Barry County officials sworn in for 2015 at ceremony

Charlea Mills

In a ceremony on Monday, December 29, seven Barry County officials were sworn into their positions with the county. Each of them take their seats on January 1, 2015.

Those sworn in were the winning candidates from the November General Election, however, the true race was won during the August Primary Election since the all-Republican candidate group drew no opponents from other parties.

Candidates Robert Foulke, Lois Lowe, Craig Williams and Gary Youngblood drew no opponents in the Primary Election and were each reelected to their current positions. Foulke is the Associate Circuit Judge for Division II. Lowe is the county's Treasurer. Youngblood is the Clerk to the County Commission, and Williams is the Circuit Clerk/Recorder of Deeds.

Johnnie Cox, who served as Barry County's Prosecuting Attorney for 12 years, first elected in 2002, was sworn in as the new judge for Associate Circuit Division I. After Judge Victor Head announced his retirement, Cox opted to run for the open judgeship instead of seeking a fourth term as Prosecuting Attorney.

During a ceremony on Monday, December 29, returning and newly elected Barry County officials elected during November's General Election were sworn in to their respective offices in the County Commissioners' Chambers at the old courthouse. The officials were sworn in by County Clerk Gary Youngblood.

Pictured above, from left to right: Cherry Warren, sixth term as Presiding County Commissioner; Judge Robert Foulke, second term as Associate Circuit Judge Division II; Lois Lowe, sixth term as County Treasurer; Amy Boxx, first term as Prosecuting Attorney; Johnnie Cox, first term as Associate Circuit Judge Division I; Craig Williams, fourth term as Circuit Clerk/Recorder of Deeds; and Gary Youngblood, sixth term as Clerk to the County Commission.

position for the Primary Election were for Presiding Commissioner and Prosecuting Attorney. In the Presiding Commissioner race, incumbent of five terms Cherry Warren faced opponents Eddie Davison, Shell Knob, and Terry Burgess, Seligman. Warren edged out his opponents, taking his sixth term as Presiding Commissioner.

Newly elected Prosecuting Attorney Amy Boxx, Monett, also faced two opponents in the Primary race. She was elected by a wide margin after facing Steve Dunker and Matthew Weatherman.

Each of the new officials took their oath of office in the County Commissioners' Chambers at the old Barry County courthouse on Monday at noon in front of a large crowd.

County Clerk Gary Youngblood swore in each of the newly elected officials. Above, Youngblood swears in Judge Johnnie Cox.

Fingerprint matches trio to Seligman burglary

Charlea Mills

After being arrested and held in the Benton County, Ark., Jail, three people have been connected to a Barry County burglary through fingerprint matching.

The three people, Jeffrey Mounts, 23, West Virginia; James Theodore Wagner, 50, Tennessee; and Charlene Ann Hayes, 45, are each currently being held in the Benton County Jail and now face charges in Barry County, as well.

The crime occurred on October 5 when Mounts and Wagner burglarized a home on State Highway 37 in Seligman. Mounts cut a screen to gain entry into the home through a window. Once inside, the pair stole $8,816.60 worth of jewelry and a Beretta .25 caliber pistol. When Mounts was arrested in Siloam Springs, Ark., he was still carrying the pistol.

They also admitted that Hayes acted as lookout in the vehicle, and then sold most of the stolen property to pawn shops in northwest Arkansas. Hayes was wearing some of the stolen jewelry at the time of her arrest.

The three were traveling through Barry County when they stopped in Seligman for the burglary, according to a press release from the Barry County Sheriff's Department. Epperly stated that the only way these three individuals were caught was because of the fingerprint that Officer Bill Watkins was able to obtain right after the burglary.

Each of the three are being charged with burglary in the second degree and stealing, both class C felonies. They are currently in the Benton County Jail waiting extradition to Barry County.

Washburn man jailed after hit-and-run

Charlea Mills

One man is being charged with three different felonies after an incident involving a hit and run.

Daniel Lee Pendergraft, 36, Washburn, is charged with two counts of class B felony assault in the first degree and class C felony endangering the welfare of a child in the first degree. He is currently being held in the Barry County Jail in lieu of a $20,000 bond.

Pendergraft was taken into police custody by the Barry County Sheriff's Department after he used his vehicle as a weapon, according to the affidavit of probable cause. According to Deputy Chris Hutson, Pendergraft and the victim were arguing when the victim left with her minor child. When Pendergraft saw the victim at the Highway 37 and Highway 90 intersection in Washburn, he purposely hit their vehicle with the truck he was driving, intending to cause serious harm.

Pendergraft left and the victim was able to safely drive herself away from the scene. Pendergraft stated that he did not believe that he was in the wrong. He has a prior criminal record.

