Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas crowned

Charlea Mills

Cassville High School crowned this year's Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas at an assembly on Friday, December 20. Miss Merry Christmas was freshman Ashley Ray who raised a total of $2,058.98. Mister Merry Christmas was junior Cameron Koehler with a total of $2,640.83.

Each year, students compete to raise money for the Ozarks Area Community Action Corporation (OACAC). This year, the students collectively raised $13,052.30, a considerably higher amount than last year's total of $8,343.00.

Candidates are nominated by the Student Council for their character and merits. This was the 24th year that the school has crowned a Mr. and Miss Merry Christmas, each year the crown going to the two individual students who raise the most money for charity. Funds are raised in a variety of ways, including collection boxes placed at businesses.

All aboard the Polar Express

Asher Brink, of Pea Ridge, dozes on Santa's lap during the Polar Express's journey to Rogers, Arkansas.

Children were a-buzz with anticipation in the Community Building in Seligman on Saturday afternoon. Kids sipped hot chocolate and waited with their parents for the Polar Express to pull into the small town and take them on their journey.

When the train arrived, a huge group of families shuffled out into the dreary, rainy weather to board the train filled with holiday spirit. Each of the cars was decorated with garlands, Christmas lights and ornaments, giving the old-world train cars an even more magical feel.

Passengers on the train were treated to hot chocolate and cookies on the Arkansas and Missouri Railroad Polar Express. Then a group of carolers travelled from car to car leading everyone in a few rounds of favorite Christmas carols while the train made its way to Rogers, Arkansas.

The dreary weather outside couldn't dampen the warmth within the train as the passengers sang, ate, drank and were merry. Finally, the moment arrived that all of the kids had been waiting for, the big man in red made his way to each car to pose with the kids aboard.

Santa and his elf took pictures with children and

Cassville R-IV hires two new teachers

Charlea Mills

The Cassville school district has been monitoring the class size in the first and fourth grade classes since the beginning of the year. As numbers increased, it became evident that the classes needed new teachers to support the learning of the number of students enrolled, so beginning in the second semester, Cassville is welcoming two new teachers to their staff.

Superintendent Richard Asbill stated, "This year, we just have had a unique experience that the numbers have been increasing in the first and fourth grades specifically. We have been providing some base room interventions to help accommodate some of this growth, but it became evident as numbers continued to increase that we needed to look at adding an additional teacher to each of these grade levels."

Currently, first grade has a 27:1 ratio of students to teachers, and fourth grade's ratio is 27 or 28:1. With the addition of new teachers, that number will lower to 23:1 in first grade and 23 or 24:1 in fourth grade.

Asbill continued, "The Board of Education has been very supportive of our needs and has been monitoring the situation for several months. The Board asked the administrators to look at options and meet with teachers on possible plans to adjust or provide new classrooms. When we discussed the possible solutions in October and November, they were supportive of the plans.

"We came back to the Board this month with everything in place to appropriately provide a transition that was good for students, parents and teachers to start of second semester with the new classrooms."

The two new teachers for the Primary and Intermediate schools are Rachelle Weatherly and Natalie Ward. Weatherly will be teaching fourth grade, is a 2009 Monett High School graduate and a 2013 Missouri Southern State University graduate. Ward is a 2009 Cassville High School graduate and a 2013 Missouri Southern State University graduate.

"Cassville R-IV School District is fortunate that we can make this adjustment at this time of year. Our Board of Education members have really worked hard to establish fiscal goals that put student needs first. So, planning for this fiscal need was important to them and assisted us in reaching this goal and adding these two positions mid-year," Asbill stated.

Pictured above are staff with some of the gifts raised for Sheriff Mick Epperly's Office Angel Tree Program. Sheriff Epperly was not available for the photo, but his staff are picture above. In the back row, left to right: Charlotte Olson, Jena Smith and Kathy Emo. In the front row: Sara Barr and Brandi Phillips. Not pictured: Megan May, Missy Hurley and Amanda Epperly, who helped wrap gifts.

