Season starts for eagles soaring in to Roaring River

Charlea Mills

As the weather turns cooler, residents in the Ozarks are lucky to have the opportunity to experience watching the bald eagles soar back into the area. Different parks and sites have eagle viewing opportunities in northwest Arkansas and Southwest Missouri, including Roaring River State Park.

For Barry County residents, Roaring River State Park offers monthly guided eagle viewing. Each session begins with a video about bald eagles in Missouri, then participants will venture outdoors to the nature center to watch the bald eagles coming in to roost for the night. They recommend you bring binoculars and warming clothing.

When asked what makes Roaring River such a desirable location for the eagles, Dusty Reid, park superintendent stated, "The wooded terrain, steep hillsides and the proximity to Table Rock Lake and the Washburn Prairie."

The eagle viewing programs began in November 1996 and have been popular ever since. Reid and park staff estimates that six to 15 eagles make Roaring River their winter home each year.

The first eagle watch session is Saturday, December 21, from 3 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. Other sessions will be at the same time on January 18 and February 15. For more information, call (417) 847-2539.

If you are unable to make the viewing sessions, Reid said there are many other opportunities to watch them on your own. Reid stated, "In the morning between 7:30 and 9:30 a.m., visitors can usually spot a few bald eagles sitting in trees above the river through the picnic area. In the afternoon between 4 and 5:30 p.m., the parking area in

Food Pantry preps for holiday meals

Arvest Bank of Cassville presented the Cassville food pantry with over 400 food items and $500 in donations on Monday. The food pantry is located at United Methodist Church in Cassville and has fed 375 families just this month with its daily pantry program.

The food pantry is associated with Feeding America and serves the public Monday through Thursday from 9:00 a.m. until 11:15 a.m. Many different associations donate to the food pantry including a recent donation from Cassville High School. The students donated around 1,000 pounds of food during the last week of October. Other donators include: St. Edwards Catholic Church, Holy Cross Lutheran Church and Walmart, who give food continuously.

The monetary donations given to the food pantry are used to purchase more goods at the Ozarks Food Harvest. This is a regional food bank that serves the Southwest Missouri area. United Methodist pays 10 cents on the dollar for food at the Ozark Food Harvest, so the $500 donation from Arvest will be worth ten times as much.

For those who want to help with the food pantry, there are many other ways to benefit the cause. The food pantry is always looking for volunteers for the many tasks involved with running the organization. A volunteer can help unload groceries, interview clients or do paperwork. United Methodist offers many different time frames and can work with anyone's schedule.

"I'm overwhelmed by the generosity of the community for caring for the needs of those who are struggling and need help. I greatly appreciate their support of our food services to the needy in the area," stated Janet Mills of the Cassville Community Food Pantry. For more information, call (417) 847-2328 or stop by United Methodist church in Cassville.

One arrested on drug trafficking charge

Charlea Mills

One was arrested on Thursday, November 21, on drug trafficking charges following a drug investigation by Monett Police Department.

According to the affidavit of probable cause, Detective George Daoud approached a man identified as Tong Yang, of Stella, at 210 North Kyler in Monett. Yang told the officer that he was waiting for the resident to contact him about a possible job offer and that he was self-employed.

Det. Daoud observed Yang's pupils to be constricted and not adjusting to anything. When the detective asked if Yang was on any prescription medications, he answered no, but then changed his answer to yes, referencing muscle relaxers.

Yang did not consent to a vehicle search at first, but then changed his mind while grabbing an item from beside the seat and putting it in his coat pocket before exiting the pickup. Det. Daoud ordered him to place his hands on the side of the vehicle, but Yang reached into his pocket again. The officer grabbed his hand, finding a blue case inside of his pocket.

When Daoud opened the case, it contained four grams of methamphetamine and paraphernalia, including a glass pipe. After searching the vehicle, he discovered an additional 31 grams of methamphetamine, two digital scales and numerous bags for distribution. All samples field-tested positive for meth.

Prosecuting attorney Johnnie Cox charged Yang with class B felony trafficking in the second degree. He is currently being held in the Barry County Jail in lieu of a $35,000 bond.

Pedestrian hit by car on Hwy. 76

Both a pedestrian and a driver were injured following a crash on MO 76 1/2 mile south of Cassville on Friday, November 22, around 6:10 a.m.

A northbound 2003 Saturn Ion driven by Charlotte Ray, age 56, of Cassville, struck pedestrian William Pierce King from behind while he was walking in the lane of traffic, according to the Missouri State Highway Patrol. King, age 26, of Cassville was transported to Cox South Hospital in Springfield for serious injuries sustained in the crash.

