Kids' Fishing Day at Roaring River State Park Draws Smiling Crowds

Ezra DeVore
This past Saturday, May 14, children from all over the Midwest flocked with their families to Kid's Free Fishing

Day at Roaring River State Park. The event held many new festivities, most notable being Smokey the Bear making an appearance, and the addition of archery. According to Park Superintendent Joel Topham, the total number of tags given exceeded 700.

people in math, and changed my major to Math Education, which Rolla didn't have, so I ended up transferring to Evangel in Springfield, and getting my degree in Math Education and a minor in Science. Then, when I started looking for a job as a math teacher, I didn't wanna go back to Nebraska. Winters there start before Halloween and end after Easter. I love it there, but I really loved how green it was down here, and the hills - it was just very pretty."

Finding a job as a middle school math teacher and coach, Seymour taught at Southwest in Washburn from 1994 to 1999. In the middle of her final school year at Southwest, Crowder College was opening a campus in Cassville. Seymour applied to become the director, and "When I started,

Brad Farwell is the new manager of the Missouri Department of Conservation's (MDC) Roaring River Fish Hatchery, earning the title after the previous manager, Paul Spurgeon, retired from the position earlier this year after 11 years at the park. Farwell grew up in Eagle Rock and graduated from Cassville High School. Farwell's father, Marvin, worked in the hatchery for 32 years, stocking fish from 4 p.m. to midnight; though Brad has quite the notable history at Roaring River himself. Alongside many families who count Roaring River State Park as one of the great memory-makers with their children, grandchildren, and even beyond, Farwell spent time at the park not only as a tourist or visitor, but as a part-time and later full-time employee. "I started working at the hatchery when I was 15, in high school, through college. This is really the only career job I've ever had, working in fish hatcheries," states Farwell. "Summertime I was always here, [in the] school year I was always here." Farwell continued his part-time employment at Roaring River through his completion of college at College of the Ozarks and Mississippi State University. Upon graduating from college, Farwell embarked employment at MDC's Shepherd of the Hills Hatchery as a resource assistant and resource technician. Brad became the assistant manager at the hatchery in 2011, and his father Marvin retired just a few short months later.

Cassville FFA to Establish Wild C Research Farm

Cassville R-IV School district purchased over 60 acres of farmland located on 13th street in Cassville in October of 1998.
 The district had plans to utilize the space for a building project, however, in an effort to keep all district buildings centralized on or near Main Street, the building project did not come to fruition. Beginning this summer, the land will be home to the district's new agricultural research farm, Wild C Research Farm.
 Wild C will be a student based agricultural research farm that will provide hands-on-learning experiences for Cassville High School (CHS) ag students. Students will gain first-hand knowledge in raising livestock type animals, such as beef cattle. In addition to hands-on experience with live animals, students will learn farm management skills, including budgeting, fence repair, hay production, forage testing, ultrasound procedures and vaccinations.

 "The ag department has a tremendous opportunity for our students to build this farm from the ground up," said CHS agricultural teacher Mr. Jordan Ellis.
 "Barry County is the number two beef producing county in the state of Missouri, which is why we will focus on beef production."

 In the beginning stages of building the farm, students will have stock/feeder calves with the hope of eventually having cow/calf production.
 "The agriculture industry is constantly changing and evolving," said Ellis. "This farm will allow Mr. Hinson and I the opportunity to teach our students the most current industry standards and update our instruction as industry trends evolve and adjust."
 Agriculture courses at both the high school and middle school are taught by Ellis and Mr. Jimmy Hinson. All students who enroll in any ag course at CHS will have the opportunity to complete lab work at Wild C.

 "Agriculture is the biggest contributor to the economy in Barry County. The Board of Education and administration are excited about the potential for providing hands-on farm related learning opportunities for our students," said Superintendent Dr. Merlyn Johnson.
 "Our Vo-Ag teachers have worked hard to develop a five year implementation plan and timeline for this worthwhile project. I look forward to watching these plans materialize over the next few school years as we strive to encourage our students to learn more about how to be good stewards of the land and to make a living as a farmer."

 Ellis and Hinson plan to grow lab opportunities for CHS students as the farm becomes more established. The ag department's long-term goal is to offer a two hour farm management class where students will have the opportunity to spend an extended amount of time at the farm managing the details involved for sustaining the farm.

Seymour from front mowed the lawn. I was the only staff person until we hired one high school graduate to work as a secretary, Amber, then Jerri Hudson was hired as GED teacher, and I took on as campus director."
 After ten years of the former building, in 2009, newly built rooms and newly hired staff began piling on alongside new possibility, and the current building at 4020 Main Street in Cassville began production.

