County breaks ground at new jail and health services hub

County officials gathered last Thursday to break ground at the new jail and health services site, located off Old Exeter Road, in Cassville. The county plans to have both projects complete by Summer 2024.

Adriana Keeton
Officials broke ground last Thursday, February 16, at the site of what will be home to the new Barry County Jail and Barry County Health Department in Cassville.

According to Administrator Roger Brock, the current location of the Barry County Health Department was a restaurant in the 1940s before the county purchased the property in 1954.

"With the new building we hope to be able to expand current services and add services such as fingerprinting and general services that we have been unable to provide because of limited space," said Brock.

I was able to sit down and talk with Sheriff Danny Boyd and Chief Deputy Major Angela Cole on Friday and tour the current facility.

The new larger facility will span approximately two acres and provide additional space for services needed in our county.

The current facility in downtown Cassville is cramped and outdated, with very little book-in space, and needs more flow to run a jail effectively and safely.

Of the 25-acre site, approximately five more acres will house a 100+ bed, 30,000 sq. ft. facility complete with a drive-thru sally door for safer transfer of inmates.

"The new facility will increase officer and inmate safety, training possibilities, and community safety," Sheriff Boyd said.

The facility will also be home to the Barry County Sheriff's Administration offices and will have additional multi-purpose rooms for officer training, community engagement, and resources.

"The facility will create a crucial flow that we do not have at our current facility," added Major Cole.

If all goes as planned, the county will complete both projects by the summer of 2024.

Missouri's catch-and-keep trout fishing season officially opens at 6:30 a.m. next Wednesday, March 1. The 2023 catch-and-keep season at Missouri State Park trout parks runs through October 31.

Missouri residents aged 16-64 and nonresidents 16 and older are required to purchase a Missouri fishing permit. In addition to a fishing permit, trout anglers must also buy a daily trout tag, which can be purchased at the Roaring River State Park Store.

A daily trout tag during the 2023 season costs $4 for adults and $3 for people 15 and under. Daily fishing permits are $8. The daily limit is four trout. The park store will open at 9 a.m. on Tuesday, February 28, and remain open until 7 p.m. on Wednesday, March 1.

First Time Youth Livestock Exhibitor Grants Available

The Missouri State Fair Foundation is on a mission to cultivate the next generation of Missouri agriculture. Foundation members recognize the important life lessons learned by exhibiting livestock. They also understand exhibiting livestock at the Missouri State Fair can be costly. It is their hope that by offsetting some of the costs incurred by exhibiting livestock, more young people will be able to benefit from this invaluable learning experience.

The requirements are as follows:

The exhibitor must be a Missouri resident and a current member of 4-H or FFA and be between the ages of 8 and 18 as of December 31, 2022.

Application must be signed by the applicant, parent/ legal guardian.

Exhibitor may not have previously exhibited any livestock (horse, cattle, swine, sheep, goat, chicken, or rabbit) at the Missouri State Fair. The exhibitor may have entered projects to be displayed in the 4-H or FFA Building.

Only one grant application per exhibitor will be accepted.

Only one grant application per household will be accepted. The only exception will be in the case of twins.

Grants will be awarded for the following species: Horse, Cattle, Swine, Sheep, Goat, Rabbit, and Chicken.

The exhibitor must attend AND exhibit in a 4-H or FFA class at the 2023 Missouri State Fair in order to receive payment.

If selected as a grant recipient, you will be expected to do the following:

By the 15th of each month prior to the Fair (April, May & June), provide us with a brief project update via email to moexhibitor@gmail.com. The update will include a high-quality picture of you and your livestock entry with a few words describing what you and your livestock have learned, accomplished, etc. These will be used for media and promotional purposes.

Following the fair provide a high-quality picture of you exhibiting at the Missouri State Fair with a brief report about what you learned from the experience no later than September 1, 2023.

All recipients will be strongly encouraged to participate in the 2023 Peer to Peer Fundraiser that will take place on Giving Tuesday in November (typically conducted on Facebook).