Ray was transported for minor injuries to Mercy Hospital in Cassville. She was wearing her seat belt.

BC Health Dept. approves 2014 budget

Charlea Mills

The Barry County Health Department approved the 2014 budget at their board meeting on Thursday, November 21. The Department expects to see a small profit decrease for the 2014 year compared to 2013.

For the year, 2013's budget estimated a profit of $8,893. However, for 2014, it is estimated to only receive $6,120 profit. The budget for 2013 and 2014 are predominantly the same for both revenue and expenditures save for the cost of medical insurance for employees. Medical insurance is expected to cost an additional $11,000 for 2014 versus 2013.

The Cassville Area Chamber of Commerce will host the final quarterly luncheon of 2013 on Tuesday, December 10, at 12 noon at the Barry County Museum.

The luncheon will feature ten local businesses that will highlight specials and promotions going on during the Holiday Season. Local business representatives will speak for three minutes each and will give away door-prizes valued at $25 or more. Representatives from the following businesses will be on the agenda: Corporate Business Systems, For the Birds, Forever Yours Embroidery, Herrin Animal Hospital, Jeremy Huse Photography, Justin Brands, Red Rose Health and Rehab, Satellite Center, Towneley Furnishing and Willis Insurance.

"This annual event is always one of the highlights of the year. Besides all the wonderful networking that takes place during the luncheon, ten different businesses get to showcase their products for the Holiday Season and ten lucky guests will walk away with a wonderful door prize. Prior to the featured guests taking the stage, everyone in attendance will have the opportunity to introduce themselves and share a few words about the business as well," stated Dusty Reid.

Guests will enjoy lunch catered by Subway. Lunch is $8.00 per person. Those interested in attending should RSVP to chamber@cassville.com or (417) 847-2814 by Thursday, December 5.

Upcoming benefit for student with cancer

Charlea Mills

Dustin Griffis, a sophomore at Cassville High School, was recently diagnosed with stage IV Hodgkin's Lymphoma. However, when he learned that he would be travelling to St. Jude's Hospital in Memphis, he wanted to be sure to take his guitar to be able to play for the "sick kids" in the hospital.

It is Griffis's spirit of faith and selflessness that led the community to band together to raise money to help cover expenses during his treatment. Even stricken with such a terrible disease, Griffis's desire to serve is not shaken.

Griffis is patriotic, serves God faithfully, enjoys Johnny Cash and is enamored with semi-trucks. He is a strong boy whose laughter and smile brighten a room.

The benefit for Griffis will be held on Friday, December 6, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Cassville R-IV High School commons area. The meal will be $7 per person donation for chili or ham and beans with corn bread, dessert and a drink. There will also be an auction and live music, as well as Team Dustin t-shirts for sale for $15 each. All proceeds will go to help with expenses related to his recent diagnosis.

To make a donation directly, you may send a check to: Cassville High School, Attn: Nurse Elaine Boles, 1501 Main Street, Cassville, MO, 65625. For more information, contact nurse Boles at (417) 847-3137.

Blood donations needed from BC residents

As part of the American Red Cross's Give Something that Means Something winter Campaign, Barry County will have three blood drive events in early December.

While 38 percent of Americans are eligible to donate blood, only eight percent do. A single donation can save multiple lives. The holiday season is a particularly important time because many regular donors are at holiday functions and unable to give.

The Barry County blood drives are at the following locations

• Dec. 3, 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. at George's Inc., 9066 State Highway W, Cassville.

• Dec. 9, 1 to 6 p.m. at Monett Community Church, 2102 E. Cleveland, Monett.

The Give Something that Means Something campaign also encourages donors to invite a loved one to follow in their footsteps or let something know they gave in his or her honor with a customized postcard. Donors simply take a photo of a Red Cross moment, whether it's relaxing on a donor bed, enjoying a post-donation snack or meeting a blood recipient, then upload the photo and add a message at rcblood.org/holidaypostcard. The "Postagram" will be mailed anywhere the donor chooses, courtesy of the Red Cross and Postagram.

To schedule an appointment, go to redcrossblood.org or call 1-800-RED-CROSS.

Barry County Museum hosts book signing

On Friday, November 22, was the Volume 19 of The Lifetimes of Memories, Voices of Barry County book release and signing at the Barry County Museum. Bill and Adella (Gowen) Horner, John and the late Betty (Baker) Seely, Kenneth Patton and Leo Patton were the featured narrators in this volume. Approximately 100 people attended the signing. Included in the picture is back row, left to right: John Seely, Leo Patton, and David Patton (representing Kenneth who was unable to attend). Front row: Adella Horner and Bill Horner.

