The Barry County Fair Board announces the 2023 dates and exhibits. The Barry County Fair will be held June 24, 2023, in Butterfield. The Circle M Cattle Company has donated the use of their barn this year for the fair.

The Barry County Fair is a non-profit organization that works closely with the community and local schools to promote agriculture to the younger generation. The fair helps get youth involved and share agriculture with the public.

McCormack receives commendation

Cassville Police Officer Devin McCormack received a commendation at the Cassville City Council meeting Tuesday, June 13, 2023, from Interim Cassville Chief of Police Donald Privett for outstanding service as set forth below:

On Thursday June 1, 2023, seven inmates escaped the Barry County Jail in Cassville. Officer McCormack was notified of the escape and responded immediately to the area of the Barry County Jail. He was informed that some of the inmates were possibly on foot. Officer McCormack found a possible escapee and proceeded to give chase in his patrol car, parking it behind the old Memories building. Officer McCormack continued to give chase on foot through the creek bed, catching up to two of the inmates. Officer McCormack drew his Taser and ordered the inmates to the ground. One of the inmates immediately complied while the other inmate continued to run. Officer McCormack deployed his Taser striking the fleeing inmate causing him to pause briefly then run out of sight. Officer McCormack relinquished the first inmate in custody to Officer Marshall and pursued the fleeing inmate locating and taking him into custody approximately 15 feet from the Taser deployment. He then traveled on foot to the Cassville Bus Barn. He located wet footprints, heard a disturbance in the brush, and was able to apprehend the third suspect into custody.

Office McCormack, you have demonstrated exemplary conduct and provided a valuable public safety service to the citizens of Cassville. Thank you for your swift response and judicious actions.

Haven of the Ozarks Pet of the Week

Meet gorgeous Smoky Linx! This poor dog was found by police, and had a rough start at the Haven, but he is doing great now and happy. Now he needs a forever home. He is shy so a home that will be patient with him would be best. He will need a little time to learn he can trust his new family. He loves treats and this can be a great way to bond with him. Once he knows he can trust you, he loves to be pet and cuddle. He also tends to cross his front two feet while being hugged and cuddled and it's the cutest! His estimated DOB is 11/20/21 and weighs about 57lbs.

All of our pets are fixed, up to date on their vaccinations, and microchipped. The Haven of the Ozarks is open from 9am-4pm, seven days a week.

For more information, please email us at havensanctuary@gmail.com, or give us a call at 417-835-3647. Volunteers are always welcome at the Haven.

Blankenships deliver Memories Car Cruise donations

Adriana Keeton
Last week, Jason Blankenship and his daughter Jamie delivered a check for $2,200.34 for the Cassville R-IV Schools Backpack Program. Earlier this month, the money was raised at the 1st annual Memories Car Cruise in Cassville, spear-headed by Jason.

According to Sarah Sandoval, Primary School Counselor, the funds raised will benefit approximately 30-40 students from each Cassville campus.

The Cassville Schools Backpack Program provides shelf-sustainable food for students who need nutritious food at home. Students receive a drink for breakfast and lunch, a snack, fruit, one breakfast item, and one lunch item.

Contact your student's campus counselor for more information on the Cassville R-IV Schools Backpack Program.

Online map will help families locate local summer food programs

Free meals are being served to children at hundreds of locations in Missouri. The Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services Summer Food Service Program is designed to provide breakfast, lunch, suppers and/or snacks to children living in eligible areas during the summer months and during times of public emergencies when children do not have access to free or reduced-price meals at school. An online interactive map is provided to help families in Missouri find out where their children can receive free meals this summer.

Community organizations serve the meals at schools, churches, parks, swimming pools, YMCA facilities, Boys and Girls Clubs, and other spots where children gather when school is not in session. The meals are provided to all children that attend the meal service location. Children do not have to register and there is no fee to participate in the program.

The map and more information about the Summer Food Service Program can be found at health.mo.gov/sfsp. For families without access to the internet, summer meal sites in the area can also be found by texting the phrase "Summer Meals" to the text number 914-342-7744.

Meals will be served to children age 18 and under. They are also provided to individuals age 18 to 21 that have been determined by a state or local educational agency to be mentally or physically disabled and who participate in an established school program for the mentally or physically disabled.

Funding for the Summer Food Service Program is provided by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

More information about the Summer Food Service Program is available online at health.mo.gov/sfsp or by telephone at 888-435-1464 (toll-free). Individuals who are deaf, hard-of-hearing, or have a speech disability can dial 711 or 1-800-735-2966. Community organizations that would like to become sponsors may also email the Summer Food Service Program at sfsp@health.mo.gov or write to the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services, Summer Food Service Program, P.O. The river is still low and clear. The CFS at the moment is almost 19 so with this clear low water, you will want to use 2 pound line when you can.