The grant will be paid to the exhibitor after they have finished showing at the Missouri State Fair AND provided the picture and essay as listed in requirement 7b. All checks will be mailed after the conclusion of the 2023 Missouri State Fair.

Deadline to enter is March 15, 2023. Winners will be announced April 7, 2023. Applications must be submitted to the Missouri State Fair Foundation via email (moexhibitor@gmail.com) OR mail with a postmarked date NO LATER than March 15, 2023.

Letters to the Editor

I am writing this letter in regard to the "Letter to the Editor" in the January 18 and January 25 edition.

First off, I am appalled at what I have learned concerning prosecutor Amy Boxx and the way she is NOT doing her job.

I for one have voted for her in the past, but I cast my last vote for her in 2022. What is she getting paid for? All those in Barry County should be upset by her actions, or rather lack of actions upholding the laws of our county. I was totally unaware of her actions, and I have to wear a lot of that blame because I didn't dig into her record before I voted for her.

Secondly, I would like to address the comments about our District Representative Scott Cupps and his statement that he would not approve any funding for Governor Parson's vaccination lottery. I applaud his standing against such a waste of money to try and "persuade" people to take a vaccine that I will never take and know of many others in my area that feel the same exact way. I don't know what is wrong with Mike Parson. He previously was hesitant to adopt incentives, but I guess someone got to him. If you want to be vaccinated, go for it, but don't try to trick people into getting it by offering a promise that you MIGHT get some money for doing so.

This is America, and so far, we still have the right of freedom of choice. I stand behind Mr. Cupps and am proud he is standing up for us against this vaccination lottery. I've done some research on this and if you're interested enough, you can do the same thing. It's not hard to find. Just look up Governor Parson's vaccination lottery. I just shook my head as I read about their ploy to persuade people to be vaccinated. The program will be operated by the Missouri Lottery. If by chance your name should be drawn, you will be responsible for paying all state and federal taxes (oops, there goes most of your winnings). In some cases, circumstances will prevent the "winner" from receiving any and or no money at all.

Governor Mike Parson nor the government has the right to mandate what "We The People" has to put into our bodies.

Wheaton FFA has had a busy schedule so far from 2022 through the start of the 2023 school year. Summer events started with the newly elected officers placing American flags on the tombstones of veterans throughout the Wheaton community to celebrate Memorial Day and to remember those who sacrificed so much for us.

The newly-elected officers went to LEAD training at Crowder College shortly after that. In June, the chapter took fourteen students to the FFA Leadership camp at Lake of the Ozarks.

In August, Wheaton FFA hosted its annual summer meeting to kick off the beginning of the school year with burgers, games, and welcoming of the new members. At the end of August, the chapter put on a petting zoo for kids at the annual Wheaton BBQ.

September was a busy month as the chapter started its fruit sales. Members began selling mums they had been caring for to community members. Wheaton FFA attended events such as UMC Field Day in Mt. Vernon, Area 11 Greenhand Conference at Crowder College, and Area 11 Barnwarming at McDonald County High School.

In October, the chapter hosted two events: a farmers' breakfast to show support to the local farmers in the area on National Farmers Day. The other event was the annual fall Labor Auction for the Wheaton FFA Booster Club. The chapter attended events such as Farm Fest at the Ozark Empire Fairgrounds and the National FFA Convention in Indianapolis, Indiana.

DON'T GO RETRO.

An old-school fusebox might still function adequately, but it lacks the safety features that are built into modern circuit breakers. If your home or other building still has one of these antique devices, it's time for an update.

Consult a qualified electrician for a complete review of your electrical wires and fixtures, and replace any outdated equipment that no longer meets safety specifications. Your electric cooperative can also provide guidance and assistance.

