Sheriff seeks tips for Washburn kidnapping

Charlea Mills

The Barry County Sheriff's Office is looking for tips in regards to a kidnapping that occurred in Washburn on Friday, January 3, around noon.

Two men wearing bandanas and using fake Russian accents entered into the house of a 47-year-old white female on Trent Road in Washburn. The men demanded the woman's money, medications and car.

The Washburn resident, who lives on social security and disability, told the men to take what they wanted and to just leave her alone, according to Sheriff Mick Epperly, but the men grabbed the woman and threw her in the trunk of her car before driving off.

Sheriff Epperly stated, "They had a goal in mind of taking her car to use her PIN at the ATM. They arrived on foot, so they had a plan."

The men drove the victim's car, a 2011 Chevrolet

Malibu, into Cassville while she was inside the trunk and attempted to withdraw money from her Arvest bank account using the ATM. According to the Sheriff, the men had their bandanas pulled up to conceal their faces at the ATM and when funds were not available, they drove around for around 20 minutes before successfully withdrawing $350 from the ATM at First State Bank.

Epperly stated, "At one point, the victim used the trunk release latch to open the trunk. When she refused to shut the trunk after the men yelled at her, one got out, struck her, and then slammed the trunk shut again."

After withdrawing money from the ATM, the men drove the victim's car to a remote area on Farm Road 1180 in Eagle Rock, took her out, and threw her down a hill.

The Sheriff's Department received a call around 3 p.m.

from the woman who had walked around a mile barefoot before finding a farmhouse that let her in to call 911.

The men weren't finished when they dumped the victim off. The men went on to draw more money out of her bank account.

Epperly stated, "Four more transactions were made in Berryville, Ark., between 3:09 and 3:30 p.m. I've sent a subpoena for the videos from Arvest down there, and we have had a few leads that we are looking in to."

The kidnappers stole $1,125.00 total from the victim's account with all of the transactions in Cassville and Berryville.

Later in the afternoon, Missouri Department of Conservation agents received a call about a car parked near the water's edge on the Roaring River arm of Table Rock Lake. Daniel Shores, conservation agent, stated, "I'd heard the notice about the missing car sent out by the Highway Patrol, but I assumed the car someone called about was going to belong to a fisherman or someone like that."

When Shores investigated, he found the victim's Malibu submerged in the water. The Sheriff stated that water was over the hood and was already inside the cab of the car when they arrived.

Epperly said, "We want these people off the street. We've contacted the FBI because they crossed the state line to drop her off, so they may become involved with this."

The victim told authorities that she did not know the men who abducted her. However, considering they knew when her social security/disability was to be deposited, that may not be the case. Epperly stated, "They may know her since they walked on foot into her residence, knowing she had a car and medications. They also might have ties to Eagle Rock because of the area that they dropped her off in. You'd just about have to be familiar to get down there."

Epperly went on, "It's a very brutal crime. The victim had to be transported to the hospital for treatment for moderate injuries with a lot of bruising."

If you have any information regarding the kidnapping or suspects, please call the Barry County Sheriff's office and speak with Sheriff Mick Epperly, detectives or deputies at (417) 847-6556. Tips can remain anonymous.

Filings begin for city councils, school boards

Charlea Mills

Filings for positions on both the area city councils and the school boards have been somewhat slow this year, perhaps due to the weather and closures.

The City of Cassville has two alderman positions up for reelection, the seats held by Terry A. Heinz in the south ward and north ward's Darrel Ledenham. Heinz has already refiled for his seat, but Ledenham has yet to refile. No new residents are seeking those seats thus far.

County preps for 2014 budget meeting

The Barry County Commissioners received budget requests from the different departments last week. Proposed increases by the departments came in at $3,570,150, an increase over 2013's approved actual budget of 3,059,283.

The county sales tax that was approved in April 2013 allows the county more operating revenue than in prior years, but no decisions will be made regarding budget approvals until the Commissioners meet for their annual budget discussion on Thursday, January 23, at 11 a.m. in the Commissioners' Room at the courthouse in downtown Cassville.