This year, the Sheriff's Office raised enough funds and received enough donations to give 868 gifts to 93 children. Among those gifts there were 18 families chosen with a total of 40 kids who received gifts. Other children were given gifts through HeadStart. Last year, they gave 600 gifts to around 150 children.

Health Dept. prepares for public wastewater meeting

Samantha Barberio

Public health is a major concern during this time of year, with flu shots and acclimate weather. The Barry County Health Department in Cassville has been keeping busy, giving aid to many community members.

The health department board of trustees held their regular meeting at 5:00 p.m. on Thursday, December 19. The meeting was called to order and financial reports were given.

For the month of November, the Cassville clinics general medical fees were $2,449.54, while the family planning fees were $716.05, which made the total fees $3,165.59.

The number of flu shots compared to last year for the month of November decreased. In 2012, $4,629.89 was spent on shots, while in 2013 $4,470.59 was spent, which is still the highest flu shot month.

Also discussed in the meeting was the waste-water ordinance public hearing.

The discussion spoke about the improvements it would make for the community in ensuring they would have up to date water and sewage lines. Decreasing the change they would develop further, more costly damages.

The ordinance would require that anytime a property changed hands it would be inspected. This would help the community so that it would not pass the costs of bad septic problems onto another person. The board encourages community members to attend the public hearing on January 9 to learn more about the ordinance and ask questions regarding it.

laying. The items were valued at $827.26. The suspect was identified as Zachariah Hill. He is currently in jail being held in lieu of a $20,000 bond.

The Purdy Police Department made an arrest on Monday, December, 16 after receiving a tip that a woman was en route to Ramey in Purdy to cash a counterfeit check.

The woman, later identified as Diane Marie Rogers-Sigetich, also known as Diane Marie Johnson, had allegedly cashed a counterfeit check at the Cassville Ramey earlier, and Pyramid Foods had sent out an e-mail alert for other stores to be on the lookout for her.

Rogers-Sigetich, age 41, of Marionville, was found to be in possession of a counterfeit payroll check purporting to be from Benchmark Healthcare in Monett. The checks confiscated by the Purdy Police Department were found to have the same check number, account number and route number as the counterfeit check from the Cassville Ramey.

Rogers-Sigetich had previously passed counterfeits in Springfield and Monett. She was arrested and charged with felony forgery. Other charges may be pending, following the investigations in other counties where the payroll checks were passed.

TRAIN from front

gave each a candy cane to enjoy. As the train returned to Seligman, Santa also gave each child a bag of goodies filled with oranges, cookies and candy.

To top off the excitement, the second round of Christmas carols were led by children who volunteered on the way back to the community building.

Each of the children exiting the train back into reality had starry eyes filled with the wonder of Christmas. Their bellies were full of treats and their minds were full of the magic that is the Christmas season.

For anyone debating going on the Polar Express train ride next year, don't hesitate. Parents and children alike enjoyed the laid back, whimsical ride through the Missouri and Arkansas countryside until the train stopped in festive downtown Rogers and made its way back.

The experience was definitely worth the trip. For more information about future train rides departing from Seligman, contact the Seligman Chamber of Commerce at 417-662-3612.

Cassville Rotary raises $6K for charity Highway 37 is now 80 years old

Each year, the Rotary Foundation challenges their local clubs to raise $100 per member to donate to charity. The goal of Rotary Club is to eliminate polio worldwide.

Currently, only three countries still have polio outbreaks, and in conjunction with the Bill Gates Foundation, the local groups raise money to attempt to make that number zero.

This year, Cassville's club was challenged by their president, Caleb Buntin, to each raise $100. He vowed to dye his hair green. The club members went above and beyond their goal, raising over $6,000 to donate to the cause, and, at least temporarily, Buntin sported a new Irish-inspired coif.

At their meeting on Wednesday, December 18, they also introduced the high school students of InterAct, a new high school organization that works hand-in-hand with the Rotary Club.

