Council discusses City's sign ordinance

Rachael Freeman

The Cassville City Council met Monday evening for their regularly scheduled meeting.

The highlight of the meeting was discussion on the City's sign ordinance.

Aldерwoman Anne Hennigan addressed the council with her concerns over the ordinance.

Hennigan stated, "I read through the ordinance and it was very dry. I didn't quite understand a lot of it or see definitions of things such as for a temporary sign. What exactly is that?"

She also questioned why the city had an ordinance against off site billboard signs.

"I really think we should consider repealing this. We could be losing lots of traffic from Highway 37 by not having a billboard saying come visit our town."

She also indicated that the 10ft. sign restriction should be raised to 15 or 20 feet.

"If we change the height of signs maybe then the view wouldn't be so obstructed. It would also give us a little more variance around Cassville."

Hennigan also encouraged the council to review definitions and fees within the ordinance. She stated that temporary signs, wrap-around signs and signs on wheels should all be defined.

The Board of Aldermen were all in agreement that the ordinance lacked detail and needed to be thoroughly examined.

Mayor Bill Shiveley proposed that the City should assemble a committee of Councilmen, Planning and Zoning members and Cassville citizens to discuss the direction of the sign ordinance for the community. The City would provide guidelines for the committee members to meet.

Cassville residents interested in being a member of the sign ordinance committee are encouraged to contact the Cassville City Clerk, Karen Jennings, at (417)-847-4441.

The City of Cassville is also seeking interested volunteers to fill vacancies for the following boards: Parks, Airport and Planning and Zoning. Applications for board members are available at Cassville City Hall.

The Cassville City Council meets the second Monday of each month at 6:00 p.m. at City Hall.

Man pleads guilty to federal child pornography charges

Kathee Baird

A man from Monett pleaded guilty last week to federal child pornography charges almost a year after an international investigation was launched into him downloading child pornography.

Authorities in Germany, who were investigating a website operated by a German citizen who was distributing child pornography, contacted the FBI about Donald A. Rise, 57, who was downloading kiddie porn from the site.

When investigators went to Rise's residence, he admitted that he had viewed child pornography on his desktop computer the night before and admitted that he had images of child pornography on his computer. He said the average age of the children depicted in those images was 12 years old and some of the images depict children in obvious distress.

Investigators conducted a forensic review of Rise's computer and found 1,681 images of child pornography, including numerous images of children from 2 to 10 years old. The images depict children as young as toddlers being sexually assaulted by adult men and other children. Some images depict the children being restrained and gagged while being sexually abused, and the children appear to be in distress and crying.

Under federal statutes,

Rise is subject to a mandatory minimum sentence of five years in federal prison without parole, up to a sentence of 20 years in federal prison without parole, plus a fine up to $250,000. A sentencing hearing will be scheduled after the completion of a presentence investigation by the United States Probation Office

Joy Johnson has been the owner of the large antique and thrift shop, the Red Barn in Shell Knob, for six years. Johnson has been a part of the store's history since she opened a booth with the thrift and vintage shop twenty years ago.

During that time, she also began working for the shop under the previous owner. After some time Johnson was presented with the offer to buy Red Barn.

She stated, "I was doing all this driving for my 10 different booths, so once the building was for sale, it only seemed logical to buy it [Red Barn]."

Over the years, Johnson has added a small cafe to this ever growing shop, with gourmet cupcakes, sandwiches, coffee and ice cream, with their specialty being a chocolate malt cupcake. Red Barn has about 50 different booths and 65 different vendors.

There is a waiting list to have your items in the store. Because of this, each vendor takes an interest in their area and keeps them stocked and clean.

Red Barn is kid friendly and open 364 days a year.

The Red Barn also has many unique items such as depression glass, Shell Knob souvenirs, kids clothes, baby gifts, a cabin decorating area, a vintage kitchen area, local aerial photos, jewelry, repurposed furniture, gourmet soups from Wind and Willow, jams and jellies from Barry Farm, and much more.

During the summer, Red Barn will be open later, Monday-Thursday 7:00 p.m., Friday 8:00 p.m. and Saturday 9:00 p.m.

For more information, call (417) 858-2602 or e-mail newredbarn@gmail.com.

The Purdy community is gearing up for their 2nd Annual Purdy Festival. Mark your calendars now for Saturday, July 20th, 2013.

The Purdy Festival committee has put together a schedule full of fun activities for everyone in the community and surrounding area.

For the kids, the festival will have free carnival rides, water activities, petting zoo and many different types of booths set up by the local school clubs and churches.

For those older kids and adults, the festival will have a Bathtub Race and Classic/Antique Car Show.

