12th, 2013, Irwin-Easley American Legion Post 118 made history for the state of Missouri when COL (RET) Michele Hovland, newly appointed 15th District American Legion Commander, swore in CW3 (RET) Darrell Hovland, her husband as the incoming post commander. Missouri Legion Department Historian Paul Bennett said this was a first for the state of Missouri and a possible first for the National American Legion, that a wife has sworn in her husband. Only recently have women been admitted to the upper echelon of the organization.

Post 118 has a long history dating back to its first charter in 1939. Currently as a non-profit organization, Post 118 continues the long, proud history in supporting our fellow veterans, their families, current service members, dedicated supporter of mentoring youth and sponsorship of wholesome programs in our community, while staunch advocate of patriotism and Americanism.

The American Legion was chartered by Congress in 1919 as a patriotic veterans' organization. The Legion evolved from a group of war-weary veterans of World War I into one of the most influential nonprofit groups in the United States. The legion has a long-standing history focusing on service to rehabilitation of our disabled veterans, care of the dependents of those who have answered the final call and of those who are suffering the ravages of wounds.

As for the care of veterans, it was a past legion commander, who in December 1943, wrote the draft GI-Bill, get better jobs, buy houses in the suburbs and raise families. This is considered the Legion's single greatest legislative achievement, and has been defined as the genesis of the middle class.

The legion recognizes the importance of supporting future generations with right and suitable education of the children of our country, starting nearly 95 years ago with sponsorships for the Boy Scouts, later incorporating Legion baseball, Boys State, and High School Oratorical Contest. Additionally, today Post 118 Legion and Post 118 Auxiliary sponsor Girls State.

Exeter Fire Department Receives Grant

During July and August, matching funds grant checks for rural fire departments are being distributed by the Missouri Department of Conservation, Forestry Division staff.

One hundred eighty-two fire departments are receiving checks for up to $4,000 to help with the purchase of personal protective gear and fire fighting equipment for wildfire as well as structure fire suppression efforts.

The total funding awarded to Missouri fire departments through the matching funds grant program this year is $354,467. Fire departments are required to match 50 percent of the funds which are provided by the Missouri Department of Conservation and the US Forest Service, Volunteer Fire Assistance Program.

Throughout the last 30 years, over $7 million has been distributed to rural fire departments to help them increase the safety of their fire fighters and provide them with better fire fighting equipment.

League Golf Update

The recent weather has hindered the Cassville Men's Golf League from taking to the course the past two weeks.

Although Tuesday's weather was questionable, 24 avid golfers took to the Cassville Golf Course for league competition.

Winners were: Art Nolan, net 60, first place; Dan Gipple, net 62, second place; Doug Louk, net 63, third place; and Jack Shoup, net 65, fourth place.

Hal Every and Bob York. Closest to the pin #6 Dan Gipple,#8 Ronny sure shot Langston, #11 Mr. Dennis Wade.

Surprisingly, not a single golfer hit the green on hole #17. The skins winners were Dan Gipple, Jack Shoup, Art Nolan and Dennis Wade. It was a fun day.

The mighty Condor: As unlikely as a hole-in-one is on a par three, imagine making one on a par five. This highly unusual shot, informally known as a Condor, has only been verified four times.

Southwest graduate takes over as Trojan's boys basketball coach

Samantha Barberio

Southwest High School welcomes a new boys basketball head coach this year, Rusty Roe. Roe is transferring from Wheaton High School to Southwest this summer after eight years of coaching at Wheaton. His previous job duties included P.E./Conditioning teacher, athletic director and head boys basketball coach for junior high and high school. Under Roe's supervision, Wheaton won conference in 2010-2011, were runner up in district for 2010-2011 and district champions in 2011-2012. Roe also received Coach of the Year during his nine years of coaching.

Roe states, "I have to say that I loved my time at Wheaton and I am very grateful for the opportunity that they gave me to coach and teach." Roe also mentions how he developed a relationship with the Wheaton community.