Arvest blood drive scheduled

Samantha Barberio

During the holidays, the number of blood donations tends to decrease. With the busy atmosphere of the holidays, donors get busy and don't make blood donations a priority. However, the need for blood donations are constant throughout the year.

Arvest Bank of Cassville will be hosting its next blood drive on Friday, December 27, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. The blood drive will be held inside the branch at 503 Main Street. As a special gift, Arvest is presenting all donors with a commemorative long-sleeved American Red Cross t-shirt.

The American Red Cross has also made it possible for donors to let others know they've given blood or platelets in honor of someone else. Donors are able to take a picture while donating, and the Red Cross will mail a real photo postcard to someone they care about. To participate in this, the donor can visit <http://rcblood.org/HolidayPostcard>.

"Winter is often a difficult time to collect blood, but together we can help spread hope this holiday season by giving something that doesn't cost a thing, but can offer so much more," states Tonia Phinney of Arvest Bank.

E.M.

It was in late December 1963 that a contract was let by the Missouri Highway Department to begin construction of the new Missouri State Highway 37 on the west edge of Cassville, bypassing Business 37 which had existed since the 1920s.

A portion of the original Highway 37 (now Business 37) had been operated since Highway 37 was built in the 1920s and followed Main Street south through the business district of Cassville on the east side of the Courthouse which had been a city street since Cassville was shown as the County seat in 1845.

When it became apparent that the by-pass was being considered by the state, it aroused fear and consternation, approaching panic among some of the business community that it would inflict irreparable injury to what had been the heart of Cassville.

Actually, what it did was to get rid of the bulk of heavy truck traffic off Main Street which never intended to stop in Cassville in the first place. The dire prediction of the naysayers never materialized to any extent.

A contract for the construction of Missouri State Highway 37 from Monett to the junction of Highways 86 and 76 south of Cassville, including a new entrance to Cassville from the south, was awarded to the Peter Kiewit and Sons Construction Company of Omaha, Nebraska. The firm was apparent low bidder when bids were opened at Jefferson City.

One of the bids covers the 18.2 miles of grading, bridging and concrete paving from U.S. Highway 60 in Monett to the junction southwest of Cassville, and the other called for approximately one mile of grading and paving on Missouri 76 to connect with Missouri 37 south of Cassville.

The bid on the 16.2 miles project was $2,580,375 and the Omaha firm was also low bidder on the 1 mile portion with a bid of $330,636.00.

Construction actually began shortly after the first of the year.

Cassville Christmas Parade brings the spirit of the season

Samantha Barberio
The Cassville Parade once again brought the holiday spirit to town this weekend, even with it's delayed appearance.

The annual parade was held almost three weeks after it's scheduled date, due to inclement weather hitting the area. There were 46 entries in the parade filling Main Street on Friday, December 20.

"Thank you to everybody that participated and attended the Christmas Parade Friday night. It was a great parade because of all the hard work that was put into it," stated Mindi Artherton of the Cassville Area Chamber of Commerce.

Annette Henderson, Justin Gates, Chuck Pilant and Rob Bredeson coordinated the event this year. Gates himself has been coordinating the parade line-up for ten years. "I enjoy coordinating the line up. It's like a service to the community by helping everyone enjoy the parade," states Gates of Security Bank. He's been working along side Mark Kelley, Chuck Pilant of Townley Furnishings and Rob Bredeson, 2nd grade teacher at Cassville School District.

Eighty years ago at Roaring River State Park

E.M.

It was eighty years ago in the last part of the depression, 1933, when the CCC Boys at Roaring River State Park held a celebration for completion of the installation of the camp's first year of operation.

The mess crew of Sergeant F. Iseley strutted their stuff again at Roaring River State Park and made the boards groan when a dinner was spread in celebration of the completion of the Civilian Conservation Corps camp.

No story of Roaring River would be complete without the chronicle of the Civilian Conservation Corps. What Roaring River State Park is today is, in large part, due to the CCC camp which was there in the 1930's.