Cassville students raise money for gifts

Students at Cassville Middle School had a penny war between the different homerooms. The winners were Mrs. Haynes's yearbook class, and part of their reward was getting to use the money raised to buy gifts for the Share Your Christmas program. The students went on a shopping spree for gifts for children that would otherwise not have gifts for Christmas. All together, the school raised $1,060.

Mrs. Haynes's students are pictured above, from left to right. In the front row: 1st row: Joua Thao, Avery Brown, Savannah James and Raven Ganoung. Second row: Lauren McManus, Claire Hurst, Marissa Matthews and Samuel Holman. Third row: Jeremiah Davison, Cole Jackson, Kobe Blisard and Jesus Perez.

Purdy man still awaits trial date for Willard couple murder

Charlea Mills

Robert Campbell, Purdy, is awaiting a trial date for his connection with the 2011 murder of Russell and Rebecca Porter of Willard. Campbell was one of five indicted for the murders in October 2012 after the bodies were found.

One of the others charged, Dusty Hicks, took a plea deal last week in Taney County to avoid facing a jury for the charge. The other three have all been convicted and are serving their sentences except for Campbell. Campbell is currently in the Taney County Jail without bond. His trial date has not yet been set.

Campbell is accused of orchestrating the murder-for-hire of his nephew, Russell, and his wife, Rebecca. The Porters were shot execution-style. Campbell's wife was also charged with perjury, but was found dead in their home last year after being released on bail.

Purdy's December Character Education medal winners

Purdy Elementary Principal Janet Boys announced the Character Education medal winners for the month of December. In partnership with elementary counselor Gary Jurgensen, Purdy's kindergarten through fourth grade teachers present a different character trait each month. At the end of the month each teacher nominates one student who best exemplifies the trait presented. These students receive character medals at a special assembly.

In December, students focused on generosity. December medal winners are: fourth graders Junior Lamb, Jazmin Rueda and Libby Roden; third graders Austin Ash and Riley Rupp; second graders Taylor Lunceford, Samuel Salas and Randall Kessinger; first graders Jason Villa, Ryan Huse and Courtney Patterson; and kindergartners Ryan Farris, Jesus Serrano and Easton Hughes.

Purdy Elementary also honored the generosity of two of its staff members. Donna Terry, who serves as the school's literacy coach, planned a wonderful recent reading fair for students to enjoy. Joe Hoffman, our elementary custodian, gives generously of his time and talents. Both staff members received cards signed by teachers and students, as well as special tokens of appreciation.

Steve Chapman

Courtney Murphy, a student at the Crowder College-Cassville campus, has been awarded the Missouri Community College Association (MCCA) Student Leadership Award for Crowder College. She was chosen for the award out of the entire Crowder student body, numbering almost 6,000 and received it at the MCCA annual convention in Branson on November 7.

Learning that she would receive the award came as a big surprise to Murphy. "I was excited and I cried a little bit," she said.

Robin Kier, Student Services Coordinator at the Crowder-Cassville campus, nominated Murphy for the award.

Kier said she chose to nominate Murphy because she demonstrates a positive attitude and a willingness to do for others. "Courtney is one of the most energetic, positive and outgoing students I've ever worked with," Kier said. "She works full-time while raising a family and goes to school full-time, but still manages to stay on top of everything and is always willing to go above and beyond for her fellow students."

Murphy has attended Crowder-Cassville for five semesters, during which time she has been pursuing her general education requirements in preparation for the Crowder nursing program. During this time, she worked as a student ambassador for three semesters.

Murphy will begin studying nursing in January and is eager to begin. "I'm nervous about it, but I'm really excited," she said.

Courtney Murphy displays the Student Leadership medallion and certificate awarded to her by the MCCA.

Herrin Animal Hospital hosts toy drive

Over 200 toys, including four bicycles, were collected at Herrin Animal Hospital in Cassville. The hospital held a two-week toy drive through December 16 to benefit families enrolled in OACAC's Share Your Christmas program and served as a drop-off point for those making donations. The toys were taken to the United Methodist Church in Cassville where they were distributed based on the needs of the families selected by OACAC.

Cassville Senior Center raffles off quilt

This hand-made quilt was completed by the ladies at the Cassville Senior Center. The quilt was then raffled off to benefit the Senior Center. The winner, Barbara Burbridge, is shown with the queen-sized sun bonnet quilt. Lee Schmidt, of Aurora, also won a lap-sized quilt in the raffle. That quilt was donated to the Center by Evalina Shippee of Montana. The raffle raised $385 which will be used to benefit the Cassville Senior Citizen Center.