Community theatre comes to Shell Knob

Paula Andersen
Over the last few years, Shell Knob had several groups start clubs and organizations to exhibit the talents of the residents. Included in those clubs are the Dogwood Trails Garden Club and C.A.S.K. (Creative Arts of Shell Knob). Now another group of gifted individuals is bringing a showcase of community talent to the area. S.K.I.T.S., Shell Knob In The Spotlight, is a community theatre group. Their mission is to promote and provide a platform for local and visiting talents through the performing arts and other artistic endeavors. Jim Robinson, a local resident, brought acting and production skills from his experiences as a community theater actor, director, producer, songwriter, musician and set builder prior to living in Shell Knob. He stated, "I have done it all and loved every minute of it. As an owner of a growing business, I was beginning to stress out. Volunteering in the community theater was a way to have some fun and de-stress. I am retired now and looking forward to starting a new group here in Shell Knob. We have received quite a bit of support from the community." The group's first production, "A Hillbilly Christmas", is a one-act play. It will be performed at the United Methodist Church on YY in Shell Knob: Friday, December 6, 7 p.m.; Saturday, December 7, 7 p.m.; and Sunday, December 8, 1:30 p.m. The evening's entertainment will begin with Gary John Gardner and his Good Bad Dog band performing. Robinson's philosophy is one of a family of workers putting together something that is fun and entertaining. When visiting his production meetings and rehearsals, the format is informal. Everyone gets to have a say in getting the work done, and everyone seems to delight in lending helping hands. Tickets can be purchased at the Shell Knob Chamber of Commerce, Treasures, Then and Now, Service 1 FCU, The Thrifty Closet and at the Methodist Church office.

Cassville's License Office contract up for bid

The Missouri Office of Administration is now accepting management contract bids for the Cassville License Office. Interested individuals and groups must submit their bids to operate the Cassville License Office by December 6. Prospective bidders had the opportunity to tour the office on Tuesday, November 19, to gain perspective on how a license office is operated. In fiscal year 2013, more than 43,490 transactions were conducted at the Cassville office, generating $143,675 in agent processing fees. The Missouri Department of Revenue oversees 182 license offices which are each operated by independent agents. All of the license offices were put out or bid under the competitive procurement process in 2009. Contracts were awarded for one year with three one-year renewal options. The move toward a competitive procurement process of the license offices overhauled the way local motor vehicle and driver license offices are awarded and was one of the first actions of Gov. Jay Nixon's administration. Bids will be evaluated on areas such as expertise of the personnel proposed, methods proposed for performing the services and whether the individual or entity is a not-for-profit, political subdivision, a Missouri Certified Minority Business Enterprise (MBA), a Women Business Enterprise (WBE) or a Missouri Service-Disabled Veteran Enterprise.

Local acts in Shakespearian classic

A local from Washburn is featured in Missouri State University's production of Romeo and Juliet. Jared

Hinde of Washburn played Apothecary. Hinde, a senior speech and theatre education major, is a 2005 graduate of Southwest High School and the son of Gerald and Janis Hinde. He also participated in Missouri State production of "An Actor's Nightmare." The department of theatre and dance at Missouri State University performed the Shakespeare classic Romeo and Juliet November 21 through 24. Written in the 1590s, Romeo and Juliet is a timeless tale of star-crossed young lovers whose union is doomed by a family feud, filled with passion, poetry, metaphors and meaning that still resonate today. For more information, contact Mark Templeton, managing director, at (417) 836-4644.

MO Heart Gallery features kids needing forever homes

Charlea Mills

Each year, November is National Adoption Month. For many children, finding a forever family is a farfetched dream, not a reality. Hundreds of Missouri children live in the foster care system, changing homes frequently.

These kids are often viewed as statistics, not children with needs. To change that, the Missouri Heart Gallery shows photos of children who are in need of homes in our home state. The hope from advocates is that the effort will help some of the children find their families and get them out of the foster homes.

Joanne Shelton, Missouri

director for The Adoption Exchange, stated, "They have suffered abuse and neglect, but then too, they are just like any children. And they just need families to love them, to provide them a safe and trusting environment." She added that 1,400 Missouri children are in the foster care system.

Since Missouri Heart Gallery opened this year, it has helped 20 children find adoptive families. Photos of the children needing homes scattered all over the state are available online in the gallery along with information about them. The Missouri Heart Gallery's website is moheartgallery.org.

"Expect the Unexpected"

Jamboree helps teams with pre-season jitters

The Cassville boys and girls high school basketball program traveled to Seneca Friday to participate in the Seneca Jamboree.

Each program got the opportunity to see two opponents and play a total of six quarters during the jamboree.