Company 1713, CCC, was organized at Ft. Leavenworth, Kansas, in June 1933, and was moved to its location at Roaring River State Park, eight miles south of Cassville, in the same month.

During the next seven years, the CCC built 33 building units, mostly of logs or stone quarried by the men, 17 acres of beach improvements, six acres of landscaping, many, many miles of roads and trails, completed topographical and linear surveys, built bridges, fire guards, fences, drinking fountains, fish races, garages, and a hatchery building. The list could go on and on.

The establishment of the CCC was a great thing. It took the boys off the streets and gave them useful lives. It built not just Roaring River, but many parks and improvements all over the country. But, most important, it built self-respecting men.

It is almost impossible to separate the history of Roaring River and that of the CCC in this area. Events of the era linked the two together for all time.

1933 was not a good year. The country was beleaguered by depression. President Franklin Roosevelt asked Congress for authorization to set up an organization in which the young men could find gainful employment in helping to conserve the national resources of the nation. The initial legislation was passed on March 31; the executive order setting up the program was April 5; the first man was enrolled on April 7; and the first camp established only ten days later.

In these days of slow moving bureaucracy, the speed at which the project moved seems unbelievable. Less than two months following the initial legislation, the first contingent of CCC moved into Roaring River, as they did in other camps all over the United States.

Looking backward, it seems almost impossible. Within a matter of weeks from the program's inception, a company strength of 150 boys arrived at Roaring River. There was no housing. They had to be fed. Clothing must be available. Supervisory personnel must be chosen and on hand. Plans for projects had to be compiled. Tools to work with had to be provided. The sheer logistics of such an operation in so short a time seems almost unbelievable. But it worked.

An advance detail of 45 men set to work clearing space for a "tent city" for the 150 corps members who were shortly to follow. The camp was on the hillside by the Shelter Kitchen. Saw-horses and boards were used for the dining tables and for the cooks to work on. And cook they did. Veterans of the CCC camp report that the food was wholesome and good, and the tables were always full. Full tables were not taken for granted in 1933.

Many local residents recall when the first group of "shiny new green trucks" bound for the CCC camp moved through the area. There were not a lot of shiny new vehicles about in those days. Then the first 150 boys came, and were promptly decked out in new uniforms and boots. "They really looked spiffy!" one man related.

And some 1,500 boys moved through the Roaring River camp during its years there.

Possibly projects were chosen in order of their urgency. Norma Brixey, who lived at Roaring River through all those years when her husband, Hugh Brixey, was Superintendent, recalls well that the very first project was the building of new walls around the spring to replace the earthen walls which were rapidly eroding and in danger of caving in.

Hugh Brixey had been appointed Superintendent on April 15, 1933, a position he held until 1943. At that time, the management of the hotel, dining room, and cabins had been busy years for the Brixeyes.

And the CCC Boys worked with a sense of pride. As soon as the first temporary camp was built, the men began clearing away undergrowth, building paths, roads, bridges and other improvements. Orders were received in the summer of 1933 to construct a permanent camp, so the erection of tar-paper covered barracks began on a hillside near where Camp Smokey now stands. Logs were used in the construction of a large mess hall and recreation hall, giving a rustic appearance to the camp, which harmonized with the natural grandeur of the surroundings. All the subsequent buildings had this in common - they still look like they belong. The pump-house and latrine were built of native stones.

On October 12, 1933, the new quarters were ready for occupancy. The unceiled buildings seemed luxurious to the men after spending several months in tents which at times were inhabited by every native "varment" from wood-ticks to copper heads. Running water, electric lights and meals served family style were among the other improvements to the camp. The fact that the buildings at Roaring River are still of a sound a structure as when they were built and so architecturally pleasing is a marvel, considering the fact that the crewmen were without building experience and that most tools consisted of hand-tools. The teachers and supervisors must have been good ones.

Rock was quarried on the park grounds and chipped out in building blocks by hand. Shingles for roofing were made in the sawmill at Roaring River from blocks of wood cut from timber on surrounding mountains.

What Roaring River might have become without the CCC, we will never know. What it is today is in large part due to their efforts.