Coach Roe spent most of his life in Washburn, moving to the town at the age of four and graduating in 2000. He mentions his past with the Southwest school district, stating, "Southwest is where I graduated and where I spent my childhood. I have family that is still in the district and, most importantly, I felt like this was an opportunity that I really wanted to take for myself and my family." Roe also grew up with his dad being a huge part of the school district. Jim Roe spent time as a coach, principal and superintendent at Southwest.

Roe is expecting many great things from his new team at Southwest this upcoming season. Southwest lost a core group of players from last years Ozark 7 Championship team. However, Roe states, "We have players that know what it takes to win, and who are very capable of stepping up and becoming players that continue the on court success that several teams before them have had." He also has high expectations for the team, "The team's goal will be to win each day that we are together. We have to make sure that we are doing the 'little things' correct each day in order to have realistic expectations for success."

ROE

He has also been familiarizing himself with the team this summer, stating, "It is difficult in such a short time for me to know them as well as I need and vice-versa." However, Roe still has quite a few months before the official season starts to get to know his team, including their strengths and weaknesses.

His current job at Southwest will be head coach, P.E. and body conditioning instructor. Roe states, "I love my job because of the opportunity I get to be around students on and off the basketball court. I am sure that it will take some time to build relationships with players, but that is part of the excitement about being at a new school," states Roe. "I am excited to be back where I grew up and to have the opportunity to give back to a community that gave so much to me and my family while I was there."

Roe is married to Ashley Roe, who has also transferred to Southwest from Wheaton and will be teaching 3rd grade. The Roes have two girls, Sydney and Demi. They are all looking forward to their time at the Southwest school district.

Bad weather causes wreck in Shell knob

Paula Andersen

Rain slick roads can fool drivers into thinking that roads are safer than they appear. At approximately 12:00 p.m. on Wednesday, August 7th, a driver and two passengers ended up in an upside down situation on Highway 39 four miles north of Shell Knob near the Eddie Davison farm.

The road turns to the east rather quickly and drivers are warned to slow to 45 mph. However, there have been more than 12 accidents there in the last year according to neighbors.

This time, a white Ford pickup fell victim to the curve. The driver did not want to be identified.

He said he was not talking on a cell phone but might have been distracted by his passengers talking when taking the curve.

It was a road that he had not been on before and it caught him by surprise as to how he lost traction with fairly new truck tires.

Carl and Maxine Cooper of Wheaton will celebrate their 63rd wedding anniversary at a reception in their honor on Sunday, Aug. 18, 2013, at the Wheaton United Methodist Church, located at 101 Santee St. in Wheaton.

Danny and Catherine Davis of Exeter will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on August 10, 2013. Mr. and Mrs. Davis were united in marriage by Rev. Paul Yarnall on August 10, 1963. They moved to Exeter in 1978 where they have resided for the past 35 years.

They have one son, Chris Davis and his wife, Megan, of Ridgley; and three grandchildren, Madison Davis of Exeter, Jaden Davis and Brayden Kerfoot.

Budget-friendly outdoor renovations ideas

Homeowners are increasingly extending their living spaces outside the walls of their homes. Expansive and intricate stonework patios and decked-out outdoor kitchens are the kind of additions many homeowners dream of. Those with unlimited budgets can enjoy just about any look they desire, but many homeowners may not have the money to go all the way with their outdoor living spaces. But that doesn't mean it's impossible to create budget-friendly spaces that are functional, fun and eye catching.

Decks and patios are popular gathering spots outside a home, and homeowners have numerous inexpensive options at their disposal when choosing patio materials. And those who can do their own labor when installing a patio can save a substantial amount of money. Instead of higher-priced composite or resin decks, homeowners can go with standard wood, which will need to be stained periodically.

Scaling back the size of the deck means less materials to buy and less labor involved.

The cost of patio blocks depends on the material and style. Poured concrete patios will cost less than placed blocks or stones because concrete is less labor-intensive. For those who desire the look of patio blocks without the cost, stamped concrete can mimic the look for less.

Homeowners may not need to replace patio furniture, even if chairs and tables have seen better days. A can of spray paint can cover up any rusted areas or spots where paint has peeled off due to exposure to the elements. Updating cushions and purchasing a coordinating umbrella can revitalize the patio's entire look. Also, very often stores run sales to clear out merchandise for new displays.