The Wildcats were able to see new offensives and defenses as they prepare for upcoming season.

Girls basketball coach Chris Shore was glad his team was able to play in the jamboree.

"The jamboree allowed us to see where we were at three weeks into our practice," said Coach Shore.

"Our team is so young and inexperienced that we hope to have gotten some of those first game jitters out of our system without it costing us.

"We struggled with forcing things that weren't there offensively. That lead to easy baskets for our opponents," said Coach Shore.

Shore did see some positives out of the jamboree for the Lady Cats.

"Our bright moment was the play of freshman Macey Parsons. She showed a lot of energy and made some good moves around the basket.

"This group is going to take some times to get there but it's going to happen."

The CHS boys basketball team also saw some positives during the jamboree.

Senior Marcus Weather-

man played with enthusiasm and intensity on both ends of the floor fighting for steals and crashing the offensive boards.

For a group of Cassville students, quick hands helped break a Guinness World Record on Thursday, November 14. The group participated in STACK UP!, a sport cup stacking competition where you stack cups in certain patterns and then take them down.

This was the eighth year for the event sponsored by the World Sport Stacking Association (WSSA). Last year's record of 183,658 people sport stacking in multiple locations in one day was shattered by this year's over 556,341 verified participants with numbers still rolling in.

Sport stacking has been called "a track meet for your hands at warp speed." Bob Fox, WSSA founder and CEO, stated, "Sport stacking is an activity enjoyed by all ages and cultures. It promotes hand-eye coordination, fitness, teamwork, speed and lots of fun. This is the eighth year we've teamed up with Guinness World Records, and we were excited to have another shot at breaking a world record."

Stacking groups participated from all over the world, including Hungary, Germany, Israel, South Korea, New Zealand, Taiwan and Columbia. Each group up stacked and down stacked different pyramid patterns as fast as they could for at least 30 minutes. Each group uses 12 specially designed cups called Speed Stacks.

The contests include speed races, relays and can combine stacking with fitness challenges as part of physical education classes. More than 37,000 schools and youth organizations worldwide participate in the sport.

October Barry County Food Service Report

The Health Department divides food service code violations into two categories: critical and non-critical.

Critical violations are more likely than other violations to contribute to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

Non-critical violations, although important to the overall hygiene of the establishment, do not necessarily present an immediate threat to food contamination or illness and/or injury.

A report for each establishment that is inspected shows the number of critical violations, along with a short statement as to the nature of the violations. The report also shows the number of non-critical violations but doesn't list the nature of those violations.

Handle With Care.

Some jobs require a long-handled tool to reach the work effectively. But remember, a long handle also requires that you work cautiously to avoid contact with power lines.

When using any tools or machinery with a long reach, be sure to pay attention to both ends, so you don't expose yourself or others to the risk of electric shock. Look up, look out, and get the job done safely.

Sessions included: Knowing Yourself: Communicating Assertively and Problem Solving: Rights and Responsibilities and Self

Advocacy/Self Determination; and Being Part of the Community. Students celebrated their accomplishments with an awards ceremony and celebration for family and invited guests. Toys for Tots donations needed in BC

The American Legion Post 118 and the Barry County Advertiser will serve as drop-off locations for Toys for Tots this year. The program began as a mission of the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve and collects new, unwrapped toys during November and December each year to distribute as Christmas gifts to less fortunate children. All donations will stay in Barry County for local children.

The primary goal of Toys for Tots is to give hope to children through a new toy at Christmas in the hopes of assisting them in becoming responsible, productive, patriotic citizens.

The drop-off times for the Barry County Advertiser are Monday through Thursday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Friday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. The American Legion home will collect on Saturday from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. A drop box will also be available at the Barry County Courthouse during the Christmas parade on December 7.

Students were required to participate in class, speak in front of peers and complete written work. Sessions included: Knowing Yourself: Communicating Assertively and Problem Solving: Rights and Responsibilities and Self

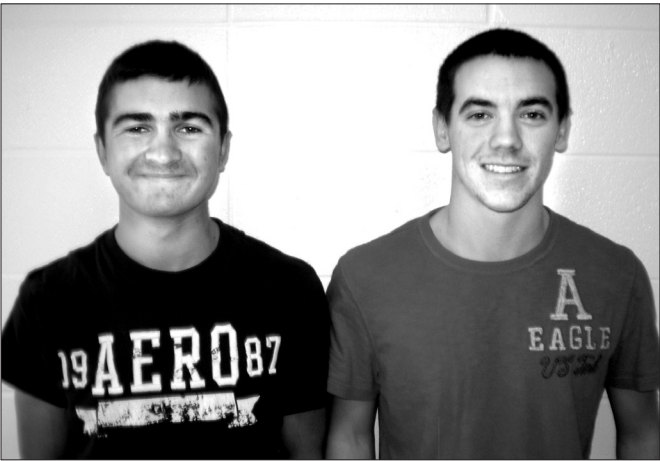

Advocacy/Self Determination; and Being Part of the Community. Students celebrated their accomplishments with an awards ceremony and celebration for family and invited guests. At the ceremony each student spoke briefly to the group about what being a self-advocate means to them. Project STIR is available by contacting Scott Hettinger at (417) 629-3266 or Scott.Hettinger@dmh.mo.gov.