Area firefighters respond to multiple blazes

When Purdy Fire District responded to a structure fire north of McDowell, the building had already collapsed on itself by the time they arrived after receiving the call. It was a total loss.

Charlea Mills

Firefighters with area districts had a busy few days last week with multiple calls for structure fires. Purdy, Cassville and Central Crossing Fire in Shell Knob all had calls for fires, but there was only one minor injury. Butterfield, Monett and Jenkins all assisted on those calls as well.

The Purdy Fire District responded to two fires on December 29 and 30. One of the fires was in an occupied house, but there were no injuries sustained from the fire.

Around 8:17 a.m. on Sunday, December 29, the firefighters were called out to a property owned by Randy Wormington on Farm Road

When the crew arrived, there was no fire showing externally at the residence, but family members had used a garden hose to control burning insulation in the attic of the home. According to Purdy Fire Chief Mike Redshaw, "Indications are that the blown-in insulation in the attic had been smoldering for several hours unnoticed. It wasn't until smoke was coming from between the walls and trim, setting off the smoke detectors, that the longtime occupant knew there was a fire."

The house in question suffered only moderate damage, but the Purdy Fire District had to remove a large area of the ceiling and insulation to prevent the fire from spreading to other areas within the house.

Firefighters from Monett City and Butterfield assisted at the accidental fire.

The district made their second call around 6:01 a.m. to a possible fire north of McDowell. While en route, another called confirmed that a structure was on fire. When the firefighters arrived, the structure had already collapsed and there was a blazing fire present.

The structure was located on Farm Road 1150 and is owned by Phillip Reidle who was not at home during the

The City of Purdy has two openings before their January 21 deadline. The two seats are Ken Real, ward 2, and Larry Rickman, ward 1. Neither men have refiled for their positions yet.

In Wheaton, Nancy Rosentreter has filed for the position of Mayor Pro-Tem David Shockley. Shockley will step down back to his position on the council after April's election. The two

County tax payments trickle in

Charlea Mills

Despite an increase in taxes billed for the year, tax revenue collected by December 30 was down comparatively for the year.

Janice Varner, Barry County c\ollector, mailed out over 40,000 tax statements to Barry County residents on November 4. As of December 30, the numbers were down significantly from last year on taxes paid.

All taxes collected in the county are due by December 31 to avoid penalties. Less money received for the time frame could be a sign of the economic times for the year.

Last year, Varner sent out $20,558,830.11 in tax state-

Quiet New Years night for Barry County officers

Charlea Mills

Both the Cassville Police Department and the Barry County Sheriff's Department experienced a quiet evening for New Years, a welcome concept for officers.

Cassville Chief of Police Dana Kammerlohr stated, "It was an uneventful evening, which was very good." Cassville officers issued one disorderly conduct summons, one DWI with a 12-hour hold and one warrant arrest for a Barry County warrant from a traffic stop during their New Years reporting period which lasted from December 31 at 6 p.m. to January 1 at 6 a.m.

Barry County Sheriff Mick Epperly's deputies had a quiet evening, as well. Epperly stated, "New Years was pretty peaceful for us, not a whole lot going on." Epperly stated that part of that might be due to New Year's Eve falling on a Tuesday night instead of a weekend.

Cr-ose Cafe has made a large impact on the Cassville community since it's opening day, January 2.

Since opening day, the restaurant has been so full it has even had lines of people waiting. "It's been very busy, I couldn't even begin to estimate the amount of people we have served," stated Laveta Crow, co-owner of Cr-ose Cafe with husband Stu.

The cafe was originally located in Washburn until they decided to make the move to a bigger building in Cassville.

"We have been coming here a long time," stated Murray Rhoads. "We like the cinnamon rolls, great food and good service. And I'm glad they moved to Cassville, saves us a drive." The fire. According to Chief Redshaw, "The structure was a total loss."