Defining edges of planting borders and refreshing the landscape may be all that is needed to improve the yard. This is easily achieved with inexpensive mulch and some vinyl edging. While cleaning up the yard, use a pressure washer to clean stains off of siding and patios and create a like-new appearance.

End-of-season sales can also be the ideal opportunity to purchase big-ticket items like a pool, a hot tub or an outdoor fireplace/fire pit. Shoppers can learn when stores discount their merchandise to make room for new inventory and then use these sales as opportunities to save.

Sometimes saving means repurposing antiques or items found at garage sales. Thanks to the Internet, people can easily advertise items they no longer need or desire. A person can search for backyard items they need at a deep discount if they are fine with previously used materials. From patio furniture to masonry blocks to above-ground pools, patient homeowners can find just about any item they may need to upgrade their backyards.

Though not all homeowners can afford to create the backyard of their dreams, with a little ingenuity and some sweat hard work, homeowners can still create an outdoor oasis.

Contaminated Compost showing up in Missouri.

“The culprit can be one of any three herbicides which have been approved for use on pastures and forage crops,” said David Trinklein, University of Missouri Extension horticulture specialist.

Newer versions of herbicides with active ingredients such as clopyralid, picloram and aminopyralid can pass through the digestive systems of foraging animals and arrive, unchanged, in the manure. If that manure is composted, gardeners could unwittingly introduce these plant-killing compounds into their soil, Trinklein said.

“My first encounter with this was with a gentleman in northwestern Missouri who was using buffalo manure for composting,” Trinklein said. “We were able to demonstrate, on tomato, that there was something in the compost.”

So why not just test compost before selling it? Commercial testing for these chemicals is costly.

“The test is between $300 and $400 per chemical,” Trinklein said. “Say you test for picloram and it’s not found in the sample. You’ll have to spend another $400 to test for another chemical. You would have to keep testing until you find the culprit. Meanwhile, you’ve spent $400 a test.”

It’s not just compost. These herbicides can show up in mulch too.

“Let’s say a farmer put up hay but it got wet. Normally that would be great for mulch,” Trinklein said. “But if that hay had been treated with picloram, avoid using it since there is the potential for the herbicide to leach into the soil and harm plants.”

Once these herbicides have been added to the soil, through compost or mulch, there aren’t many options for correcting the problem. You can remove and replace the soil, but that is expensive, labor-intensive and time-consuming.

You also have the option to wait until soil microbes break down the herbicides naturally, but these new-generation herbicides have lengthy half –lives of months to years.

“These herbicides, ultimately, will break down, but it might take a couple of years, depending on the concentration,” Trinklein said. “We would hope that in most cases we could plant the following year, but one may want to avoid herbicide-sensitive plants, such as tomato.”

The good news is there’s a simple and inexpensive way to test for these compounds. Take green bean seeds and plant them into the compost.

“Green beans are very sensitive to herbicide,” Trinklein said. “If the seedlings come up okay, the compost is good. If they come up twisted and damaged, allow the compost to age until the herbicide is broken down.”

It is important not to panic. “We don’t want to dissuade people from using compost and organic matter,” Trinklein said. “They’re the gardener’s best friend when it comes to building healthy soil. Gardeners should find out whether the compost supplier has used animal manure, and if so, make sure the animals have not been fed forages sprayed with these herbicides.”

In this situation, being informed and proactive is your best defense. Home-owners and green-industry professionals should use the green bean test before they work compost into the soil. Also, talk with your garden supplier. Make sure they’re aware of the problem and discuss the steps they are taking to avoid it.

PURDY FFA MEMBERS ATTEND MISSOURI LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

Standing: Alex Mareth, Jake Beaty, Jake Terry, Jared Smith, Jayse Henderson, Shelby Thomas, Melanie Heston. Seated: State Officers Mitchell Blehm, First Vice-President from Area 10; and Carlee Buckner, First Vice-President from Area 16.