Two Purdy students place in speech tournament

The Purdy High School Speech Department competed at the Diamond Novice Speech and Debate Tournament on October 25. Kaden Propps (right) placed third in Humorous Interpretation. Xena Smith (left) placed fifth in Dramatic Interpretation. Purdy High School Speech and Debate Coach Michelle Hilburn noted of Smith and Propps, "I am incredibly proud of these two individuals. This was their first tournament, and they did awesome!"

New 4-H club comes to Purdy

A new 4-H club is forming in Purdy. Their first meeting was November 19. Nathan Witt has volunteered as the community leader.

As the largest out-of-school youth organization in the world, 4-H is open to all boys and girls ages 5 to 18. Children who are five to seven years old (by Jan. 1, 2014) are eligible for 4-H Clover Kids, an introductory program.

Youths who are 8 to 18 years of age (by Jan 1, 2014) can select from a variety of 4-H projects and activities that encourage social and life skills in areas such as decision making, communication, social interaction, civic responsibility and physical skills.

Parents and child work in partnership to create learning opportunities through 4-H projects, project leaders and members. 4-H creates a unique opportunity for youth to explore mastery in their project areas by being able to enroll in the same project year-after-year, which allows youth to get a deep understanding of their area of interest.

There are opportunities for adults to volunteer and for parents to be involved with their children at all levels of the 4-H program.

"You do not have to live on a farm to join 4-H," said Jeremy Elliott-Engel, 4-H youth development specialist with University of Missouri Extension. "Project opportunities include computers, robotics, foods and nutrition, horticulture, large and small animals and much more. Agriculture projects continues to have strong enrollment for members in Barry County 4-H with many of the top projects being in the livestock areas, like beef, market goats and poultry."

New in Barry County this year is the Shooting Sports project. Leaders are certified in Smallbore Rife (.22 caliber) and will start practicing in early spring. Youth are trained in gun safety and precision shooting skills. Competitions happen at the county, state, regional and national levels.

"We know that active youth enrolled in 4-H are more likely to go to and successfully complete college education, and are more likely to return and contribute positively to their home communities," said Elliott-Engel.

Missouri 4-H is University of Missouri Extension's youth development program. The program is designed to help to create opportunities for young people to be valued, contributing members of their community.

To learn more about 4-H and how to get involved locally, go online to <http://mo4h.missouri.edu> or visit the Barry County University of Missouri Extension Center in the County Courthouse, Cassville. Enrollment fees are $10 per youth member.

Residents of southwest Missouri contact any of these 4-H youth development specialists for information: Karla Deaver in Lawrence County at (417) 466-3102; Velynda Cameron in Polk County at (417) 326-4916; Bob McNary in Jasper County at (417) 358-2158; Amy Patillo in Howell County at (417) 256-2391; or Jeremy Elliott-Engel in Newton County at (417) 455-9500.

CHS FBLA promotes seatbelt safety

Cassville FBLA members recently participated in the Battle of the Belt Challenge sponsored by the Missouri Coalition for Roadway Safety. Battle of the Belt is a safety belt competition between Missouri high schools to encourage the use of safety belts among students.

The Missouri teen safety belt usage rate for 2012 was only 66 percent. According to Mark Peck, Injury Prevention Outreach Coordinator at Mercy Hospital, Springfield, "Only 66% of teens in Missouri use their seat belt. Of the 135 teens that died in a car crash on Missouri roads last year, only 22% were wearing their seat belt. It is the hands down, number one safest way to protect yourself in a car."

Cassville FBLA officers did an unannounced seatbelt check on October 10. After the initial check, Computer Applications students did research on the importance of buckling up and created flyers that were posted around the high school. At the follow-up seatbelt check, students also handed out Dum-Dum suckers to those not wearing their seatbelts and LEifesafer candy to those students who had their seatbelts on.

Rings that encouraged students not to text and drive were also distributed. CHS student seatbelt usage increased from 88% in the first check to 91% in the second check.