The Monett Rural and Jenkins Fire District both assisted at the fire which firefighters were unable to determine a cause for.

Cassville Fire Department also had two calls on January 3. The first fire occurred around 3:30 a.m. at a residence on Robinhood Drive in Sherwood Forest in Cassville. The utility room fire left damage to that room and displaced the family until everything could be checked out, according to Millard Andrews, Fire Chief for Cassville.

Around 6:30 a.m., another home, located across the highway from the Barry County Museum, had a fire start. The home owned by Billy Owens suffered water and smoke damage, but no one was injured, according to Andrews.

Central Crossing Fire Protection District, of Shell Knob, responded to a call around 3:50 a.m. on January 3. Firefighters arrived to find the home, located on Highway 76, fully engulfed in flames. One occupant had to be treated for minor injuries at a local hospital, but the remaining occupants were unharmed.

Central Crossing firefighters fought the blaze for almost three hours before extinguishing it.

ments for 2012. For 2013, she sent out $21,124,799.14, an increase of $565,969.03.

However, as of December 30, one day prior to taxes being due, Varner had received $14,548,788.91 in tax payments. In 2012, that number was $335,650.96 more than this year coming in at $14,884,439.87 by December 30.

For 2012, over 72 percent of the taxes billed had been collected one day prior to the tax payment deadline. For 2013, 68.87 percent was collected in the same time frame. In order to have been on pace with last year's collection rate, county taxpayers would have needed to send in over $745,000 more than they did by December 30.

Cassville hosts meeting about Affordable Care Act

For anyone in the community with questions about how the Affordable Care Act will affect their family, the University of Missouri Extension will be holding an informative meeting. Make plans to attend an informational session about the new health care law that can help families, individuals and businesses understand their options and responsibilities.

University of Missouri Extension, in partnership with Mercy Hospital of Joplin, will host "Affordable Care Act: What Individuals Need to Know." The program will run from 6:30 p.m. to 8 p.m., on January 14 in the Commissioners room (old courtroom in the Historic Courthouse), 700 Main, Cassville.

The session is free and open to the public. It is part of MU Extension's Health Insurance Education Initiative.

"The Health Insurance Education Initiative will help Show-Me State citizens understand their health insurance options and learn how to get help in their own communities if they choose to enroll in Missouri's health insurance marketplace," said Brenda Procter, associate professor of consumer and family economics for MU Extension.

A new website, at <http://extension.missouri.edu/in-sure>, provides educational materials and links to information. There is a map of Missouri educators who can provide local workshops and a calendar where you can learn about upcoming events near you.

"The website is a one-stop source for factual, unbiased information about the changes in health insurance that are required by the new law," Procter said.

MU Extension's Health Insurance Education Initiative website will also provide resources for the state's small businesses, including information about tax credits for offering insurance to employees and explanations of rules that might affect their bottom line, she said.

Curtis F. Marbut, Barry County's most famous son

Barry County, as it exists today since 1840, has produced a great many memorable people but one person, Curtis L. Fletcher Marbut, stands out in a class by himself.

Virtually all of this article comes from a story written by John Tandrich and published in the "Encyclopedia of Soils in the Environment," who worked with Lynn Morrow, daughter of local record, in the office of the Secretary of State in Jefferson City.

The patriarch of the Marbut family, Phillip Marbut, a native of South Carolina, settled on Little Flat Creek near McDowell about the year 1841 and, ultimately, he had six sons and six daughters who had families. Scores of his descendants still live in Barry County including Fletcher Marbut, who was a grandson of Phillip.

The brilliance that characterized the life of Curtis Fletcher Marbut, dedicated to soil science in the service of humanity, ended on August 25, 1935, in what was then Harbin, Manchuria, China. He was the best-known soil scientist-geographer of his day and his reputation was worldwide. Marbut was a pioneering soil scientist in the classroom, office, field, and laboratory. More than that, he was a disseminator of ideas, an internationalist who did not let politics, ideology or his personal health and welfare stand in the way of scientific advancement and friendship. The biography of Marbut is a remarkable story of a "selfmade" man who came from a progressive Ozarks family in Barry County to become one of the foremost agricultural geologists, geographers, and soil scientists in the world during the formative period of modern soil science in the early twentieth century.