Members from the Purdy FFA Chapter recently attended the Missouri FFA Association's 2013 Leadership Adventure in Springfield. It was held Friday, August 2nd, at the Christopher L. Bond Learning Center in the Darr Agricultural Center at Missouri State University.

Agricultural careers, leadership development, and positive role models were the focus of the 23rd annual conference. Columbia was one of two locations for this conference, the other in Springfield. Over 250 members and advisors registered for the two conferences from 38 chapters across Missouri. Nearly 6,500 Missouri FFA members and advisors have attended The Leadership Adventure since its beginning in 1990.

According to Conference Coordinators Marvin and Karen Hoskey, "This conference annually provides an excellent opportunity for Missouri FFA members to interact with other chapter, state, and national leaders. The sessions foster development of leadership skills and encourage students to practice teamwork and goal setting as they get motivated for the coming school year."

The leadership training was headed by Andrew McCrea, former state and national officer from Missouri and Corey Flournoy, former state and national officer from Illinois. They were assisted by Sonja Perry, National Officer Candidate from Missouri. Current State FFA Officers from Missouri guided small groups during the training sessions, which were designed specifically for high school age FFA members' personal leadership development and planning for future success. Students wanting to learn the basics of self-discovery and understanding their leadership potential were taken through activities to develop teamwork and people skills. The training focused on helping students create an advanced plan for lasting impact on the world through utilizing personal leadership traits and healthy relationships to make their goals a reality.

Flood Effects on Grain Crops

The primary damage to plants (other than lodging) from flooding or ponding is oxygen deprivation. The oxygen content of water is much lower than air — even air within the soil. Water in soil (water-logging) or above the soil surface (flooding) means there is much less oxygen available to plants. Living plant tissues, including roots, require oxygen for respiration from which high energy compounds are made. These compounds are required for nearly all other life reactions. Low oxygen availability means that the entire process of respiration slows. If oxygen levels decrease too much, plant respiration changes to a pathway similar to fermentation. While some life-sustaining energy is produced during fermentation, energy production is reduced by up to 95 percent. So, one effect of low oxygen is drastically reduced metabolism, which can sharply reduce yield and, if long enough in duration, cause death to a portion or the entire plant.

Fermentation produces several chemicals, including lactic acid, acetaldehyde and ethanol, that are harmful to plants. The most problematic chemical is lactic acid, not from direct toxicity, but because of its effect on cell pH. Accumulation of lactic acid lowers pH. If pH drops too much, cell enzymes denature or precipitate out of solution. Most plant and tissue death is probably related to this acidosis.

The extent of the damage of flooding on plants is related to at least three factors: the temperature of the water, the amount of water motion and the duration of the flood. Temperature affects the speed of respiration. The faster the respiration, the quicker oxygen is depleted and the sooner fermentation begins. Warm water speeds respiration, oxygen use and cell death. The faster water moves the greater the degree of turbulence. This water turbulence oxygenates the water, slightly. Increasing oxygen content of the water slightly decreases the impact of flooding on plants. Duration of the flood is important because many of the effects of low oxygen on plants are reversible if the duration is not too long. Long durations allow for increased oxygen depletion and the build up of harmful chemicals. Although local conditions influence the effects, 36 to 48 hours is often the tolerable limit.

Soil drainage properties can aggravate the flooding effect. Soils high in clay content or with other drainage restrictions prolong the flooding and remain waterlogged after floodwaters recede.

Location of the plant's growing point may affect response to flooding. Growing points are areas of intense cell growth and rapid respiration. In general, corn can tolerate flooding better than soybean. But, if flooding occurs in the spring, the corn growing point is near the soil surface (below or above), making it likely to be submersed longer. The soybean growing point is located at tip of stem and may remain above water.

Effects from flooding may last long after floodwaters recede. Soybean plants may turn yellow because oxygen for nodule function had been reduced. This nitrogen deficiency should be temporary. Corn may suffer from N loss through de-nitrification. Unless more N is supplied, permanent yield reduction is possible. Sometimes floodwaters deposit silt and residue on leaves. Photosynthesis will be reduced until the soil and residue are washed from the leaves by subsequent rain. Finally roots are often damaged, and thus, more susceptible to disease organisms. Disease symptoms may not appear until several weeks or even months after the flood event.

