Curious Minds Gather for Meet the Divers Recognition Event at Roaring River

Mike Young, lead diver and owner of KISS Rebreathers, is shown above answering questions at Saturday's Meet the Divers event.

Adriana Keeton

A recognition event for the Roaring River Expedition Dive Team was held Saturday, September 17, at the Emory Melton Inn and Conference Center at Roaring River State Park. The event was hosted by Missouri State Parks and the Cassville Democrat.

Opening speaker, Sheila Harris, has been following the dive team's record-breaking dives into the Roaring River Spring Cave since inception in May of 2021. She gave a short speech and introduced members of the expedition dive team.

Jordan Troutman, wife of Cassville Democrat Editor Kyle Troutman, then read a letter from the spearhead of the event in his absence, due to a prior commitment.

Joel Topham, Superintendent of Roaring River State Park, also addressed the audience and introduced state park officials who were present.

Gayle Orner, the only female diver with the expedition dive team, then gave a presentation on the basic rules of cave diving, the safety measures used, and went over the objectives of the monthly dives into the spring cave, which are to safely explore and map the spring cave as well as produce a documentary on the exploration, while surveying for cave life. To get a better understanding of the 472 foot record breaking depth of the spring cave set in November of 2021, Orner compared the Statue of Liberty, which stands at 305 feet and the Washington Monument, which rises to a height of 555 feet.

Mike Young, lead diver and owner of KISS Rebreathers took the podium next and showed a short video of dive footage that will be used for the documentary while answering audience questions. The dive team had hoped to possibly explore past the 472 feet mark during this visit, but due to water clarity aborted at approximately 350 feet. A member in the audience questioned if the water clarity could be due to the 2.1 magnitude earthquake on September 14, near the Missouri boot heel and Northeast Arkansas. Young stated it would explain the disturbance of a rock formation and water clarity within the cave system.

To cap off the event, Missouri Senator Mike Moon presented each diver of the Roaring River Expedition Dive Team with a Senate Resolution plaque to recognize their achievements.

Refreshments were served for the event by Roaring River State Park Concessionaire David Waugh.

Mower Crash Kills George's Employee

Adriana Keeton

On Monday, September 12, George's employee, Craig Golubski, 57, of Pierce City, was killed while mowing the state right-of-way at the George's plant in Butterfield.

According to Detective Doug Henry, with the Barry County Sheriff's Office, Barry County E-911 dispatch received the call at 11:55 a.m.

Barry County Sheriff's Office, Mercy EMS, and Butterfield Fire were dispatched to the scene and it appeared Golubski was mowing when he turned into a steep embankment, overturned the John Deere Zero-Turn Mower he was driving and was ejected.

Golubski was unable to recover from his injuries and was pronounced dead by Barry County Coroner Gary Swearingen at the scene.

Cassville Homecoming Parade Scheduled for Friday

The 2022 Cassville Wild-cats Homecoming Parade, hosted by the Cassville High School Student Council, is scheduled for this Friday, September 23, beginning at 1 p.m.

The theme for this year's parade is "Once Upon a Homecoming".

The parade will line up on 6th Street beginning at the Chamber of Commerce building. Floats will turn left onto Main Street and travel up to the school campus, turn right onto 14th Street (Kit Kat Drive) and travel down in front of Eunice Thomas Elementary. They will turn left at the field house onto the paved bus lane to the High School. The parade will end at the High School at approximately 2 p.m.

Businesses, community members, and parents are encouraged to view the parade on Main Street between 6th and 14th Streets. The parade route from 14th Street on to the High School campus will be reserved for Cassville R-IV staff and students only.

To ensure safety of students who are participating in and viewing the parade, the Cassville Police Department is working in collaboration with Cassville R-IV. The parade route from 14th Street to the High School will not be open to the general public. General public will need to make arrangements to view the parade between these streets.

The parade timing in the afternoon will cause traffic slowdowns for travelers who traditionally travel this route. In the event of inclement weather, the parade will be cancelled.