The dry fly fishing has been fantastic. Blue wing olives, elk hair caddis, parachute Adams, Griffiths gnats, beetles and ants are working very good right now.

We are also doing pretty good on some of the smaller grasshopper patterns. If you want to fish a nymph, I would fish a tan scud, a small copper John, small pheasant tails, small burlaps, sow bugs, and little black zebra midges have been pretty good. Black, olive, and tan woolie buggers have been working well.

If you are using plastics, the white eggs have been working great. Pink eggs and orange eggs are okay.

The yellow one inch power bait crawler, gulp, has been working extremely well. The pink has been pretty good. The brown has been good off and on.

The white worms have been working the best. You can get more action out of the thinner worms than you can the thicker worms sometimes.

When water is low and clear it makes a difference.

Maribou jigs are working great. Black and yellow, brown, and the olive have been working very well. White is very good early in the morning, as is the tan. Sometimes you can use a pink and white and do very well.

Spinners, are good early, pink and white produced well on Saturday, it's good to usually start with black, skunk, or brown spinners.

Good luck on the river this week.

Royer attends 60th annual Missouri Electric Youth Tour

One hundred and three high school students participated in Missouri's 60th annual Missouri Electric Youth Tour to Washington, D.C., June 12-18. The local delegate was Hayden Royer of Wheaton. He was sponsored by Barry Electric Cooperative.

The Missouri Electric Cooperative Youth Tour is once again headed back to Washington DC this year. The seven-day tour provides an action-filled week for high school students, offering them opportunities to learn firsthand what it is like to be involved in politics, leadership positions, community service and today's pressing issues.

"The Youth Tour is the highlight of the summer for many students and we're proud to send our best and brightest to our nation's capital to participate," said Chris Massman, vice president of Member Services for the Association of Missouri Electric Cooperatives. Massman also said, "Each of these delegates will meet someone or see something that inspires them, and in some cases will create a path to their future career."

Highlights of the trip include the Missouri delegates visiting with representatives from their congressional districts, touring monuments, the Smithsonian Institution's museums, Arlington National Cemetery and the International Spy Museum. The group also took a sightseeing and dance cruise on the Potomac River one evening with the delegations from five other states.

Other events of the week included participation in the Electric Youth Day, during which a special program coordinated by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association brought together over 1,000 Youth Tour delegates from across the United States. The delegates enjoyed featured speeches by government leaders and motivational speakers, such as Mike Schlappi, an inspiring four-time Paralympic medalist and two-time world wheelchair basketball champion.

Since 1964, the nation's cooperative electric utilities have sponsored more than 56,000 high school juniors and seniors for visits to their U.S. congressional delegations, energy and grassroots government education sessions and sightseeing in Washington. # Hummingbirds: How to attract Missouri's Summer visitors

According to the Missouri Department of Conservation website, plants, especially Missouri native plants, should be an important part of your plan to attract hummingbirds. Flowers supply hummingbirds with the nutrient-rich nectar that can provide up to 90 percent of their diet. Ruby-throated hummingbirds especially love red or orange tubular flowers, such as those found on trumpet creeper, native honeysuckles, and red buckeye.

One simple way to attract rubythroats is to build or buy a hummingbird feeder and fill it with a nectar solution. Providing a complete diet in your feeder is not essential, because the birds will balance their diets on their own. Hang the feeder where you can see it from inside your house. If you have many competing hummingbirds, consider placing additional feeders in different parts of your yard.

When shopping for a feeder, consider those with bee or wasp guards, which are plastic mesh covers that prevent insects from reaching the nectar. Sometimes the guards can be purchased separately.

A mixture of sugar and water — four parts water to one part sugar — makes a good nectar. Because most hummingbird feeders are red, there is no need to add red food coloring to the nectar. Be sure to clean the feeder very well to reduce the growth of bacteria, which can sicken hummingbirds. Change the nectar weekly or more often if it becomes cloudy. Never use honey or artificial sweeteners. Honey mixed with water can grow a dangerous fungus that will attack the birds' tongues.

Hummingbird feeding is most successful in late summer and early fall. Some people fear that feeding hummingbirds into the fall may delay their departure and expose them to freezing. There is no evidence that feeding slows their migration. September is typically the most satisfying month to feed hummingbirds. As the nights become regularly cold, rubythroats begin to migrate south. This occurs in Missouri in late September, and by October 10 the rubythroats are usually gone. That's a good time to bring in the feeders and clean them for winter storage.

Frogging season begins June 30

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) encourages the public to discover nature during frogging season. Beginning June 30 at sunset through Oct. 31, those with a fishing permit or small-game hunting permit may frog for bullfrogs and green frogs.