Local Attends Girls State Education Program

Ashleigh Lawrence of Cassville has returned home, having spent a week immersed in learning the ins and outs of the life of a state legislator, holding political conventions and listening to speakers from various levels of local, county and state government. To cap off the experience Lawrence was appointed County Central Committee Woman.

Girls State is a government education program for outstanding teenage girls that introduces them to the structure and functions of the state government. These youthful lawmakers caucus at the beginning of the session, organize into two political parties and conduct legislative sessions, campaigning, party rallies, debating and voting. The citizens also receive special instruction in parliamentary procedure.

American Legion Auxiliary was responsible for sending Lawrence to Girls State on the campus of University of Central Missouri in Warrensburg.

"It was a huge honor to be part of Missouri Girls State," Lawrence said. "I made memories that will last a lifetime and I want to thank the American Legion Auxiliary for giving me this opportunity."

Founded in 1919, the American Legion Auxiliary is the largest patriotic women's service organization in the world, with nearly one million members. The orga-

Wheaton Tax Rate Hearing

A hearing will be held at 6:00 p.m., Thursday, August 15, 2013 at the Wheaton School Elementary Workroom, at which time citizens may be heard regarding property tax rates proposed to be set by the Wheaton R-III School District, located in Barry, Newton and McDonald counties.

The tax rates are set to earn substantially the revenues which the budget requires for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2013 and show the amount of revenue needed by the current assessed valuation.

The result is multiplied by 100 so the tax rate will be expressed in cents per $100 (one hundred dollars) valuation. All information provided herein is based on estimates.

Farmers' Market contest postponed

Due to the extreme amount of rain and the forecast of more rain on Saturday morning August 10th, the Berry Pie Contest and auction will be postponed until September 21st.

The event will be held during The Old Fashioned Horticulture Fair.

Barry County Health Department Monthly Food Service Report

The Health Department divides food service code violations into two categories: Critical and Non-Critical Violations.

Critical Violations are more likely than other violations to contribute to food contamination, or illness and/or injury.

Non-Critical Violations although important to the overall hygiene of the establishment, do not necessarily present an immediate threat to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

A report for each establishment that is inspected shows the number of critical violations, along with a short statement as to the nature of the violations. The report also shows the number of non-critical violations but doesn't list the nature of those violations.

Missouri Department of Insurance Provides Back-to-School Checklist

When checking off items for college, the Missouri Department of Insurance is encouraging families to review their insurance policies to see what is covered while students are away at college.

"It's important that students and parents discuss their insurance coverage now," said John M. Huff, director of the Department of Insurance. "You don't want to wait until you need to file a claim to find out whether you have insurance coverage."

Huff says insurance needs and coverage may change when a student leaves for college. He offers these tips for families to make sure their college-bound students are properly covered:

Auto insurance: If your child is taking a car to college, check with your insurance agent. The price and coverage of your policy may change based on the city and state where your child will live. In addition, see if your insurance company offers a discount for a student's good grades. The department has a new auto insurance guide and video that provides basic information on car insurance. The video and guide are located on the department's website at <http://insurance.mo.gov/consumers/auto/auto.php>.

Homeowners and renters insurance: Ask your agent if your child's possessions will be covered under your homeowners policy. Some policies cover a student's possessions if they live on campus. For students living off campus, consider renters insurance, which costs about $8-21 per month. A landlord's policy will only cover the building, not the tenant's possessions. The department has a new new video that highlights basic renters insurance on its website insurance.mo.gov.

Health insurance: Most young adults can stay on their parents' health insurance up to age 26, regardless of marital status, financial dependency, residence or enrollment in school. Students should take copies of their insurance cards and check their parents' health insurance plans to know which physicians and hospitals are in their network while away at school.

The department also encourages college students, as well as all consumers, to complete a home inventory, which is an itemized checklist of all possessions. A home inventory can make the process of filing a claim much more efficient in the event of fire, storm damage or theft.