 "My son was born three months before I interviewed for the position, and my daughter, she's graduating now, so they've both grown up here in these buildings."

Seymour describes two lives that bloomed together: the Huddleston's volleyball collegiate athletic career included time on the court at both Seminole State College and College of the Ozarks. "We are excited to welcome Coach Huddleston to Cassville," stated Doug Martin, CHS Athletics and Activities Director. "We believe her high school and college athletic career paired with her coaching experience will make her a great addition to our district."

Paige and her husband, Bryce, relocated to the Cassville area in February of 2021 to be closer to family. Paige's family owns and operates The Barn at Bear Ridge, located on Highway 76. nontraditional students, as well as getting married and watching a family grow. Sometimes, these lives helped form each other. “I’ve got pictures of my daughter painting rooms,” Seymour says.

According to her, one of the most rewarding moments is helping students find the path that works for them.

“I love when somebody comes in and says ‘I’ve totally blown it, my GPA is terrible’ and I say ‘Well, my freshman transcript started with a zero, so it’s not the end of the world,’ and I can help them through it. I was blessed to get this position. I know that it was just God’s grace.”

As far as the next step for Angela Seymour, her ambitions have transferred to family. “I want to see my daughter’s ball games, maybe go out to San Diego to see my son. I’m ready to just be a mom.” Her son, Charlie, is in the Navy, and Seymour’s daughter, Sharayah, is graduating high school this year. Overall, Seymour feels this is a good time to retire, “But sitting in an office and crunching numbers for somebody, I could do that all day. I could start tutoring again, I don’t know what I want to do. I’m just happy to be here. My husband and I have no plans to leave Cassville, though. I’ve had people ask, ‘Are you going to stay in Cassville?’ and I say ‘Yeah! It’s a great town.’ My husband loves being a sixth grade teacher, I mean he loves it. It’s been amazing here, I love creating things, solving problems. Like, what new degree do we need here? What do the students need in our area? What would work here?”

Like puzzle pieces, Seymour says she loves finding exactly what jobs our area needs, and trying to facilitate those with education. “I hope that the new director loves it,” she says.

Sarah Smith, of Cassville, will be taking Seymour’s position on the first of July. Smith graduated from Cassville High School and went on to earn her Bachelors and Masters degrees at Crowder. “She’s very passionate about the community, and very excited,” Seymour concluded.

The retirement celebration for Angela Seymour will be held on Tuesday, May 24, from 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at Crowder College, 4020 North Main Street, Cassville in the Student Lounge inside the main entrance.

Cassville Golf Program Donates to Pantry

The Cassville High School Golf program has made a donation of nearly $500 to the Cassville Food Pantry. CHS golfers earned the money at the "charity hole" during the team's annual golf tournament that was held on Saturday, April 30.

"I'm grateful to work with these kids who willingly gave up part of their weekend to help others," said CHS Head Golf Coach, Jay Rogers. "Thanks to the generosity of so many participants in our tournament, we were able to make the largest contribution we've ever made."

“These guys are the bomb! Fixed my car correctly and were more than fair on price. They made a lifetime customer with me and I will recommend them to everyone that needs work done! Thanks again!”

Southwest tracksters headed to state

Lee Stubblefield
Steve Voyak's Southwest Trojans shrugged off the long rain, hail, and lightning delays at College of the Ozarks on Saturday, and qualified a number of runners to the Class 2 state track meet with a strong showing. Competing in Class 2 Sectional 4, three of the four Southwest relay teams earned state berths, and seniors Caden Uthe and Christian Long advanced as individuals.
Heat and humidity affected performances early in the day, and then a line of thunderstorms sent athletes and spectators running for cover. The Southwest team tent became an internet sensation, with video showing it cartwheeling down the football field as high winds and rain lashed the stadium.
The meet finally concluded at 6:20 PM, some two hours behind schedule.
The Trojans performed as expected despite the elements. The 4x800 meter relay squad of Matteo Lumetta, Robert Humphries, Caden Uthe, and Christian Long placed second in 8:34.74.
The 4x400 meter relay team of Otis Rainer, Lumetta, Uthe, and Long was third in 3:42.10.
The 4x200 meter relay team of Ezra Sprowes, Rainer, Lumetta, and Uthe finished fourth in 1:37.02.
Long ran a season's best 4:46.03 in the 1600 for fourth place, and Uthe claimed fourth in the 400 with a 54.13 run.
The three relay teams, Long, and Uthe will all compete in the MSHSAA Class 2 Track and Field Championships in Jefferson City on Friday and Saturday.