Modern soil science has its origins in late eighteenth and early nineteenth century agricultural chemistry and agricultural geology.

This short narrative summarizes the highlights of Marbut's life as a native of the Missouri Ozarks, an academic, a scientist with the US Soil Survey, an explorer and internationalist, and a scientist with a Unitarian philosophy of service to humanity for which he ultimately gave his life.

Marbut was born during the American Civil War, on July 19, 1963, to Nathan and Jane Browning Marbut, along Little Flat Creek near Verona in Lawrence County, Missouri. After surviving whooping cough in the first weeks of life, he grew up in an atmosphere of love, learning, and a concern for others, largely fostered by his Quaker mother. His school attendance began in the one-room Marbut family school, and continued at a school in McDowell, Missouri, where he also taught when he was 17.

Using his teacher's earnings, he enrolled in the Collegiate Institute of Professor Noah Lee Maiden at Cassville, Missouri, an experience that led him ultimately to enroll in the University of Missouri at Columbia (UMC) in 1885. He went on to receive a BS degree from UMC in 1889 and, in 1890, was appointed to the Missouri Geological Survey. In 1891, he married Florence L. Martin of Cassville, the daughter of the Martins who occupied a home where the Cassville Chamber of Commerce is now located and established residence in Jefferson City, Missouri. They had five children: Louise Marbut Moomaw, Thomas Fiske Marbut, William Martin Marbut, Helen Marbut, and Fredrick Browning Marbut.

Sheriff's Dept. to receive new patrol cars

Charlea Mills

In a decision approved by the Barry County Commissioners just after Christmas, the Barry County Sheriff's Department will receive two new patrol vehicles in March 2014.

The Commission opened the sealed bids for two new Ford Police Interceptor Utility Vehicles on Monday, December 23. On Thursday, December 26, the Commissioners approved the only bid submitted to the county which was made by Les Jacobs Ford of Cassville. The county approved the purchase of the vehicles in the amount of $58,378.00 for both. Funds of the two new patrol vehicles were approved in the 2013 budget from general revenue funds.

According to Sheriff Mick Epperly, the new vehicles were needed for some time. Epperly stated, "A lot of the patrol cars have over 200,000 miles on them and that leads to a lot of maintenance. We're looking to replace a lot of the older cars with more reliable ones."

Ideally, the department is hoping that the first two cars are just the beginning and that the 2014 budget will allow for three more to add to the force. Epperly stated, "The patrol cars are under the county budget, so we have to submit that to them to see what they say. We've also asked for one more deputy to be added to the force to bring us back up to three deputies during the day and three at night."

Currently, the Sheriff's Department has only two deputies on their night shift, which Sheriff Epperly stresses is an important time to have more help available. "Night calls are usually the high priority calls for us, like intoxication and domestic disturbance calls."

According to the Sheriff, the department hasn't been fully staffed since they had to lay off four deputies in 2010 due to economic issues.

"We really need the officers and reliable vehicles to go out on these calls," Epperly explained. In one night between Thursday evening and Friday morning, the department responded to two different fires, an attempted suicide and a shooting during a domestic disturbance.

When asked about the proposed new vehicles and deputy for 2014, Gary Youngblood, Barry County Clerk, stated, "The county just received the requests from all of the departments, but we've made them aware that there will have to be some cuts made to save funds for other projects. We won't make a final decision until the budget meeting." The 2014 budget meeting is scheduled for Thursday, January 23, at 11 a.m. in the Commissioners' room at the courthouse.