An easy-to-use home inventory checklist is available for free on the department's website, along with free smartphone apps. The address for the download link is <http://insurance.mo.gov/consumers/home/homeinventorychecklist.php>.

Students and parents with insurance questions can contact the department's Insurance Consumer Hotline at 800-726-7390 or visit insurance.mo.gov.

Wheaton Historical Society Publishes Cookbook

The Wheaton Historical Society and the Wheaton Depot Museum is announcing the society's newly published cookbook, "Cooking Past and Present". The cookbook will be available at the 55th Annual Wheaton Firemen's BBQ on August 24th in the Wheaton City Park.

The price of the book is $10 each through August 24th and will increase to $12 after that date. Proceeds from the sale of cookbooks will be applied to the remaining debt incurred for the restoration of the depot located on Main Street in Wheaton. Members of the Wheaton Historical Society, friends and family have complied their tastiest tried-and-true recipes into a single book, and it contains 500 recipes including appetizers, desserts and full meals. Each recipe includes the contributor's name, so it's easy to find recipes of friends and family members.

Special features include old recipes from former Wheaton Community residents dating back to the earliest days of Wheaton and up to date recipes. The Historical Society has dedicated the cookbook to the students of Jason Navarro, Wheaton history teacher, who led his students to excel in state and national history competitions.

The book includes a short history of the Wheaton Fire Department and the Wheaton Train Depot and it's restoration.

Cookbooks can be purchased at the Wheaton Depot Museum, Angel Tree Florist, and Gail's Beauty Shop in Wheaton. You may call Sue Wilkins at (417)-652-3736, Betty Lamberson at (417)-652-7488 for your book, or come to the Firemen's BBQ in Wheaton, August 24th.

Trash Service Billing Error Results in Unexpected Refund Checks

Charlea Mills

The Cassville City Council meeting discussed an unusual budget change for the month of August. Residents of Cassville were accidentally overcharged for their rolling trash carts provided through Allied/Republic trash service since the beginning of 2013.

Many customers had a second cart that was supposed to be billed for $4 per month; however the city billed for the full price, $14.75. Office staff was not made aware of the information regarding proper billing prior to being made aware of the issue.

Overall, the city had to refund customers $924.50 for overpayment. Fifteen Cassville residents received refund checks for the city's error.

My basement is wet; now what?

Few things can cause more damage to a home than water. Leaks and flooding can cause various structural insufficiencies and may lead to unsafe conditions in a home. Panic often sets in when water enters a home.

Some homeowners live in areas where a high water table inevitably forces groundwater up and into subterranean living spaces. Others may live close to coastal areas or rivers and streams that can overflow and cause home flooding. Still others who may not have had a water problem before learn that a heavy rainfall, and perhaps inadequate drainage outdoors, can cause water damage to a home.

Compounding these issues is the fact that very often a home's utility systems are located out of the way in basements, or these spaces may be finished to create additional living space. Water in a basement can be much more than a nuisance. Water can lead to thousands of dollars in damage.

Moisture or several inches of water in a basement is nothing to take lightly. Furnaces and water heaters damaged by water can be costly to replace. Wires that come in contact with water can become hazards and cause an electrical fire, and water in a basement may be a harbinger for bacteria and viruses, creating unsanitary living conditions in the home. Mold spores that have developed in a damp basement can spread to other areas of the home thanks to a heating and cooling forced air system. And a cool, damp spot can be the perfect habitat for insects.

When a basement develops a water problem, it is best to call in a professional. Although it might not be cheap, calling a professional can help you to remedy the situation faster than if you try several methods to fix the water problem yourself. When looking for a waterproofing company, seek recommendations from people you trust. Only do business with licensed professional contractors who are willing to give you a free estimate. You also can check out businesses by contacting consumer advocacy groups. You may be able to read up on their business practices and learn if there have been any complaints lodged against a company in the past.

Hydrostatic pressure, poor foundations and cracks can each cause water to enter the house. Each situation is different, and a combination of exterior and interior changes may need to be made. In order to alleviate some water problems, certain modifications must be made. While the following solutions may not be applicable in each situation, they are some of the more common modifications plumbers suggest when fixing flooded basements.