The daily limit is eight frogs of both species combined and the possession limit is 16 frogs of both species combined. Only the daily limit may be possessed on waters and bank of waters where frogging.

MDC notes that daily limits end at midnight. Froggers who catch their daily limits before midnight and want to return for more frogging after midnight must remove the daily limit of previously caught frogs from the waters or banks before returning.

The public can go frogging with a fishing or small-game hunting permit, but children 15 and under and Missouri residents 65-years and older are not required to have a permit.

Those using a fishing permit may take frogs by hand, hand net, atlatl, gig, bow, trotline, throwline, limb line, bank line, jug line, snagging, snaring, grabbing, or pole-and-line.

With a small-game hunting permit, frogs may be harvested using a .22-caliber or smaller rimfire rifle or pistol, pellet gun, atlatl, bow, crossbow, or by hand or hand net. The use of artificial light is permitted when frogging.

Robert graduated from Washburn High School in 1949 and enlisted in the United States Air Force in January of 1952. He and Oleta (Hooten) married in 1957 where she began her journey as a career military wife. He loved the military and the many opportunities it offered him to travel and learn. He then continued his association with the Air Force by working in a civilian position for almost another decade at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas. Robert and Oleta returned to Missouri for almost the next 30 years to be close to their many friends and family members. He raised cattle, helped others and met many generations by driving an Exeter school bus. Robert and Oleta moved to Conroe, Texas, in 2016 to be closer to grandkids. Robert continued ranching in Texas at the family property daily until his death. Robert was known for being honest, diligent with work and kind towards everyone. His word was his bond and he always strived to do the right thing. He will be missed by the many people he met in his 92 years. HANDLE WITH CARE

Some jobs require a long-handled tool to reach the work effectively. But remember a long handle also requires that you work cautiously to avoid contact with power lines. When using any tools or machinery with a long reach, be sure to pay attention to both ends so you don't expose yourself or others to the risk of electric shock.

MoDNR releases new Missouri Drought Mitigation and Response Plan

The new Missouri Drought Mitigation and Response Plan is now complete after more than two years of study and development. The update from the Missouri Department of Natural Resources' Water Resources Center replaces the previous 2002 drought plan and uses modern tools for enhanced monitoring and assessment of all types of droughts. It also gives everyone from government officials, to water users, water suppliers and leaders of industry guidance for adopting water conservation best practices to grow their drought resiliency.

"This new drought mitigation and response plan allows us to be much more proactive in how we prepare for and respond to droughts as opposed to just reacting to their negative impacts," said Michael Weller of the department's Water Resources Center. "We can never prevent droughts. However, by planning for different scenarios, outlining responsibilities and making the best use of information available, we can make sure Missourians are prepared and empowered when drought does come."

The primary goals of the Missouri Drought Mitigation and Response Plan are serving as an information source for reducing drought impacts, increasing public awareness, enhancing resiliency, promoting water conservation, improving monitoring, facilitating response planning, as well as clarifying roles and responsibilities. Its completion comes following a multiyear, interagency planning effort made possible by a 50/50 cost-share grant through the Planning Assistance to States Program of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Among the metrics the updated drought plan uses that were unavailable 20 years ago are data from remote sensing of rainfall amounts and satellite measurements of soil moisture. The plan's new matrix of drought actions is designed to rapidly assess what areas of the state are most affected by drought as well as what industries are either most susceptible or at risk under different conditions. A comprehensive list of actions and initiatives further outlines what measures can be taken at all levels before and during drought.

"Our hope is the updated Missouri Drought Mitigation and Response Plan helps facilitate adoption of more innovative water-use practices and resilient infrastructure," Weller said. "This effort is a wonderful example of how quality of life for all Missourians can be preserved and improved through interagency collaboration with community stakeholders and stewardship of our shared natural resources."

Visit dnr.mo.gov/water/how-to-water/state-water/drought to learn more about drought in Missouri. The current drought conditions for Missouri and other states are available to view at www.drought.gov.