The Angie Swadley Memorial 5k run, slow-pitch softball tournament and a sand volleyball tournament will be held.

Also, a Veteran's reception will be held.

For your entertainment, there will be bands playing throughout the day to listen to while you enjoy the chicken BBQ dinner cooked by the Purdy Fire Department or food from many vendors. Those attending can even help judge the BBQ cook-off contest.

For the livestock enthusiast, the annual Purdy Livestock Show will also be held for the first time in the air conditioning of the south gym.

Participation in this event is open and anyone wishing to compete or exhibit is encouraged to contact the committee by email at purdyfestival@yahoo.com or call Laura Hensley at 417-442-3216 ext. 277.

Shoppin' in the Shell $1,000 winner announced Letter to the Editor...

Paula Andersen

Friday, July 5th, was a great day for the winner of the Shoppin' in the Shell fundraiser event. The drawing of the 11th Annual Shoppin' in the Shell event, sponsored by the Shell Knob Senior Center Inc. in partnership with Shell Knob Chamber of Commerce was held at 10 am on Friday, July 5th.

Wanda Donaldson, winner of this year's Chamber Volunteer of the Year Award, drew the ticket for the $1,000 Shopping Spree held in collaboration with Shell Knob Merchants.

Jerry Arnold, Chief Operating Officer of the Senior Center, and Karen Elsey, Shell Knob Chamber Director, oversaw the event.

The winner of the Shoppin in the Shell $1,000 Shopping Spree was Cheryl Fisher. Cheryl has family living in Shell Knob on Taylor Road. She spends a great deal of time here with her parents. Her husband is currently deployed on his third Army mission in Afghanistan. He is serving as a PM forward for the Assured Mobility Systems. In addition to that, he has served four missions in Iraq.

Their eight-year-old son, Joshua, pictured with his mother, is in the third grade in Chesterfield.

Cheryl said, "My family

spends a lot of time here as my parents have a place on Taylor Road, Shell Knob. I purchased a single ticket outside of the Country Fresh Market when I heard that the proceeds benefited the Senior Center. Thanks to them, our family will greatly benefit from this prize."

All proceeds go towards the support of these two organizations.

The event is meant to encourage individuals to shop locally first and recognize the local community.

I would like to address those who aren't concerned about what's happening in our country because they think it doesn't affect them or others as well.

The Constitution was written to safeguard our freedom of America. When it's infringed upon, it affects all of us.

Right now, we are a country divided, instead of a county united and that will be our downfall.

What's happening in America isn't about political parties and its not about race. The constitution wasn't written for one-half of America and not the other. When Americans can come together with that then we have a chance to stop the destruction that is coming. These things aren't conspiracy theories, they're happening.

The first amendment, freedom of speech, press and the right to assembly have all been infringed upon. By the IRS targeting those who want to peacefully assemble, but those who targeted reporters, targeting of religion and by those who threaten whistle blowers.

The second amendment that gives us the right to bear arms has been infringed upon at the state and federal levels. The second amendment's purpose is to safeguard Americans from an unruly and unjust government.

The fourth amendment which gives the right of the people to be secure in their homes, has been infringed upon by data mining every American in the name of security. The Patriot Act was not written for this purpose.

Not to be deprived of life, liberty or property is the fifth amendment and is being infringed upon by the National Blueway taking control of privately owned property which can greatly effect ranching, farming, water and even building.

Article IV, Section 4 has been infringed upon. The U.S. shall protect every state in the Union from invasion but our borders are not secure by allowing more than 11 million illegal immigrants into our country. Amnesty will cost our country at least $6 trillion.

We are the highest debt-or in the world, in all of history, at nearly $17 trillion. Economists say it's impossible to ever rid ourselves of that debt. The best the government can do is sustain it. But, our government keeps spending. This is what we're passing on to our children and grandchildren.

When will enough be enough?

Golden

Elvis tribute artist to perform for Shell Knob Lions Club fundraiser

Paula Andersen

Shell Knob Lions Club will be sponsoring a fundraiser for the Shell Knob/Community Building, Saturday evening, July 27, 2013. Gene Styles performed an Elvis Tribute for the Lions Club last fall that was a real show-stopper. His voice and mannerisms are a true vocal and style copy of Elvis's performances. The ten dollar tickets will be on sale at Shell Knob Insurance, Treasures, Then and Now, and at the local Chamber office in Shell Knob. Your local Lion member may have tickets too. Ann Henson will be serving her usual fine food fare; taco salad, hot dogs, and before the program at 6 pm. For good seats arrive early as the show will start at 6 pm. The Community Building seats around 200 people and could be sold out by then.

Gene Styles started performing 12 years ago as an Elvis Tribute Artist and has expanded his Elvis show throughout Phoenix, AZ, MO, NV and nationwide.