Google and MO FFA Foundation Partner to Enhance Tech in Ag

Google is making a $50,000 donation to the Missouri FFA Foundation in support of their Learning by Doing Classroom grants program. The Missouri FFA Foundation plans to utilize the funds over the course of four years to support the updating or purchase of new technology in 40 agriculture education classrooms across the state.

In 2022, the Missouri FFA Foundation launched the Learning by Doing Classroom grants program to assist agriculture education teachers across the state in improving the curriculum, equipment, facilities, and supplies needed to support instruction in production agriculture, agri-business, or related areas.

The response to the program was enthusiastic, with almost twice the number of applications as funding available. “We saw a clearly demonstrated need to not only continue but broaden the program if the challenge of adequate funding could be resolved,” said Heather Dimitt-Fletcher, Executive Director.

“When Google approached us wanting to make an impact on students across Missouri, we were pleased to introduce them to the Missouri FFA Foundation,” said Missouri Lieutenant Governor Mike Kehoe.

“This grant will make an incredible impact on students, and I would like to thank Google for investing in the future leaders of Missouri agriculture.”

Today’s announcement allows the Missouri FFA Foundation to continue this program. Possible uses of the funds include new technology such as an ultrasound machine for monitoring pregnancies in livestock, energy efficient water and heat controls for green houses, and 3-D printers for making hard to find/fit parts in ag mechanics classes.

“We see amazing potential in the Foundation’s Learning by Doing Classroom grant program,” said Dan Harbeke, Regional Head of Public Policy and External Affairs with Google. “Agriculture is increasingly becoming reliant on new and emerging technology and we want to help ensure the next generation of American farmers is prepared.”

The Missouri FFA Foundation secures strategic partnerships and the financial resources to enhance, strengthen, and support the educational and leadership opportunities that promote premier leadership, personal growth and career success for Missourians in Agricultural Education. As a 501c3 nonprofit organization, the foundation is governed by a board of directors. www.missouriffa.org/foundation.

Roaring River is in great shape. The water is clear and running pretty good. Going to be a nice opening day with a forecast in the 60s, and that is always nice.

The MDC has been stocking the river all winter and will stock a bunch this week if they haven't already. There are lots and lots of nice 3 to 8-lb trout in the water right now, they are scattered up and down the river, but the majority of them are in the upper part of the river right now. Both cameras are working at the hatchery currently. Thank you, Rogers Concessions, for the cameras.

As usual, Spinners will be king the first few minutes on the 1st, then a lot of people switch to worms and marabou jigs.

A 2 lb line will be good on March 1, but you can get away with 4 lb the first hour or so.

White jigs are always good on opening day. Black spinners work very well early. Natural eggs or Powerbait work great in zone 3. Natural colored eggs and orange, white, or orange white worms are pretty good early also.

We will use buggers on our fly rods early, but watch out for some great caddis and BWO hatches.

Anyway, good luck on the river. March 1 should be a great day to start the season.

Stay Down

I remember watching Mike Tyson's boxing matches on TV in high school. He didn't just box. He hurt people. I remember watching one match where Tyson hit another boxer hard, and he went down. Then, he got up again, and Tyson knocked him back down. He should have just stayed down, but he didn't, he got up a third time, and Tyson knocked him out cold. It would be best if inflation would just stay down too.

Inflation has been going down steadily but surprisingly jumped a little in January. It's down drastically from six months ago but still higher than the Fed goal.

Some examples of inflation not staying down;

- A recent report showed that Consumer Price Index (CPI) rose by 0.5% last month, up from 0.1% in December.
- Producer Prices which also measure inflation, went up in January more than expected and was the biggest increase since June.

The annual inflation rate went down in January from December and is now the lowest since October 2021. But inflation is still putting a squeeze on American families. These rising prices mean that paychecks aren't going as far as they used to, even last Fall.