Letter to the Editor

Wow! What are the odds of being able to get the three commissioners from Barry County, the three commissioners from Stone County, Barry County Sheriff Danny Boyd, State Representative Scott Cupps, Senator Mike Moon’s Chief of Staff, and a roomful of average citizens in the same room on a quiet Saturday afternoon in tiny Shell Knob? Well, it happened on 6/17/23 at the Patriots of SWMO meeting and so sorry if you missed it! Our guests spoke very candidly to us, playing off each other and supplying any information that was needed to fill us in on what they work so hard on everyday. All questions were answered, including many questions on the budget and how our money is being spent. The atmosphere was very comfortable and much humor was thrown out as well. It was very evident that all of these gentlemen respect each other very much and can work together for the benefit of us all. Senator Mike Moon’s Chief of Staff, Jeff Mark, took many notes, and names and phone numbers of all the commissioners to take back with him to Jefferson City to share with Senator Moon, State Representative Eric Burlison, and with the new director of the Department of Revenue. He will present the info to them that was brought up and needs their attention. Dianne Painter with the Patriots of SWMO did an excellent job of coordinating the agenda for this meeting and for getting everyone together! This just goes to show what can be accomplished by the average citizen who is dedicated to making a difference in our communities. GET INVOLVED IN SOME WAY! It does take work, but it is so satisfying to be a positive influence in the community. For your information, the commissioners are: Presiding Commissioner for Barry County Steve Blankenship Southern Commissioner Gene Robbins Northern Commissioner

Gary Schad Presiding Commissioner for Stone County Mark Maples Southern Commissioner Hank Smythe Northern Commissioner Wayne Blades Future meetings are already being put together and promise to be just as informative and worth your time! We meet on the third Saturday of each month at the VFW Hall on Hwy 39 in Shell Knob, 1:00-3:00 p.m. All are welcome! Diane Alcocer Cassville

Students also won awards in multimedia, video, and graphic design, which are aligned with the new Digital Media Marketing certificate's learning outcomes.

"Crowder students are creating social media content, learning critical workplace communication skills, AND winning awards for their efforts," said Latonia Bailey, faculty who oversees the program.

Sweepstakes

The Crowder Sentry has earned the "Best Overall" award eight times since 2008 against rival St. Louis Community College, which has an enrollment almost three times that of Crowder, according to Bailey.

The course in which students produce the Sentry, DIGM 102 Content Creation, is a 3-credit-hour class offered in the fall that teaches the basics of creating content for media, including social media and long-form blog posts, photography, video, and podcasts.

This fall, Crowder will offer other communication-related courses: Intro. to Public Relations and Digital Marketing, Intro. to Graphics Software (Adobe Illustrator), Photocommunication, and Intro. to Human Communication. Classes begin Aug. 21.

Crowder also offers both a certificate and associate degree in photography.

For more information, contact the program coordinator/instructor: LatoniaBailey@Crowder.edu.

MDC encourages use of native forage for summer grazing

Native warm-season grasses can result in greater livestock weight, improved soil health, and provides habitat for native wildlife.

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) encourages producers to get the most from their grazing operation through the use of native forage.

Native forage simply means a mix of native grasses, such as big bluestem, as well as native legumes and broadleaf plants.

Better summer gains

For the producers, one of the greatest benefits of using native forages is increased weight gain among livestock during late spring and throughout summer. Most pastures contain introduced cool-season grasses (CSG), and it is a challenge to keep them actively growing during the summer to maintain livestock weight. Native warm-season grasses (NWSG) grow well during summer, and they will improve average daily gain on stocker cattle by one-pound per day compared to tall fescue.

Spring calves on cows will gain 60-80 pounds more on NWSG than on CSG by the end of the summer grazing season. Management of the grazing system with proper stocking rate and rotation is critical.

Better soil and water conservation.

Another benefit of grazing natives is improved soil health, which increases the diversity of plant roots that occupy the space underground. With proper grazing, levels of organic matter have increased in pasture systems.

From a water-conservation standpoint, deep roots and plenty of soil organic matter mean better water absorption following rain events. And in a state where farmers and ranchers can experience both flood and drought in the same year, native forage can help keep rainwater where it falls. In turn, deep-rooted native forage will stay in good condition longer if drought conditions occur later on.

Roots of many native forages grow 6-10 feet deep, or more, depending on soil depth.

“During the heat of summer, native forages can withstand longer period of drought compared to the short-rooted, cool-season grasses,” explained MDC Agriculture Liaison Greg Collier. “When planted together, native forages develop enhanced root systems that allows them to do well with limited inputs, such as water and nutrients.”

Once established, native pastures can produce 4-5 tons of high-quality forage during the hottest, driest months of the year.

Benefits for native wildlife

NWSG have tremendous benefits to native wildlife, like bobwhite quail, migrating monarch butterflies, and other pollinators. The diversity of plants that native forages provide in a pasture system will provide a diversity of plant height that offers a greater variety of wildlife cover.

“Native forages benefit Missouri’s wildlife throughout the year,” said Collier. “They can provide better places for birds to nest and raise chicks, and during the fall and winter, plant growth left in pastures will provide cover for a variety of wildlife, including a place for deer to bed. This same pasture can also provide cover for upland game, such as bobwhite quail or cottontail rabbits.”

For help incorporating native grasses into your operation, reach out to University of Missouri Extension at <http://extension.missouri.edu/programs/native-grass-project> or contact your local MU Extension office.