Just as Elvis Presley did, Gene Styles interacts with the audience while performing and – of course – teddy bears and scarves are always being received by the Elvis fans. Find out why Pat McMahon of the AZTV Morning Show said that “Gene Styles, as an Elvis impersonator, is the closest thing to Elvis Presley that I have ever seen or heard.”

That sort of comment is always repeated at his Tribute to Elvis shows. Gene Styles voice has the same characteristics as Elvis Presley (natural and not covered up by a thick phony accent). Gene believes that there will never be anyone as good as Elvis Presley again but we can only try to capture his style. Gene Styles now lives in Anderson, S. Carolina, but will travel anywhere in the United States or in the world to present his Tribute to Elvis show. He has been providing entertainment in cities such as Phoenix, Peoria, Scottsdale, Mesa, Surprise, Sun City, Tempe, Gold Canyon, Prescott, Flagstaff, Overgaard, Yuma, Las Vegas, NV, Laughlin, NV, Reno, NV and Branson over the past several years. Gene also spends time in Branson over the summer months and performs for all the cities in and around Branson, such as Eureka Springs, AR, Little Rock, Tulsa, OK, Kansas City and Springfield.

Man sentenced after electronics theft

Samantha Barberio

On Thursday, January 24th, 2013, Sergeant Kermit Howell was dispatched to the Wal-Mart Store in Monett on a complaint of property damage. He then contacted asset protection manager Erin Graham and he received the following report.

That morning, an employee named Beverly Myers arrived for work and interrupted an attempted theft. Myers told Sergeant Howell she arrived for work and saw a man bent down beside the west fence of the Lawn and Garden Center.

After watching the man for awhile, he got up and walked the front of the store. She then went inside to work and did not approach him.

When she entered the store, she headed to the lawn and garden area and saw the same man with another employee. As soon as the man saw, her he quickly left the area. By that point, Myers recognized the man as a suspected shoplifter. After, Myers and the other employee found a shopping cart loaded with merchandise hidden out of view, and damage to the fence amounting to approximately $350 worth of damage.

The merchandise in the cart totaled in a value of $2,123.04 with such items as a laptop computer, Nintendo Wii U game console, an Xbox 360 and several computer hard drives.

Later Rick Pixley was identified as the suspect and was booked on a 24 hour investigation hold for burglary, attempted felony, stealing and property damage. Pixley was sentenced to confinement in the Barry County Jail for two years.

However, the execution of sentence was suspended and he received unsupervised probation for two years. During this time, he must not violate the law in any manner, pay restitution in the sum of $700.00 within six months and must not be on the premises of Wal-Mart. If this is broken, he will have to serve his original sentence of two years in Barry County Jail.

Early migratory bird seasons approved

Approval of early season hunting regulations and a change to the federal framework for migratory game birds by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS) means Missouri hunters will have a 16-day early teal season and larger limits on most early migratory birds.

The FWS action gives the green light to the following early migratory bird seasons and limits, which were approved by the Missouri

Conservation Commission in May.

- Mourning doves, Eurasian collared doves, and white-winged doves: Sept. 1 through Nov. 9, daily limit 15 in the aggregate, possession limit 45.

- Blue-winged teal (BWT), green-winged teal, and cinnamon teal: Sept. 7 through 22, daily limit six in the aggregate, possession limit 18.

- American woodcock:

Oct. 15 through Nov. 28, daily limit three, possession limit nine.

- Wilson's (common) snipe: Sept. 1 through Dec. 16, daily limit eight, possession limit 24.

- Sora and Virginia rails: Sept. 1 through Nov. 9, daily and possession limit 25 in the aggregate.

Missouri's 2013 early migratory bird hunting regulations increase possession limits from two to three times the daily limit for all species except rails. The possession limit for rails remains 25. This year's daily limit for teal represents a two-bird increase from past years.

Conservation Department Resource Scientist Doreen Mengel says state and federal waterfowl biologists approved the changes after careful consideration and analysis of possible effects on migratory bird populations.

Many of you are aware of the concerns raised recently about the White River being named a National Blueway by the Obama Administration. For those of you who are not aware of the recent designation, here is brief account and timeline of what has occurred. In 2010, President Obama announced the America's Great Outdoors Initiative and on May 24, 2012, then Secretary of the Interior Ken Salazar issued Secretary's Order 3321 establishing the National Blueways System. In early 2013, the White River was established as the second National Blueway by the Department of the Interior. The National Blueways program was set up to employ "integrated land and water management techniques to conserve and restore a river from its headwaters to its mouth, and across its entire watershed." In addition, the program states that "a large scale is needed... to successfully address 21st century challenges posed by changing patterns of resource use and climate."