Ladycats and Cats 5th and 6th at Big 8 Conference meet

The Cassville girls finished fifth and the boys tied Nevada for sixth at the Big 8 Conference track meet held at Mt. Vernon last Tuesday. Support Service Offers Assistance to Disabled Locals

Ezra DeVore

Community Support Services offers help for disabled individuals and their families.

In local communities, options may exist for special needs individuals who need help, but many are unsure of where to go, whom to ask, or even that they could get help.

Shauna Oltjenbruns, of Cassville, has been working with Community Support Services of Missouri for 11 years to diminish this unawareness and coordinate local disabled individuals with the services that suit their specific needs.

“Most people don’t know they need help,” Oltjenbruns says.

According to her, many disabled people, or their caretakers, grow accustomed to their responsibilities, regardless of how daunting they become over the years.

“A lot of what we see in this area, which is not a bad thing, is families taking care of families; but, as family members age, they’re so used to taking care of their family member that they’re ashamed to ask for help. We see a lot of grandparents taking care of autistic children, and we see a lot of 70+ year old parents taking care of their aging children.”

The spectrum of assistance offered is broad as the spectrum of special needs themselves, though according to Oltjenbruns, transportation is the largest need for most.

“When OATS started providing services for our individuals, it was a huge benefit - life changing for a lot of people, going from essentially home-bound to being as independent as they want to be.

“People can participate in their community, go to rehab, independently.” According to Oltjenbruns, however, OATS offers more assistance than those necessities alone. “People need transportation for basic survival needs,” she said, “a lot of individuals who need a little help don’t drive, so if their help doesn’t show up, or if mom gets sick, they’re home bound.”

Anyone with an intellectual or physical disability (down syndrome, autism, cerebral palsy, etcetera) can qualify for assistance. “There are many qualifying mental diagnoses,” Oltjenbruns says. Community Support Service Case Management coordinates services for those who qualify, primarily for those who have a developmental disability prior to 21, though CSS Case Managers provide services to individuals of all ages.

Services can range from personal assistance, residential services, and transportation to referrals for music, art, and dance therapy, and beyond, “even some dental services,” says Oltjenbruns. According to her, the full list of services is virtually unending, and can match anyone to their individual assistance requirements and limitations. Budgetary restrictions

Farwell from front

“Everybody always comments on that,” Farwell laughed, “about him working here and me working here after him, carrying on the tradition. I’m having a son in June, so who knows, he could be the next fish hatchery guy. He’ll definitely be here a lot, I’m sure.”

Farwell enjoys “providing the product to the public, providing this to people who wouldn’t have it otherwise - like a 12.5” fish. Everybody’s got smiles, everybody’s happy, so it’s good.” In his new position, Farwell has begun the task of managing a hatchery operation responsible for producing an annual amount of approximately 600,000 trout.

However, to Farwell, it’s the relationships and people that matter most. “Growing up in this area and having the connection with the community, having those relationships, that’s what’s important,” he states.

“I’m looking forward to the longevity of the position - to be in the community for that long. The previous manager (Spurgeon) was here for 11 years, the one before him was here for 19. So, it’s a job you get, and you stay in for quite awhile, it’s really a fantastic gig.”

Farwell and his wife Courtney have been married 11 years, and are expecting a baby boy in June.

Savvy Senior
How Medicare Covers Alzheimer’s Disease

Dear Savvy Senior,

What exactly does Medicare cover when it comes to Alzheimer’s disease? My husband was recently diagnosed with early-stage Alzheimer’s, and we would like to find out what’s covered and what isn’t.

Planning Ahead
Dear Planning,

I’m very sorry to hear about your husband’s diagnosis, but you’ll be happy to know that most medical costs to treat beneficiaries with Alzheimer’s disease are covered by Medicare. Unfortunately, long-term custodial care costs that most patients eventually need are not. Here’s a breakdown of what Medicare does and doesn’t cover when it comes to Alzheimer’s disease, along with some tips that can help you plan ahead.

Medical care: For the most part, ongoing medical care to diagnose and treat Alzheimer’s disease is covered by Medicare Part B, including visits to primary care doctors and specialists, lab tests, speech and occupational therapy, home health care and outpatient counseling services. Medicare pays 80 percent of these costs, and you will be responsible for the remaining 20 percent after you’ve met your annual $233 Part B deductible.