Randy Fielding retires from Cassville R-IV

Randy Fielding, a 21 year veteran of the Cassville R-IV maintenance team, recently announced his retirement. Prior to working for Cassville, Fielding was with Southwest R-V since October 1990.

Randy has many skills in carpentry, construction, electrical, plumbing and general maintenance. He was an important part of the school district's maintenance staff. His work and efforts have helped the district save valuable funds by keeping projects in-house and within budget.

The school threw Fielding a surprise retirement party to say farewell. He lives in Washburn.

Exeter students collect food for 17 families

During the month of December the students at Exeter R-VI School District participated in a Holiday Food Drive. Hundreds of cans and non-perishable items were donated by the students in the elementary, middle school and high school. The school district donated bread and potatoes, and George's donated chickens for the food boxes. There were 17 local families who received the brightly colored boxes that had been wrapped by the high school students. Although the food drive was hampered by a week of snow days, the students were still able to contribute a lot of food.

Dear Santa,

I'm writing you this letter as I'm feeling a little blue, so I hope you don't think I'm asking too much of you.

You visit every year and leave everyone lovely thing, but I'm wondering if you also visit our loved ones who have wings? I know you must be busy, so much to do in just one night, but can you make one extra trip to the stars that shine so bright?

You see we all have special loved ones too.

O perfect for life on earth, no presents could we send them to truly show their worth. So could you please leave them all a gift and put a stocking on their cloud, filled full of precious memories from their loved ones on the ground. Please stroke their sleepy heads, tell them their families love them so, that their hearts aches with sadness and their tears just seem to flow.

If you could do this for me Santa, their families might be able to smile, even if it is just for a tiny little while.

Sincerely Yours, Sandy J. Traver

To my son Colton Allan Hayworth

Lowery helps lead Wildcats past Carthage

Rachael Freeman

A dynamic offensive performance by Cassville senior Ethan Lowery ended a three-game losing streak for the Wildcats just in time for the Christmas break.

The 6'7" center powered through the lane putting up 29 points for the Wildcats.

Cassville trailed the Tigers for the first three quarters of the game, going into the final quarter down by six.

The Wildcats dominated the fourth quarter. Their defense shutdown the Tigers, holding them to just six points while Cassville's offense exploded with 20 points to seal the victory.

Next to Lowery's 29, senior Marcus Weatherman contributed nine points in the match, with six points coming from behind the arc.

Junior Gabe Kirk added five points for the Wildcats.

Kayleb Sparks, Noah Hadlow and Riley Lekar-czk all had four points in the game. Hadlow tallied one three-pointer in the match.

Josh Brown had two-points for the Wildcats.

With the win, Cassville's record improves to 1-3 for the season. The Wildcats will participate in the annual Southwest Holiday tournament which begins December 26th.

Lady Bulldogs fall to Pierce City

Rachael Freeman

The Wheaton Lady Bulldogs hosted the Pierce City Lady Eagles Friday evening where they suffered a 68-39 loss.

An early deficit proved too much for the Lady Bulldogs to recover from after falling behind 22-7 at the end of the first quarter.

Wheaton worked to fight back, never giving up in the battle. The Lady Bulldogs defense battled to contain the offensively sound Pierce City team but were unable to overcome the first quarter.

Mariah Kochell lead the scoring for Wheaton, putting up 17 points for the Lady Bulldogs. Also scoring in double figures was Crystal Alvarado with 10 points.

Others scoring for Wheaton: Karlee Mason 6, Addison Goostree 4, and Amanda Munday 2.

The loss sends the Lady Bulldogs to 0-6 for the season. They are scheduled to play at Verona on January 7th.

Purdy cheerleaders qualify for nationals

Rachael Freeman

On December 15th, the Purdy High School cheerleading squad competed for the first time in the UCA Varsity Game Day Division in Kansas City.

Their performance qualified the squad for Nationals which will be held in Orlando, Florida, on February 8-9, 2014.