This description of the program immediately troubled me. When the federal government begins discussing land and water management, it usually means someone in a faraway place, like Washington, D.C., is issuing orders and regulations to people who live and work next door to the designated area. Most of us agree that we should be good stewards of the natural resources we have been given. Missouri is a beautiful state with many natural wonders that contribute to our state both recreationally and economically. The White River, a 700-plus mile body of water that runs from Arkansas into Missouri, is one of these natural treasures. The White River is important to many in the 29th District, from property owners to businesses to water enthusiasts. Most of us recognize that property owners, farmers, and businesses near the river are also vital to our economy in southwest Missouri. Therefore, these interests should be balanced and proposals and solutions made by cooperation of all those involved.

Here we encounter the first problem with this process: The people who would be most affected by this found out about it because of a government designation. This wasn't something pursued by the people living and working around the river or even by their elected voice in Congress or in the State Legislature. Instead, federal agencies, working from the top down, imposed the designation without public input and, in large part, without public knowledge. No public meetings were held, no informational groups were formed, and no property owners within the watershed were consulted or informed.

This leads to the second problem: Of all the environmental interests and stakeholders involved, almost none of them were from Missouri and no groups representing or with an interest in property rights or property owners were included. It only seems obvious that those who potentially would be most affected by changes to the watershed, the property owners, should have a voice in the process and be considered when and if any decisions are made. If they had been consulted, I am sure property owners would have communicated their concerns about the designation's effect on farming including use of their soil, treatment of their crops, and where their livestock can graze.

This leads to the third problem: The designation was written in such generalities that it could be interpreted very loosely and allow for unwanted federal oversight and intrusion in Missouri's part of the White River. However well-intentioned these regulations might be, we recently learned from the TSA, the IRS, and the Missouri Department of Revenue what government regulation can become.

These concerns prompted many of you to get involved. You wrote letters, made phone calls, and organized meetings to educate your fellow citizens about this issue and the problems with it. I attended such a meeting a few weeks ago, and was convinced that the circumstances under which the White River National Blueway designation was made was not consistent with our democratic form of government where the people make these sort of determinations from the bottom up. Because of these grassroots efforts, I am pleased to report that the U.S. Department of the Interior rescinded the designation of the White River as a National Blueway. I am not opposed to voluntary conservation programs, but they should be done with the proper authority and with adequate public input. I want to commend our area federal delegation, Sen. Blunt, Congressman Long, and Congressman Smith, as well as my colleagues in the Missouri Senate and House who stepped up for Missouri and opposed the program.

It is important we continue to preserve the White River so it can serve our citizens and businesses alike and benefit future generations. But, any future efforts must start at the local level, include all the stakeholders, and be done in such a way that earns the public trust, not in a way that ignores it.

As always, I welcome your ideas, questions and concerns about Missouri government. You may contact me at the State Capitol as follows: (573) 751-1480; david.sater@senate.mo.gov; or by writing to Sen. David Sater, Missouri State Capitol, Room 433, Jefferson City, MO 65101.

Fruits and veggies can help fight cancer

Cancer affects the lives millions of people across the globe. When detected early, cancer becomes a significantly less formidable foe, as survival rates for cancer patients whose cancer was detected early are much higher than those whose initial diagnosis came after the disease had progressed into its later stages. But early detection isn't the only way to beat cancer. According to the American Cancer Society, a healthy diet that includes at least 2½ cups of fruits and vegetables each day can help men, women and children lower their cancer risk. Fruits and vegetables that have the most color, such as those that are dark green, red, yellow, and orange, tend to have the most nutrients. Fruits and vegetables are typically low in calories as well, which helps people maintain healthy weights. That's a significant benefit, as the ACS Cancer Prevention Study II showed significant increases in cancer occurrence in people who are the most overweight. The link between cancer and obesity is especially strong with specific cancers, including breast cancer after menopause and cancers of the colon, rectum, pancreas, kidneys, esophagus, and endometrium. What's more, studies have shown that obese men and women have a harder time battling cancer upon diagnosis. So while a diet rich in fruits and vegetables can help lower cancer risk, such a diet may even make it easier to battle cancer if diagnosed.

Passages

A mountain of rock may seem everlasting, yet year after year it is worn away by the elements which leave deep crevices as evidence of their great power... carving new passages in the rock's surface in a natural process of destruction and re-creation.

We conduct every funeral service as to be a source of comfort and inspiration to the living as well as a worthy and memorable tribute to the departed.