Sixty days of inpatient hospital care is also covered under Medicare Part A after you pay a $1,556 deductible. Beyond 60 days, a daily coinsurance fee is added.

Medications: Most Alzheimer’s medications are covered under Medicare’s Part D prescription drug plans, but coverage varies so check his plan’s formulary. The only exception is Aduhelm, the controversial new drug that is estimated to cost $28,200 per year. Medicare Part B will only cover this drug if your husband is enrolled in a clinical trial.

Long-term custodial care: It’s important to understand that original Medicare does not cover long-term custodial care. This includes nursing home care, the costs of assisted living facilities and adult day care. Medicare does, however, pay for some shorter-term nursing home care, but only up to 100 days following a three-day inpatient hospital stay.

Hiring home help for bathing, toileting and dressing (this is known as custodial care) is not covered by Medicare either unless your husband is also receiving skilled-nursing care or physical or occupational therapy.

To help with these costs, you may want to look into getting a long-term care insurance policy or short-term care plan (see aaltci.org/stc) if possible, or if your income and assets are very limited, you may qualify for Medicaid. To investigate your financial options for long-term care, go to PayingForSeniorCare.com.

Hospice: In the final stages of the disease, Medicare Part A covers nearly all aspects of hospice care, including doctor services, nursing care, drugs, medical equipment and supplies, physical and occupational therapy, homemaker services, counseling and respite care. To qualify, a doctor must certify that a patient has six months or less to live.

Other Insurance and Assistance

If your husband is enrolled in original Medicare and he doesn’t have a supplemental insurance (Medigap) policy, you should consider getting him one. A Medigap plan will help pay for things that aren’t covered by Medicare like copayments, coinsurance and deductibles. To search for plans in your area, go to Medicare.gov/plan-compare and click on “Medigap policy only.”

Or, if you’re enrolled in a Medicare Advantage plan (like an HMO or PPO), his plan must provide him at least the same coverage as original Medicare does. Some advantage plans may also offer additional coverage for home care services.

If you can’t afford your Medicare out-of-pocket costs or need help with medication expenses, there are Medicare Savings Programs and the Extra Help program that provide financial assistance for medications. To learn more, see Medicare.gov/your-medicare-costs/get-help-paying-costs.

You can also get help through your State Health Insurance Assistance Program (see ShipHelp.org or call 877-839-2675), which provides free Medicare and long-term care counseling.

CHS Announces new Boys Basketball Coach

Reynolds Returns to Wildcat Nation to Lead Boys Basketball Program The Cassville Wildcat High School Boys Basketball team will have a new coach for the 2022-23 season. The district has hired Caleb Reynolds to lead the program beginning July 1. Reynolds has experience both playing and coaching men's basketball at the collegiate and high school level. Most recently, he has served as the head coach at Dora High School. Prior to this time at Dora, Reynolds led the team at Silver High School in Silver City, New Mexico. After completing his education and his own college athletic career, Reynolds was an assistant coach at both Western New Mexico University and Crowley's Ridge College in Paragould, Arkansas. While working at Crowley's, he also served in the athletic department as an Academic Coordinator and assisted in coordinating summer youth basketball camps on campus. Reynolds is no stranger to Wildcat Nation and is thrilled to once again wear black and gold. His father, Don Reynolds, previously served as an administrator at Cassville R-IV. During that time, Caleb attended kindergarten-third grade in Cassville. His family relocated due to a career opportunity in a different community. "I am thrilled to be coming back to Cassville after so many years," stated Reynolds. "My wife, Annely, and I look forward to being a part of this great community and school." He has a Masters of Art in Educational Leadership from Western New Mexico University and a bachelor's degree in kinesiology from Harding University. Reynolds will be teaching physical education and health at CHS. "Wildcat Nation is excited to welcome Coach Caleb Reynolds," stated Doug Martin, Cassville R-IV Athletic Director. "Coach Reynolds has a passion for developing skills and embodies the values and character traits we value in our men's basketball program. I look forward to seeing him in action." "There is a great foundation in Cassville to build a very competitive boys basketball program," said Reynolds. "I'm excited to get in the gym with the boys and get to work preparing for the upcoming season. Go wildcats!"