- Sump pump: In some cases, the installation of a well and a submersible pump may be all that's needed to keep basements dry. When water rises high enough to start the pump, the sump pump will then expel the water out through a pipe to a drain or the street. Sometimes a sump pump works in concert with a French drainage system, which is a channel around the perimeter of the basement that funnels water to the sump pump well.
- Vapor barriers: Vinyl, plastic and paint encapsulation systems may be applied to the interior of foundation walls to serve as a barrier system. This prevents water or condensation from reaching the interior of the house. A vapor barrier may extend below the foundation to direct water runoff into a drainage system.

- Exterior fixes: There are many ways to address flooding from outside the home. These include using outdoor vapor barriers and paints, having grading issues corrected so water will flow away from the home, digging of a swale to catch water away from the basement, exterior drainage systems, and utilizing specialized rain gutters and downspouts to direct water further away from the home during rainstorms.
- Plumbing repairs: Sometimes water issues may be the result of a pipe backup or a faulty appliance and not necessarily an outdoor water issue. In these cases, repairing the source of the leak may be all that's needed.

Library Summer Reading Club Concludes

Another year of Shell Knob and Eagle Rock's Summer Reading Club (SRC) has come to a successful end. SRC concluded with a pool party at the Cassville Aquatic Center Monday, July 29, 2013. Everyone enjoyed snacks provided by Country Fresh Market-Shell Knob.

Programs for the children, teens and adults were funded by donations from many local businesses and individuals. The Barry-Lawrence County Library appreciate every one of the generous donors of Shell Knob and Eagle Rock Missouri. Their donations make participation in the collaborative Summer Reading programs possible.

The Barry County Summer Reading Club celebrated with an end-of-program pool party at the Cassville Aquatic Center.

Notice of Public Hearing

A hearing will be held at 6:30 P.M., August 15, 2013, at the Southwest R-V High School Library. At this time, citizens may be heard on the property tax rates proposed to be set by Southwest R-V, a school district located in Barry and McDonald counties. The tax rates are set to produce the revenues, which the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2013 shows to be required from the property tax. Each tax rate is determined by dividing the amount of revenue needed by the current assessed valuation. The result is multiplied by 100 so the tax rate will be expressed in cents per $100 valuation.

Assessed Valuation (by categories)	Year 2012-2013	Year 2013-2014
Real Estate	$25,515,382	$25,697,098
Personal Property	$8,237,480	$8,412,813
Total	$33,752,862	$34,109,911

The following Tax rates are Proposed:
Assessed Valuation: $33,752,862

Fund	Amount of Property Tax Revenue Budgeted	Proposed Tax Rate Per $100
Incidental	$938,023	$2.75
Teachers	$0	$0.00
Debt Service	$289,934	$0.85
Total	$1,227,957	$3.60

New Construction (Total) $370,337
New Revenue from New Construction and Improvements: $13,332
Percentage of total revenue from New Construction 1.086%

Back to School, Drive Safe

With most schools back in session in Barry County this week, it is essential for drivers to be aware of students in the area. Sheriff Mick Epperly reminds residents that it is against the law to drive around a stopped school bus. To keep Barry County kids safe, be sure to obey all traffic laws and take extra caution during the transition back to school.

Drivers should be extra aware of students at bus stops, school zones, and anywhere a school bus is. If the flashers are on and the stop sign is out, stop and wait. Do not proceed until the flashers are off, the sign in, and the bus is in motion.

The kids are back in school

Teach them to play it safe!

Teaching kids to stay safe is a never-ending job, but when it comes to electricity, what you teach them can save their lives.

- Keep kites, balloons and model airplanes away from power lines.
- Never climb trees near power lines. Even if the lines aren't touching the tree, they could when more weight is added to the branch.
- Never climb a utility pole or tower. The electricity carried through this equipment is very high voltage and could kill you.
- Don't play on or around pad-mounted electrical equipment.
- Never go into an electric substation for any reason, even on a dare.