Exeter says goodbye to winningest basketball and volleyball coach in school history

Exeter school says goodbye to a long time high school coach this summer, Jason Cole. Cole left Exeter high school after ten years of being the athletic director, transportation director, head girls basketball coach and previous girls volleyball coach. Cole accepted a principal position at Joel E. Barber Elementary in Lebanon.

During his time at Exeter, there were ten consecutive winning seasons for the lady tigers program. This was a turning point for the basketball program, given that in the 30 years of existence prior to 2003 there had only been two winning seasons.

Cole states, “I feel confident that the program is very strong with all but three points per game returning next season; and an incoming group of freshmen that finished 13-0 last season coming into challenge for starting positions and key playing time.”

This is a great accomplishment considering the past year was considered a rebuilding year, with over 95 percent of the scoring gone from the previous year.

Cole states, “It was thought that the team might struggle to win five games, but exceeded that by finishing with 15 wins and 10 losses.”

Other accomplishments during his time at Exeter were: in 2009 they broke the basketball school record with 30 wins, broke the volleyball school record in 2008 with 26 wins and broke the baseball school record in 2004 with 12 wins.

Cole is the winningest coach in basketball school history with 194 wins and the winningest coach in volleyball school history with 84 wins. Under Cole’s supervision, the girls volleyball and basketball teams accomplished a lot.

Girls volleyball from 2007-2011 had 85 wins, 28 losses and eight ties. They were also two time Ozark 7 Conference champions. During his time as head volleyball coach, Cole received Ozark 7 Coach of the Year in 2010. Cole took over a program that had won 20 games in the previous eight seasons.

Girls basketball from 2003 until present also had many accomplishments over this ten year span. The varsity record was 194 wins and 81 losses. They were three time Ozark 7 champions, Class 1 State Quarter finalists in 2008, Class 1 State Champions in 2009 and Class 1 Runner-up in 2011.

Cole was also deemed four time Ozark 7 Coach of the Year, three time Missouri Class 1 District Coach of the Year and two time Missouri Basketball Coaches Association Coach of the Year.

Cole left Exeter with positive remarks, “I enjoyed the support from the community and administration during my 10 years at Exeter. Also, I feel that the program will continue to stay strong for the foreseeable future with hard work and community support.”

CWGA

By Becky Ryder
Several CWGA women played golf on Thursday, July 4, 2013. Game for the day was "Throw Out Three." After playing a full eighteen holes, the women were allowed to subtract the highest scores for "3" of their worst holes. Thanks, Penny Hall, for doing the math! Results: 1st Place: Marlene Woolf, 2nd Place: Mary Lee Meyerkord, 3rd Place: Ruth Callahan and Becky Ryder. Chip-Ins: Ruth Callahan. Birdies: Jeanette Skorupski #17, Janie Watson #4, Marlene Woolf #6, Deb York #1. Low Putts: Sandy Flieschmann.

Cassville Golf Course holds Jack & Jill scramble

The Cassville Golf course hosted it's 2 person Jack and Jill scramble with 50 teams participating. The weather was great and the course looks absolutely gorgeous! The closest to pin awards went to Anne Ogle on #6, 17 inches from the hole, almost a hole in one! On #11 Carol Sargent, #8 Scott Tucker, and #17 Paul Ashe.

In the Championship Flight, the big winners were Jack and Connie Leggett with a 61; 2nd place, Paul and Susan Ashe with a 62; 3rd place, Scott Tucker and Amy Garner with a 63; 4th place, Walter and Stephany Powell with a 66.

A Flight, 1st place winners, Ashley Garner and Kristen Popanz; 2nd place, Matt and Kendra Flattem; 3rd place, Mike Dunseith and Leta Higgs; 4th place, Jack and Jeannie Shoup, with a score card playoff, all shooting a 72.

B Flight, 1st place, Mark and Lora Colby; 2nd place, Gary and Dona Heithold; 3rd, Randy and Linda Petty; 4th, Terry and Terri Cox, all shooting a 74.

C Flight, 1st place, Galen and Patty Shoemaker; 2nd place Dave and Ellen Shelly; 3rd, Mike and Phyllis Mahan; and 4th, Stan and Linda Bettin, shooting a 78 to 80.

The lunch was provided by Doug and Kay McCullough, with high praise from all. Everyone seemed to have a great time, looking forward to the 4 person scramble on September 28th.

Cassville Men's League

By Robert York
It was our first 8:30 am start time and only a few showed up late. It was a great day for golf. The scores were as follows: first place Jim Murphy and Dennis Wade with a net 60, second place Denver Douglas with a net 61, third place Doug Louk and Ronnie Walker with a net 62 and fourth place Bob Gaddis with a net 63. The skin's winners were, Gary Conde, Hal Every, Leroy Keller and Alan Oakleaf with one skin and Charlie Chappell with two skins.