Haven of the Ozarks: Pet of the Week

Meet Lucky Lilly, the Haven of the Ozarks Pet of the Week! Lucky Lilly is a super sweet senior dog who came to us after her owner passed away. We believe she would make the perfect family dog because she is loving but also can be spunky from time to time. She walks great on a leash, does well with other dogs, gets along with cats, and likes people of all ages. Because Lilly is a senior dog, we think she would do best as an indoor dog who also gets to hold down the fort on your porch sunbathing all day. Lucky Lilly comes up to date on all her vaccines, spayed, and microchipped. Lilly's adoption fee is sponsored to an approved home! Her estimated DOB is 4/1/09 and her weight is 82 pounds. Lilly would love to get back in a real home, so please come meet her soon!

From the Roots Up

I hope your garden has survived the last round of bad weather. Hail and strong winds can be brutal to a garden. The latest round of rains Sunday left my lettuces and spinach lying flat on the ground. I was in church when it happened, and well, all you can do is pray at that point. I always try to protect my raised beds by covering my plants with five-gallon buckets, putting supports up on the corners, and throwing thin plywood a few inches above the plants. I know from experience that with low-lying plants, they will survive wind and, in a few days, will be standing upright on their own. It is devastating to go to the garden and see all your hard work looking destroyed. It makes me wonder how our ancestors, who depended on the garden for their year's food supply, survived. Raising my own food has given me a new respect for my ancestors!

So today, I want to share the importance of mulch in the garden. This week I have been weeding the potatoes and adding straw between the rows for mulch. I brought up the dirt and previously placed straw around my plants and added more straw between the rows using my hoe. I also mulched my cabbages and kale with straw. I use straw because of the size of my garden. Straw is cheap, and my garden is big, so I need cheap mulch. I sometimes use shredded tree trimming mulch for my raised beds that I purchase by the scoop (cubic yard) from Hansen's in Reeds Spring. For a smaller garden, you can buy mulch in the bag. It comes in several colors and decomposes nicely into the garden. So why do I mulch? Mulch helps control weeds, adds nutrients to the soil, reduces water evaporation, regulates soil temperature, and helps prevent erosion. Mulch can be organic such as bark and shredded wood from tree trimmings, leaves, grass clippings, straw, and sawdust. These are the types I use. There is also man-made synthetic mulch such as landscape fabric, plastic, rubber, stone, and gravel. The advantage of organic mulch is that it decomposes into your soil, adding essential nutrients as it decomposes. It does have its disadvantages, though, it must be reapplied every year, and it can attract bugs and harmful insects to your garden. Organic mulch is more temporary, whereas if you use synthetic mulch and want to change your garden beds, you will have to remove all the mulch. In my first few years of gardening, I used gravel between raised beds. After a few years, the weeds and grass grew through the gravel. I had my work cut out for me when I decided to remove the gravel and replace it with wood chips. Somehow that gravel was easier to put down than to take up. I only use organic mulch now. As you work in your garden this summer, I encourage you to mulch. Enjoy!

EXETER MAPLEWOOD CEMETERY

P.O. Box 177, Exeter, MO 65647

First, the Board of Exeter Maplewood Cemetery Association extends a sincere thanks to our past and present supporters. Your continued support is vital as savings interest rates remain at all time record lows. Our only sources of revenue are plot sales, interest income, and donations from you. These revenue sources are dedicated to mowing, general maintenance, and repairs. Our interest income doesn't begin to cover mowing expense. We continue to tap our savings accounts to cover routine maintenance and repair expenditures.

The board works very hard to invest our funds prudently and to spend the income wisely. We are making this appeal knowing that you have strong feelings for the well-being and upkeep of the cemetery. Your donations are tax deductible.

Donations or inquiries may be mailed to us at the above noted address. Again, we thank you and appreciate any donations for continued support of the cemetery.

Letter to the Editor

Nowhere in the Constitution does it say that we have to have 9 Supreme Court Justices. Nor would it require a Constitutional amendment to add more seats.

In fact, Congress has expanded the Supreme Court five times throughout American history.

Congress should use its constitutional authority to rebalance the Supreme Court, which has been taken over by a supermajority that holds extreme views outside of the mainstream of legal thought and out of step with most Americans.

That's why Congress must pass the Judiciary Act, which would add four seats to the Supreme Court and help stem the right-wing supermajority's attacks on our fundamental freedoms, including the right to access abortion care.

There's nothing stopping Congress from adding justices—except for the political will to do it, of course. In fact, recent polling showed that the majority of the American voters they represent support expanding the court.

That's why I'm urging Congress to pass to support the Judiciary Act of 2021 and add four seats to the Supreme Court.