September is Self Care Month, Time to Relax

Ezra DeVore

Stresses of modern life are often regarded as more pressing than many of the eras of hardship the nation has experienced. While rushing to tend to the demands of each day, it's easy to forget to check in on ourselves. An expectation many hold themselves to is that of the undaunted machine, tirelessly crusading through work and extracting pride from their ability to withstand all responsibility. Although the accomplishments of modern workers are worthy of unparalleled pride, it is vital for this population of Americans to understand their worth as a person is not dependent on that which they produce or withstand, but their compassion and humanity. As we near the conclusion of Self-Care Awareness Month, this is a time to ensure we assess, recover, and progress healthily.

Taking time to catch our metaphoric breath is not a selfish act, but a loving one. Many scientific studies conclude that consistent or repressed anger and similar emotions can cause physical decline in the form of heart trouble, increased anxiety, and other complications.

Anger, sadness, and other "negative" emotions can be useful messages from our bodies and minds to indicate a change in our lifestyle that needs to occur, though these must act only as a map, not our compass. Emotions must be given a space to be felt safely and slowly enough to fully understand why they arose, and to then decide how to proceed with new emotional information. Hence, it remains crucial to take time to reflect upon our own real needs, wants, and goals. Examining behaviors for future awareness: what calms you down, what upsets you, what brings you peace, and examining why. Like brushing our teeth and washing our hair, these examinations of one’s heart are chores that prevent decay. Although the inner erosion of a mental state isn’t always visible, the outcome always is. Discover exactly what brings you joy, and allow it to. For what other pursuit do we truly toil? If not our own joy, the joy of our children, and those we love.

Anxiety is to live in the future, depression is to live in the past - though to breathe deeply and reduce your mental scope to the present moment can loosen the grip of both. In your body and in your breath, you are home, you are safe.

Mindfulness can be a tool in this effort as well, the act of being present; to eat while eating, to sleep while sleeping - that is to say, to apply complete focus exclusively to the task at hand. Being present provides many calming effects, and often results in more thought-out choices. The practice is difficult, but rewarding in time. Therefore, self care teaches us we must make a home of our bodies, and must therefore feel comfortable within them. To understand that if the present is all we will ever know, and our bodies are all we will reside in for quite some time, we must make peace with what is.

Meditation is often misunderstood, and there are many forms. In meditation, we notice our thoughts without judging them, and allow them to flow without trying to control them. This is the practice of letting go, training to let things be as they are without an expectation of what they should be. Accepting the moments as they are, accepting them as they pass. To love the people in our lives as they are, not what we want them to be. To be whole, and not to seek our soul’s missing piece in the heart of another. Life is only available in the present moment, and joy cannot be saved for later. The present moment is all that we will ever experience - to understand this is to know the value of each hour.

Another method of self care is to contemplate that which we’re grateful for. This could be experiences, people, possessions, places, or all. To quietly thank each for being there, to thank the days for passing with us, and to forgive them, knowing someday they must leave us behind. These practices are similar to planting a seed without seeing the fruit, but feeling a breeze, and knowing branches will soon sway with it.

To celebrate this month, the Crowder College campus in Cassville will be holding their annual Wellness Week from Monday, September 19, to Thursday, September 22, where, in addition to other events, there will be a pancake social, a speech on the effects of social media and mental health, snacks for students, a drunk driving simulator courtesy of the highway patrol, and offered flu shots.

Retired Cassville Coach Throws First Pitch on New Cassville Softball Field

Adriana Keeton
 On Tuesday, September 13, retired Cassville Softball Coach, Bonnie Cox, threw the first pitch of the game on the newly turfed Cassville High School Softball Field, against the Monett Cubs. Coach Cox started her career at Cassville R-IV in 1994 as a middle school science teacher. She also coached middle school volleyball and basketball. She later transitioned to teaching physical education. In the mid-90s, community and parents of local softball players began advocating for a high school competitive softball team. The Board of Education, after much consideration, voted and approved the first ever Cassville High School Softball Team in 1997 and asked Coach Cox to lead the team. Coach Walt Hasler, who was the first Cassville High School Softball assist coach, joined Cox at the pitcher's mound. Coach Cox retired from the district in 2011. She now resides in Arkansas and enjoys volunteering in the cardiac rehab unit at her local hospital, helping out with her church food pantry, playing pickle ball, and cheering on the Razorbacks, Yankees and the Cowboys.

When the program started in 1997, practice and games were held at softball fields located near downtown. Coach Cox stated she is excited to see the support the program now has with the new facility and the addition of the turf field.