The closest to the pin honors were somewhat muddled by a woman. Pam Graham had her name on the marker for #11 but did not qualify because she didn't pay her men's league entry fee! Nice shot Pam! Hole #6 was Dave Cantrell, hole #11 Leroy Keller, hole #8 Paul Ramonette and hole #17 Alan Oakleaf. "Golf combines two favorite American pastimes: taking long walks and hitting things with a stick." PJ O'Rourke.

Kings River Ladies League

By Cindy Thomovsky
Here it was another beautiful day; a day that would be followed by a favorite day of the year for many, July 4th. Happy Birthday, America!

We had a good turnout considering many of our ladies were preparing for a houseful of guests for the 4th. We played a 9-hole Scramble, which is a great way to give everyone an opportunity to contribute to the team score and to win the "big bucks" that we dole out to the winners each week. Our winning team this week with a score of 33 was composed of Carol Barekman, Marilyn Atkinson, and Lori Reaves. Apparently, they saw birdies flying several times and Marilyn just missed a hole-in-one! The ball had the nerve to hit the pin but decided not to drop into the hole but rather to rest right beside it. Second place saw two teams tied. Both scored a 38. The first team had the hot shot players Linda Cantrell, Sharon Glenn, Nancy Hassler and Cheryl Staats; the other team was composed of hot shot Kimberling City Ladies, Kay Tomlin, Sue Giessman, and Kathy McGrath. Those teams saw some good shots and had some laughs but did not convince birdies to join them enough. The rest of us just had a good time.

Next week should see the return of most everyone and we are looking forward to a fun summer. Anyone out there who would like to join us one time, several times or even all of the time, we meet on Wednesday mornings at the course between 8 and 8:30 in the morning. Hope to see you then.

Barry County Health Department June Food Service Report

The Health Department divides food service code violations into two categories: Critical and Non-Critical Violations. Critical Violations are more likely than other violations to contribute to food contamination, or illness and/or injury. Non-Critical Violations, although important to the overall hygiene of the establishment, do not necessarily present an immediate threat to food contamination or illness and/or injury. A report for each establishment that is inspected shows the number of critical violations, along with a short statement as to the nature of the violations. # McCullough wrongful death trial to begin next week

The wrongful death trial connected to a man who has been missing for over a decade is scheduled to begin next week in Stone County, where it was moved on a change of venue.

The daughters of Gary McCullough filed the suit against Sandra McCullough Klemp, her current husband Kristopher Klemp, and McCullough Klemp's daughter, Liehnia Chapin, who went missing in 2006, and Jennifer Klemp Brattin.

Jennifer Klemp Brattin, who was married to Kristopher Klemp at the time McCullough went missing, was released from liability in the case last month "in exchange for her truthful testimony" at the upcoming trial.

John 4:24-- God is a spirit: and they that worship him most worship him in spirit and in truth.

John 6:63-- It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak unto you, they are spirit, and they are life.

John 3:17-- For God sent not his Son into the world to condemn the world; but that the world through him might be saved.

Romans 8:1--there is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the spirit.

2 Corinthians 13:5-- Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith; prove you own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

Changes made in Medicare payment for medical equipment

Effective July 1, 2013, Barry County has been included in the national expansion of changes being made in Medicare payment for Durable Medical Equipment. Durable Medical Equipment is a large list of medical equipment authorized by Medicare for various disorders. The treatment for diabetic conditions is included in the list.

The change will apply to seniors that have been receiving their diabetic supplies through a Medicare National Mail Order provider.

Letters from the Centers for Medicare Services have been mailed out explaining how the changes would be put into effect.

Seniors who receive these letters, or who may hear of this change through other sources, may want to talk to someone.

The Central Crossing Medicare Assistance Team will offer a new service to help seniors and others in our area on DME Medicare changes.

If you have a question regarding how your current or future Durable Medical Equipment expenses will be covered by Medicare, call Rita Goodhead, Medicare Assistance Coordinator, at the Central Crossing Senior Center 417-858-3456, or come by and make an appointment.

Agricultural career opportunities abound

A career in agriculture can prove richly rewarding. While it's common to envision overalls and tractors when imagining careers in agriculture, the opportunities to work in the agriculture industry stretch beyond the farm and into the corporate world. The following are a few of the paths men and women with a passion for agriculture can pursue.

* Business: Agriculture is big business, and the industry has many opportunities for those who want to pursue a career in business. Farmers and producers of agricultural products need someone to draft contracts for their agreements with the large corporations who distribute those products. In addition, purchasing agents and agricultural financiers are just two of the many career opportunities that enable men and women to work on the business side of agriculture.