Arvest Bank hosts First Friday Coffee

Arvest Bank of Cassville hosted the leading First Friday Coffee for 2014 on January 3. Around 30 people from the Cassville community showed up for networking at Cassville's relatively new bank branch. The bank held a drawing for a $50 gift card while guests enjoyed their coffee and refreshments.

Health Dept. urges getting flu shot

It's the time of year where many are experiencing the flu or flu like symptoms. The Barry County Health Department is geared up and ready to give out shots at the price of $25 per person.

Cases of the flu are popping up around Cassville and surrounding towns. "We just want to make people aware the flu is showing up in the community and wanted to remind everyone to get the shot," stated Roger Brock, administrator for the Health Department.

Walk-ins are welcome to the clinic from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. For more information, contact the local Health Department at (417) 847-4628 or stop by.

The fourteen and under Monett Grizzlies baseball team, pictured above, concluded the 2013 season on July 28 in Columbia by winning the Show-Me State Championships. This was the third consecutive year the Grizzlies won the championship. During the course of the 2013 season, Monett collected six tournament titles along with a trio of second place finished.

The Grizzlies competed as a traveling USSSA AA team in 2013 and ended the year ranked first in the state of Missouri and fourth overall AA team in the nation.

The team was formed and is sponsored by Scott Wright, owner of the Bullpen in Monett.

Scott Sangston serves as the team manager and head coach with assistant coach Dan Swearigen.

Purdy boys fall to 4-4

The Purdy Eagles suffered their fourth loss as they fell 72-49 to the Crane Pirates on Friday, January 3.

The Eagles started the game off powerful, ending the first half with a five point lead.

An offensive drought in the third quarter crumbled the Eagles' momentum as the Pirates outscored Purdy 30-9 in the third quarter.

The Pirates would continued to strike and dominated the second half, defeating the Eagles by 23 points.

Brent Cornman lead the way in scoring for Purdy, putting up 21 points against the Pirates. Also scoring in double figures was Andrew McCormick and Alex Mareth, both with 10 points.

Luis Cruz finished the game with four points for the Eagles followed by Robby Moody and Raul Garcia, both with two points each.

Last day to sign-up for Pla-Mor hitting league is January 11th

As temperatures continue to freeze, Pla-Mor Sports is offering area youth a way to fight cabin fever.

Pla-Mor is taking registrations for an indoor baseball and softball hitting league.

This is the third year that Pla-Mor has offered the league.

Teams will consist of three players with a boys and girls division for ages 14-18 and 13 and under.

Hitters will receive instruction from experienced coaches Jeremy Marple and Roger Brock.

The league will begin the weekend of January 18th-19th through February 22nd-23rd.

"Our goal for the league is to help area softball and baseball players get some solid swings in before the spring and summer seasons," stated Brock.

"We try to focus on line-drive hitting. In the league, players will receive points for line-drives and an out for a pop-fly or ground ball hits," Brock added.

The last day to sign-up for the league is January 11th.

The cost of the league is $30 per player.

For more information, contact Marple at (417)-342-7155 or Brock at (417)-671-2569.

Proposed MO bill could nullify Obamacare

Kathee Baird

When lawmakers in Missouri reconvene, one of the items on their agendas is to discuss a bill that could possibly nullify the Affordable Care Act for Missouri residents.

In 2010, Missourians passed the Health Care Freedom Act and, last week, Representative Jason Spencer and Senator John Lamping pre-filed Senate Bill 546 to update Health Care Freedom Act.

The bill would ban Missouri from taking any action that would “compel, directly or indirectly, any person, employer, or health care provider to participate in any health care system.”

South Carolina was the first state to attempt to fight the Affordable Care Act within the state’s legislation, with Missouri quickly following suit.

The Washington Times says the proposed bills have some strong legal merit based on the anti-commandeering doctrine. “In four major cases from 1842 to 2012, the Supreme Court has consistently held that the federal government cannot “commandeer” states, requiring them to enforce or expend resources to participate in federal law or regulatory programs.”