The temperatures are cooling down and trees are beginning to change color – a sure sign that fall has arrived

The Missouri Department of Conservation (MDC) encourages people to enjoy fall foliage through camping, driving tours, hiking, or even floating. To help, MDC offers weekly online fall color updates from agency foresters all over the state at mdc.mo.gov/fallcolor.

“Our fall color reports are such a convenient resource for the public,” said MDC Forestry Field Programs Supervisor Russell Hinnah. “The reports begin around mid-September and are updated weekly. They show users where trees are beginning to turn and also suggest best places to see the changing leaves.”

Predicting the peak of fall color can be difficult, but much depends on the weather. Hinnah noted the dry summer weather could affect this year's color.

“We had droughty conditions over the summer, which could cause trees to lose their leaves early or begin changing colors earlier than normal,” he explained. “This may affect the amount of fall color we see later in the season.”

The season's chilly evenings are imperative for leaves to change color.

“Sugars produced by photosynthesis are trapped inside leaves by the chilly autumn nights,” Hinnah explained. “Those sugars are the building blocks for the rich red, yellow, orange, and purple pigments. Cool nights cause the breakdown of green pigments, allowing the fall colors to show through.”

Missouri trees first begin changing color in the northern part of the state, then move southward. Sassafras, sumac, and Virginia creeper are some of the earliest to change in mid-September. In late September, black gum, bittersweet, and dogwood are turning. The peak of fall color is usually around mid-October.

“Trees such as maples, ashes, oaks, and hickories are at the peak of their fall display by the middle of October,” Hinnah noted. “Normally by the end of the month, colors are fading and leaves are falling.”

Missouri's fall color can be viewed and enjoyed from almost anywhere. For spectacular vistas, choose routes along rivers with views of forested bluffs, and along ridges with sweeping scenes of forested landscapes.

“We encourage everyone to visit MDC's conservation areas or Missouri state parks to enjoy a scenic drive,” said Hinnah.

Fall color isn't limited to trees. Prairies and roadsides display beautiful shades of gold, purple, olive, and auburn with autumn wildflowers, shrubs, and grasses. In cities and towns, enjoy places with mature trees, such as older neighborhoods, parks, and even cemeteries.

MDC provides its annual fall color update at mdc.mo.gov/fallcolor. The weekly reports include what kinds of trees are turning and suggestions on the best places to view them. The updates run September through November.

Letter to the Editor

It appears that the Democratic party is making inroads on elections in the Midterms in November based on their dislike of the Dobbs Supreme Court decision, overturning Roe v Wade. This Dobbs decision gives the decision of when abortion can be performed legally to the states.
In May 2022, the U.S. Senate voted on The Women's Health Protective Act. It did not make it out of filibuster. Forty-nine Democratic Senators voted for proceeding. All Republican Senators and Senator Joe Manchin voted against it.
The Women's Health Protective Act makes it illegal for any state to have any restrictions on abortion at any point in gestation. It makes it mandatory for any medical personnel to perform an abortion irrespective of his/her religious views.

Republican Senate candidates need to insist that their Democratic opponents answer when the Democratic Senate candidate believes a restriction on abortion can be legal. Or for what reason.
Sincerely,
Sandy Haverstick,
Shell Knob

Haven of the Ozarks: Pet of the Week

Meet Binnie Taylor, the Haven of the Ozarks Pet of the Week! Binnie is a super sweet and beautiful boy who still hasn't found his home. He's great with other dogs (very submissive), is gentle with people, and is a nice medium size. He's also done well with cats in his foster home and has a great start on house training (he has good crate manners, too).
Binnie is a perfect walking buddy with no leash pulling and is ready to start living the good life. He will need to stay on a joint supplement because he could be prone to hip issues, but we know getting him indoors on a comfy bed will do wonders for him.
Binnie deserves a real home with lots of squeaky toys and treats (his favorites), so come meet this precious boy! We know you'll love him.

Binnie's adoption fee is fully sponsored to an approved home!
Please visit the Haven of the Ozarks Animal Sanctuary, located at 9617 Farm Road 2190, in Washburn, daily from 9 a.m.-4 pm., or call 417-835-3647 for more information.