* Social service: The agricultural industry also has positions of social service. In addition to food inspector, who ensures agricultural products are safe for human consumption, social service positions within the agricultural industry include environmental consultant and conservation officer. Men and women can also work to develop programs that encourage youngsters to pursue careers in the agricultural industry.

* Production: Of course, the agricultural industry has a host of careers for those who want to get their hands dirty. Farms need to be plowed, seeds must be planted and fertilized and farms need to be well-maintained to continue operating efficiently and effectively. Though technology has taken the place of many agricultural production positions, there are still many opportunities out there for those who want to work under the sun.

* Education: Those who want to share their love of agriculture with others can put their skills to work in the classroom. Agricultural instructors can train the next generation of agriculture professionals at the university or high school level, ensuring today's farms are left in good hands tomorrow.

Landowners Have a Responsibility for Thistle Control

After the recent years of drought, thistles have taken advantage of weakened grass stands and full-bloomed plants are visible in many fields through the area.

“Many tracts of land in Southwest Missouri are inundated with heavy populations of musk and bull thistles,” said Tim Schnakenberg, an agronomy specialist with University of Missouri Extension. “Some landowners have taken extra steps this year to keep the problem in check, while others have done nothing.”

As a reminder for all Missouri landowners, section 263.190 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri read: “It shall be the duty of every owner of lands in this state to control all Canada, musk or Scotch thistles growing thereon so often in each and every year as shall be sufficient to prevent said thistles from going to seed.”

“Thistle control can be very difficult but it is not impossible,” said Schnakenberg. “I know farmers who spot sprayed thistles throughout the spring and still have a few patches of thistles that slipped through. It is common to have a few here and there, but large tracts of uncontrolled thistles make it more challenging to neighbors who have worked hard to keep thistles on their side of the fence from going to seed.”

BEST METHOD NOW
What is to be done at this point in time? Since the majority of the seed for the growing season is already produced, control measures at this time are after-the-fact. Most thistles are biennials, meaning they germinate in the fall, bolt with a seed head in the spring, produce seed and die by mid-summer.

“Since the plants that have seeded out are almost dead because of the proximity to the end of their lifespan, spraying is almost fruitless now,” said

Schnakenberg.
Mowing is the first impulse of many to control it now, but one risk of mowing is the spreading of the seed to other areas on the mower deck, making matters worse for the fall germination period. Sometimes this is what it takes however to clean up a mess.

WEEVIL CONTROL
Over 30 years ago, University of Missouri Extension and USDA introduced the flower head weevil and rosette weevil to Missouri fields. These weevils specifically target thistles.

“There is lots of evidence that these weevils are doing a massive job of consuming many of the seed in the flower heads scattered across our county. There is no way that they can keep up with all the seed produced, but if they are getting perhaps 30-40 percent of the billions of seeds that are produced each year, they are having an impact,” said Schnakenberg.

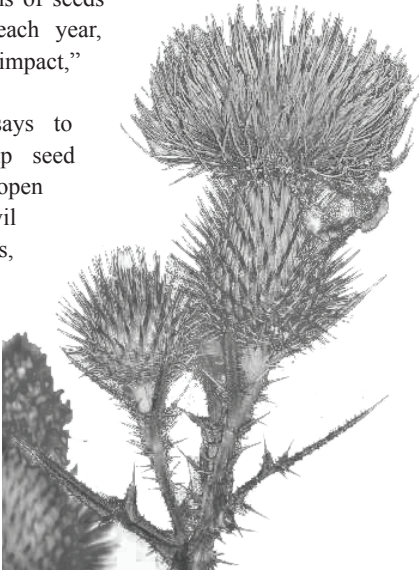

Schnakenberg says to watch for dried up seed heads and cut them open for evidence of weevil damage. Many times, a person will find two to four flower head weevils in the heads.

“At this time of year, the weevil is probably the best control,” said Schnakenberg.

“Biological control does not take us, as landowners, off the hook for keeping thistles from going to seed. Obviously the weevils need our help.”

SPRAY OPTIONS
Other control options include spraying at appropriate times of the year with products such as 2,4-D, dicamba, Grazon P+D, GrazonNext, Chaparral or other registered products.