"I am so proud of these girls," said cheerleading Coach Kayla Branstetter. Branstetter is in her second season as cheerleading coach.

"Our goal centered around gaining experience in competing since this was our first competition. Making it to nationals exceeded our expectations," said Branstetter.

The National High School Cheerleading Championship (NHSCC) is the most prestigious cheerleading championship in the country.

The NHSCC is held at the Walt Disney World® Resort in Orlando, Florida, and nationally televised on ESPN and ESPN2 to over 100 million homes and 32 countries nationwide each year.

Those interested in sponsoring or making a tax-deductible donation to the squad are encouraged to contact Purdy R-II Schools or send a check to Purdy High School c/o Cheerleading, 201 S. Gabby Gibbons Dr., Purdy, MO 65734

BELT from 2B

Purdy FBLA and FCCLA members conducted two surprise campus seatbelt checks during the course of the program: one in October and a follow-up in November. Prior to the November check, Kohl's department store sent "Rock Your Belt" automobile decals, which members distributed to student drivers.

Those drivers whose vehicles sported a sticker and who also had 100 percent seatbelt participation among their passengers at the November check received $10 Kohl's gift cards.

In addition to seatbelt checks, the organizations wrote buckle up messages in chalk on the sidewalks and placed informational flyers on cars. They also sponsored a student pledge card drive that invited students formally to commit to wearing seatbelts and abstaining from distracted driving, conducted drawings for "Arrive Alive" t-shirts, and invited a special guest speaker, Scott Hettinger, to address the student body.

Hettinger, who was paralyzed in a drunk driving accident in which he was a passenger, confessed to the students, "I could've played college basketball, but I partied away the opportunity."

FBLA member Jayse Henderson observed, "I think when students hear from somebody who has been there it makes a big impact." FCCLA member Jessica Ball added, "I was amazed to hear him talk about how difficult even the small things are for him. Something as simple as a wrinkle in his bed sheets causes him problems."

To wind up the program, FBLA and FCCLA sponsored an obstacle course in which students drove pedal cars wearing special goggles that simulated buzzed driving.

Students also visited a drunk simulation station where they attempted to work a simple puzzle, first without simulation goggles and then with them, observing a marked difference in their success.

Henderson revealed, "We learned about the two second rule. That's how long your mind needs to process and react to something while driving. When you're buzzed or drunk, you don't have it."

Summing up the semester-long project, Ball noted, "I think we did well this year. We greatly increased students' awareness of the importance of seatbelt usage and avoiding distracted driving." They also increased seatbelt usage. The October check found 79 percent of observed drivers and passengers buckled up.

In the November check, the usage jumped to 92%. According to MO-DOT, the Missouri teen seatbelt usage average in 2012 was 66 percent. Purdy FBLA Advisor Kay Wright and FCCLA Advisor Joe Bauer wish to express their pride in their students' accomplishments and their gratitude to MO-DOT and Kohl's for their assistance in implementing the various activities.

THE CLEAR ALTERNATIVE TO BRACES

The low-down

You no longer have to straighten your teeth the old-fashioned way, with metal braces. The Invisalign Teen™ system lets you do it the modern, hygienic way. Your new smile is created with the most innovative technology – a series of clear aligners that are custom-fit to your teeth.

The Aligners. . .

- snap on your teeth easily.
- are comfortable and practically invisible.
- allow for your growing permanent teeth.
- gently and continuously move your teeth in small increments.
- are worn for about two weeks. Then you swap them for a new pair.
- have a Blue Dot Wear Indicator; designed to show an estimation of wear-time. The dot is designed to fade to clear over a two-week period if you wear (20 to 22 hours everyday) your aligners properly.
- can be removed for eating, brushing, and flossing, or going to a special event.

A LITTLE OFF THE TOP.

Tree limbs that touch or fall on power lines can cause power outages, property damage, or personal injury. Your electric cooperative maintains a tree-trimming program to help reduce these hazards. You can help by reporting locations where you see a problem with branches in the lines and by carefully planning where you plant trees.