Sincerely,
Susan MacLeod

Water is still high and murky, but getting better everyday. The river is running 176 CFS as of Sunday morning. It was a great Kids' Fishing Day on Saturday. The hatchery did a fantastic job as usual, as did the DNR employees. It looked like all the kids had fun. Power bait is really the best thing to catch a quick limit, yellow, pink, brown, white, and orange have all been good colors in plastics. If you are near the hatchery, then the hatchery brown plastic eggs work great. Water is still murky, and we are still getting away with 4lb line, 2lb is still great, but with the amount of lead we are using right now, 4lb is just a bit better. #10 hooks have been best for worms and grubs, and for the eggs and smaller plastic baits, we are using as small as a #16 hook. Fly fishing is getting better everyday, as the water falls the dry fly fishing will get better, there are still a few fish rising and hitting beetles, ants, elk hair caddis, and several trout were caught on stimulators this past week. Still running 9' 6X leaders right now, and as the water falls and gets clearer we will start using 9' 7X leaders on dries. Spinners are still working very well, black, blue, pink, brown, and white spinners are doing very well. Still seeing lots of fishermen fishing 3" Rapala type lures and doing pretty good in the murky water. A lot of trout were caught last week on small spoons. Gold seemed to be the best color last week. Good luck on the river this week.

FDA Expands Eligibility for COVID-19 Vaccine Booster Dose

Today, (May 17) the U.S. Food and Drug Administration amended the emergency use authorization (EUA) for the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine, authorizing the use of a single booster dose for administration to individuals 5 through 11 years of age at least five months after completion of a primary series with the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine. "While it has largely been the case that COVID-19 tends to be less severe in children than adults, the omicron wave has seen more kids getting sick with the disease and being hospitalized, and children may also experience longer term effects, even following initially mild disease," said FDA Commissioner Robert M. Califf, M.D.

"The FDA is authorizing the use of a single booster dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine for children 5 through 11 years of age to provide continued protection against COVID-19. Vaccination continues to be the most effective way to prevent COVID-19 and its severe consequences, and it is safe.

"If your child is eligible for the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine and has not yet received their primary series, getting them vaccinated can help protect them from the potentially severe consequences that can occur, such as hospitalization and death."

On Jan. 3, the FDA authorized the use of a single booster dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine for administration to individuals 12 through 15 years of age after completion of primary vaccination with the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine.

Today's action expands the use of a single booster dose of the vaccine for administration to individuals 5 through 11 years age at least five months after completion of a primary series of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine. The FDA has authorized the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine for use in individuals 5 years of age and older and has approved Comirnaty (COVID-19 Vaccine, mRNA) for use in individuals 16 years of age and older. "The Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine is effective in helping to prevent the most severe consequences of COVID-19 in individuals 5 years of age and older," said Peter Marks, M.D., Ph.D., director of the FDA's Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research. "Since authorizing the vaccine for children down to 5 years of age in October 2021, emerging data suggest that vaccine effectiveness against COVID-19 wanes after the second dose of the vaccine in all authorized populations. The FDA has determined that the known and potential benefits of a single booster dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine for children 5 through 11 years of age at least five months after completing a primary series outweigh its known and potential risks and that a booster dose can help provide continued protection against COVID-19 in this and older age groups." Data Supporting Effectiveness The EUA for a single booster dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine for children 5 through 11 years of age is based on FDA's analysis of immune response data in a subset of children from the ongoing randomized placebo-controlled trial that supported the October 2021 authorization of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine primary series in this age group. Antibody responses were evaluated in 67 study participants who received a booster dose 7 to 9 months after completing a two-dose primary series of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine. The antibody level against the SARS-CoV-2 virus one month after the booster dose was increased compared to before the booster dose. FDA Evaluation of Safety The safety of a single booster dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech COVID-19 Vaccine in this age group was assessed in approximately 400 children who received a booster dose at least five months (range 5 to 9 months) after completing a two-dose primary series. The most commonly reported side effects were pain, redness and swelling at the injection site, as well as fatigue, headache, muscle or joint pain and chills and fever. The FDA did not hold a meeting of its Vaccines and Related Biological Products Advisory Committee on today's action, as the agency previously convened the committee for extensive discussions regarding the use of booster doses of COVID-19 vaccines and, after review of Pfizer's EUA request, the FDA concluded that the request did not raise questions that would benefit from additional discussion by committee members. The FDA will make available on its website relevant documents regarding today's authorization. The amendment to the EUA was granted to Pfizer Inc.