Schnakenberg says the best times to spray are when the plants are still in the rosette stage which is the stage these plants are in for 70-80 percent of their lifespan. This corresponds with an ideal time of the year to spray being in the fall (October) or early spring (March-April). Sometimes widespread broadcast spraying is necessary for control over spot

Eco-friendly food trends

Every year various food and nutrition gurus, including the National Restaurant Association, professional chefs and members of the American Culinary Federation, come together and share their predictions and support of foods, beverages and cooking practices that will be trendy for the upcoming year. Many of the categories are divided into healthy options for diners looking to improve their personal well-being, while other categories run the gamut from fun foods to less-than-healthy dishes. According to what was hot for 2012, the leaders in the ranking included locally sourced meats and seafood, as well as locally grown produce. It seems more people are interested in sustainable food practices. Factory farming and transporting meats, seafoods and produce far distances rely on not-so-friendly environmental practices. Fossil fuel emissions are cut dramatically when food doesn't have to be shipped around the world. Also, healthier meat and seafood products are produced when animals are raised in eco-friendly and conditions because they don't have to be fattened-up with growth hormones and artificial vitamins.

Representative District 158

As I woke last week, on our nation's Independence Day, I decided to read the Declaration of Independence. As I read the letter, the more recognizable portions, those we remember from our time in school and from hearing them in movies and in the speeches of politicians, brought me pride in our country, as always. As I read on, however, the letter from the 56 signers turned towards the stating of the specific abuses of power the King of England was exercising on the colonies.

It is these specific abuses that we do not hear about in school, in the movies or in the speeches of politicians. The charges are specific and direct. As I read the list of infractions by the King, I could not help but to compare these actions to similar actions that I have witnessed. The Government of the United States execute against the American People. As I said, the charges are specific and direct, so some require a little imagination in order to draw lines to modern day actions, but they are relatable, nonetheless. I think of a specific example of the EPA targeting a couple in Priest Lake, Idaho, who had navigated a complicated regulatory process in order to build their dream home in retirement, and then when they began construction, the EPA (an agency which was created by executive fiat) ordered them to cease construction of the home, and restore the property to its original condition, plant special plants, fence it in, and monitor it for three years, because they were building in a "protected wetland", and that they would be fined $30,000 per day until they were in compliance. The couple tried to take the agency to court, but TWO courts rejected their case, stating that the EPA had the authority to demand compliance and levy fines. Finally, the Supreme Court agreed to hear the case, and the couple won, with Justice Scalia writing the majority opinion. This issue stretched over a 6 year period during this couple's golden years, all so the EPA could make an example out of ordinary citizens and attempt to exercise their unfounded authority and usurp the Constitutional guarantee of due process. In this instance, the Supreme Court protected the people from its government, but that doesn't always work, and not all people are as brave as this couple from Idaho who were willing to fight the ultimate fight. The examples could continue, and I could include multiple examples where various government agencies have abused people with whom I am friends, and even myself, by levying fines and attempting to circumvent due process. The difference is, in the past, I have put up with it, unlike the couple from Idaho, for fear of what government might do if I fought back because these agencies do not know the meaning of time or money, and stories of ordinary people winning a fight against an all powerful and abusive agency are few and far between. I am inspired by the couple from Idaho, and I hope that if any of my constituents are having an issue with an agency, state or federal, that they contact me for help. I am here for you. If it is a federal agency, then I will help you deal with your Congressman and Senator's offices. People should not have to cower to their government.

After reading the Declaration of Independence this morning, in its entirety, it hit me, as always, the bravery of these men who were standing up to an authority that was abusing power. They had the courage to fight for their Independence and they won. Since then, countless brave men and women have given their lives, fighting foreign enemies who despised us because of the freedom and liberties we enjoyed, and I am and always will be extremely grateful for that. That Freedom and Liberty was and always has been the source of our greatness as a country. It is what allowed us to prosper as a citizenry and to SUPPORT a government that could afford protect us from foreign enemies. But it is my opinion that the greatest threat to liberty and freedom is now domestic and it comes in the form of a government that has grown too large, too powerful, and which now seems almost unchecked by the people it governs. As time has gone on, it is inarguable that our liberties and freedoms have eroded significantly. I am hopeful that we will get some of those back as more and more people realize that our economic woes are only a symptom of the greater problem, which is a loss of basic freedoms.

As I write this, I am in high spirits, as this past week marked a victory for the people of our district, as well as people in all of southern Missouri and the northern half of Arkansas, as the Obama Administration removed the designation of the White River as a National Blueway, which had it stood in place, could have, and most likely would have, had serious negative implications on property rights for every one of the property owners within the White River Water Shed. This designation was removed, not because of myself or any other elected official on their own, but because of a groundswell of opposition spearheaded by people like Bill Gracy and others in our 158th legislative district and those across the affected area.

It is victories like these that remind me that we still live in the greatest country in the world. But we are the greatest country in the world, not because of the GOVERNMENT, but because of the GOVERNED.

I am proud to be an American. I am blessed to live in a Constitutional Republic (not a Democracy). And I am lucky to be from Missouri and specifically from the 158th district. God Bless every one of you. I hope everyone had a great Independence Day weekend!