With inflation proving sticky, I'm afraid the Fed will be tempted to continue raising rates. But unfortunately, they are walking a tightrope between fixing inflation before the 2024 presidential election and not going so fast that they trigger a recession. The Fed doesn't need to be alarmed for two reasons. First, higher housing costs made up almost half of the monthly increase in the CPI prices in January, and new rent prices have declined for several months and will bring down the CPI. Second, the early-year spending might be because we are having a warmer-than-normal winter, and Americans are spending more than usual.

I think the Fed should go slow and watch the effect their already high rates are having. Continued rate hikes aren't worth the risk of a recession.

What would help is if inflation would just stay down. Mike Tyson's opponents eventually started learning to stay down because eight of his boxing matches lasted less than a minute. His shortest match was against Marvis Frazier, who Tyson beat in 30 seconds. Frazier didn't have an opportunity to stay down because one of Mike Tyson's legendary uppercuts knocked him out cold. Likewise, we need inflation to stay down because we don't want any more of the Federal Reserves' legendary uppercuts.

Have a blessed week!

CMS Industrial Arts receives grant to update equipment

Artherton and Laura Holycross, Public Relations and Marketing Coordinator at BEC, are pictured above with students enrolled in the Advanced Woodworking program at CMS.

The Cassville Middle School Industrial Arts program has been awarded a $4,000 grant through the Barry Electric Co-operative (BEC) Sharing Success fund.

Funds will be used in conjunction with a 50/50 matching grant to update the drill press and bandsaw and add a wood planer machine in the shop.

"It is important that we have up-to-date equipment in the shop," said CMS Industrial Arts Teacher, Robbie Artherton. "Keeping students safe in the shop is our top priority and updated equipment that is working properly helps us with that. Currently, we have students turning wooden baseball bats, building jewelry boxes, bow racks and night stands. Updated equipment will also allow our students different options for their projects."

Grant funding is decided by a committee of individuals selected by the Barry Electric Directors. Committee members represent the entire BEC service territory. Committee members make selections based on where the grant money would best serve the community.

BEC has participated in the Sharing Success matching grant program for the past three years and has been able to give out over $60,000 in grants to groups and organizations in the BEC service territory.

Veterinary prescriptions required for livestock antibiotics in the coming months

Several antibiotics used in cattle and other livestock will require a veterinary prescription in the coming months. This change represents the final phase of the Food and Drug Administration’s efforts to bring all medically important antibiotics approved for use in animals under veterinary oversight by June 11, 2023.

“This will end over-the-counter (OTC) sales of antibiotics and livestock owners will need a prescription from a veterinarian if they want to continue to have access,” said University of Missouri Extension veterinarian Craig Payne. He said antibiotics won’t necessarily need to be purchased from a veterinarian, but a prescription will be required regardless of where they are purchased.

Many antibiotics went through a similar transition in 2017. Feed antibiotics that had once been available OTC began to require a veterinary feed directive (VFD), and OTC antibiotics delivered in the water required a prescription.

“However, some antibiotics remained available OTC in the form of injectables, intramammary tubes, boluses, etc.,” said Payne.

FDA’s Guidance for Industry #263 (GFI 263) specifically addressed these antibiotics with the expectation that by June 11, 2023, these remaining OTC antibiotics must display the following language on the label: “Caution: Federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian.”

Once antibiotics with the revised labeling reach retail locations in the coming months, they will require a prescription, Payne said.

Considering the impact of these changes, producers may have questions. These are the questions Payne encounters most often:

Which antibiotics will be affected? See the table for examples of antibiotics affected.

After June 11, will I need a prescription to use antibiotics purchased before the label change? FDA intends to allow existing stocks of OTC antibiotics to be depleted and a prescription will not be required for use. However, if the antibiotic is being used extra-label (in a manner that is not in accordance with the approved label directions), a veterinary prescription is required.

I don’t own cattle but I do use some of the antibiotics affected by GFI 263 in other species. Will I still need a prescription? Yes. A prescription will be required regardless of the species you intend to use it in.