Now that it has been introduced in the state senate, SB546 will first be assigned to a committee. It will have to pass that committee before the full Senate is given an opportunity to pass the bill on to the House for concurrence.

At least ten other states are expected to filed similar bills in the coming months.

Mineral Springs was once a flourishing health resort town, part II

By Murial Ash, published in The Cassville Republican on March 3, 1955

Letters testifying to the curing powers of the waters were published as an advertising medium in the year 1880. These letters were from various places and were written by people who had visited the spring and benefited greatly from it. Some of the statements printed as testimonials read in part as follows:

Under date of September 28, 1880: “I took my son to Mineral Springs in Barry County, Missouri, and he was so afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism that he was almost unable to walk and had been so for several months. He remained at the Springs two months and came home perfectly cured.”

Another letter addressed to the “Proprietors Mineral Springs, Barry County, Missouri” reads in part: “Allow me to say that after spending hundreds of dollars for remedies, and suffering for fifteen years from dyspepsia and rheumatism, I have, after three weeks use of the Mineral Springs’ water, become as stout as when a boy, and now make a regular hand at work, and feel as well as ever in life.”

Still in another letter the writer states that he has been unable for more than three years to do any work whatever and at least half the time confined to his bed with dyspepsia, torpidity of the liver and consumption. He used the water for six weeks and was so thoroughly restored that he could be up all the time and work and “while only 19 years old, feels confident that by the use of the water he could yet realize what it is to live.”

There seemed to be almost nothing that the waters could not heal as another visitor to the Spring stated that for four years he had been suffering from “indigestion, vertigo, and almost an entire depletion of his nervous system, and after having tried the virtues of the sulphur waters of Texas, Nashville, Tennessee, Indian Territory, Missouri and Arkansas without relief,” he came to Mineral Springs and derived greater benefits from the use of the water there than any and all remedies he had ever found.

A carpenter used the water in 1880 to restore his eyesight which was so impaired that a great portion of the time he was entirely blind. And, according to his testimonial, his sight was restored to that he could return to work after eight months’ use of the water.

There was also good fishing and hunting in that area during those days even as there is now, and the promoters of the town and owners of the businesses entertained the guest with these sports. It was stated that the sportsman or hunter who desired to penetrate the wilds of the West and chase the panting deer in its accustomed home could here find a field in which to amuse and delight himself scarcely excelled. Without having to encounter any rough and rugged mountains, he could find on every hand, in every quarter, the finest specimens of fish and every character of game.

Middle School band, choir play tunes of the holidays

Samantha Barberio

With the holidays in full swing, Cassville Middle School was prepared to boost the holiday spirit with a band and choir concert. The concert was set for December 10; however, weather did not permit the performance.

It was re-scheduled and held on December 20 at 10 a.m. in the middle school gym. Each grade took turns performing their musical instruments and vocal talents with a slew of holiday inspired songs for the audience.

The recently added middle school jazz band also played at the concert. They gave their rendition of I'll Be Home for Christmas and God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen.

"The students worked really hard for this concert. Weather didn't cooperate, preventing us from performing on time. However, the administration and everyone was supportive, and we are glad to be able to present what we've been working so hard on," stated Stephanie Montez, middle school band director.

Connie Bishop has been with the middle school for 13 years and spoke positively of her students and time at Cassville as the choir director. "My favorite part of the job is working with the kids, seeing their enjoyment they get out of singing and learning," stated Bishop. "It has been so much fun. They've been amazing to work with."

The community looks forward to many more performances by the middle school.

The middle school jazz band is a fairly new group to join the music programs at the school.

The middle school's choir sang out a few holiday favorites at their annual Christmas performance on Friday, December 20.

Seligman Chamber hosts Christmas dinner

The Seligman Chamber of Commerce and Norman Bryant Foundation held their free Christmas dinner Sunday, December 15, at the Seligman Chamber Event Center. Over 150 people enjoyed the food and entertainment.