State Treasurer debuts new unclaimed property program

Charlea Mills

State Treasurer Clint Zweifel announced last week that Missourians can donate their unclaimed property to charity through a new online search tool. The tool also allows the person to cash in for their unclaimed property as well.

Currently, the treasurer holds more than $810 million in unclaimed property. That property belongs to 4.7 million account owners. The southwest region, where Barry County lies, holds over 461,000 accounts with $40.7 million of property that has yet to be claimed.

Unclaimed property held by the treasurer comes from bank accounts, stocks, bonds and abandoned safety deposit boxes. State law dictates that banks, insurance companies, public agencies and businesses turn any properties over to the treasurer's office if they have not had contact with the owners for five or more years.

The treasurers office holds monetary assets forever until they are claimed, but the state law also states that abandoned non-monetary assets be auctioned off from safe deposit boxes. However, as of August 28, 2010, military medals and honors are not auctioned or sold but rather held for the owner or their heir.

There is no time limit for when someone can claim their property. If the assets were turned in to Treasurer

Zweifel as an interest-bearing account, they will also pay up to seven years interest with the claim.

With the new program, anyone can go to the unclaimed property website an complete a search at www.ShowMeMoney.com. The average return for a claim is $300. Many accounts are worth just a few dollars, but some hold quite a bit. Approximately 65 percent of people can file a claim through the website without having to mail in a paper form. Missourians can then choose to donate as much or as little as they wish to the 20 charities on the site.

"These charities provide invaluable services to the people of Missouri and now, with this program, we have created a simple way to give back to the citizens in our state," Treasurer Zweifel stated. "This new program was created in response to requests from constituents to donate their unclaimed property. My team and I are focused on creating innovative ways to serve the needs and wishes of Missourians and this program is an example of that. I am proud of the good it can do for our communities at no cost to taxpayers," Zweifel continued.

Examples of the charities benefitting from the donations through the unclaimed property site are: the American Heart Association, CureSearch for Children's Cancer, Muscular Dystrophy Association and others. Since January 2009, Zweifel has returned $176 million to unclaimed property owners from more than 605,000 accounts.

Zweifel stated, "I receive new unclaimed property every day, meaning thousands of dollars and hundreds of accounts are added to my database each week. Whether your claim is $5 of $500, consider donating to a charity where it can have a real, positive impact on our fellow Missourians' lives."

How to write a classified ad that gets results

Example: COCKER SPANIEL,
1) Female 1 yr. old. 2) Blonde.
3) Good with children. 4) $100 or best offer. 5) 000-0000 after 6:00.

1) Identify what you're selling.
Abbreviations may be clear to you, but not a prospective buyer.

2) Describe the item with enough basic information to get the reader interested. Feature appealing details.

3) Don't exaggerate the item's condition or features. Make your pitch attractive, but believable.
People shun claims that sound too good to be true.

4) Include price. Advertising the price draws greater response because people are interested in what they can afford. If price is negotiable, say so.

5) Be home when your ad is running or specify the hours you can be reached. People may not call back if they can't reach you at first. Don't risk missing a sale
- be there when the phone rings.

To place your ad -

➤Come by our office at
904 West Street, Cassville

Did you know...

January is a time of change and new beginnings.
People often look forward to January as a chance to wipe the slate clean, often resolving to make changes to improve their quality of life in the months ahead.

Such traditions may date back to the ancient god for which the month of January was named.

January is named after the ancient Roman god Janus, who was the god of beginnings and transitions as well as the god of gates, doorways, and passages of time.

Janus also was believed to preside over the beginning and ending of conflicts.
Janus is usually depicted as having two faces that point in opposite directions.

Because of these dual faces, Janus was seen as duplicitous and being in charge of opposites.

According to Roman mythology, Janus was able to see into the past and the future.

He also was depicted as guardian of the new year and keeper of the calendar.
There was no counterpart to Janus in Greek mythology.

When examining the many attributes of Janus, it is easy to see why the month of January would be named after this multifaceted ancient Roman god.