I don’t use a veterinarian. How do I ensure I have access to antibiotics once the changes occur? You will need to work with a veterinarian to ensure continued access. For a veterinarian to issue a prescription, a veterinarian-client-patient relationship (VCPR) must be established. In Missouri, this means a veterinarian is acquainted with the keeping and care of your animals either by examination or timely visits to the operation where the animals are kept. You will need to contact a local veterinarian for further details about the requirements for establishing and maintaining a VCPR.

Will these changes lead to additional expenses? It is not known if the changes will affect antibiotic prices. However, there are expenses associated with establishing and maintaining a VCPR. Someone who already has a VCPR established should expect little to no additional expenses associated with these changes.

My local farm store currently sells some of the antibiotics affected by GFI 263. Will they be able to sell these antibiotics once they require a prescription? In Missouri, any business that sells, dispenses or fills orders for animal prescription drugs is required to have a state pharmacy permit and must comply with the rules and statutes associated with holding that permit. Because of this, farm stores in Missouri may choose not to sell antibiotics once they require a prescription. Please contact your local store for more information.

It is important to note that veterinarians dispensing drugs to their own clients are exempt from these regulations and that pharmacy regulations vary from state to state.

Will I be able purchase these antibiotics from online vendors that are not located in Missouri, provided I have a prescription? Online pharmacies that conduct interstate business must follow federal and state requirements when distributing, dispensing or delivering prescription drugs. Many of the popular online vendors currently sell prescription drugs and are already in compliance with these requirements. Contact the vendor with any additional questions you may have.

Cassville FBLA helps mold our next-gen entrepreneurs

Guest speaker Chad Johnson, local chiropractor, came to share his own experiences with starting a small business and being your own boss.

Cassville FBLA held 8th Grade Entrepreneurship Day for Cassville Middle School earlier this month. Students were encouraged to develop an entrepreneurial idea similar to Shark Tank. High school FBLA members led tables of 8th graders who competed in both Poster and Commercial categories for their products. The winners received certificates and candy. Above, Table Leader Hailey Roark assists students with developing a business concept.

Central Crossing Fire Department Volunteer Lends Talent

Ezra DeVore

Scott Robertshaw, a local volunteer firefighter for the Central Crossing Fire District, has just returned from instructing a K9 rescue workshop in Colorado.

Originally from Beulah, Colo., a rural community southwest of Pueblo, Robertshaw's family moved to Shell Knob in June last year, and he has held his position since November. Scott says his family decided to move after hearing of Table Rock Lake's reputation for bass fishing and has felt welcomed since moving. He says the process for joining Central Crossing was easy, and the Department connected Scott with other resources that led to Scott's primary job as an EMT at Mercy Hospital.

Bringing a decade of K9 rescue volunteer work from Colorado, Scott says that he felt like Central Crossing was the perfect fit for his talents. Robertshaw states that his first memories of K9 missions blew him away, going first as a navigator and later as a dog handler.

"It's amazing to watch the Local EMT and Central Crossing Fire Protection District Volunteer Scott Robershaw recently instructed a K-9 rescue workshop in Colorado with his K-9 partner Loki.

dogs work," he says.

After these years of volunteer work, Robertshaw has now instructed his own workshop, having just returned from an avalanche rescue training program in his home state.

As a student in his first year attending the Avalanche Team and an assistant in his second year and for his third year, Scott was invited as an instructor to the 2023 Avalanche Team training workshop. Scott explains that icy terrain training is crucial because although Barry County isn't mountainous as the Rockies, icy conditions affect the area each winter.

However, Robertshaw says his volunteer rescue work experiences give him more than techniques.

"I love that team environment and to be able to serve the community. We're all there because we want to help someone out of a bad day, and that's about the group coming together to respond to an issue and responding to the local community. No mission can have success without the team; you have to have people willing to help each other. Each person has a job, and you know the job other people have, and you can work together. Your unit is ready to do their part. I'm super grateful for everything I've been a part of; it helps you feel connected to the place you moved to in a special way."