Santa Claus showed up to give away 45 blankets and treat bags to children twelve and under. Frosty the Snowman was present to sing to the children and do a choo-choo train dance. Mr. McClung's puppets put on a puppet show that the children enjoyed along with the adults.

The community looks forward to the event each year. This year marked the seventh Christmas dinner hosted by the Seligman Chamber and the foundation.

Barry County’s December hearings send nine to prison

Shannon Wayne Barwick, age 23, was placed on supervised probation for receiving stolen property on February 18, 2012.

Barwick was originally charged with two counts of receiving stolen property after selling items to Rebel Recycling. A water heater, three-point attachment for a chicken house, lawn mowers, and scrap iron was stolen from two different properties in Exeter.

Barwick received a suspended imposition of sentence on March 19, 2013. His suspended imposition of sentence on five years incarceration was revoked and he was placed on supervised probation for the two charges on December 16, 2013, set to end on December 16, 2018.

Podie W. Beeson, of Aurora, received a suspended execution of sentence after pleading guilty to a DWI-Alcohol, persistent offender charge from May 4, 2012.

Beeson crashed his car into an embankment and barn on Route U in Star City around 2:22 p.m. on May 4. Multiple persons witnessed Beeson leaving the wreck, and Beeson smelled strongly of alcohol when questioned by officers.

Beeson has been placed on supervised probation for three years in accordance of his suspended execution of a three year sentence, set to end December 16, 2018.

Ronnie Paul Christy, of Monett, is serving a four-year sentence of a possession of methamphetamine following an arrest from April 2011.

Christy pled guilty to an April 8, 2011, charge of possession of a controlled substance on September 19, 2011. Christy was found to be in possession of two ziplock bags of methamphetamine in his vehicle by Monett Police Officer Jeffery Martinson.

Christy served shock incarceration time before being placed on supervised probation. His probation has since been revoked and he is serving remainder of his four year incarceration sentence.

Kellie N. Clark, of Exeter, received a suspended imposition of sentence for a theft charge from June of 2013.

Clark was confronted by asset protection at Walmart in Cassville around 3:30 a.m. on June 30, 2013. Clark and Stephen Worley III placed food, clothing and a Toshiba laptop in their cart before exiting the store without paying for the items. The laptop was worth around $550.

Clark was sentenced to five years incarceration for theft/stealing. She pled guilty, receiving a suspended imposition of sentence and was placed on supervised probation set to end December 17, 2018.

Raymond Edward Donovan, of Cassville, pled guilty to possession of a controlled substance following his August 10, 2013, arrest.

Donovan was arrested after Missouri State Highway Patrol troopers found paraphernalia, marijuana and methamphetamine at a residence he was living in on Farm Road 1170 outside of Cassville.

Donovan was sentenced to five years incarceration, but received a suspended imposition of sentence and was placed on supervised probation set to end December 16, 2018.

Kenny Wade Felton, of Pierce City, pled guilty to second degree assault following his March 10, 2012, arrest.

Felton struck a victim on Farm Road 1050 in Monett several times in the head with his fist, causing severe lacerations to the victim’s facial area and knocked him to the ground. When Barry County Sheriff Deputies arrived, the victim was not breathing, and they had to administer CPR before the victim was airlifted to the hospital.

Due to the severity of the crime, Felton was sentenced to six years incarceration which began December 16, 2013.

April Fielding, of Berryville, pled guilty to burglary in the first degree following her arrest on September 1, 2013.

Fielding received five years incarceration, but her sentence was suspended and she was placed on supervised probation set to end on December 17, 2018.

Eric Gerard Hamby, of Mount Vernon, received a suspended imposition of sentence following an arrest October 16, 2009, for Theft/Stealing.

Hilburn received two years incarceration on each charge but was granted a suspended imposition of sentence and will serve unsupervised probation set to end December 16, 2015.

Traci Renee Hill, of Crane, pled guilty to two charges of theft/stealing of any credit card or letter of credit following her arrest on March 13, 2013.