Fishing is great right now. The water is low and clear at the park and water flow is just under 18 CFS, making for some outstanding dry fly fishing.
Tricos each morning, Caddis and BW0s, beetles, ants and hoppers most of the day. Cahills are pretty good in the late evening.
Caddis nymphs are great right now. Pheasant tail nymphs, sow bugs, scuds, and black zebra midges are all working very well.
Low clear water means using 7X leaders when fishing small dries, you can usually get away with a good quality 6X leader when fishing nymphs or bigger dries.
Plastic worms are still working. Pink, orange, and white are working very well.
Plastic eggs in white, orange, and pink are still working well and in the 1" crawlers, pink and yellow are still working the best.
Spinners are still good early. Black, brown, green and white seem to be working the best.
Great marabou jig fishing right now. Black/yellow, white, olive, brown, and tan have been good colors all week.
Good luck on the river this week.

CHS SADD Receives $1,000 from Safe and Sober for Spring Docudrama

During the spring of 2022, Cassville High School SADD members organized and participated in a docudrama followed by a school-wide assembly educating students about the dangers of impaired and distracted driving. The docudrama simulated a serious car accident. At the conclusion of the assembly, SADD members asked their fellow students to consider making a pledge to stay safe and sober.

73% of CHS students made the pledge. Because of the large percentage of students that made the pledge, the CHS SADD program received a $1,000 financial contribution from Safe and Sober. Safe and Sober is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that develops and distributes educational content designed to prevent substance misuse.

The CHS club plans to use the money on events and activities for the student body designed to help students make smart and safe decisions.

Cassville blanks East Newton, 35-0

Lee Stubblefield

On a wild night in the Big 8 Conference, the Cassville Wildcats returned to the win column with a solid 35-0 shutout at East Newton. But while the Wildcats were winning, three unbeaten went down in shocking fashion.

The Seneca Indians took advantage of Lamar miscues to stun the Tigers, the top ranked team in Class 2, 36-33.

McDonald County edged Nevada, 27-26.

Rogersville thumped Mt. Vernon 26-8.

While not an upset, Monett's 34-24 loss to Marshfield sent the Cubs to an 0-4 seat in the cellar.

But at Granby, Cassville maintained the status quo while shutting out the Patriots.

Following a slow-paced first quarter, a quarter in which East Newton played ball control and keep away to trail by just 6-0, Cassville exploded for 22 points in the second quarter.

The Patriots melted over seven minutes off the clock with a 12-play drive to open the game before turning the ball over on downs. The Wildcats then stormed down the field, covering 65 yards in 9 plays to take a 6-0 lead on Trey Wilson's short run with just 35 seconds left in the quarter.

East Newton then surrendered the ball on a failed fake punt, and Cassville covered the short field in just seven plays, with Wilson creasing the line for an eight-yard score at the 6:28 mark. Peter Littlefield's PAT upped the lead to 13-0.

The East Newton offense began to unravel. Ty Bowman was intercepted by Bryson Jacobson, but that pick was negated by penalty. Six plays later, a Patriot punt pinned the Wildcats deep in their own territory.

A 13-0 lead is not safe in high school football. 20 or more? May the odds be with you.

The Wildcats took control of this game when Bodee Rose found Garrett Ewing behind the East Newton secondary for an 88-yard touchdown strike. Ewing cradled the perfectly thrown ball near midfield, skipped out of a defender's desperate lunge and raced untouched into the end zone with 3:23 on the clock. The Wildcats converted a two-point conversion for a 21-0 lead.

Then the Patriots struggled to a three-and-out, and punted to the Cassville 45-yard line with 2:14 left before halftime.

On first down, Rose handed to Wilson on a reverse, and he jetted down the sideline for a 55-yard score. Littlefield's true kick gave the Wildcats a 28-0 lead at the break.

Clay Weldy's team took the second half kickoff and marched 60 yards in eight plays to extend the lead. Jacobson banged into the end zone from three yards out, and a Littlefield kick set the running clock in motion at the 8:42 mark.

There would be no more scoring in the abbreviated second half.

Cassville improved to 3-1 with the 35-0 shutout victory. East Newton slipped to 0-4.

Did I mention that Monett is also 0-4?

Seneca is the only undefeated Big 8 team after four weeks.

There is a six team logjam at 3-1: Lamar, Nevada, Mt. Vernon, McDonald County, Reeds Spring, and Cassville.

Rogersville and Marshfield have 2-2 records, while both Hollister and Aurora sit at 1-3. East Newton, Springfield Catholic, and Monett trail the field at 0-4.

Cassville returns home on Friday night to host McDonald County. Kickoff is set for 7 PM.

Tournament attendees were invited to participate in a 50/50 drawing benefiting the Cassville Middle School Industrial Technology Program. $325 was collected and given to the CMS shop class. Coach Artherton, Industrial Arts Teacher, said the money will be spent on building materials for future shop projects.

Did You Know?

Missouri State Archives
Did you know that September is National Honey Month?

Missouri definitely has a connection to the sticky stuff (the honeybee is the state insect after all). But our state's history with honey gets a whole lot weirder...

The so-called "Honey War", a bloodless territorial dispute over a 9.5 mile wide strip between the Iowa Territory and Missouri, erupted in 1838 when Missouri agents attempted to collect taxes from residents living in the area. After local farmers chased them off, the agents allegedly cut down three honey trees as their "tax", causing a bit of an interstate crisis.

After militias amassed on both sides, the governors of Missouri and Iowa agreed to let Congress settle the matter. Thankfully, the only casualties were some hurt feelings and the aforementioned honey trees, for which the Honey War was named. Sadly for Missouri and the lumberjacks, however, the U.S. Supreme Court eventually determined the matter in Iowa's favor in State of Missouri v. State of Iowa, on April 6, 1849.

She was born June 19, 1925, at home in Wheaton to Charles Audie and Daisy Jane (Creason) Harrell. On September 20, 1941, in Washburn, she was united in marriage to Loyd Nimon Ellis, who preceded her in death on January 2, 2014. She enjoyed music, dancing, gardening, canning and taking care of family and friends, but most of all she loved The Lord.

Though her mind had withered, even near the end, she could still be seen tapping or humming along with gospel music. She was a blessing to all who knew her and will be greatly missed by all who loved her. She was a member of the Washburn First Baptist Church.

Leave tree trimming to experts
Recent storms and spring growth have left a lot of trees in need of attention. Barry Electric Cooperative wants you to know that tree trimming is a job best left to experts, especially when they are located near power lines. In fact, the two leading causes of death while trimming trees come from falling and electrocution.
Whenever you trim trees or do other yard work, remember these tips:
• Wear safety glasses to protect your eyes from sawdust, pine needles and other debris.
• When operating a trimmer or chainsaw, you'll need ear protection, shoes with slip-resistant soles, chaps and gauntlets.
• If you use a ladder, tie it off to a secure location. Never go anywhere near a power line with a ladder, especially a metal one.
• Be aware of anyone on the ground. It's best to have a spotter watch for people who might wander into your worksite.
• Safety is our number one priority and we are trained experts in safely removing debris from around powerlines. If in doubt, call us!

Stay Alert During Harvest Season

It's that time of year. Farmers across the state have started harvesting their crops and will be doing so for the next several weeks. This means drivers will see farm machinery traveling Missouri's roads, especially in rural areas. The Missouri State Highway Patrol reminds all drivers to share the road and obey all traffic laws. Farmers and motorists alike are encouraged to be safe, courteous drivers.

In 2021, there were 203 Missouri traffic crashes involving farm equipment. In those crashes, seven people were killed and 60 were injured.

Whether you're driving a vehicle or operating farm machinery, you must pay attention to the roadway, other drivers, and traffic signs. Distracted drivers are dangerous drivers. Please remain vigilant!

Farmers:
 * Make sure your farm equipment is properly marked with lights and a "slow-moving vehicle" emblem when you travel on the roadway.

*If traffic accumulates behind you on the road where it is difficult to make a safe pass, pull off onto the side of the road in a level area, so vehicles can pass.

*Always drive as far to the right as possible.

*It's harder to see you at dawn or dusk, so please don't travel on the road during those times if possible.

* Often, all-terrain vehicles are used for agricultural purposes. ATVs being used for farming can only travel on highways during daylight hours and must be equipped with lights, a bicycle flag, and a "slow-moving vehicle" emblem. The law requires anyone under the age of 18 to wear a safety helmet when operating an ATV; the Patrol, however, recommends operators wear a safety helmet regardless of age.

Remember: Missouri law allows agricultural machinery and implements to be operated on state highways between the hours of sunset and sunrise for agricultural purposes provided such vehicles are equipped with the required lighting. Like other motor vehicles, most modern farm tractors have seat belts.

Gratitude is a quality similar to electricity.

It must be produced and discharged and used up in order to exist at all.

William Faulkner

Always use a seat belt when operating a tractor equipped with a roll-over protection structure.

Drivers:
 * Stay alert for slow moving farm equipment.

* When you drive up behind a tractor or other farm machinery, please slow down and be patient.

* Wait to pass until you have a clear view of the road ahead and there is no oncoming traffic. Never pass on a hill or curve.

* Collisions commonly occur when a motorist tries to pass a left-turning farm vehicle. A tractor that appears to be pulling to the right side of the road to let motorists pass, may be preparing to make a wide left turn. Watch the farmer's hand and light signals closely.

* It's important that you pay close attention to farm equipment entering and leaving the highway from side roads and driveways. Special attention must be paid when traveling at dawn or dusk when the sun makes it difficult for drivers to see.

I hope this finds you busy in your gardens. I am back to watering; it's warmed up again and is dry. We need a good rain once again. So much gardening depends on the weather. This summer has definitely been a challenge. Some years are like that. That is why my grandmother always planted enough for three years with the hopes that all three years would be good and she'd have plenty to share but with the planned preparedness that if one year a crop failed, she'd still have plenty in her pantry. Our grandmothers knew how to feed their families.

Today I want to talk about green beans. They are so easy to grow and so easy to harvest and save seeds for next year.

Both bush and pole beans have little white flowers that turn into beans. They are

From the Roots Up

self-pollinating, meaning they do not need bees to pollinate them. Those little flowers turn into little slivers of green which will become a full-grown green bean in a week or so. The beans grow under the foliage with bush beans and are somewhat hidden. You will see beans growing in clusters by pushing the green leaves to the side. Pick by gently pinching them from the mother plant when they are three inches long and slender. If you wait another week or so, you will see that the pod is getting dry and leathery, and you can see the bean seed forming in the pod. Pick before this stage, but if a few do make it to that stage, you can shell them out and have "shellies" with your beans. Pole beans are easier to harvest because they grow up a vine, and you can stand to pick them versus squatting or bending to pick bush beans.

There are many ways to preserve beans. I plant some of both. Bush beans mature faster (52 days), while pole beans take much longer. Our ancestors did "leather britches," which means they did not "snap" the beans but used thread and a needle to string the whole bean pod through the center of the pod making long ropes of beans and hanging them to dry in the pantry. I have not attempted this but plan to do so this year.

Pick your beans mid-morning or late evening when the plants are dry. Morning dew is not a good time to touch the leaves. Wash the beans in cool water. If you cannot process them for the freezer or canner, do not snap them at this time. I put mine in zip lock bags and refrigerate. They will keep several days that way. My favorite way to preserve them is to pressure-can them. Canning is a process that I could not possibly teach you in 500 words, so I encourage you to watch some youtube videos to learn the art of pressure canning.

Pressure canning is a safe, easy way to preserve food as long as you stay focused, watch the pressure dial and don't leave the kitchen. Thank you.

Shakin' In The Shell Last Weekend

There was definitely Shakin' going on during the Table Rockettes performance of the Cupid Shuffle. The Rockettes invited festival-goers to join in with an impromptu dance party.

The Cassville Jazz Band performed at the festival on Saturday. During the final song, Free Ride, guitarist Jacob Hudson played a riff blind-folded. Owen Henry is the Bass player for the band.

Kansas City Chief Hall of Famer Nick Lowery was on hand signing posters and bottles of El Bandido Yankee Tequila. Lowery is Ambassador and part owner of the brand. Kelley Carr, of Monett, is shown above having her bottle signed.

There were 120 entries in this years Shakin' In The Shell Car Show, including this beauty, a 1934 Neon Orange Chevy Coupe, owned by Preston Owens.
Photos by Adriana Keeton

Father and son duo, Mark and Cody Pierson, of Eagle Rock, were the champions of the Cornhole Tournament on Saturday.
